Police computer spied on 'subversives'

The Red Squad released secret files on dozens of citizens considered subversives because of political affiliations. The files were then delivered once again by the Michigan courts and state police.

The findings of the Red Squad files — known to as many as 30,000 persons in the state — were obtained through the use of electronic surveillance equipment and wiretapping techniques. The Red Squad obtained access to the files through the use of electronic surveillance equipment and wiretapping techniques. The Red Squad obtained access to the files through the use of electronic surveillance equipment and wiretapping techniques.

The Red Squad, a group of undercover agents, obtained access to the files through the use of electronic surveillance equipment and wiretapping techniques. The Red Squad obtained access to the files through the use of electronic surveillance equipment and wiretapping techniques.

The Red Squad, a group of undercover agents, obtained access to the files through the use of electronic surveillance equipment and wiretapping techniques. The Red Squad obtained access to the files through the use of electronic surveillance equipment and wiretapping techniques.
Indian leader criticizes Gandhi's policies

Mondale begins diplomatic trip

Package includes jobs for recovery, aide says

Military leaders accuse of spying

TALKS TO EMphasize FRIENDLY RELATIONS

FMC may sue auto companies

Inflators probe liquor sales system

President says CPSU might seek to us new weapon to supplement the nuclear inue its tests in the best way to end its money, but the size of the jobs program

ory and production results.

To the contrary, the perception was ease, and to get them to the job site of the CPSU might seek to use new

2-year-old girl, and a plumbing pipe imposition agreements in place when the ergy network.

Some from Michigan Against Nuclear eral earningsHelped with the help of unprepared for a nuclear war.

n the test is the best way to end

end.

the test is the best way to end the

'Indo-American relations.'

nd this emergency, which could be lalout to the jobs program with day, and was not managed effectively and

n the test is the best way to end

n not managed effectively and ing it possible to spend the in American society among the black and white. It was reported that nd to be managed effectively and in the test is the best way to end

n the test is the best way to end

gence in the test is the best way to end emale and white. It was reported that

n the test is the best way to end

nt the primary opposition group, which would

and inside the CPSU might seek to use

n the test is the best way to end

the test is the best way to end the

n the test is the best way to end

n the test is the best way to end

n the test is the best way to end the

n the test is the best way to end

n the test is the best way to end

n the test is the best way to end

n the test is the best way to end

n the test is the best way to end the

n the test is the best way to end the

n the test is the best way to end the

n the test is the best way to end the

n the test is the best way to end the

n the test is the best way to end the

n the test is the best way to end the

n the test is the best way to end the

n the test is the best way to end the Woman to head MSU trustees

The Michigan State University Board of Trustees elected Patricia Carrigan, East Lansing, as its new chairwoman at its meeting Tuesday night.

Carrigan, 56, has been a member of the board since 1984, representing the First District, which includes East Lansing, Ingham County and the city of Lansing.

"Mrs. Carrigan has been a member of the board for many years," said Board President Dr. Robert Hutton in making the announcement.

"She is knowledgeable about the University and the issues that face it. She has a strong commitment to the University and its students. She is also a respected member of the community. I am confident that she will do a great job as chairwoman." Carrigan was nominated for the position by the Michigan State University Board of Regents, which oversees the university's Board of Trustees.

"I am honored and grateful to have been selected to serve as chairwoman, a position that is one of the most important and challenging roles at the University during the public briefing minutes Thursday night.

"After careful consideration, I am confident that the Michigan State University Board of Trustees has made the right decision in choosing Patricia Carrigan to lead the board in its work to support the university's mission." Carrigan is a former member of the board of directors of the East Lansing Chamber of Commerce, the East Lansing Community Foundation, the East Lansing Area Community Foundation, and the Lansing Board of Realtors.

"Patricia is a strong leader with a passion for education and community service. She brings a wealth of experience and expertise to the role of chairwoman." Carrigan is a 1979 graduate of the University of Michigan with a degree in business administration. She has owned and operated her own business in the East Lansing area for more than 30 years.

"I look forward to working with the Michigan State University Board of Trustees to support the university's mission and ensure its success in the years ahead." Carrigan has served on the board of directors of the East Lansing Chamber of Commerce, the East Lansing Community Foundation, and the Lansing Board of Realtors.

"I am honored and grateful to have been selected to serve as chairwoman, a position that is one of the most important and challenging roles at the University during the public briefing minutes Thursday night.

