Student Council seeking applicants for University committee positions

by Michael Savell

The Student Council is seeking applicants for a number of University committee positions. These positions are open to students, and they provide an opportunity to become involved in University governance. The following committees are accepting applications:

1. Government Affairs Committee
2. Academic Concerns Committee
3. Student Life Committee
4. Facilities and Services Committee

Applications should be submitted to the Student Council office by the deadline date indicated on the poster. Students interested in serving on these committees are encouraged to apply.

Appeals court upholds conviction of Ehrlichman, dismisses Barker

The Appeals Court has upheld the conviction of John Ehrlichman, former White House aide, for his role in the Watergate burglary. The court ruled that there was sufficient evidence to support the conviction and that the trial judge did not commit any reversible error during the trial.

Ehrlichman had been convicted of conspiracy to obstruct justice in the Watergate case and had been sentenced to a term of three years in prison. The Appeals Court agreed that there was sufficient evidence to support the conviction and upheld the sentence.

Vanity plates now available for cyclists

The Michigan Department of State is pleased to announce that vanity plates are now available for cyclists. The plates can be personalized and come in a variety of colors and designs. They are available at the Department of State's office and can be ordered over the phone.

Abzug to seek Senate seat

NEW YORK (AP) - Congresswoman Bella Abzug of New York has announced her candidacy for the Democratic nomination for the State Senate seat of Rep. Con. James Michael Curran, who was defeated by Republican Eugene Motika in the Nov. 10, 1976, election.

Abzug, a millionaire onetime fashion designer, was elected to Congress in 1970 and was re-elected in 1972. She represents a middle-class district in Manhattan and Queens, which she won by more than 40,000 votes.

The election was close. The Democratic nomination for the Senate seat was held by the 27th District on Tuesday.

Abzug has been a vocal opponent of the Vietnam war, the Civil Rights movement and the Women's Lib movement. She is a member of the Democratic Caucus and was one of the co-sponsors of the Equal Rights Amendment.

Ford nominates FEC members

Gruver, a Republican, was a congressman from 1969 to 1977. Stevens, a Democrat, is a senator from Alaska, and Schacht is a former federal court judge. They were selected to fill vacancies on the FEC board.

Nixon characterization denied

NEW YORK (AP) - Reacting to the recent accusations by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, President Nixon yesterday denied he was racist and said his Administration was not an "all-white government.

"If I were a racist, I wouldn't have appointed the Cabinet of a man such as Dr. Henry Kissinger," the President told a group of Negro high school students at a New York City school.

While Nixon said he would not apologize to Kennedy for his remarks, he went on to say that he accepted the senator's challenge to debate.

Guerriero, Adams organize

WASHINGTON (AP) - Democrat Mike Grunier of Chicago, who has been active in the Democratic party for years, has decided to run for the Illinois Democratic party nominating convention. Grunier said he would have to resign from his job in the Illinois state legislature, but he would go on to the convention to campaign for the Democratic candidate for governor.

Kissinger may abide after Nov. election

WASHINGTON (AP) - Secretary of State Henry Kissinger said he may abide if he is not nominated for the Democratic party nomination if he is defeated in the primaries.

"The choice of a candidate for President is a major decision, and it will be made on the basis of the people's will," Kissinger said. "If the people prefer another candidate, I will abide by that decision and support the party's nominee without reservation."

Michigan's primary: the nation is watching

The nation turns its eyes to the state of Michigan to observe the presidential election process in the "America's general election town." All of the candidates need the victory in this "make-or-break" state.

On the Republican side, Presi dent Ford will be looking for victory over Governor Reagan, who has openly advocated for stronger gun control laws in Michigan, which we support.

With all the excitement and pressure on the primary, the nation is watching the candidates as they seek the Michigan state's last primary, which will likely decide the Republican nominee.

Jerry Carter wants a victory in Michigan to secure his first place hold on this race, and he believes that his campaign is on the rise.

In contrast, the Democratic side has a major upset, as Senator Ted Kennedy is leading thepack with 52 percent of the vote. This is a significant threat to Carter, who trails by only a few percentage points. Kennedy's momentum is palpable, and he has already begun to tout his win as a major upset in the South, where he received a strong endorsement from the Southern Baptist Convention.

In the primaries, Kennedy has been soulful and seductive, appealing to both the或者...
The State Primary: crucial for all candidates

Ronald Reagan:
With a legacy of solving problems

by CATHARINE GERACE

Ronald Reagan, the former governor of California, is the leading candidate in the Republican race for his party's nomination for president. Reagan is known for his ability to cut through the complex issues of the day and provide clear, simple solutions. His campaign focuses on reducing government spending, increasing economic growth, and strengthening national security. Reagan's leadership experience in California and his strong record on conservative values make him a strong candidate for the presidency.

