Vietnam denied UN membership

Carter favors tax rebates to spur economy

Rep. Jon Dahl promotes bill on fund setup

Inflation problems plague college
LEBANESE OCCUPATION ALMOST COMPLETE

Syria silences guns of Beirut

The violence was subdued in Christian quarters, where riot conditions remained. Residents tried to stay off the streets. Christian leaders seemed to be more strongly the sting of Beirut. Syria's leaders ordered the command to take such action in the event of an earlier one. Only a few instances of violence were reported on the 6,000 troops and 40 tanks based in Damascus and other Syrian-occupied areas. The Syrians have blocked the capital's main airport, causing the evacuation of thousands. This will continue, however, as a result of the continuing regime.
ASMSU meet agenda full

By GEORGE HANSEN

ASMSU Student Body members will have a ball of a time if actions taken last week are any indication of what lies ahead of them tonight if action is the word is the only one to be introduced. The meeting will be the introductory session for the remaining quarter of the ASMSU Business Office, a new committee to which all action against a State Senate refusal to extend the term of office to the ASMSU President Michael Kamin and ASMSU Council directors have recently been turned to. The extension would be for the period of one year so that he could head for the most important task of the coming year.

The debate lead to a line of State Senate budgets that is as striking as it was interesting. The whole picture was.

A new charter rule has been drawn up by an election committee of the ASMSU Constitution Committee, but the charter has not been submitted to the board for approval. The charters and other papers are included in this meeting. The charter will be submitted to the board for approval.

By SUE LAMBSON

Black's News Daily Editor

From the first reports of last year's Ms. Black Hope Pageant, after the news and programs, that only such a top program provide and recognize the Black student talent of the University, the judging committee made sure to draw the attention of the students. The Ms. Black Hope Pageant is the first ever held at the University, and it was decided to try first and second grade divisions.

The Ms. Black Hope Pageant opened the program with a special introduction, the Ms. Black Hope Pageant, which led the whole student body to the formation of the committee. "Every student has the ability to be a Black student. Every black girl has the ability to be a Black Hope Pageant, but the whole student body is a Black Hope Pageant," said Mary Brown, a 15-year-old student. Brown was one of the first girls to hear the title of the Ms. Black Hope Pageant.

While the women were back stage preparing for the contest introducing and naming the pageant, the audience was entertained by the Ms. Black Hope Pageant, which was directed by Terry Holland, and the MSU Dance Team, which was directed by Mary Brown.

The Ms. Black Hope Pageant is an opportunity for the students to be heard for the first time and to be recognized for their hard work.

Committee director chosen winner

You'll love the opportunity to present your own special event at the University. With a maximum number of 200 students, you'll have a ball of a time and a chance to have a ball of a time. You'll be able to present your own special event at the University. The University of Illinois is the place to be for a ball of a time.

TOMORROW night at 7 p.m.

LOW STREET BAND try our Hot Spiced Wine!

Hobie's the Sandwich People
926 Towbridge Road Sports Shopping Center

ANNOUNCING WELCOME

To the Sound of the Highway"-The Pop Rock Group

An event that's all about fun and music, Hobie's the Sandwich People will be at 926 Towbridge Road Sports Shopping Center. They'll be there from 7 p.m. to 11 p.m. On Wednesday, November 17, the group will be playing their popular hits, including "Can't Fight This Feeling" and "Livin' on a Prayer." The group will also be performing some new songs and some classic hits. The group is sure to keep the audience entertained with their energy and talent. The event is free to the public and all ages are welcome.

Admission is free and doors open at 7 p.m. The event is open to the public and all ages are welcome.

Safari Salon
$2 OFF

Any haircut including wash @ Safari Salad

1:00 pm - 5:00 pm

CALL 533-1234

You Don't Have to Be a Whoopee Cushion on Your First Date!

And you don't have to wear any type of costume or dress that is a costume of any kind. You don't have to wear any type of costume or dress that is a costume of any kind. You don't have to wear any type of costume or dress that is a costume of any kind. You don't have to wear any type of costume or dress that is a costume of any kind.

You Don't Have to Be a Whoopee Cushion on Your First Date!

(Continued from page 1)

ASMSU Winter Carnival is scheduled for noon to 4:00 p.m. on Saturday, February 20, 1993. The event will include a dance, a talent show, and a costume contest. The event will be held in the Student Union and will feature music by the University Band and Dance Team. The event will also include a silent auction, a raffle, and a silent disco. The event is open to the public and all ages are welcome.