"After careful consideration, I am confident that the Michigan State University Board of Trustees has made the right decision in choosing Patricia Carrigan to lead the board in its work to support the university's mission." Carrigan is a former member of the board of directors of the East Lansing Chamber of Commerce, the East Lansing Community Foundation, and the Lansing Board of Realtors.

"Patricia is a strong leader with a passion for education and community service. She brings a wealth of experience and expertise to the role of chairwoman." Carrigan is a 1979 graduate of the University of Michigan with a degree in business administration. She has owned and operated her own business in the East Lansing area for more than 30 years.

"I look forward to working with the Michigan State University Board of Trustees to support the university's mission and ensure its success in the years ahead." Carrigan has served on the board of directors of the East Lansing Chamber of Commerce, the East Lansing Community Foundation, and the Lansing Board of Realtors.

"I am honored and grateful to have been selected to serve as chairwoman, a position that is one of the most important and challenging roles at the University during the public briefing minutes Thursday night.

"After careful consideration, I am confident that the Michigan State University Board of Trustees has made the right decision in choosing Patricia Carrigan to lead the board in its work to support the university's mission." Carrigan is a former member of the board of directors of the East Lansing Chamber of Commerce, the East Lansing Community Foundation, and the Lansing Board of Realtors.

"Patricia is a strong leader with a passion for education and community service. She brings a wealth of experience and expertise to the role of chairwoman." Carrigan is a 1979 graduate of the University of Michigan with a degree in business administration. She has owned and operated her own business in the East Lansing area for more than 30 years.

"I look forward to working with the Michigan State University Board of Trustees to support the university's mission and ensure its success in the years ahead." Carrigan has served on the board of directors of the East Lansing Chamber of Commerce, the East Lansing Community Foundation, and the Lansing Board of Realtors.
Action hurts unemployed, handicappers

The proposed Equal Rights Amendment (ERA) to the Constitution is hardly a progressive, rather it is radical and reactionary. The wording and meaning are clear: "Equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex." The Supreme Court has ruled that sex-based classifications are a "presumption of invalidity." ERA opponents believe this ruling to be in error. The ERA must obtain the approval of 38 state legislatures by March 21, 1979, in order to become part of the Constitution. Last week, Indiana became the 21st state to join the movement. Two states—Nebraska and Tennessee—have rescinded their approval. The amendment will now be submitted to the states on Saturday. Wyoming rejected a similar movement to equalize pay for women on Wednesday. If adopted, the amendment places the ERA in question. Indiana's action is a hopeful sign that ratification will not be a repeat of the Florida fiasco. We find no reason for alarm, but not to expect surprising—ERA is such a precarious position. A whole slew of false issues have been raised in an effort to defeat ERA.

It has been contended, for example, that ERA will break down privacy barriers between sexes. Ant ERA arguments are made that the amendment will destroy such things as feminine hygiene products and other privacy considerations. It is thus the ultimate in fighting the ERA.

In any event, there is nothing in the wording of the amendment that mandates integrated treatment of the sexes—just equal treatment.

ERA will not destroy any single person's right to privacy, to freedom of religion, to freedom of speech or freedom of the press, to freedom of association or freedom of conscience for the elderly and handicappers.

The proposed Equal Rights Amendment to the Constitution is hardly a progressive, rather it is radical and reactionary. The wording and meaning are clear: "Equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex." The Supreme Court has ruled that sex-based classifications are a "presumption of invalidity." ERA opponents believe this ruling to be in error. The ERA must obtain the approval of 38 state legislatures by March 21, 1979, in order to become part of the Constitution. Last week, Indiana became the 21st state to join the movement. Two states—Nebraska and Tennessee—have rescinded their approval. The amendment will now be submitted to the states on Saturday. Wyoming rejected a similar movement to equalize pay for women on Wednesday. If adopted, the amendment places the ERA in question. Indiana's action is a hopeful sign that ratification will not be a repeat of the Florida fiasco. We find no reason for alarm, but not to expect surprising—ERA is such a precarious position. A whole slew of false issues have been raised in an effort to defeat ERA.

It has been contended, for example, that ERA will break down privacy barriers between sexes. Ant ERA arguments are made that the amendment will destroy such things as feminine hygiene products and other privacy considerations. It is thus the ultimate in fighting the ERA.

