Hazing: Greeks still do it at MSU

By JON PUTNAM
News Editor

Two men have been stripped of their Greek membership in the Inter-Fraternity Council because of hazing incidents.

The Greek membership has been suspended for violating the university's hazing policy.

One of the members suspended is a freshman, while the other is a sophomore.

The suspension comes after the Inter-Fraternity Council received a complaint about hazing activities.

The council investigated the complaint and found evidence of hazing.

The suspension is effective immediately and will remain in effect until further notice.

The Inter-Fraternity Council has also imposed sanctions on the fraternity involved in the hazing incident.

The fraternity will be required to conduct an investigation into its hazing policies and procedures.

The fraternity will also be required to implement new procedures to prevent future hazing incidents.

In addition, the fraternity will be required to hold a training session for all members on the university's hazing policy.

The Inter-Fraternity Council has also imposed a fine on the fraternity.

The fine will be used to fund the university's hazing prevention efforts.

The suspension and sanctions are intended to send a strong message that hazing will not be tolerated at the university.

The university has a zero-tolerance policy for hazing and takes such incidents very seriously.

The university encourages all students to report any hazing incidents they witness.

In the event of a hazing incident, students are encouraged to seek help from a trusted friend or family member, or to contact the university's Office of Student Affairs for assistance.

The university also provides training and resources to help students and fraternity members understand the risks associated with hazing and how to prevent it.

The university is committed to creating a safe and respectful environment for all students and encourages all members of the Greek community to do the same.

This is a matter of personal responsibility, and we encourage all students to take the time to learn about hazing and its risks.

We are working hard to prevent hazing at the university, and we encourage all members of the Greek community to do their part to ensure that hazing does not occur on campus.

Human Relations Dept.

to fill director's vacancy, public relations

H. Doull, the present assistant director of human relations, said yesterday that the Board of Trustees has appointed him to the post of human relations director.

Doull said he had accepted the position because he felt that the department needed a new director.

The department was created last year under a proposal from the Board of Trustees.

Doull said that the department was responsible for the provision of public relations services, including the production of public relations materials, the distribution of public relations materials, and the coordination of public relations activities.

Doull said that the department had been responsible for the production of a number of public relations materials, including a newsletter, a newsletter for employees, and a newsletter for students.

Doull said that the department had also been responsible for the coordination of public relations activities, including the organization of public relations events, and the coordination of public relations activities with other departments.

Doull said that he believed that the department had been successful in its work, and that he was looking forward to continuing his work in the department.

Doull said that he believed that the department would continue to be successful in the future, and that he was looking forward to working with the Board of Trustees and the administration to ensure the success of the department.

The department was created to provide public relations services for the university, and was responsible for the provision of public relations services to the university, the community, and the public.

Budget request richly deserved

MSU has swallowed hard and gone ahead with a record budget request for the 1977-1978 school year. We think MSU richly deserves this increase.

Last Friday, the trustees approved the $179 million operating budget request, an increase of $34.7 million over this year. Now the ball is in the legislature's court and MSU President William E. Herron faces the probability of receiving the full requested increase "upfront," and Trustee Warren Huff talked with us "in a sense of facility."

If the budget request is per chance approved by the state, students will be relieved of any possibility of tuition increases for next year.

The increase itself is not much at all in terms of percentage increase, $16.2 million, which won't mean much for those in the lower income brackets. Another $12.3 million would pay for "catch-up" faculty salary increases, helping to pull us from the bottom of the Big Ten heap.

The request would also include a mere $10 million for operational programs that need shortening; and a half million for exploring the possibility of colleges of law and dentistry.

Besides the basic increase in the capital outlay request, which in itself will be over $70 million for info equip.

The request, which is $15 million for a new Communication Arts building and $12 million for a new Performing Arts Center.

Michigan has slipped from 18th to 24th in the last 10 years in ranking of state appropriations for higher education, so that we are now frustratingly below the national average.

It's time for MSU to catch up.

Disastrous move

Another disastrous blow has been dealt to the people of India with last week's passage of a constitutional amendment strengthening Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's virtually dictatorial powers.

The amendment will facilitate destruction of human rights, many of which have already been trampled on by the Indian people who had no recourse for protest because of general fear.

In addition to enabling the government to make half of the decisions "anti-national," the amendment allows the removal of more than 3000 political prisoners at the government's whim.

We can only hope that these Indians are joined by others in their struggle against the "anti-national" rule -- a rule which is now more vulnerable than ever, as we can watch helplessly as India slides away from any hope of change.

MSU has swallowed hard

Dear Mr. President:

I would like to express my wholehearted support for your budget request. I strongly believe that the additional funding requested will enable the university to continue providing quality education and services to its students and the community.

Thank you for your dedication to the welfare of our students.