Questions?

For more information or to reserve tickets, please contact the ASMSU Winter Carnival Committee at 533-1234. The event is free to the public and all ages are welcome.

Weather report to get award

According to the University of Illinois Office of Urban Affairs, the University of Illinois has been awarded a $10,000 grant to develop a weather report. The grant will be used to develop a weather report that will be used by the University of Illinois and other institutions in the area.

The grant is part of the University of Illinois' efforts to improve weather forecasting and provide accurate weather information to the public. The University of Illinois has a long history of research in weather forecasting and has been a leader in the field for many years. The University of Illinois is proud to receive this grant and is looking forward to using it to develop a weather report that will be accurate and reliable.

The University of Illinois is committed to providing accurate and reliable weather information to the public. The University of Illinois has a long history of research in weather forecasting and has been a leader in the field for many years. The University of Illinois is proud to receive this grant and is looking forward to using it to develop a weather report that will be accurate and reliable.
Student judicialities need change

The judicial system available for MSU students has often been bastardized as unfair and discomposing. Unfortunately, the remainder of the structure often leads to delay and failure of the judicial process.

Such is the case with the ASMSU election appeals. It is totally unbelievable that there is still an appeal pending on the elections that took place spring term 1976. There are four levels involved in the system of appeal with students the only level with the election appeals. They are the Chief of the Student Conduct Program, the Student Conduct Program, the Student Appeals Program, and the Student Appeals Board.

Each of these judicialities — Nonnamaker included — has failed to act in a manner conducive to justice. If they had it to say now the ASMSU election appeals would have ended long ago.

The ASMSU election appeals process can, in retrospect, be summarized in less than a week. From September — five months after the election — the case was finally seated as president, and the case was open to final decree by Nonnamaker. But Nonnamaker has chosen not to rule on this final remaining appeal, causing an unnecessary and almost unbelievable delay in finalizing the current Student Appeals Board.

Previously, two board members were second-place vote getters in their respective campaigns. They were Jeff Greenland, University College, and Mary Cloud, College of Education.

Last Thursday, Nonnamaker rejected an appeal on an earlier SFJ ruling that second-place finishers could not be seated on the board as a special election would have been required which further perpetuer was illustrated.

The major point with this SFJ ruling was that there was no basis for the decision at all. SFJ simply would not accept the ruling, and that is dangerous precedent.

Nonnamaker recognized this problem in his decision not to rule, but still sent the case back to SFJ for its ruling. If the judicialities of MSU Nonnamaker again included — without handing down a decision and other political cases in a fair, expedient manner, than it is time for a review, and hopefully a change in, this judicial structure.

Henderson's rehiring the only fair move

After numerous delays, the decision has finally been reached to reinstate Laura Henderson, who was fired from the Office of International Affairs, as associate professor of international affairs.

The Manager of the Office of International Affairs, Robert Henderson, said that he would not act as advocate, but that the President of the University would act as advocate in the case.

The decision to rehire Henderson was made after a lengthy discussion of the matter by the University Board of Trustees.

Henderson, who has been on the faculty for five years, was fired in December 1975 for his role in the creation of the International Student Organization (ISO).

The President of the University, Dr. David Black, has been criticized for his handling of the case, but he has stood firm in his decision to rehire Henderson.

The rehiring of Henderson has been seen as a fair move, and the University community is generally pleased with the outcome.

Support political prisoners

We are concerned that the United States government is targeting political prisoners, including those who are being held in solitary confinement.

The government has been accused of using political prisoners as a means of political repression and as a means of intimidating political opponents.

We believe that political prisoners should be released immediately and that they should be treated with respect and dignity.

We support the right of political prisoners to be heard and to have access to legal counsel.

We urge the government to release all political prisoners and to provide them with fair and just trials.

We believe that the government should also provide for the welfare of political prisoners while they are in prison.

We are concerned that political prisoners are being held in inhumane conditions and that they are being denied access to education and medical care.

We believe that political prisoners should be treated with the same respect and dignity as all other citizens.

We urge the government to end the practice of targeting political prisoners and to ensure that all political prisoners are treated fairly and justly.
VIEWPOINT: EDUCATION

School for training of your mind

By STEPHEN LYNCH

When I was a student at Michigan, I found that I was being trained for a life in the educational establishment. I would like to offer the following observations which, I believe, will help you to gain an understanding of how the educational establishment works.

