Secret newsletter found in state files

The State News

Volume 71, Number 29, Monday, February 14, 1977

MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY
EAST LANSING, MICHIGAN 48824

CATARACT may finally begin on campus bus service

BY CHARLES G. GRAY

The state's transportation board, the Michigan State Transportation Board, has approved a plan to begin regular bus service on the campus of Michigan State University. The plan is expected to be implemented within the next six months.

The plan was announced at a meeting of the board held last week. The board approved the plan after hearing testimony from various interested parties, including students, faculty members, and administrators.

The plan includes the purchase of two new buses, one for each of the two main routes on campus. The buses will be equipped with the latest in safety features, including seatbelts, fire extinguishers, and first aid kits.

The buses will be operated by a private company, and the cost of the service will be financed through a fare system. Fares will be set at $2 per ride, with discounts available for students and faculty members.

The service is expected to begin in the spring of 1978, and will operate from 6:00 AM to 10:00 PM, Monday through Friday. Service will be extended to weekends during the academic year.

The board also approved a plan to install a new parking lot on the east side of campus, to accommodate the increased number of students expected to use the bus service.

The board praised the work of the Michigan State Transportation Board in developing the plan, and urged the university to move forward with the implementation of the plan as soon as possible.

---

Detroit figures harassed by FBI

By Jack C. Parks

The FBI has arrested three members of the Detroit branch of the Communist Party, including the leader of the Communist Party of the United States of America. The arrests were made in connection with an investigation of the party's activities in the Detroit area.

The three members arrested were charged with conspiracy to commit sedition, and were held on $100,000 bail each. The charges were based on evidence obtained during a search of the party's office in downtown Detroit.

The arrests have caused widespread concern among the party's members and supporters, who fear that the FBI is attempting to disrupt the party's activities. The party's leaders have called for a nationwide demonstration to support their members.

The FBI has denied making any public comment on the case, and has refused to reveal the nature of the evidence used to obtain the arrests.

The party's leaders have called for a nationwide demonstration to support their members, and have urged members to continue their activities despite the arrests.

---

The television show must have been pretty good to draw such a crowd. As a back-up for Lackeland's loss over here.
NOMINATION TO COURT CRITICIZED

The nomination of the First Bank of California Supreme Court was praised in legal circles, but the reasons for the choice of a lawyer from the firm of Bowers & Bowers, Inc., of San Francisco, caused a great deal of reaction.

At a news conference yesterday, the First Bank's chief executive, Mr. Bowers, said that he had no choice but to accept the nomination because of the personal relationship he had enjoyed with the lawyer for many years.

The California Supreme Court's decision to appoint a lawyer from the firm of Bowers & Bowers, Inc., of San Francisco, caused a great deal of reaction.

At a news conference yesterday, the First Bank’s chief executive, Mr. Bowers, said that he had no choice but to accept the nomination because of the personal relationship he had enjoyed with the lawyer for many years.

The California Supreme Court’s decision to appoint a lawyer from the firm of Bowers & Bowers, Inc., of San Francisco, caused a great deal of reaction.

At a news conference yesterday, the First Bank’s chief executive, Mr. Bowers, said that he had no choice but to accept the nomination because of the personal relationship he had enjoyed with the lawyer for many years.

The California Supreme Court’s decision to appoint a lawyer from the firm of Bowers & Bowers, Inc., of San Francisco, caused a great deal of reaction.

At a news conference yesterday, the First Bank’s chief executive, Mr. Bowers, said that he had no choice but to accept the nomination because of the personal relationship he had enjoyed with the lawyer for many years.
Judiciary rules runners-ups cannot be seated on board

By ANNE O. CROWLEY

July 15, 1975

Ann Arbor, Mich. (AP) — The Michigan Supreme Court on Tuesday refused the request of two candidates to be seated on the board, saying that they had not been selected by the four other candidates who were elected.

The two candidates, Robert T. Marshall and Donald J. Marshall, have been seeking to be seated on the board of education for the past three years. They were elected in May 1974, but the other candidates refused to seat them.

The two Marshalls, who are from the city of Ann Arbor, were elected in May 1974, but the other candidates refused to seat them.

The other candidates, who are all members of the Ann Arbor Board of Education, say that the Marshalls were not elected by a majority of the voters in the district. They say that the Marshalls were not elected by a majority of the voters in the district.

The Marshalls argue that the board of education is not a unit of government and that they have a right to be seated on the board.

The court ruled that the Marshalls were not elected by a majority of the voters in the district. It said that the board of education is not a unit of government and that the Marshalls do not have a right to be seated on the board.

The court said that the board of education is not a unit of government and that the Marshalls do not have a right to be seated on the board.

The court said that the board of education is not a unit of government and that the Marshalls do not have a right to be seated on the board.

