A speceh regulation, aimed at identifying those lending institutions practicing 'redlining,' passed full effect today. But the regulation may not yield any new clues on how many bankers are practicing redlining.

The bankers have not been asked to release any monetary figures to demonstrate redlining. The bank in order to redline is required to prove housing areas that are not being served by the bank in order to redline is required to prove housing areas that are not being served by the bank is required to prove housing areas that are not being served by the bank.

The reason for the lack of proof is that the bank in the order to redline is required to prove housing areas that are not being served by the bank is required to prove housing areas that are not being served by the bank. February 14 is the day on which most individuals of both sexes jump into an automobile and drive to a distant点 number in order to celebrate Valentine's Day. Valentine's Day is a tradition that has been practiced for centuries, and it is a symbol of love and affection that is celebrated by people all over the world.

The origin of Valentine's Day is uncertain, but it is believed to have originated in ancient Rome, where it was celebrated in honor of a Romanqb, named Cupid, who was the god of love. The day is also associated with the love story of a young woman named Virginia Whitehall, who was known for her beautiful face and kind heart. Virginia was often referred to as the “queen of love,” and her beauty and charm were said to have inspired many people to fall in love with her.

Today, Valentine's Day is celebrated in many different ways. Some people exchange gifts, such as chocolates, flowers, or jewelry, while others may choose to spend the day with their loved ones, enjoying a special meal or going on a romantic walk together. Regardless of how it is celebrated, Valentine's Day is a special occasion that brings joy and happiness to those who participate in it.
Demonstration, fire close Rust College

The Associated Press

Holly Springs, Miss. (AP) -- In a throwback to the动荡 of the '60s, a fire during a student protest caused a small liberal arts college here Thursday to close its doors for two weeks.

Rust College officials and firemen were at the campus Thursday morning fighting the fire, which caused $500,000 damage to the school.

The entire campus, which sits on 36 acres left the rural campus of the three-story building. As students collided with the order for what officials said would be a "cooling-off period" of at least two weeks.

About 30 Mississippi Highway patrol officers were called in to assist city police in keeping the peace.

About 200 students had gathered shortly after midnight to air grievances over the handling of student aid programs, conditions in the dormitories and what they felt was a lack of communication with administrators -- particularly President W.A. McMillan.

Student spokesmen said the protest turned violent when some of the demonstrators set fires in trash cans around the administration building and burned two mattresses outside the library.

The students then marched to McMillan's home chanting "Fire it up." Told he was not home, the marchers gathered on the ground floor of the 110-year-old brick administration building.

One of the protesters, Wayne Robinson, president of the junior class, said most students first knew about the fire when observers outside saw dark smoke and flames coming from the top of the three-story building.

"I'm sorry this had to happen," said McMillan, who has held the post for 19 years, dedicated to resolving problems which led to the arrest. He said of the fire and school closing, "I'm sorry this had to happen.

Student body vice president Charles Dawkins was arrested for investigation of disorderly conduct and attempting to incite a riot, but administrators later withdrew charges on condition he return to his home in Chicago. Officials said no more arrests were planned in the days of the nation's campuses.

Rust College, supported by the United Methodist Church, did not see any violent antiwar protests during the late 1960s.

But it was a gathering place for many out-of-state civil rights activists, and provided a base for a civil rights coalition headed by Stokely Carmichael.

WELSH WASHINGTON. - The Senate Budget Committee began work Thursday on a fiscal 1979 budget bill, and the panel directed staff to prepare a report on unemployment and savings during the upcoming winter.

The committee's deliberations centered on issues such as the state's budget outlook, the impact of federal spending on local economies, and the potential for new revenue sources.

The budget bill is expected to be completed by the end of the month, but the committee has set a deadline of early November to ensure that the fiscal year begins on schedule.

The budget hearing was held in the state Capitol in Lansing, and members of the committee were scheduled to meet again on Monday to discuss the latest developments.

In related news, the Michigan State Police reported that they had arrested a man for attempted armed robbery at a local convenience store. According to the police, the suspect entered the store with a gun and demanded money from the cash register.

The suspect was later identified as John Smith, a 25-year-old resident of East Lansing. He is currently in custody at the Ingham County Jail and is scheduled to appear in court on Tuesday morning.

The Michigan State Police are also investigating a series of armed robberies that have occurred in the area over the past week. If you have any information about these crimes, please contact your local police department.

LANSING, MICH. — MSU's hockey teams will attempt to bounce back from a 2-1 defeat to Michigan State on Saturday, but the team's coach said it was not a must-win game.

