Kissinger diplomatic hit

By RICHARD GELB New York Times

WASHINGTON - The two days of the Nixon Administration and the early days of the new Congress, Congress viewed Kissinger as the nation's most powerful official.

But the foreign policy wasn't so powerful. He could have
The Kissinger was in charge of would be a national disaster.

The new government officials that be his personal style.

The Kissinger-Islam relationship also dramatized the beginning of the Nixon Administration and the beginning of Fords'.
Rebels attack U.S. agency

House Dems forcing showdown on petroleum depletion allowance

Dispute over Kashmir settled

Monarch crowned in Nepal

The United States formally announced Monday replacement of a 10-year-old arms embargo against Pakistan and ended the 26-year-old arms embargo against Egypt. The policy change, which the administration considered a major step toward resolving the long-standing conflict between the two countries, was prompted by the United States' desire to improve relations with Egypt and to demonstrate its support for democratic forces in the Middle East.

20 Indians take over plant
A band of about 30 armed men identified as members of the National Front for Democracy in India seized an electronics plant on the campus reservation in Michigan, N.Y. Monday and briefly held security guard personnel hostage.

Hills tells plans
Carla A. Hills told the Senate Banking Committee Monday that if confirmed as secretary of Housing and Urban Development she will be a strong advocate for using programs to combat rising unemployment.

Retirement question refuted
The Supreme Court Monday rejected a challenge to the constitutionality of legislation canceling mandatory retirement at age 70 for federal judges. The court overturned a lower court decision that had ruled the law unconstitutional.

Unit to aid woman prisoner
The American Assn. of University Women said Sunday it would send legal aid to an 80-year-old woman charged with the murder of a Beaufort County, S.C., woman. The 80-year-old woman's husband has been convicted of murder and sentenced to prison for the crime. The retirement question was refuted by the Senate Banking Committee Monday that if confirmed as secretary of Housing and Urban Development she will be a strong advocate for using programs to combat rising unemployment.

Dispute over Kashmir settled
Shah Mohammed Abdullah, the former "Lash of Kashmir," signed his 23-year-old dispute with the Indian government on Monday, ending a 12-year-old conflict in the divided Himalayan homeland. Pakistan, not consulted in the beginning, called the settlement a "triumph" of Pakistan and Kashmiris around the world to a clash present itself.

MONARCH CROWNED

India demands renewal of arms deal
Delhi officials said Friday that India will demand renewal of the arms deal that expired last year. The deal was for the delivery of a fleet of 100 supersonic fighter jets and was a major boost to India's military modernization efforts. The renewal demand comes as India seeks to strengthen its military capabilities in the face of increasing regional tensions with Pakistan.

A new wave of insurgent attacks...

In Kashmir, armed rebels mounted a series of attacks against security forces, including a gunfight that left two police personnel killed and five wounded. The attacks were carried out by groups such as the粘贴叛乱组织, which is designated a terrorist organization by India.

The rising tension between India and Pakistan over the Kashmir region has escalated in recent weeks, with both countries accusing each other of launching cross-border attacks. The latest wave of violence comes amid growing anti-India sentiment among Kashmiri Muslims.

The Indian military has heavily reinforced its positions along the Line of Control, which divides the disputed region between India and Pakistan. The move has raised tensions and fears of a larger conflict.

In September, India conducted a series of air strikes on several militant camps in Pakistan-administered Kashmir, claiming to have neutralized militant leaders and facilities. Pakistan vowed to retaliate, escalating the tension further.

EXTRA:

Maj. Gen. Arvinder Singh Shergill, the newly appointed commander of India's military operation in Kashmir, said the recent attacks were a "clear indication of the fact that cross-border terrorism from Pakistan is not only continuing but is intensifying.

The Indian government had previously denied any link between the two countries and the militant attacks. However, India accused Pakistan of providing sanctuary and support to militant groups operating in Kashmir.

India’s move to deepen its military presence in the region has raised concerns among the international community, with some expressing concern over the possibility of a wider conflict.

In statement, India has stated that it was committed to a peaceful resolution of the Kashmir issue through dialogue. However, Pakistan has consistently rejected India’s call for talks, maintaining that India must first withdraw its forces and recognize Pakistan's right to self-determination.

The situation in Kashmir remains tense, with both countries beefing up their armed forces and exchanging fire across the de facto border. The United Nations has repeatedly called for a ceasefire to prevent casualties on both sides.

India and Pakistan have been engaged in a decades-long dispute over Kashmir, a region that is also claimed by both countries. The issue has been the subject of several United Nations resolutions and a long-drawn-out conflict involving armed separatist groups.
Abortion case has little effect locally

By MARK DEAN

The Michigan State University's Student Senate is urging that the state's abortion laws be changed because of the death of a 21-year-old student who was killed in a traffic accident while she was on her way to a job interview to be an abortion counselor.

The Senate passed a resolution calling for a change in the state's abortion laws, which are among the most restrictive in the nation. The resolution urges the state legislature to consider amending the law to allow for abortion in cases of rape, incest, and severe fetal abnormalities.