Jimmy Carter:
He stresses the positive approach

by WALT ROSS

Jimmy Carter, the former governor of Georgia, is the leading candidate in the Democratic race for his party's nomination for president. Carter is known for his strong anti-war stance and his commitment to improving the lives of ordinary Americans. His campaign focuses on increasing access to healthcare, affordable housing, and education. Carter's leadership experience in Georgia and his strong record on social issues make him a strong candidate for the presidency.

The claims of Ford

by WILLIAM B. BUCKBY

Gerald Ford, the former vice president, is the leading candidate in the Republican race for his party's nomination for president. Ford is known for his long career in politics and his strong record on conservative values. His campaign focuses on reducing government spending, increasing economic growth, and strengthening national security. Ford's leadership experience in Congress and his strong record on foreign policy make him a strong candidate for the presidency.

Brown's pop: proud as punch

by WASHINGTON

Richard Nixon, the former vice president, is the leading candidate in the Democratic race for his party's nomination for president. Nixon is known for his strong anti-communist stance and his commitment to improving the lives of ordinary Americans. His campaign focuses on increasing access to healthcare, affordable housing, and education. Nixon's leadership experience in Congress and his strong record on foreign policy make him a strong candidate for the presidency.
What five leading presidential candidates stand for…

Gerald Ford

Ford's approach to the U.S. economy has been characterized by a focus on fiscal restraint and regulatoryrollback, although his administration struggled with high inflation and unemployment.

Ronald Reagan

Reagan's presidency was marked by a strong commitment to economic growth through supply-side policies, tax reductions, and deregulation. He advocated for a return to a more traditional national security strategy.

Jimmy Carter

Carter's economic policies emphasized the need for price and wage controls, energy conservation, and the deregulation of industries such as airlines and trucking.

Morris Udall

Udall's approach to the economy was characterized by a focus on environmental protection, federal spending, and a strong commitment to public service, although his administration saw high inflation and unemployment.

George Wallace

Wallace's economic policies were characterized by a focus on state's rights, the deregulation of industries, and a strong commitment to civil rights. He was known for his strong opposition to federal funding for public assistance programs.

CROSSWORD PUZZLE
"U" bikers place first in race

By DOUGLAS THOMAS
The Associated Press

The University of Michigan is one of 10 schools set to take part in the annual "U" bike race, billed as the world's largest bicycle race. The event is open to the public and has been held annually for the past 10 years.

The race consists of a 50-mile course that winds through the campus and surrounding neighborhoods. The course features several hills and challenging corners, making it a test for both experienced and novice cyclists.

The race begins at 9 a.m. and is expected to conclude around 3 p.m. Participants are encouraged to arrive early to ensure a spot on the course.

The race is free to enter, and participants are responsible for their own safety and equipment. Helmets are recommended.

The race is organized by the Michigan Student Union and sponsored by the University of Michigan Transportation Center.

MSU fails to greet Ford

By DONNA RAEKIN
State News Staff Writer

Amanda Louis & Mary

The Michigan State University chapter of the American Association of University Women (AAUW) has announced that they will not be holding a reception for the incoming Ford Motors President, as the university had planned.

"We were notified by the university that they were planning to hold a reception for the incoming Ford President," said AAUW President, Amanda Louis. "We felt it was important to make our own decision on whether or not to host such an event, and we chose not to.

"We believe that it is crucial for our university to support diversity and inclusion in all areas of campus life," Louis continued. "We feel that hosting a reception for the incoming Ford President would not align with our values, and we are proud to make this decision.

"We hope that our decision will be respected by the university and the community, and we will continue to work towards a more inclusive and welcoming campus environment for all." Louis said.

The Michigan State University chapter of the American Association of University Women (AAUW) has announced that they will not be holding a reception for the incoming Ford Motors President, as the university had planned.

"We were notified by the university that they were planning to hold a reception for the incoming Ford President," said AAUW President, Amanda Louis. "We felt it was important to make our own decision on whether or not to host such an event, and we chose not to.

"We believe that it is crucial for our university to support diversity and inclusion in all areas of campus life," Louis continued. "We feel that hosting a reception for the incoming Ford President would not align with our values, and we are proud to make this decision.

"We hope that our decision will be respected by the university and the community, and we will continue to work towards a more inclusive and welcoming campus environment for all." Louis said.
