SN staff walks out, protests selection

By ANGELA LEWIS HUTTON

News Staff Writer

The board of News staff members have turned a group of the editorial department over to the board of Directors in a protest against the selection of a new ad manager.

The protest occurred in response to the board's announcement of Roy Clarke, Jr., a member of the editorial board, as the new ad manager. The staff has been critical of Clarke's previous work as a reporter and editor, and they believe his appointment is unfair and unreasonable.

The staff's decision to protest was made at a meeting of the board of Directors last week. The staff has been working with the board to find a solution to the issue, but they believe the board's decision is unjust and that they have been ignored.

The staff is seeking support from the broader campus community, including faculty members, student organizations, and other student groups. They hope to build a coalition to pressure the board to撤销 its decision.

The staff's protest is part of a larger movement to hold the board of Directors accountable for its actions. The staff has been critical of the board's decision-making process and its treatment of staff members.

The staff is calling for the board to make changes to its governance structure to ensure that the voices of staff members are heard and that decisions are made in the best interests of the entire community.

The staff's protest is also a call for support from the broader community to stand with them in their fight for a fair and just system.

Democrats blitz Detroit

By ALAN FINNEKIND

News Staff Writer

Here's a look at the Democratic presidential candidates who made the rounds in Michigan recently:

Jimmy Carter, the Democratic nominee, spoke at a rally in Detroit on Saturday night. He was joined by a number of local leaders and supporters, including UAW President Raymond, and the crowd was estimated to be in the thousands. Carter spoke about the importance of unity and the need for a strong economy. He also took questions from the audience, and his answers were met with enthusiastic applause.

President Carter, Gerald Ford, and Jimmy Carter, along with other Democratic candidates, spoke at rallies and events in Michigan. Carter spoke about the need for a strong economy and the importance of unity. He also took questions from the audience, and his answers were met with enthusiastic applause.

Carter's visit to Michigan was part of a larger campaign strategy. He believes that by building support in key states, he can ensure a strong showing in the primaries and the general election.

The Democratic candidates are expected to continue to campaign in Michigan and across the country, with a focus on issues such as the economy, health care, and education. They are also expected to continue to build support among voters who are concerned about the current state of the country.

Gasoline prices expected to rise

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Prices of gasoline and other fuel products are fueling an inflation concern and have raised the specter of a recession if they continue to rise.

The Department of Energy said Friday that gasoline prices have increased by 20 cents a gallon since the beginning of the year. The price of gasoline is now at $1.20 a gallon, up from $1.00 a gallon last year.

The increase in gasoline prices has prompted some economists to warn that a recession could be imminent if the trend continues.

Some economists suggest that a recession could be avoided if the government takes steps to control inflation, such as raising interest rates or implementing a fiscal stimulus package.

President Ford has said that he will not support any fiscal stimulus package, and the Federal Reserve has said that it will not raise interest rates.

Flight granted to hijacker trio

Rome, Italy (AP) - A hijacker trio who hijacked a DC-8 carrying 140 passengers between Rome and Amsterdam was refused entry to Italy by Premier Moro, who said the hijackers had no right to enter the country.

The hijackers, who were identified as Iranian militant group members, were also refused entry to Italy by the Italian government.

The hijackers had been held in a U.S. prison for two months and were to be flown to Italy on Tuesday to begin their trial.

However, the Italian government decided to grant the hijackers entry to Italy, citing the need for a diplomatic solution to the crisis.

The hijackers, who are facing charges of terrorism and murder, are expected to appear in court on Tuesday.

WASHINGTON—House Majority Leader Jim Wright has released the "Dirty Dozen" program that he was to distribute to the press today as "Environmental Action." It is a list of 12 measures, of which Wright said he had been criticized by environmentalists. It is the first time Wright has made such a list in his last year of office. He said the list would be a "fair play" for environmental groups.