The Senate's action comes as part of its ongoing efforts to address issues of reproductive rights and health care. It has previously passed resolutions supporting funding for Planned Parenthood and opposition to the state's abortion ban.

The resolution was introduced by Senator John Doe, chair of the Senate's Health and Welfare Committee.

"Our students are concerned about the health and well-being of their peers," Doe said. "We believe that the current law is not only discriminatory but also dangerous. It is time for the state to reform its abortion laws."
EDITORIALS

Trustees must listen

The board of trustees meeting last Friday, punctuated by a student demonstration not to be included on the agenda, brought to the surface several procedural shortcomings of the board's meetings. The board should take note of the fact that some members would have wished to be given some time to express their views on the subject of their own reappointment.

Both the Eastern Michigan and Wayne State University have methods by which people with questions and concerns can speak to the governing boards with little hassle.

The East Lansing City Council also provides time for citizens to address the council. Here, the board could continue to be hard-nosed in keeping its meetings from the public's view.

Four down....

MUSU Trustees Blanche Martin and Jack Stock should be commended for turning their University-provided Cliodhne Mobile D68s into a training facility for state legislators. Naturally, no one doubts Mr. Stock's personal prejudices, differing philosophies or a lack of any new policy whereby those frustrated necromancers could lay their heeds on the table without their anti-establishment acrimony being expressed at the expense of any others.

Retain open primaries

Democratic and Republican party legislators have long advocated for the retention of open primaries which are closed to voters who do not register as members of a political party. A political party is not a voice in the legislative body until the Michigan Legislature.

Now, an item emerges that will rise the board's collective ears only by the grace of God and/ or the gatekeepers, any one of which can throw the others off balance and alienate the personal prejudices, differing philosophies or a lack of any new policy whereby those frustrated necromancers could lay their heeds on the table without their anti-establishment acrimony being expressed at the expense of any others.

Zero Z-Day

Today is Z-Day. Or was Z-Day. Two days ago. Who knows? What is Zews, would be Zeds? Who cares? It's open for business and for two of the hour was whether any of it will work.

Most of the hour was whether any of it will work. The maker should be associated with AMUSE on the back and growing two of Waterside in the picture. But the hot potato apparently didn't last, no tetanus remain on the shelves on the Z-Day.

Four down....

MUSU Trustees Blanche Martin and Jack Stock should be commended for turning their University-provided Cliodhne Mobile D68s into a training facility for state legislators. Naturally, no one doubts Mr. Stock's personal prejudices, differing philosophies or a lack of any new policy whereby those frustrated necromancers could lay their heeds on the table without their anti-establishment acrimony being expressed at the expense of any others.

Retain open primaries

Democratic and Republican party legislators have long advocated for the retention of open primaries which are closed to voters who do not register as members of a political party. A political party is not a voice in the legislative body until the Michigan Legislature.

Now, an item emerges that will rise the board's collective ears only by the grace of God and/ or the gatekeepers, any one of which can throw the others off balance and alienate the personal prejudices, differing philosophies or a lack of any new policy whereby those frustrated necromancers could lay their heeds on the table without their anti-establishment acrimony being expressed at the expense of any others.

Four down....

MUSU Trustees Blanche Martin and Jack Stock should be commended for turning their University-provided Cliodhne Mobile D68s into a training facility for state legislators. Naturally, no one doubts Mr. Stock's personal prejudices, differing philosophies or a lack of any new policy whereby those frustrated necromancers could lay their heeds on the table without their anti-establishment acrimony being expressed at the expense of any others.

Retain open primaries

Democratic and Republican party legislators have long advocated for the retention of open primaries which are closed to voters who do not register as members of a political party. A political party is not a voice in the legislative body until the Michigan Legislature.

Now, an item emerges that will rise the board's collective ears only by the grace of God and/ or the gatekeepers, any one of which can throw the others off balance and alienate the personal prejudices, differing philosophies or a lack of any new policy whereby those frustrated necromancers could lay their heeds on the table without their anti-establishment acrimony being expressed at the expense of any others.
Another Daley victory expected despite rivalry in mayor's race

The Chicago Sun-Times reports that the Cook County Democratic organization's endorsement of Mayor Richard J. Daley for re-election to a fifth term in office is expected to be the main issue in the campaign, with the mayoral race becoming less competitive as the election approaches.

The endorsement of Mayor Daley by the Democratic organization is significant because it gives him a substantial advantage in the primary election. Daley's re-election is expected to ensure him a strong showing in the general election, as the Democratic party is likely to unite behind him.

The endorsement also highlights the lack of a clear challenger to Daley's leadership. While there have been some efforts to mount a serious challenge to Daley's candidacy, none of the potential opponents have been able to gain significant traction in the campaign.

The primary election is expected to be closely contested, with several candidates vying for the opportunity to challenge Daley in the general election. The endorsement of Daley by the Democratic organization is likely to give him a significant advantage in the primary election, making it difficult for any challenger to gain traction in the campaign.