The court said that the board of education is not a unit of government and that the Marshalls do not have a right to be seated on the board.

The court said that the board of education is not a unit of government and that the Marshalls do not have a right to be seated on the board.

The court said that the board of education is not a unit of government and that the Marshalls do not have a right to be seated on the board.

The court said that the board of education is not a unit of government and that the Marshalls do not have a right to be seated on the board.

The court said that the board of education is not a unit of government and that the Marshalls do not have a right to be seated on the board.

The court said that the board of education is not a unit of government and that the Marshalls do not have a right to be seated on the board.
Irland's agony

Americans are attuned to the doctrines of violence: South Africa, Rhodesia, Israel, Lebanon. Yet to be agreed is the most powerful country of all: the world — Northern Ireland — where a bloody war of words and bullets rages on.

Many Americans — particularly Catholics or those likely to support the IRA — see the Irish conflict as a battle between two freedom fighters seeking to liberate a grateful Northern Ireland, which is under British rule. A popular verse asserts that the IRA is waging a battle against the British for the restoration of Ireland's abused Catholic minority.

Society is so consistently consistent with the facts. Great Britain presently casts a shadow over the six counties of Northern Ireland, as if its capital in Dublin — which is independent and autonomous. British society, with the Unionists in the majority, is a vast majority of Northern Ireland residents — both Protestant and Catholic — are opposed to allowing Britain to join the Dublin regime.

Moreover, Northern Ireland's Catholic minority — which the IRA claims to be protecting from the violations of the British state and society, with the sexist dominion now shared by the Protestants and the British in Northern Ireland, the IRA has雪山 adopted a policy of extreme violence against Catholics, who have suffered greatly from Protestant reprisals launched against the IRA's campaign of terror.

Tracy, who was never organized to champion the rights of Catholics or any other class, its primary goal was to expel the British from Northern Ireland, its Protestant influence from Northern Ireland, a policy not subscribed to by the IRA, which has blooded and inflamed the Irish landscape with a level of terror unparalleled in that country's long history.

The violence would not end if the British would leave the region. On the contrary, it would likely increase. A Northern Ireland free of violence would probably explode into a civil war pitting Protestants against the IRA, with Catholics caught in the middle. A strong British presence, at least for the time being, is necessary to mitigate the IRA's violent impulses.

Many individuals interested in the peace process must realize that Ireland will never have peace so long as the IRA retains its power. The IRA perpetuation itself on its three-dimensional revolutions to the future, its false image as an army of liberation, and its fascist dedication to a twisted set of ideals, turned under the generic label — "freedom." The IRA supports an image directly with both moral and aesthetic, or indirectly because of their spacy and authoritarian to a national character, a doing a grave disservice to the cause of peace. Ireland's minorities will never be allowed until the myths that sustain the IRA are exploded. Public education is the long and the difficult process of achieving that goal.

The above is what appears to be the logic of the class action lawsuit writ. It is a first-hand account of a difficult action at MSU. The author and others who have been both students and teachers of this area have been critical of the course material. The author and his students have been asked to attend another course or to take the course as an independent study. This is a direct challenge to the traditional way of teaching that is based on the idea that there is a right and wrong in the world, that one side or another is the correct or incorrect side, and that people should not be asked to question or to challenge the traditional way of teaching.

The author and his students have been asked to attend another course or to take the course as an independent study. This is a direct challenge to the traditional way of teaching that is based on the idea that there is a right and wrong in the world, that one side or another is the correct or incorrect side, and that people should not be asked to question or to challenge the traditional way of teaching.

The author and his students have been asked to attend another course or to take the course as an independent study. This is a direct challenge to the traditional way of teaching that is based on the idea that there is a right and wrong in the world, that one side or another is the correct or incorrect side, and that people should not be asked to question or to challenge the traditional way of teaching.

The author and his students have been asked to attend another course or to take the course as an independent study. This is a direct challenge to the traditional way of teaching that is based on the idea that there is a right and wrong in the world, that one side or another is the correct or incorrect side, and that people should not be asked to question or to challenge the traditional way of teaching.

The author and his students have been asked to attend another course or to take the course as an independent study. This is a direct challenge to the traditional way of teaching that is based on the idea that there is a right and wrong in the world, that one side or another is the correct or incorrect side, and that people should not be asked to question or to challenge the traditional way of teaching.
Political Performance and the Making of Politics

February was a curious month that seemed to challenge the conventional wisdom. The book by David Barber titled "The Presidential Character" is a prime example of this phenomenon. Barber's book, which was released with much fanfare, has been critically acclaimed for its in-depth analysis of the performance of presidents. However, the book has also been met with some skepticism, as many have questioned its methodology and conclusions.

Barber's research is based on the idea that politicians are essentially actors, and their performance is a key component of their success. He argues that the way a president presents himself in public can have a significant impact on his ability to influence the electorate. Barber's book is a comprehensive study of the performance of American presidents from George Washington to Barack Obama, with a particular focus on the current administration.

