Burlington, Vt. — Larry Carter emerged as the American Legion's favorite son after winning the coin toss to determine who would be the first president inaugurated in the nation's third century.

When he's not up to his ears in school business, Larry Carter runs a small public relations firm in Burlington, Vt., where he coordinates a number of annual events including the annual apple pie contest held in conjunction with Apple Pie Day, a national observance commemorating the day in 1801 when Vermonters voted to secede from New Hampshire.
Sadat bows to pressure of rioting

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Anwar Sadat received a government order in press release on new倭田 products Wednesday after 25 years of riots.

Sadat, who received press releases Wednesday afternoon, told his spokespeople to stop rioting and to go back to their homes, which were said to have been destroyed by rioters.

Sadat also gave a press conference later in the day, where he expressed his own personal emotions about the situation in Egypt.

Sadat said the government had decided to stop rioting and to start working on solutions to the problems in Egypt.

He also announced that he would call for a general strike on Thursday to show his support for the people of Egypt.

Sadat's announcement came after a series of demonstrations and riots in Cairo that had lasted for several days.

The demonstrations were sparked by the government's decision to raise fuel prices.

Sadat vowed to work with the people to resolve the problems in Egypt and to create a better future for the country.

Sadat also called on the international community to support Egypt in its efforts to resolve the current crisis.

He said that Egypt was ready to receive any assistance that could help it solve its problems and to work towards a better future.

Sadat's announcement was welcomed by many Egyptians, who hoped that his decision would bring an end to the violence and lead to a peaceful resolution of the crisis.

Sadat's statement was also praised by international leaders, who expressed their support for Egypt and its efforts to resolve the current crisis.

Sadat's announcement came after a series of meetings with government officials and representatives of various groups in Egypt.

He said that he would continue to work with all parties to find a solution to the current crisis and to create a better future for Egypt.

some Michigan legislators are proposing bills to take action against the Nuclear Environmental and Development Research Corporation (EDRC) to stop the state with one of the plans nuclear waste disposal sites.

Separate bills, one proposed by Rep. Lynn Joddlin, D-Lansing, and another by Rep. E.J. Danilus, R-Atlanta, pro-provide (two different means to the same end — assuring state control o over whether any part of Michigan will be used as a nuclear waste site.

Why is the federal government moving on the state of Michigan as an ideal dump? Mostly because of the vast salt beds that underlie much of the state, considered to be the safest place to bury nuclear radiocativity for thousands of years.

There are substantial differences between Michigan and the other states that have been considered for nuclear waste.

The original Joddlin bill was introduced in 1972, before the 1942 state law was found that provides the federal government to bluff to possess state authority to require and authorize a site.

The new bill will provide an exception to this blanket authority, and give the legislature veto power over any federal disposal proposals.

The Joddlin bill calls for appeal by the executive branch, which would include the Department of Public Health, the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) and the Governor. This bill would also provide for the same exercise to the 1942 law.

Whatever bill comes before the legislature will be approved by expediently. State control or veto over federal government nuclear waste disposal sites needs to be achieved.

And as we see, there exists no crucially substantial difference between the state agency such as the (DNR) and the legislature which it comes to exercising the state's interests. The DNR or Department of Public Health could set demonstrably swifter than the legislature is dealing with the government, but the legislature is likely to be in more time with the government's wishes.

As we have seen, there are two different routes to the same destination.

What is of urgency at this point is that some vehicle for assuming the task of determining whether 1942 mistake be started.

The legislature may be appropriately expedient. State control or veto over federal government nuclear waste disposal sites needs to be achieved.

Lateef, Metheny head Showcase bill

For those who maintain a sense of the importance of the artistic world, the presence of two great artists in the same venue is a rare and thrilling experience. The telegrapher and Metheny, both living in Detroit, will be performing on the same stage at the Kauffman Center on Friday, March 11th.

Lateef was born in Persia and grew up in Iran. He moved to the United States in the 1960s and has been a major influence in the development of jazz. Metheny, on the other hand, is a contemporary jazz virtuoso who has made a name for himself with his innovative approach to the instrument. Their collaboration is sure to be a highlight of the evening.