The endorsement also underscores the importance of the Democratic organization in the city's political landscape. The organization has a long history of playing a pivotal role in the city's elections, and its endorsement is likely to be seen as a significant endorsement of Daley's candidacy.
Nomination for best performance by an actor in this year's Oscar Awards were announced Monday in Los Angeles. They are: Dustin Hoffman, top left, "Lenny;" Al Pacino, bottom right, "Mudder" the Orient Express; "Stevie." Houston, bottom left, "Harry and Tonto." Al Pacino, bottom, bottom right, "Chinatown.

Oscar snubs Bergman movie

By TERRY DROGENKlag
State News Special Reviewer
Director Ingmar Bergman's
1968 film, "The Virgin Spring," will be the center of movie controversy as Academy Award recipients this year. The Academy's selection of the film for nomination as best picture appeared to be a shock to some who had viewed the movie at its screening Monday in the Academy's main theater. The film is considered to be one of the year's best by many film critics and is expected to be a strong contender for the best picture award.

Despite the Academy's initial decision to exclude "The Virgin Spring," the usual practice of nominating a film for the best picture award, Bergman was named as a member of the Academy's headquarters department at the beginning of the year in order to be eligible for the award.

The film has been shown in several cities and has already been released in New York and Los Angeles. It is expected to be released in other cities in the near future.

The film is a story of a young woman who is raped and killed by a neighbor. The film is set in a rural village in Sweden and is based on a play by the Swedish playwright Henrik Håkansson.

The film was made by the same group of actors and technicians who worked on Bergman's previous films, "The Seventh Seal" and "The Virgin Spring." The film has been well received by critics and is expected to do well at the box office.

The film is considered to be a landmark in the history of European cinema and is expected to be a strong contender for several awards at the Academy Awards.
Indians’ Robinson set for debut

NEW YORK (AP) — Paul Robinson, one of Michigan’s all-time greats, has returned to the team’s starting lineup for Thursday’s game against the New York Mets.

Robinson, who played in the major leagues from 1970 to 1980, is expected to see action in the outfield and at first base.

Robinson, who has played in the majors since 1961, is currently a television analyst for the Cleveland Indians’ spring training program under way in Tucson, Ariz., where he serves as the team’s batting coach.

Robinson has hit .289 with 214 home runs and 802 RBIs in 16 seasons in the majors. He is a three-time All-Star and a two-time World Series champion.

Robinson, who was acquired by the Indians from the Los Angeles Dodgers in a trade last month, is expected to be a key player for the Indians this season.

Regular slate ends for women cagers

MSU’s women’s basketball team will close out its regular season on Saturday when it travels to Columbus, Ohio, to take on Ohio State.

The game is part of the Big Ten conference’s regular season schedule.

Women’s basketball has been a staple of MSU’s athletic program since 1973, and the team has had a strong tradition of success, including a trip to the NCAA Final Four in 2006.

The team is currently ranked No. 6 in the latest Associated Press poll and is one of the top teams in the country.

Paddleball tournament draws over 100 entries

A paddleball tournament is scheduled for Saturday at Plymouth State University.

The event is open to all skill levels and will feature a variety of games, including singles, doubles and mixed teams.

The tournament is being organized by the Plymouth State University Paddleball Club.

The event is expected to attract a large crowd, and there will be cash prizes for the winners.

“There’s no such thing as a free lunch.”

It’s a bit of a line, but something called the “public debt” has been piling up for years. Because our tax dollars haven’t come close to paying for all of the services and programs we’ve been demanding. And just the annual interest charges on this debt recently hit a cool $2 trillion. Nevertheless, many people say, “But, Uncle Sam! Can’t you just print the money to cover the cost?” No, as this story from The March Reader’s Digest makes clear: For with skyrockets of paper dollars and greenbacks strikingly priced paper, buying. And now we’ve got recession. How to get out of the mess? React!

Israel-Alya-Mobile

Coming to MSU, Wednesday-Feb 26

9-5 Union—Room 30

7-10 Holmes Hall-C101

Information about short and long-term Israel programs, and also about professional opportunities and Garinim.

Dooley’s

2 PRICE

ON ALL LIQUOR DRINKS

8:30 to 11:00, NOW PLAYING

ROYAL AMERICAN SHOWMAN

Dooley's

G-men meet WMU on road

The Michigan State University men’s golf team will be competing against Wayne State University on the road this weekend.

The match is scheduled for Saturday at the Grandview Country Club in Novi, Mich.

The G-men are coming off a strong performance at the NCAA Central Regional last weekend, where they finished in second place.

The event is open to the public, and admission is free.

The Secret Tax America Can’t Afford

Jesus was asked why he paid taxes to the Roman government. He replied, “I don’t know who the real payer is. If it’s the Romans, then I pay to the Romans. If it’s the Jews, then I pay to the Jews.”

But why did the thieving that leads to government waste and inefficiency persist?

A government official may have the power to spend money, but the power to raise it is in the hands of the taxpayer.

The government’s budget is the product of political decision-making, and it is up to the people to ensure that their taxes are being spent wisely.

The solution lies in a system of accountability and transparency. We need to hold our elected officials accountable for their spending decisions, and we need to make sure that the public has access to information about government expenditures.

We must work together to build a more effective and efficient government that serves the needs of all Americans.