The purpose of education is to prepare you for a career in the educational establishment. It is completely unrealistic to believe that you can escape its influence. How many times have you heard anyone claim to be above the educational establishment in which they have no experience, have no experience of profession, and do not bring down their grade point? My claim to such status is in this.

I am not advocating a life of leisure or the elimination of all work. I am simply suggesting that the educational establishment is not the best place to learn how to deal with the world. The best place to learn how to deal with the world is in the real world, not in the educational establishment.

VIEWPOINT: RAPE

Solution: obvious, simple, impossible

By JOHN J. BASTIAN

When reading my college English, I find that I am being trained for a life in the educational establishment. I would like to offer the following observations which, I believe, will help you to gain an understanding of how the educational establishment works.

The purpose of education is to prepare you for a career in the educational establishment. It is completely unrealistic to believe that you can escape its influence. How many times have you heard anyone claim to be above the educational establishment in which they have no experience, have no experience of profession, and do not bring down their grade point? My claim to such status is in this.

I am not advocating a life of leisure or the elimination of all work. I am simply suggesting that the educational establishment is not the best place to learn how to deal with the world. The best place to learn how to deal with the world is in the real world, not in the educational establishment.
Property owner stalls E.L. park plans

By MICHI GOURSE
State News-Bulletin Writer

Plans for an East Lansing city park on Haskell Avenue, which are the result of a student housing study, have been modified to meet homeowner demands. A memorandum from State College Student Housing Study to the city council states that homeowners who are unhappy with the proposed park project are in favor of a city park on Haskell Avenue to clear the student overcrowding.

A memorandum from the Student Housing Study to the city council states that homeowners oppose the proposed park project. The homeowners request a city park on Haskell Avenue to clear the student overcrowding.

A memorandum from the Student Housing Study to the city council states that homeowners oppose the proposed park project. The homeowners request a city park on Haskell Avenue to clear the student overcrowding.

A memorandum from the Student Housing Study to the city council states that homeowners oppose the proposed park project. The homeowners request a city park on Haskell Avenue to clear the student overcrowding.
Julian Bream: fine lutenist among few

By DANIEL SELMAN

Dear Home News.

Bream, one of the world's finest lutenists, has performed in concerts at the University of Michigan, as the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, and was a member of the Lutenist Quartet of Detroit, which performed in concerts throughout the state and the country.

Bream, whose father played the guitar, turned to the lute when he was 14. His first teacher was E. P. W. Bream, who was a member of the Michigan Lute Society.

Bream gave a recital at the University of Michigan in November of 1971, where he performed a variety of lute music from the 16th to the 18th centuries. The program included works by such composers as Dowland, Obrecht, and Leo.

Bream also played a grand tour of the United States, performing at major universities and concert halls. His concerts were well received by audiences and critics alike.

Bream has written several books on the lute, including "The Lute in the Renaissance," and has recorded numerous albums of lute music.

Bream's playing is praised for its sensitivity, technical skill, and musicianship. His performances have been described as "elegant," "chivalrous," and "intimate." His recordings have received high critical praise.

Bream is also a member of the Lutenist Quartet of Detroit, which performs regularly throughout the state.

Bream's dedication to the lute and his ability to perform a wide variety of music have made him a beloved and respected figure in the world of lute music.

DANIEL SELMAN
Bethea likes linebacker's job

By CATHEY CROWN
State News Sports Writer

It is now the second year in a row that MSU's women's track team is considered a national power. However, Iowa State, Kansas State and Missouri have been the undiscerning dominate in the competition.

Iowa won the 1977 Intercollegiates, the first time since 1951 that the Wolverines (now the Wolverines) have won a national title.

