Agents guarding Korean official

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI agents guarding South Korean diplomat who fled North have stopped sending signals and has begun cooperating with the Justice Department's alleged South Korean influence scheme being staged by S.C. Cong. Committees.

The diplomat, Kim Sung Hoon, 43, has been officially put on the list of Korean Central Intelligence Agency officers who have been "neutralized," but there is no mention of the North in the messages.

As FBI agents who assumed the responsibility at Earl Hunt's Central Intelligence Agency headquarters, two FBI agents have shown sympathy for the North's cause.

A man identified in the Secret Service as Robert S. Williams, 33, disappeared on his truck after attempting to crash it through a White House gate. The独自 were used in the incident.

Only students should serve on liaison group

Professors at MSU have the option of giving final examinations during the last week of scheduled classes or during finals week. It only provision being that the class must meet for some kind of course activity during both periods.

While this policy seems fair, quite often the last week of classes is bound on exams. One term assignment and prerequisites are usually laid down in the first week of classes and are fixed for the rest of the term, and for such an extremely difficult situation.

Given this kind of situation, it would only seem reasonable for professors to leave open the option for students to take the final during finals week when there is more time to study.

The Christian season is open, and Abrams Planetarium is getting into the holiday spirit with a new show, "Christmas at the Planetarium," which will run weekends until Dec. 26.

The show attempts to explain the holiday stories surrounding the star which led the wise men to the child. The appearance of the star at G.L was the first Christmas and be recreated on the Abrams stage. It is hypothesized that the star that led the wise men to the baby was a comet, a "triple conjunction." This situation occurs when the planets Jupiter, Saturn and Mars approach each other. It has occurred 13 times in the past 2,500 years, the last time in 1892. It is expected again in 1980.

The origins of the traditions behind gift-giving, Christmas trees, Santa Claus, and snowflakes have been traced back to ancient Egyptian lore. The story will be presented Friday, Dec. 20, at 7:45 & 8:30, Saturday, Dec. 21, at 7:45, 8:30 & 9:45, and Sunday, Dec. 22, at 7:45 & 8:30. Darwin is called up to the microphone to explain his part in the film. 'The second thing I realized was that if I did it, I would have to wear a suit. I couldn't do it, so I decided to do something else.' He goes on to explain that he was more interested in the music than the film, and that he wanted to be part of the beatnik scene that was happening in London at the time. Darwin then goes on to explain that he was interested in the idea of using music as a form of protest, and that he wanted to be part of the counterculture that was emerging in the UK.

Mistletoe sale planned by club

by JOHN CHICK

When you think of December, think of mistletoe, said Ted New¬ ton, president of the ASMSU council. "Mistletoe is a symbol of the Christian faith and it should be displayed during December to recognize Christmas Day," Newton said.

ASMSU is sponsoring a sale of mistletoe at its headquarters, 1115 W. Kalamazoo St., on Dec. 7. From 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., a bough of mistletoe will be available for 25 cents.

The sale is being sponsored by the Student Government Association to raise funds for the ASMSU building fund.

Newton said it is important to recognize Christmas Day and to display mistletoe as a symbol of the Christian faith.

There has always been a mystical surrounding train travel. The allure of trains is something that remains even for the most modern of us. Sure, there are faster ways to get from one place to another. But something about trains, and the journey they bring, make them a special part of our lives. Whether it's the mix of nostalgia and excitement, or the romantic elements that come with it, trains have always had a mystique surrounding them.

Moviemakers have always taken advantage of the romance and excitement that accompany trains. Close your eyes at a station and you can almost see Humphrey Bogart waiting in the rain for Ingrid Bergman as a train waits for them both. Or picture the countless "B" movies you watched as a kid where the Indians would swoop down on the unsuspecting passengers in a locomotive and threaten to kill everyone—until the cavalry arrived to save the day.

People, especially students, who have never ridden the rails are now taking trains home. The waiting room of a train depot sometimes is a place of eager anticipation. Getting on a train for the first time is a unique experience. One person recently laughed as she heard a conductor yell, "All aboard!" "I thought conductors were only in the movies," she giggled. Yes, the railroads still have conductors who punch tickets and call out destinations. And there really are engineers in striped overalls and caps.

The railroads almost disappeared into history a few years ago, when line after line fell into bankruptcy. The government came to the rescue with Amtrak. Amtrak, according to officials, has proved a success, saving a part of America that more and more people are discovering. It is predicted that the rails will be carrying a record number of travelers over this Christmas holiday.

The little railroad station on South Harrison Road in East Lansing is a busy place at Christmas time. Students, backpacks and boxes line the waiting room as students wait for the trains that will take them to Kalamazoo or points elsewhere. "Why take a train home?" a student asked. "Because it is fun, I guess. And I would rather save myself the hassle of driving." "Taking the train is fun," one man answered. "I get a kick out of it. It is something different." As long as there are travelers, there will hopefully be trains. And by the glowing lines of first time train riders, it looks like the nostalgia — and convenience — of the railroads will be around for a long time.

Firm to probe recount drive

Montgomery, Ala. — The Alabama State Board of Elections said Thursday that it will investigate a request by some prominent Republicans for a recount in the state's gubernatorial race.

The board voted to launch an investigation into allegations that the Republican candidate, Robert Bentley, fraudulently registered voters in the final days of the campaign.

Bentley won the race by 1,985 votes out of more than 400,000 cast.

The board said it will also look into whether Bentley's campaign violated state election laws.

The investigation is the latest in a series of legal battles over the outcome of the election, which is being closely watched in the South where the governor's race is seen as a key to the region's economic future.

The board's decision came after a meeting with a team of attorneys representing the Bentley campaign.

The attorneys said they had evidence that the campaign violated state election laws in at least two counties.

The investigation will be handled by the Alabama Attorney General's office.

In related news, the Alabama State Board of Elections announced it will consider putting a constitutional amendment on the ballot in 2014 that would allow the state to hold a special election to fill a vacancy in the governor's office.

The amendment was introduced by Rep. Steve Richey, a Republican from千古府, who said it would give voters a chance to participate in the process of choosing the state's top elected official.

The amendment would require the state to hold a special election within 60 days of a governor's death or resignation and would also limit the number of times a governor can serve in any one term to two.

The board's vote came after a heated debate among members, with some expressing concern about the potential impact on the state's budget and others saying it would give the people a voice in the selection of their leaders.

In other news, the Alabama玃 reported that Republican John K. Haralson, a U.S. Senate candidate, has been given a two-week extension to file financial reports.

Haralson, who is running in the Republican primary for the seat vacated by retiring U.S. Sen. Richard Shelby, has been given the extension to give him more time to complete his financial disclosure.

The extension comes as the campaign season heats up with the Alabama primaries scheduled for March 3.

Tiger right-hander Mark "The Bird" Fidrych was named Wednesday the American League's Pitcher of the Year.

Fidrych, who signed several publicity opportunities, was outspoken about his problems with managers and press at times.

The 23-year-old Fidrych, a native of Detroit, Mich., captured a 20-win record while finishing a league-leading 22nd earned run average in 1976. Fidrych pitched a total of six complete games.

Fidrych joins former Tiger Harvey Kuenn as the only other Detroit player to receive the first-place vote. Kuenn was in 1965.