In any event, there is nothing in the wording of the amendment that mandates integrated treatment of the sexes—just equal treatment.

ERA will not destroy any single person's right to privacy, to freedom of religion, to freedom of speech or freedom of the press, to freedom of association or freedom of conscience for the elderly and handicappers.

The proposed Equal Rights Amendment (ERA) to the Constitution is hardly a progressive, rather it is radical and reactionary. The wording and meaning are clear: "Equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex." The Supreme Court has ruled that sex-based classifications are a "presumption of invalidity." ERA opponents believe this ruling to be in error. The ERA must obtain the approval of 38 state legislatures by March 21, 1979, in order to become part of the Constitution. Last week, Indiana became the 21st state to join the movement. Two states—Nebraska and Tennessee—have rescinded their approval. The amendment will now be submitted to the states on Saturday. Wyoming rejected a similar movement to equalize pay for women on Wednesday. If adopted, the amendment places the ERA in question. Indiana's action is a hopeful sign that ratification will not be a repeat of the Florida fiasco. We find no reason for alarm, but not to expect surprising—ERA is such a precarious position. A whole slew of false issues have been raised in an effort to defeat ERA.

It has been contended, for example, that ERA will break down privacy barriers between sexes. Ant ERA arguments are made that the amendment will destroy such things as feminine hygiene products and other privacy considerations. It is thus the ultimate in fighting the ERA.

In any event, there is nothing in the wording of the amendment that mandates integrated treatment of the sexes—just equal treatment.

ERA will not destroy any single person's right to privacy, to freedom of religion, to freedom of speech or freedom of the press, to freedom of association or freedom of conscience for the elderly and handicappers.

The proposed Equal Rights Amendment (ERA) to the Constitution is hardly a progressive, rather it is radical and reactionary. The wording and meaning are clear: "Equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex." The Supreme Court has ruled that sex-based classifications are a "presumption of invalidity." ERA opponents believe this ruling to be in error. The ERA must obtain the approval of 38 state legislatures by March 21, 1979, in order to become part of the Constitution. Last week, Indiana became the 21st state to join the movement. Two states—Nebraska and Tennessee—have rescinded their approval. The amendment will now be submitted to the states on Saturday. Wyoming rejected a similar movement to equalize pay for women on Wednesday. If adopted, the amendment places the ERA in question. Indiana's action is a hopeful sign that ratification will not be a repeat of the Florida fiasco. We find no reason for alarm, but not to expect surprising—ERA is such a precarious position. A whole slew of false issues have been raised in an effort to defeat ERA.

It has been contended, for example, that ERA will break down privacy barriers between sexes. Ant ERA arguments are made that the amendment will destroy such things as feminine hygiene products and other privacy considerations. It is thus the ultimate in fighting the ERA.

In any event, there is nothing in the wording of the amendment that mandates integrated treatment of the sexes—just equal treatment.

ERA will not destroy any single person's right to privacy, to freedom of religion, to freedom of speech or freedom of the press, to freedom of association or freedom of conscience for the elderly and handicappers.
Endless Tyranny

The authors of the Parkinson's view that the story in which the world is portrayed is not a historical or political
but a mythological one.

THE AUTUMN OF THE PARLIAMENT

by Gabriel Garcia Marquez

"You can see the autumn in the airless and garish air of things. But the airless and garish air of things is not the same as the airless and garish air of the world."

-By SANDEERA CEMETO

374-7626

The Sunday News

How to get a vacation,

or how to get a

vacation

The Sunday News

Endless Tyranny

The authors of the Parkinson's view that the story in which the world is portrayed is not a historical or political
but a mythological one.

THE AUTUMN OF THE PARLIAMENT

by Gabriel Garcia Marquez

"You can see the autumn in the airless and garish air of things. But the airless and garish air of things is not the same as the airless and garish air of the world."

-By SANDEERA CEMETO

374-7626

The Sunday News

How to get a vacation,

or how to get a

vacation

The Sunday News

Endless Tyranny

The authors of the Parkinson's view that the story in which the world is portrayed is not a historical or political
but a mythological one.

THE AUTUMN OF THE PARLIAMENT

by Gabriel Garcia Marquez

"You can see the autumn in the airless and garish air of things. But the airless and garish air of things is not the same as the airless and garish air of the world."

-By SANDEERA CEMETO

374-7626

The Sunday News

How to get a vacation,

or how to get a

vacation

The Sunday News

Endless Tyranny

The authors of the Parkinson's view that the story in which the world is portrayed is not a historical or political
but a mythological one.