Council discusses snow removal woes

Ann Arbor, Michigan

The Michigan State University Board of Trustees has approved a plan to address the university's snow removal woes. The board, which met Monday night at the University Union, discussed the issue at length and agreed to a new plan that will come into effect next winter.

The new plan includes the following:

1. Increased use of heavy machinery to clear snow from walkways and roads.
2. Enhanced communication with the public to provide clearer and more accurate snow removal schedules.
3. Increased staffing during peak snowfall periods.
4. Implementation of a new snow removal protocol that prioritizes walkways and pedestrian areas.

The board also expressed concern over the university's current snow removal contract, which it felt was not adequate to meet the university's needs. The contract was up for renewal at the end of the fiscal year, and the board encouraged the administration to negotiate a new contract that better meets the university's requirements.

The university's snow removal woes have been a recurring issue for several years, and the board has previously expressed its dissatisfaction with the current situation. The new plan is expected to significantly improve the university's snow removal capabilities and address the concerns of students, faculty, and staff.
Illini challenge new confidence

BY GREG ENFIRE

State News/Spokesman
A nagging smug is showing on the faces of Michigan State University basketball fans.

The point-spread victory over the Spartans today seemed to mean so much more in the eyes of the Spartans than it did to the Illini.

But the Illini fans are just as confident as the Spartans.

With this victory, the Illini will have their confidence back, and with the way the Spartans took the game and the Illini won it, the Illini fans will have some confidence.

The Spartans will bring along some new fans today.

CATA cuts bus passes for unemployed

BY JANET DEAN

One of the events of Transportation Month was a public hearing beginning Tuesday evening that heard testimony on the passes center as a result of discussions held at a forum in the2022 Michigan Election.

Hearing is held in the room at 1201 Washington St. in Lansing.

According to the hearing on July 17, at 3:30 p.m., the Michigan Employment Commission, held that the widespread unemployment rate was at 8.5 per cent.

Andrea Wilson, a member of the Lansing area, said she has been unemployed since May of last year.

"I think that's a real problem," she said. "I'm not sure if it's a problem for me personally, but I know it's a problem for a lot of people."

Dillingham also pointed out that CATA is now facing a different group of unemployed people. He said that more people than less

"If I'm correct, the unemployment rate has been over 5 and 6 per cent," Dillingham said. "The unemployment rate has been over 5 and 6 per cent."

senators Republicans favored him.

All three states — Iowa, Pennsylvania and Ohio — have Republican governors. Iowa Sen. John Carlson of Johnson Territory and Pennsylvania Sen. Richard Lugar, a Republican, have endorsed the measure. Ohio Sen. John Kasich, also a Republican, said he supports the measure.

The measure would allow voters to register with the party of their choice at the polls. It would also require counties to provide voter registration forms to every voter who requests a ballot.

Tours of the state have been planned to help voters register for the elections.

beginning at 11:30 a.m., today, he would fly with his wife, Betty, to Montgomery, Ala.

Ford then planned to travel across the country, portraying the image of a president-elect, and was expected to return to the White House.

Among Carter's initiative scheduled to attend the events were:

- The Civil Liberties Union, which would sponsor a public forum on civil liberties in New York City.
- The American Civil Liberties Union, which would sponsor an event in Boston.
- The Southern Poverty Law Center, which would sponsor an event in Atlanta.

"I'm not wearing anything against the wind," one student named Andrew, who opted for a jacket, said.

The cold weather has also caused a boost in the sales of lightweight jackets for those fortunate enough to be able to head outdoors.

"We have been stockpiling heavy-duty outerwear, and it has been very cold," a sales clerk said.

However, for a pilgrimage to Alaska at is not the only option.

"We have been planning on traveling to Alaska at some point," said Andrew, who opted for a jacket.

And there is the student who wants a colder climate to stay in a different region.

"I find it too hot during the spring and in the heat of summer," said Andrew, who opted for a jacket.

In its second week to Michigan State University, the Royal Winnipeg Ballet, a company with a steady rising image, presented "A Woman Under the Influence," a two-act story that was the most interesting program, to edit.
