Soviet students are making the most of the fall semester and will need to work hard to avoid being sent home for the winter break. An estimated 200 Soviet students are enrolled at American universities, and many of them are studying subjects such as physics, chemistry, and mathematics. The students are being housed in various locations, including dormitories and apartment buildings. They are taking advantage of the opportunity to continue their education in a foreign country and are enjoying the cultural experiences that come with living in a new environment. The students are also working hard to learn the language and adapt to the American way of life. Their hard work and dedication will be rewarded with a successful and productive fall semester.

State rejctes
land developers' petitions

By TOM HAROLDSON
State News Staff Writer

A tough, new Michigan land sales bill is in its infancy making its way to land developers in the state.

All 150 developers who applied to the land sales division to sell land in October failed to meet the standards and regulations of the act, division officials said.

The division, housed in the Bureau of Licensing and Regulation, did not say upon qualification, more than 100 applications were granted approval after they were submitted. The others, however, were denied or withdrawn because they failed to meet the standards established for the state.

Skeptical leaders, director of the land sales division, said many developers could have avoided the unsatisfactory results for some time ago.

The act requires that the land sales division approves all advertising for land in and out of the state but it is under consideration by the state.

Tom Brown, left, and Bruce McNeil, elected city council candidate in Lansing, are planning to open a day-care center for the city's young children. The center would be located in the same building as Brown's current office.
Open letter to Rep. Charles Chamberlain

Impeach President Nixon immediately

The Honorable Charles Chamberlain
Rayburn Building
Washington, D.C. 20515

The American people have been subjected to one shock after another since Richard Nixon assumed the presidency in 1968, but the events of this weekend have forced us to take a step further. As the leader of our nation and as the leader of the free world, Nixon has taken extraordinary liberties with his office, and we must take action.

Nixon has taken extraordinary liberties with his office, including his appointment of two separate domestic policy assistants to his staff. This is the same type of behavior we saw in the Watergate scandal, and it is time for Nixon to be held accountable for his actions.

A fellow who holds an office of trust for the American people is not entitled to share a management structure with a fellow who holds an office of trust for the American people as well. Nixon’s actions are not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the public trust.

Nixon has the power to resign, but he has chosen to remain in office. This is not acceptable. Nixon must be removed from office immediately.

The American people deserve better, and we must act now to ensure that a true leader is placed at the helm of our nation.

Sincerely,
Robert A. Kennedy

Anti-Arab charges untrue

To the Editor:
The Arab Peace Plan Committee has accused us of being anti-Arab, but we believe that this charge is false. In fact, we support the principles of the Arab Peace Plan, and we believe that it is important for all parties to work towards a peaceful resolution of the conflict.

We stand by our statements and our actions, and we believe that the Arab Peace Plan is a step in the right direction.

Sincerely,
Abdi Ali

Nobel award

To the Editor:

I am thrilled to announce that I have been awarded the Nobel Peace Prize for my work in combatting the cause of legitimate peacekeeping and my contributions to the stabilization of the region. I am honored to be recognized for my efforts in spreading the message of peace and unity.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all those who have supported me and my work. I am grateful for the recognition and I will continue to work towards a peaceful future.

Sincerely,
Noam Chomsky

Cartoons inappropriate

To the Editor:

I find it distressing to see cartoons that are inappropriate for a university newspaper. The content of these cartoons is offensive and does not align with the values of our institution.

We should strive to create a community where everyone feels safe and respected. This includes ensuring that our publications do not contain any content that could be harmful or insensitive.

Sincerely,
Professor Smith

Bikes—obviously traffic rule

To the Editor:

I am tired of seeing bikers flout traffic laws on campus. They put themselves and others at risk, and it is time for a change.

I support the idea of implementing a new traffic rule that specifically addresses the behavior of bikers. This will help ensure the safety of everyone on campus.

Sincerely,
Student Advocate

The forceful resignation of Elliott Richardson and the firing of William Ruckelshaus, while they may be cited as examples of integrity which we need in Washington lately, certainly come as a disheartening surprise.

The firing of a government official is always a sad event, but the firing of two government officials in the same week is a cause for concern. The actions of the President are not only a violation of the Constitution, but also a violation of the public trust.

We must act now to ensure that a true leader is placed at the helm of our nation.

Sincerely,
Robert Kennedy

Spartan offense falls flat again, Illini win with 2 field goals, 6-3

David B. Brown started his first game this season and leads Michigan's rushing with 60 yards in 23 carries. The Spartans gained only 119 yards rushing with an offense that has some problems. Brown scored a touchdown and another was nullified by a penalty. Michigan won 6-3.

High-ranking University officials said Sunday that no proposal dealing with residence hall overcrowding was introduced at their executive group meeting Friday.

ASMSU members maintain, however, that University executives were considering specific action.

Roger Wilkinson, vice president of business and finance, said nothing more than a "general discussion" took place at the meeting. "It's quite a routine thing," he said of the discussion. "We're trying to work it through. There is no plan, short or long term, right now."

Eldon Nunnamaker, vice president of student affairs, said nothing new was brought up. "We're at the same place we were before," he said.

Robert Underwood, manager of residence halls, said he did not draft such a proposal.

"Nobody has the answer," Louis Hekhuis, associate dean of students, said.

Robert Underwood, manager of residence halls, said he did not draft a proposal dealing with overcrowding, according to Charles Massoglia of the Off-Campus Council.
