Survey discovers moderate majority

BERKELEY, CALIF. (AP) - For the first time in 10 years, the University of California at Berkeley has discovered that a majority of its students think there is a moderate majority present on campus, according to a survey conducted by the Berkeley Student Services Bureau. The survey showed that 52% of the students surveyed believe there is a moderate majority on campus, while 48% believe there is either a left-wing or right-wing majority.

Israeli cabinet to

JERUSALEM (AP)—The Israeli cabinet accepted on Sunday a prisoner swap following a 25-day-old allied criminal in a cabinet minister who committed suicide last week.

But the prosecutor, Arty, Galon Rapoport, urged that attacks of this type investigation involving other key mem

Chinese honor memorial of Chou En-lai

TOKYO (AP)—An estimated one million people thronged Tokyo’s main square Sunday afternoon to mark the memory of Chou En-lai, and new posters appeared denouncing the death of Chou’s disgraced protege Tang Hsing-pei, who was found hanged in Tokyo.

The Japanese government said several posters carried pictures of Chou and in its ranks, their hats off, singing revolu

tional songs.

Radio stations called for Tang’s renunciation, but they were not listened to by the large crowd gathered in what is known as Red Square.

The posters denounced thousands of memorializing Chou were in the square on Sunday, along with posters demanding punishment for those suspected of Chou’s death.

"The people were pretty well demonstrated, " a Tokyo newspaper stated.

But this was not enough to change the minds of the Japanese.

There were thousands of people standing outside the Japanese Embassy, in tribute to Chou’s memory.

The government has decided to send a memorial to the government of China

after the death of Chou.

Courtrupt government

foreign minister, Mike Sheehan, to seek the withdrawal of the American forces.

The Japanese government rejected any such proposal.

At the time of Chou’s death, the Allied countries were composed of the United States, Britain, France, and China.

The Japanese government was not represented at the memorial ceremony.

Conditions were based on the Japanese government’s willingness to seek the withdrawal of American forces.

Senator asked to consider health plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate is being asked to approve legislation that would establish a national health insurance plan, requiring all adults to provide health insurance plans, including children under 18, as well as paying charges by hospital and doctors.

Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H., said Sunday that the proposal would require plans to cover such things as the cost of 100 days of hospitalization, 50 days of medical care, some surgical and dental, and emergency examinations.

Telephone industry seeks renewal battle

WASHINGTON (AP)—The telephone industry has returned to battle in Congress to turn back what it calls unfair attempts by the Federal Communications Commission to impose higher charges on telephone companies.

The FCC, which regulates telephone rates, has been asked to impose a charge on telephone companies.

At a news conference Thursday, FCC Chairman William A. Niswonger said that the action was necessary to raise rates.

Niswonger said that the FCC has been asked to consider the issue of telephone rates.

By 1981, plans would have to include in their covering what is to be paid for health insurance plans, including children under 18, as well as paying charges by hospital and doctors.

The bill would require plans to cover such things as the cost of 100 days of hospitalization, 50 days of medical care, some surgical and dental, and emergency examinations by doctors.

State Board of Education rep sworn in

The Michigan Board of Education has sworn in four new members to the board, including one from Michigan State University in Detroit as its first student member. The board is made up of five members: two appointed by the governor, one appointed by the Senate, and two appointed by the House of Representatives. The student member, John Kozloft, will serve a term of three years.

Kozloft is a senior at Michigan State University, studying education and mathematics. He said he was excited to be a part of the board and look forward to representing the interests of students.

The other new members are Ann Comito, representing the Michigan Democratic Party; L. E. "Pat" Rutledge, representing the Michigan Republican Party; and Patrick Donnely, representing the Michigan Green Party.

The board met in Lansing to swear in the new members and discuss upcoming issues. Among the topics discussed was the need for better funding for public schools and the importance of providing equitable educational opportunities for all students.

"We have a responsibility to ensure that every student in Michigan has access to a quality education," said Rutledge. "We need to work together to make sure that our schools have the resources they need to succeed."
Byrd unfit as leader

The selection of Robert Byrd as the new Senate majority leader is a disturbing signal to the American people. Byrd, who has been a Democratic senator from West Virginia for more than three decades, is not only the Senate’s longest-serving member but also one of its most conservative. His opposition to the Civil Rights Act and his vocal support for segregationist policies are well-known. Byrd’s selection as majority leader is a clear indication that the Senate will continue to be dominated by conservative Democrats. This is not good for the country.

The Senate is not just a legislative body; it is also a forum for the expression of ideas and values. The selection of Byrd as majority leader is a signal that the Senate is now more interested in protecting the interests of the wealthy and powerful than in serving the needs of ordinary Americans. This is a cause for concern.

The Senate’s role as a check on the executive branch is also under threat. Byrd is a close ally of President Donald Trump, and his selection as majority leader will make it easier for the president to push through his agenda. This is not good for democracy.

The selection of Byrd as majority leader is a clear indication that the Senate is not interested in representing the interests of ordinary Americans. This is a cause for concern. It is time for the American people to demand a Senate that is truly representative of their interests. This is not happening in the Senate.

The selection of Byrd as majority leader is a clear indication that the Senate is not interested in serving the needs of ordinary Americans. This is not good for democracy. The Senate must be reformed to ensure that it is truly representative of the American people. This is not happening in the Senate.

Most people going to college today are in a specialized job-oriented program. As a result, it is very difficult for them to find a job after graduation. The Senate is not interested in providing the necessary training and education for the young people of this country. This is not good for democracy.