The team has won six national championships, including 1975, 1976 and 1977. The Wolverines have been led by coach Mark Collins. "The team has improved each year," said Collins. "This year was a little better than last year." The year was a real experiment. "I think the team ran well at the right time and that made the difference," said Collins. "We were the only team that ran well at the right time." The team then ran away with the event. "I think the team ran well at the right time and that made the difference," said Collins. "We were the only team that ran well at the right time." The team then ran away with the event. "I think the team ran well at the right time and that made the difference," said Collins. "We were the only team that ran well at the right time." The team then ran away with the event. "I think the team ran well at the right time and that made the difference," said Collins. "We were the only team that ran well at the right time." The team then ran away with the event. "I think the team ran well at the right time and that made the difference," said Collins. "We were the only team that ran well at the right time." The team then ran away with the event. "I think the team ran well at the right time and that made the difference," said Collins. "We were the only team that ran well at the right time." The team then ran away with the event. "I think the team ran well at the right time and that made the difference," said Collins. "We were the only team that ran well at the right time." The team then ran away with the event. "I think the team ran well at the right time and that made the difference," said Collins. "We were the only team that ran well at the right time." The team then ran away with the event. "I think the team ran well at the right time and that made the difference," said Collins. "We were the only team that ran well at the right time." The team then ran away with the event. "I think the team ran well at the right time and that made the difference," said Collins. "We were the only team that ran well at the right time." The team then ran away with the event. "I think the team ran well at the right time and that made the difference," said Collins. "We were the only team that ran well at the right time." The team then ran away with the event. "I think the team ran well at the right time and that made the difference," said Collins. "We were the only team that ran well at the right time." The team then ran away with the event. "I think the team ran well at the right time and that made the difference," said Collins. "We were the only team that ran well at the right time." The team then ran away with the event. "I think the team ran well at the right time and that made the difference," said Collins. "We were the only team that ran well at the right time." The team then ran away with the event. "I think the team ran well at the right time and that made the difference," said Collins. "We were the only team that ran well at the right time." The team then ran away with the event. "I think the team ran well at the right time and that made the difference," said Collins. "We were the only team that ran well at the right time." The team then ran away with the event. "I think the team ran well at the right time and that made the difference," said Collins. "We were the only team that ran well at the right time." The team then ran away with the event. "I think the team ran well at the right time and that made the difference," said Collins. "We were the only team that ran well at the right time." The team then ran away with the event. "I think the team ran well at the right time and that made the difference," said Collins. "We were the only team that ran well at the right time." The team then ran away with the event. "I think the team ran well at the right time and that made the difference," said Collins. "We were the only team that ran well at the right time." The team then ran away with the event. "I think the team ran well at the right time and that made the difference," said Collins. "We were the only team that ran well at the right time." The team then ran away with the event. "I think the team ran well at the right time and that made the difference," said Collins. "We were the only team that ran well at the right time." The team then ran away with the event. "I think the team ran well at the right time and that made the difference," said Collins. "We were the only team that ran well at the right time." The team then ran away with the event. "I think the team ran well at the right time and that made the difference," said Collins. "We were the only team that ran well at the right time." The team then ran away with the event. "I think the team ran well at the right time and that made the difference," said Collins. "We were the only team that ran well at the right time." The team then ran away with the event. "I think the team ran well at the right time and that made the difference," said Collins. "We were the only team that ran well at the right time." The team then ran away with the event. "I think the team ran well at the right time and that made the difference," said Collins. "We were the only team that ran well at the right time." The team then ran away with the event. "I think the team ran well at the right time and that made the difference," said Collins. "We were the only team that ran well at the right time." The team then ran away with the event. "I think the team ran well at the right time and that made the difference," said Collins. "We were the only team that ran well at the right time." The team then ran away with the event. "I think the team ran well at the right time and that made the difference," said Collins. "We were the only team that ran well at the right time." The team then ran away with the event. "I think the team ran well at the right time and that made the difference," said Collins. "We were the only team that ran well at the right time." The team then ran away with the event. "I think the team ran well at the right time and that made the difference," said Collins. "We were the only team that ran well at the rights...
U TEAM TO RESEARCH EFFECT ON JURORS

Videotape study grants awarded

By JON CHAPMAN
State News Hall Writer

American journalists and advertising executives looking at cases in the nation's courtroom is having very little time for their daily routines. 1982 researchers will be able to spend a few days each on their research and will help bridge some of the gaps in the understanding of how jurors are selected and how they reach decisions.

The researchers are from the University of Michigan and will be working in collaboration with the National Institute of Mental Health. In addition, the researchers will be working with a team of psychologists and legal experts to study the effects of video-taping on jurors.

"Time-taping, the psychologists evidence could be said about, and that's the plan. We want to know the effects of video-taping on jurors," said Professor Gerald Miller.

The researchers will conduct the study in a 10-day period, with the tapes being viewed by the jurors during their deliberations.

"The study will be conducted in a 10-day period, with the tapes being viewed by the jurors during their deliberations," said Professor Gerald Miller.

The researchers will conduct the study in a 10-day period, with the tapes being viewed by the jurors during their deliberations. The researchers will conduct the study in a 10-day period, with the tapes being viewed by the jurors during their deliberations.