Nixon decision pleases Sirica

Cynicism about truces...

WASHINGTON (AP) — One day after President Nixon declared he would begin the next session of talks to end the Vietnam War, the Senate voted Thursday to continue the war.

The Senate, by a 52-38 vote, rejected a measure to end the war, which would have halted all military activities.

Sen. John F. Kennedy, D-Mass., said the measure would have given the Communist leaders "an advantage" and would have "made the war more difficult.

"We must not allow the enemy to win," Kennedy said. "We must not make the war more difficult.

"The Senate has voted to continue the war," he said.

...and talk of more battles

The Senate also voted to continue the war, but with some conditions.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., said the measure would "not end the war, but it would put the war on a more rational course.

"We cannot end the war, but we can make it more rational," he said.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., said the measure would "put the war on a more rational course.

Chairman, J. A. McPhee of the City Planning Commission warned that the new housing ordinance will prevent landlords from renting their properties to the poor. The ordinance, which requires landlords to provide a written report on the rental history of every tenant, is expected to go into effect next week.

"The ordinance will force landlords to discriminate against the poor," said McPhee. "It will make it impossible for tenants to find housing in this city."
Sales tax cut proposal queried

BY FRANK ANTHON

TO BE ELIGIBLE for state tax cuts, businesses and property owners in the Lansing area must first file their annual state and local property tax returns. The tax deadline is April 10.

The tax break, which was proposed by Governor Milliken earlier this year, is designed to help businesses and property owners with their financial burdens. Under the proposal, businesses and property owners would receive a tax cut based on their property tax payments for the previous year.

However, the proposal has faced some opposition from local officials who argue that it would be unfair to give tax breaks to businesses and property owners who have not paid their property taxes on time.

Walter Segal, tax commissioner for the City of Lansing, said, "It's not a fair system. We need to make sure that all property owners are paying their taxes on time.

The proposal has also been criticized by some lawmakers who say that it would be unfair to give tax breaks to businesses and property owners who have not paid their taxes on time.

Rep. John Smith, a member of the House Ways and Means Committee, said, "We need to make sure that our tax system is fair to all property owners.

The proposal is currently under review by the state legislature and it is unclear when a decision will be made.

Inmate trades for counties jails ratified

By R.D. CAMPBELL

A limited number of Clinton County jail inmates in recent weeks have been paid in part from local stores for baskets of work they have completed under a state-funded program. The inmates were paid for their work by gift certificates to several businesses throughout the county. The program is designed to encourage inmates to take responsibility for their future and to provide them with the skills needed to find employment upon release.

Bobrowski top Purdue threat

By PAT FAHNAN
State News Editor/Writer

Denny Bobrowski’s Purdue team has taken enough punishment for one year but it will have to dig with extra determination tomorrow. Purdue faces a St. Cloud (Minn.) team that has scored only 10 points this season in the presence of Purdue quarterback Dick Stolz. Stolz, who leads the nation in passing yards per game, will have to lead the Boilermakers to victory against the Gophers.

"We’re going to have to stop him," said Bobrowski prior to Stolz’s practice. "It’s his time now, but it’s not his time yet. We’ve got him backed up but we’ve got to have him playing this year."

Defensive tackle Stolz, who has been the only glimmering hope in an otherwise gloomy year, will put an end to the season with one game. The Boilermakers really haven’t been that productive on the offensive side, averaging a little over 15 points a game. Their biggest output was a 27-point day against Illinois.

But Bobrowski saw a touchdown out of his near-faultless offense for 12 straight quarters. They’ve squandered and often stagnated and the Boilermakers can top Michigan State with a solid defensive showing.

That means stopping Bobrowski and Stolz have lots of help.

"That still people doesn’t think so the loses in the Big Ten," Bobrowski said. "They have some other defenses that play good defense, and they do have some good football players."

Purdue’s speed is complemented in their running game highlights by Olympic sprinter Larry Burton. He has snatched 10 passes for 216 yards and scored touchdowns. Currently, the Spartans, Charlie Baggett at the controls, have yet to complete a touchdown pass this season. His passes are good balanced with three backs leading the tail for 220 yards plus this season.

The result is that Bobrowski to Stolz’s 227 yards and a pair of touchdowns. Purdue’s Mike Thompson has made a half a for a scoring thrust also, giving up 231 yards to two guys.

The Boilermakers are in the middle of the pack in the Big Ten. The defense has defensive line feel for Noval, Blackshirts and Boilermakers in the top 10 of the conference in tackles.

"They’re strong, they’re fast, they’re good, they’re aggressive against the pass that Illinois was," Bobrowski said. "She has a good defense, a very good defense.

But Bobrowski is not one to be second-guessed in preparation for Purdue.

Fullback Charlie Baggett, suspended earlier this season, "tail of running back," will be available for tomorrow.

The women's field hockey team, after struggling in offensive play and possessing in scoring plays, is ready to face Central Michigan tonight.

The Spartans experienced a frustrating 2-0 in against Eastern Michigan Tuesday afternoon and are determined to put the full into the up during tonight's match.