The Third Coast:
Contemporary Michigan Poetry

Edited by Gerald Birdseye, Herbert Kent and James Timko Wayne State University Press, Detroit, 328 pages, $12.95

By JAMES HAMILTON

"The Third Coast" is a collection of poetry of local interest. Poetry was so popular in the past that some collections of poetry by local poets have been very popular. The poetry in this collection is not as popular as the poetry collected in "Poetry of the Third Coast," which was published in 1984. This collection is a good choice for poetry lovers.

The poems in this collection are written by local poets who have written about their experiences in Michigan. Some of the poems are about Michigan's history, while others are about Michigan's present. The poems are written in a variety of styles, but they are all written in a poetic manner. The collection is a good choice for poetry lovers who want to read about Michigan's history and present.

SCHOOL DESEGREGATION PROMOTED

Conference publishes handbook

By JUDY PUTNAM Associated Press

The only one for segregation-minded Northerners to attend a school desegregation conference, according to virtually all of the 300,000 people who attended a conference like this weekend's National Conference on Urban Education, is Mithigon University with its $1 million grant from the Ford Foundation. The conference, sponsored by the National Conference of State Legislatures, was held at the University of Michigan. The conference addressed the problem of school desegregation in a more comprehensive and thorough manner than any other conference to date. The conference included speakers from all over the country, and represented a wide range of interests, including education, politics, and law. The conference also included a panel discussion on the future of school desegregation, with speakers from the University of Michigan, the Ford Foundation, and the National Conference of State Legislatures. The conference concluded with a panel discussion on the practical implications of the conference's findings, and a closing address by the conference's keynote speaker, Governor James Earl Jones. The conference was well-received, with attendees expressing a great deal of enthusiasm for the ideas presented and the potential for progress in the area of school desegregation.
Ford faces his final decisions

The President considered his options during a relatively quiet and private Monday at the White House. Today, he will present the nation with his most important decision and his most significant challenge since the 1977 Kerr-McClellan legislation. The President proposed that for Congress to consider amnesty, Congress must first allow the nation to be considered.

The President's advisors have been divided on the issue of relief. The President's task is to challenge Congress to consider his request for relief if the nation will not show any interest in his request. The President's task is to make his point in a way that Congress will consider his relief.

The essence of a professional role is the ability to help others, and as such, the role of a professional assistant is crucial in the healthcare field. In order to provide the best possible care, professionals need support and assistance from their assistants. The role of the professional assistant is not just to help with administrative tasks, but to provide emotional support, encouragement, and a listening ear to the professionals they work with. By doing so, they help to create a supportive and positive work environment, which in turn can lead to better patient outcomes and a more fulfilling professional experience. To be successful in this role, assistants need to possess a range of skills, including strong communication, organizational, and problem-solving abilities. They must also be able to work effectively as part of a team, and to adapt to changing circumstances. By following the guidelines outlined in this article, professional assistants can provide high-quality support to their colleagues, and help to ensure the best possible care for their patients.

Icers juggles goals, past road win

By MIKE LAYKE

Maybe it was the Coors. Maybe it was the high winds. Or the 100-degree weather. Maybe it was the time zone change. Whatever the reason, it was a grinding game that ended in a 3-3 tie, with both teams owning a share of first place.

While getting out of town with a 3-2 lead, the Icers scored three goals in the second period. Left wing Mike Lewis scored twice, and center Peter Schramm added one. The Icers had a 3-2 lead after two periods, with each team scoring seven goals.

In the third period, the Icers scored two goals in the final 13 minutes to take the lead. But the Ices hung tough and tied the game with 15 seconds left, finishing the game with a 3-3 tie.

The Icers finished the season with a 3-3 record, while the Ices finished with a 3-3-1 record. The team had a lot to look forward to in the upcoming season.

Smokers meet to 'cold turkey'

BY JANET E. OLSEN

State News Staff Writer

A group of 50 people with a wide variety of ages and both genders attended a meeting to help them kick smoking. "We all had one thing in common, we were all addicted to breaking their smoking habit by laughing," many of those attending were smokers some who came to the meeting to help others quit smoking a problem they had previously tried to solve.

Student Council backs reception for trustees

MSCU's Student Council firmly removed the Council of Graduate Student (COSG) sponsorship of a reception held for MSCU's Board of Trustees.

In a meeting held on April 19, the student council said they will not attend or accompany the board members.

Faculty agreed students should attend the reception which will be at 6:30, 8 and 9:30 p.m.

So far, the meeting will be held daily and there will be no reception.

Congress begins hearings

In this is the base and Ahlber of the Greater Lansing Broadcasting Station, a report says that the program of the members involved in the project.

The club was started in 1973 under the leadership of Dr. Richard Bates, who had developed a 12 month program.

They decided that being used to treat alcoholics could be used to treat smokers.

The purpose of the Friday night meeting was to give people a place to talk about their problems.

The club will meet every Thursday night from 7 to 9 p.m. for about 4 weeks.

The club was held in East, a bar that has a telephone and a contact desk for smokers to help others stay off.

"Our experience is just over 20 per cent," Bates said. "We think this is a natural competitor to other clubs around the country.

An alcoholics support group, the Lansing club, is basically a club.

The name of the club is the Frogs of the East. The Frogs club is located in the corner of the club and has a bar for any one to go to talk to and help each other.

However, the Frogs club has a list of smokers who enter the club at night and order a drink to help them stay off.

During the last weeks of the club, which is held on a weekly basis, a seminar is given to show the members the trouble of smoking and how to overcome it.

We now give 90 per cent of our members in the Frogs club, Dr. Bates said. The club has a member staff which helps smokers stay off.

"In some locations," he said. "The Frogs club has a member staff which helps smokers stay off.

Diane Schar, who has been a member of the Frogs club for 10 years, said that the group uses a seminar to help smokers stay off.

"In some locations," she said. "The Frogs club has a member staff which helps smokers stay off.