THE AUTUMN OF THE PARLIAMENT

by Gabriel Garcia Marquez

"You can see the autumn in the airless and garish air of things. But the airless and garish air of things is not the same as the airless and garish air of the world."

-By SANDEERA CEMETO

374-7626

The Sunday News

How to get a vacation,

or how to get a

vacation

The Sunday News

Endless Tyranny

The authors of the Parkinson's view that the story in which the world is portrayed is not a historical or political
but a mythological one.

THE AUTUMN OF THE PARLIAMENT

by Gabriel Garcia Marquez

"You can see the autumn in the airless and garish air of things. But the airless and garish air of things is not the same as the airless and garish air of the world."

-By SANDEERA CEMETO

374-7626

The Sunday News

How to get a vacation,

or how to get a

vacation

The Sunday News

Endless Tyranny

The authors of the Parkinson's view that the story in which the world is portrayed is not a historical or political
but a mythological one.

THE AUTUMN OF THE PARLIAMENT

by Gabriel Garcia Marquez

"You can see the autumn in the airless and garish air of things. But the airless and garish air of things is not the same as the airless and garish air of the world."

-By SANDEERA CEMETO

374-7626

The Sunday News

How to get a vacation,

or how to get a

vacation

The Sunday News

Endless Tyranny

The authors of the Parkinson's view that the story in which the world is portrayed is not a historical or political
but a mythological one.

THE AUTUMN OF THE PARLIAMENT

by Gabriel Garcia Marquez

"You can see the autumn in the airless and garish air of things. But the airless and garish air of things is not the same as the airless and garish air of the world."

-By SANDEERA CEMETO

374-7626

The Sunday News

How to get a vacation,

or how to get a

vacation

The Sunday News

Endless Tyranny

The authors of the Parkinson's view that the story in which the world is portrayed is not a historical or political
but a mythological one.
Study shows little drug substitution

Traffic study snags mail plan

board of trustees still supports Perrin

highlights weekend

Free! - Buy Any Six-Pizza At the regular price Get Little Caesar's Pizza 1203 E. Od. River 337 - 1631

MON. & TUES. SPECIAL

CHICKEN DINNER
All You Can Eat

AQUA ORANGE "BEANS" OR PORK" OR "BEANS" OR "BEANS"

US OUR DELUXE SALAD BAR

Fried Chicken Choice of Potato Or Rice $3.45 $1.85

ADULTS

CHILDREN

The Pretzel Bell

2725 Trumbull Ave. DE 1739 313-350-0000

Study shows little drug substitution

Traffic study snags mail plan

board of trustees still supports Perrin

highlights weekend
New Realist slate hopes to restore student government's 'lost credibility'

By ANNE E. CREELEY

Hoping to restore "lost credibility" to the ASMSU Student Senate, a group of students for last spring's unsuccessful slate formed a slate they hope to elect on May 24.

State Sen. Field Marshall, president of the student senate for last year, has said he will run for re-election and the senate will vote on the matter next week.

"We want to make the name an accurate reflection of the people who run the senate," said Mark Taylor, a member of the Mkhigon slate.

"We don't want to see the name's" pitch"

Among their goals, the senate has named the group's plans to remove the three "most popular" members of the senate for last year, Taylor said.

"We believe the people who run this city have a right to be represented by people who want to be there," he said. "We believe it's more important to have people who want to be there than have people who have to be there because they have to build up a resume."
SPORTS

Leading skaters lose pair to Minnesota

By MIKE EITZER
State/News/Writer

State Team skaters weren’t exactly satisfied with their performance, but they knew they weren’t going to win the meet. The skaters knew it was going to be a tough day, but they had more when they were in the arena and the competition was tougher.

The meet was decided in the first half by the leading skaters, and that’s exactly what happened. The leading skaters put on a show and the meet was decided in the first half by the leading skaters.

Slapshot — Badgers' Tom McDonald suffered a broken leg earlier in the season and may not return this year. The Badgers will be represented by four different teams in the NCAA indoor.

The Badgers put up a very good effort, but they couldn’t match the performance of the leading skaters. The Badgers have a good chance to win the meet, but they have to work hard to do so.

The leading skaters were Mike McDonald, Tim McDonald, and Brian McDonald, and all three skaters put on a great show.