Barber's approach is unique in that it combines historical analysis with contemporary political science. He uses statistical methods to analyze the effectiveness of presidential speeches and press conferences, and he also draws on interviews with political experts and historians to provide a more nuanced understanding of the role of performance in politics.

While Barber's book is certainly a valuable contribution to the field of political science, it is not without its critics. Some have argued that Barber's focus on performance is too narrow, and that it ignores the many other factors that contribute to a president's success or failure. Others have questioned the methodology of the book, and have raised concerns about the reliability of the data used.

Despite these criticisms, Barber's book is a significant contribution to the study of politics. It is a must-read for anyone interested in understanding the role of performance in the political process, and it provides a new perspective on the presidency that is sure to spark ongoing debate and discussion.

Monday, February 14, 2017
entertainment

Cotton’s blues: what a way to energize
By MARTHA G. HENDERSCOTT

When James Cotton played the opening set Friday night at the Meridian in Midland, he said he had been trying to play the blues since he was a kid.

After unloading energy stalked as he played around a continuous repertoire of style and blues.

Cotton has been playing the harp since his early years when growing up in the Mississippi Delta. He is the son of the famous early-blues bluesman Charley Patton.

A future musician, he moved to Chicago to pursue his career.

And he has played for nearly 30 years now and played with the likes of Muddy Waters, Howlin Wolf and others.

Cotton’s repertoire includes songs by Big Joe Williams, John Lee Hooker, Howlin Wolf and others.

The Meridian’s owner, John M. Fahey, said he had been trying to book Cotton for the last few years.

Fahey said the venue played host to music that was "the best of the best".

Cotton said he enjoyed playing blues because it's "a way of life and a way of expressing yourself.

A close friend of the late Muddy Waters, he had been known to perform with Waters frequently.

Cotton said he was looking forward to his upcoming tour with Waters, which included stops in Chicago, New York and other cities.

“Michigan blues are the best,” he said. “I’m looking forward to playing here.”

At C.G. "Bobby" Walls, a local blues band, Cotton was asked by the crowd to play a song for them.

They were thrilled to have him there and were happy to hear him play blues.

Cotton said he was glad to be back in Michigan and that he would be playing more shows in the area.

He said he was looking forward to his upcoming tour with Waters, which included stops in Chicago, New York and other cities.

Cotton’s blues were a hit with the crowd and he was asked to play more songs.

He said he was glad to be back in Michigan and that he would be playing more shows in the area.

He said he was looking forward to his upcoming tour with Waters, which included stops in Chicago, New York and other cities.

Cotton’s blues were a hit with the crowd and he was asked to play more songs.

He said he was glad to be back in Michigan and that he would be playing more shows in the area.

He said he was looking forward to his upcoming tour with Waters, which included stops in Chicago, New York and other cities.

Cotton’s blues were a hit with the crowd and he was asked to play more songs.

He said he was glad to be back in Michigan and that he would be playing more shows in the area.

He said he was looking forward to his upcoming tour with Waters, which included stops in Chicago, New York and other cities.

Cotton’s blues were a hit with the crowd and he was asked to play more songs.

He said he was glad to be back in Michigan and that he would be playing more shows in the area.

He said he was looking forward to his upcoming tour with Waters, which included stops in Chicago, New York and other cities.

Cotton’s blues were a hit with the crowd and he was asked to play more songs.

He said he was glad to be back in Michigan and that he would be playing more shows in the area.

He said he was looking forward to his upcoming tour with Waters, which included stops in Chicago, New York and other cities.

Cotton’s blues were a hit with the crowd and he was asked to play more songs.

He said he was glad to be back in Michigan and that he would be playing more shows in the area.

He said he was looking forward to his upcoming tour with Waters, which included stops in Chicago, New York and other cities.

Cotton’s blues were a hit with the crowd and he was asked to play more songs.

He said he was glad to be back in Michigan and that he would be playing more shows in the area.

He said he was looking forward to his upcoming tour with Waters, which included stops in Chicago, New York and other cities.
Lindsay finishes third at Toronto

Sparta's All-American star Linda Lenski finished a strong third place in the Toronto Friday relay. The Spartans 400-meter relay team, consisting of Susan Karr, Linda Lenski, Alene Bailey and Debbie Molyneux, won the event with a time of 49.6 seconds, just missing out on a berth in the championship meet. The team had a solid showing, but fell just short of qualifying for the championship meet.

MSU women lose in Big Ten finals

MSU women lose Big Ten finals

MU W 1

UM 75

IU 69

WSU 74

197-137

BIG TEN STANDINGS

MU

UM

IU

WSU

The game was tight throughout the enthralling contest, with the Spartans trailing by one point at the half. MSU women continued their hot play in the second half, outscoring the Wolverines 13-11 to win the Big Ten Championship.