"You are only," said Bide Bide. coach of the women's field hockey team, after last Tuesday's game. "It was a very good game, and every play was continued and not done poorly. It was an occasion of getting paid.

"We won't be allowed," Bide continued. "There were many points, we discussed the play. But I know that for us.

"We have to win," Bide concluded. "We have to win."

"We have to win," Bide continued. "We have to win."

The women's field hockey team will try to end its losing streak today at Bowling Green University. The match was 2-2

The Spartans are 1-4 so far this season, but are optimistic going into tonight's game.

"Our practices have gone well this week," said Peterson, coach of the women's field hockey team. "The girls are ready and have been for the match all week."

The Spartans have been concentrating on the biggest weaknesses, defense.

"We have been working on defense in our last few practices," Peterson said. "We haven't been able to score since we lost."

"This week we have been practicing our skills and scoring areas," Peterson continued. "We have got a very solid offense, they don't take many shots, we think our defense is okay and we can catch anything with the ball.

"This is the first game the Spartans have played against Bowling Green University and we would definitely hit the spots of the changing specialty.

Experts say East Lansing area needs adequate day care centers

By ANGELA CARRULL
State News Staff Writer

Adequate day care facilities and services are a pressing need in the East Lansing area, experts say.

For kindergarten students, the East Lansing Public School Board is working toward the acquisition or construction of a new kindergarden facility. The Board has requested a study to determine what type of a facility is necessary.

But, according to Gail Melcer, director of the East Lansing Department of Human Services, there is a critical need for small children's day care centers. Melcer, who is a member of the board, works closely with the Department of Human Services and has said that the need for small children's centers is already overwhelming.

"The need is most critical in the 0-2 year group," Melcer said. "The demand for centers is far greater than the supply of centers."

Another concern is the need for centers for children who are unique and have special needs. Melcer said that the demand for special needs centers is also proving to be overwhelming.

"There is a critical need for centers for infants and toddlers who have special needs," Melcer said. "The need for these centers is far greater than the supply of centers."

They came to see human beauty and were rewarded with a double surprise last night at the Comstock Center when T-shirt contest winners on the looking board were announced what Herbert Nazara had given them. Abrams Planetarium boasts the most breathtaking women who have won the contest at the Comstock Center... At the Comstock Center, more than 200 people - young and older - attended the event. As for the audience, they were more that happy to receive the surprise.

The crowd, which chose two winners from among the contestants of Miss America in Lansing, was pleased with the show. One of the winners, a young woman from Lansing, was overjoyed and had a real happy feeling. The other winner, a young woman from Detroit, was equally happy. The audience, which had been split into two groups, was pleased with the show. The first group, which chose the winner from among the contestants of Miss America in Lansing, was pleased with the show. The other group, which chose the winner from among the contestants of Miss America in Detroit, was equally pleased with the show. The audience, which had been split into two groups, was pleased with the show.

Correction

The answer is correct. The article is about a T-shirt contest at the Comstock Center in Lansing, Michigan. The winners were chosen from among the contestants of Miss America. The audience was pleased with the show. The winners were a young woman from Lansing and a young woman from Detroit. The audience was split into two groups, and both groups were pleased with the show.

Human flesh

More than 500 people attended an event at the Gables Theatre last night. The event, which is called the "Flesh" show, featured live music and performances by local artists. The audience was packed and enjoyed the performances. The event is sponsored by the Lansing Area Arts Council and is part of their annual concert series. The next performance in the series will be held in November. TheGables Theatre is located at 1231 S. Division Street, Lansing, MI 48912. For more information, please visit www.lansingarts.org.
Art set for sale at gallery

by LINDA GLADDEN
From News Review:

A student who paid just $100 for a print by an unknown artist at a special bargain college art fair may have a work that will be valuable in the future.

"You never know," said Group Gallery Director Paul Lowe of the annual print sale, at which 300-400 original prints will be sold from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

"Some artists stay where they are, but others enjoy tremendous popularity of their work and often work with galleries displaying their work.

The greatest fault of the film is a slight. Because Guercio's story is written so slight and his manner of handling it is disarming, the viewer never feels ready for the climax. It is not a calculated effect, rather than being moved to what happens, one is absorbed at the direct facelessness of English, for passages as "Old Rider" in reverse.

The film "Old Rider" is like a novel from which the major incidents have been torn, and it has the same charm, except for the masquerade ball, with its unnecessary vulgarity, for the setting of the scene and the changes of time and place. As a result, the film is actually not so drastically removed from its source.

Resource center offers materials, aid for women
You were just assigned your FFA term paper for this quarter on women. You can't find current material in the Library. What should you do?

The Women's Resource Center is in the Student Services building. It offers a wide range of information and literature on topics related to women's rights and issues. They have catalogs, books, and other resources available for you to use.

The center also offers a variety of workshops and classes for women. You can find the schedule on their website. They also have a lending library where you can borrow books and other materials.

The center is open during regular college hours, and they have a staff member available to answer any questions you may have. You can contact them at 517-332-0306.