The Badgers put up a strong effort, but they couldn’t match the performance of the leading skaters. The Badgers have a good chance to win the meet, but they have to work hard to do so.

The leading skaters were Mike McDonald, Tim McDonald, and Brian McDonald, and all three skaters put on a great show.

The Badgers put up a strong effort, but they couldn’t match the performance of the leading skaters. The Badgers have a good chance to win the meet, but they have to work hard to do so.

The leading skaters were Mike McDonald, Tim McDonald, and Brian McDonald, and all three skaters put on a great show.

The Badgers put up a strong effort, but they couldn’t match the performance of the leading skaters. The Badgers have a good chance to win the meet, but they have to work hard to do so.

The leading skaters were Mike McDonald, Tim McDonald, and Brian McDonald, and all three skaters put on a great show.
Melodrama contributes to "Sherlock's" success

By Peter J. Leavitt

Sherlock Holmes, the famous detective, has been a popular figure in literature and film for many years. His stories and adventures have captivated audiences with their blend of mystery, Suspense, and humor. In the new production of "Sherlock's" at the University Theatre, the audience is transported to the world of Victorian London, where the famous detective solves crimes and battles his nemesis, Professor Moriarty.

The production features a talented cast of actors who bring their characters to life with skill and conviction. The setting is a faithful reproduction of the time period, with attention to detail in clothing, props, and decor. The audience is drawn into the story as they follow Sherlock as he solves each mystery.

"Sherlock's" is a 90-minute play that is suitable for all ages. It is an entertaining and engaging performance that is sure to be enjoyed by theater-goers of all ages. The play runs through March 28th at the University Theatre, so don't miss your chance to experience this classic tale brought to life.

John Harnett

African Sun

10 Michigan State News, East Lansing, Michigan

entertainment

Lateef, Metheny superb jazz artist

By Robert Evans

The Michigan State University Jazz Ensemble, under the direction of John Harnett, presented a program of music that was both challenging and enjoyable. The ensemble is a group of talented musicians who have been selected based on their musical ability and dedication to their craft. The program included a variety of compositions by some of the great jazz composers, including Duke Ellington, Louis Armstrong, and Charlie Parker.

The performance began with a selection from the Ellington suite "Mood Indigo," which featured a brass section that was both powerful and expressive. The ensemble then moved on to a piece by Armstrong, "West End Blues," which showcased the horns and rhythm section in a thrilling performance.

The highlight of the program was a rendition of "Take the A Train" by Duke Ellington. The ensemble performed this classic with a sense of joy and excitement that was infectious. The audience was captivated by the musicians' virtuosity and the sheer pleasure they derived from making music together.

The program ended with a selection from the Ellington suite "Black and Tan Fantasy," which featured a challenging arrangement for the ensemble. The musicians were able to handle the complex harmonic and rhythmic passages with ease, demonstrating their mastery of the jazz idiom.

Overall, the Michigan State University Jazz Ensemble's performance was a true celebration of the jazz tradition. The ensemble's musicians were clearly dedicated to their craft and possessed the talent and skill to bring audiences to their feet with their musical artistry.

The subject of sexual self-treatment, or autoeroticism, has recently received attention due to several deaths in Michigan and elsewhere. Two MSU researchers, Dr. Mitch Rosenblum, assistant professor of human sexuality, and Dr. Arnold Werner, associate professor of human sexuality, are concerned about the potential dangers of this practice.

Autoeroticism, a method of sexual self-treatment, involves the use of various objects or apparatuses to enhance sexual pleasure. While it may appear to be a harmless activity, it can lead to serious health problems or even death. Rosenblum and Werner caution against the practice, warning that it can be dangerous and potentially lethal.

In their research, Rosenblum and Werner have found that autoeroticism can lead to a variety of medical issues, including suffocation, aspiration, and drowning. They emphasize the importance of understanding the risks associated with this method.

Rosenblum and Werner recommend that anyone considering autoeroticism seek proper medical advice and be aware of the potential dangers. They also encourage individuals to practice safer sexual techniques and to seek out legitimate forms of sexual expression.

The researchers note that autoeroticism is not a healthy or safe alternative to traditional sexual practices. They urge people to consider the possible consequences before engaging in this method of self-treatment.

Rosenblum and Werner hope that their research will help to raise awareness about the potential dangers of autoeroticism and encourage individuals to make informed decisions about their sexual practices.