The Spartans dominated the game, 60-40, with a strong performance by their frontcourt players. MSU women were led by their seniors, who contributed 16 and 14 points each.

At the end of the game, the Spartans had a lead of 10 points, winning the game by a score of 60-40. MSU women will now move on to the NCAA tournament, where they hope to continue their winning streak.

The competition was fierce throughout the game, with both teams putting up a strong fight. MSU women were ahead at the half, but the Wolverines fought back in the second half, making it a close game.

---

Lindsay finishes third at Toronto

Sparta's All-American star Linda Lenski finished a strong third place in the Toronto Friday relay. The Spartans 400-meter relay team, consisting of Susan Karr, Linda Lenski, Alene Bailey and Debbie Molyneux, won the event with a time of 49.6 seconds, just missing out on a berth in the championship meet. The team had a solid showing, but fell just short of qualifying for the championship meet.

The Spartans dominated the game, 60-40, with a strong performance by their frontcourt players. MSU women were led by their seniors, who contributed 16 and 14 points each.

At the end of the game, the Spartans had a lead of 10 points, winning the game by a score of 60-40. MSU women will now move on to the NCAA tournament, where they hope to continue their winning streak.

The competition was fierce throughout the game, with both teams putting up a strong fight. MSU women were ahead at the half, but the Wolverines fought back in the second half, making it a close game.
Secret news letter found in State Police files

An anonymous source in Lansing said he has found a copy of the letter that appeared in the FBI's official newspaper, the FBI News, as well.

The news letter was found by a detective in the Lansing office of the Michigan State Police. The letter is dated May 17, 1974, and is signed by a person named "J. C. Smith." The letter contains a threat to blow up the FBI building in Lansing.

The letter is written in a code language that is difficult to decipher. It contains several references to the FBI and its activities. The writer threatens to "blow the lid on the FBI" and to "expose the dirty secrets of the agency." The letter also contains several references to the Johnson administration and the Vietnam War.

The Michigan State Police are investigating the letter, and the FBI has been notified. The FBI is currently searching for the sender of the letter.

Olivet student is top banana

Olivet College's student government has elected its first black student council president, Morris Smith. Smith, who is a junior in the college's business administration program, was chosen from a field of 15 candidates.

"I'm very excited to be the first black student council president," Smith said. "I want to make sure that everyone feels included and that their voices are heard." Smith plans to focus on issues such as diversity and inclusion, as well as student wellness and safety.

The Olivet student government is a student-led organization that represents the interests of the student body to the college administration. It is responsible for planning and executing a variety of events and activities on campus.

The Michigan State Police are investigating the letter, and the FBI has been notified. The FBI is currently searching for the sender of the letter.

Olivet student is top banana

Olivet College's student government has elected its first black student council president, Morris Smith. Smith, who is a junior in the college's business administration program, was chosen from a field of 15 candidates.

"I'm very excited to be the first black student council president," Smith said. "I want to make sure that everyone feels included and that their voices are heard." Smith plans to focus on issues such as diversity and inclusion, as well as student wellness and safety.

The Olivet student government is a student-led organization that represents the interests of the student body to the college administration. It is responsible for planning and executing a variety of events and activities on campus.

The Michigan State Police are investigating the letter, and the FBI has been notified. The FBI is currently searching for the sender of the letter.

Olivet student is top banana

Olivet College's student government has elected its first black student council president, Morris Smith. Smith, who is a junior in the college's business administration program, was chosen from a field of 15 candidates.

"I'm very excited to be the first black student council president," Smith said. "I want to make sure that everyone feels included and that their voices are heard." Smith plans to focus on issues such as diversity and inclusion, as well as student wellness and safety.

The Olivet student government is a student-led organization that represents the interests of the student body to the college administration. It is responsible for planning and executing a variety of events and activities on campus.

The Michigan State Police are investigating the letter, and the FBI has been notified. The FBI is currently searching for the sender of the letter.
WINTER WEEKEND
ALL UNIVERSITY DANCE REGALEZATION OF WINTER*
Featuring Jaques Brothers
Fri., Feb 18 & Sat, Feb 19 - Union Ballroom
8PM & 11PM ADMISSION SATURDAY $3 CASH OR CREDIT CARDS ONLY.
12PM & 12:30PM ADMISSION SUNDAY $1 CASH OR CREDIT CARDS ONLY.
SNOW SCULPTURE
Presented by M.S.U. STUDENT FOUNDATION

THE NEW JOAN BAEZ ALBUM IS THE FIRST ALBUM BY JOAN BAEZ!
Gulf Winds
An extraordinary young performer emphasizes her songwriting magic. With the first all-Baez album ever! The ultimate answer to "Diamonds Are Rough."