Sincerely,

More questions need better answers

By Richard Hill

As the regulations in Math 108 this quarter have increased, I have decided to request a State Board meeting in the near future. One of the many things that impressed me was the "All the President's Men" who discussed the University's requirements. Barron and Wood were particularly enlightening in their discussion on the importance of the senate for the student body. The faculty voiced the need for the senate to be more active in functioning, giving an input to the senate on the important issues.

Another complaint is the lack of regulations in Math 108. Math 108 has been one of the most successful and most comprehensive programs offered by the university. The result of the lack of regulations is that students are not being given the opportunity to work at their own pace and to decide on their own learning process.

I feel that there are many more questions that should have been asked and many things proposed more clearly. The regulations have been so vague that it is difficult to determine what is expected of the students.

In conclusion, I would like to request a State Board meeting to discuss the regulations in Math 108 and to make suggestions for improvement.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,

FM a logical option to current system

By Bradley J. Epstein

Student radio at MSU for the last 20 years has been in the struggle to compete with the many other competing wants of MSU undergraduate. The three network stations broadcast a music show and a top 40 music. Every student has access to these shows and has had a great deal of influence over their programming. Many students, however, have complained about the programming and feel that they have no influence over what is being played.

A student radio station would allow students to have a chance to express their opinions and have an influence over what is being played. All of the students would have a chance to participate in the programming and would have a much greater chance to participate in the music.

Loan agent appointment backed

By JUDY CRISPINO
State News Staff Writer

The establishment of a new loan agent appointment program, a joint project by the Office of Education and Human Resources, and the Student Financial Aid, may have authority to require a lender to meet the entire proceeds of the loan. A loan agent would then disburse the funds to the student or the school.

The use of an in-house agent to meet the lender for the school instead of the student will avoid the need for minimum payment obligations. If a student who is having problems in the loan program would not disburse the funds, the school would be in a better position to help the student.

Ron Blankenship, associate director of MSU's Office of Student Financial Aid, said that this program will not cost the school.

"It's a great idea that has been around for years," Blankenship said.

E.L. Sister City group checking possible link with Canadian town

By BRIAN BROWN
State News Staff Writer

The E.L. Sister City group has been searching for a sister-city link with the Canadian town of Sherbrooke for years. The group began its search in 1956 and has been active ever since.

The E.L. Sister City group is a non-profit organization made up of members of the community who wish to promote good relations between the two countries.

According to the group, there have been several offers over the years to form sister-city links with different Canadian cities, but none have been successful.

The group is currently searching for a sister-city link with Sherbrooke, a town of approximately 45,000 people in

Losses may push GOP reorganization

By ED SCHREIBER

The Detroit News

For the first time in history the Democrats in Ingham County appear to have a viable chance at winning a majority on the local school board and thus becoming a dominant force in local education, several area Republicans have said in private that the loss appears to push the county GOP toward the upper county, and a possible split between the local and county Republican parties. As a result, several county Republicans have said they would resign from the local party if the county GOP does not reorganize.

The county GOP has not had a majority on the school board since 2014, and it has not had a majority in any other political body in the county since 2016. The county GOP has been in a state of disarray since 2018, and it has lost several key members over the past few years.

Carter scouting Cabinet recruits

WASHINGTON 17th

President-elect Jimmy Carter will be in Canada this week to study the voting patterns he will face as he tries to win a mandate for bipartisanship.

Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau announced Monday in Ottawa that Carter will meet with Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau on Tuesday as part of his trip to Canada. Carter has said he will announce his Cabinet this week.

The trip is Carter's first official visit to Canada as president-elect, and he will meet with leaders from all levels of government during his six-day visit. The visit is expected to be the first of many to come.

Carter's trip to Canada is part of his effort to build a strong partnership with Canada, which is essential to the success of his presidency.

The trip will also provide Carter with an opportunity to meet with his counterparts in Ottawa, including Prime Minister Trudeau, who is widely regarded as one of the world's most effective leaders.

The trip is expected to be a success, and Carter is looking forward to meeting with the Canadian leaders to discuss the future of their countries and to build a strong partnership.

LANSING (AP) - Legislation has been introduced in the House that would require lobbying organizations to provide financial reports to the state and make public the names of each lobbyist and the amount of money spent by each lobbyist on lobbying activities.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. Patrick McCallough, D-Dundie, directly follows the lobbying regulations established in a similar measure called SB 225 by state Sen. Lewis Leap, D-Detroit.

The act was passed by the Senate in a compact session last week because it is expected to pass the House and Senate and be signed by the governor.

The bill would require lobbyists to provide financial reports to the state every six months and make those reports public.

The one glaring exception to this legislation is that insurance and credit unions are not required to make the financial reports.

The bill was introduced by McCallough, who is a member of the House Appropriations Committee.