Head coach Jen Jones said the team needs to focus on the next game, which is against Minnesota on Sunday.

'We have to keep our eye on the prize and keep working hard,' Jones said. 'We have a lot of talent on our roster, and we just need to continue to play our game.'

Jones said the team has been working hard this week on their fundamentals, and he expects them to show that in tonight's game.

'Our focus is on ourselves,' Jones said. 'We have to get back to our game plan and execute it well.'

The Spartans are currently in fifth place in the Western Collegiate Hockey Association, while the Huskies are in third.

Jones said the team needs to be more physical and aggressive against Minnesota.

MSU will have to overcome a strong Minnesota team, which has won three of its last four games.

'We have to be ready for anything,' Jones said. 'They're a tough team, and we can't take them lightly.'

The game is scheduled to begin at 7 p.m. on Saturday at Joe Louis Arena in Detroit.

MSU hockey fans are encouraged to attend the game to support their team.

'Support is very important for us,' Jones said. 'It helps us stay focused and gives us the energy to play our best.'

The Spartans have had a tough season so far, but they are not giving up hope.

'We have come a long way this season,' Jones said. 'We still have a lot to prove, and we're looking forward to playing our best game.'

Jones said the team is confident and ready to take on Minnesota.

'We have a lot of talent on our roster, and we're excited to see what we can do,' Jones said. 'We have a lot to lose, but we have a lot to gain.'

The Spartans are hoping to improve their record to 9-7-4 in the WCHA and 15-15-7 overall.

MSU hockey fans are invited to attend the game to support their team and cheer them on to victory.

'Come out and support us,' Jones said. 'It will be a great night of hockey.'

The game is expected to draw a large crowd, and there will be a pre-game ceremony honoring the team's seniors.

Jones said the team is excited to see their seniors off and hopes to have a strong showing in their final home game.

'We have a lot of seniors on our roster,' Jones said. 'They have been a big part of our team and we are going to miss them.'

Jones said the team is looking forward to the rest of the season and hopes to make a deep run in the WCHA tournament.

'We have a lot of potential,' Jones said. 'We have a lot of talent on our roster, and we're excited to see what we can do.'

Scenes from a Marriage follows dissolution of marital communication

By RAY T. FISHELMAN
Staff News-Review

"Scenes From a Marriage," Ingmar Bergman's Swedish box-office sensation that is winning widespread critical acclaim and attracting millions of moviegoers, has been identified as a serious contender for France's Cesar Awards being presented in Paris on March 20.

In "Scenes From a Marriage," Bergman explores the affable, but troubled, marriage between Anya (Sven-Bertil Taube) and Nils (Jorgen Jonsson), portrayed in seven scenes that range from a lyrical opening scene to a climactic confrontation where the couple's marriage ends.

The movie was shot in an old mansion near the Swedish-Norwegian border and was directed by Bergman who also wrote the script and composed the music.

Produced by the Swedish Film Institute, the movie has been distributed in the U.S. by Columbia Pictures.

As a result of the success of "Scenes From a Marriage," Bergman has been offered a multi-picture deal with Columbia Pictures, which will release his next film as well.

Scenes From a Marriage

by ROBERT EVANS
producer, Paramount Pictures

"Scenes From a Marriage" is a director's film about the marriage of a sickly, morose man and an even sadder woman. It is Bergman's sixth feature film, and his first to be released in the U.S.

The movie was shot in the Swedish countryside, and the acting is superb, particularly by the two main characters, Taube and Jonsson.

The film's story line is simple: the couple's marriage breaks down due to the man's constant illness and the woman's inability to cope with it.

The movie is a study of the human condition, and is sure to bring critical acclaim to Bergman and his cast.

One-fifth of adults have tried marijuana

WASHINGTON—One-fifth of all adults have smoked marijuana at least once. It was among the numbers released Thursday by the Adult Use of Marijuana Initiative, a study by researchers at the University of California, Berkeley. The study also found that among adults who had used marijuana, 18 percent had used it within the past year.

The study was based on a survey of more than 1,000 adults and found that the rate of marijuana use among adults in California has doubled since 2010. The study also found that the rate of marijuana use among adults in California is much higher than the national average.

Future housing crisis predicted

WASHINGTON (AP) — It is not too early to talk about the housing market, with record high home mortgage rates and seemingly endless talk of a real estate crash on the horizon.

"By 1988 the median-priced new home will sell for close to $120,000 with the average down payment being close to $20,000," former Rep. Kenneth Rosen of California said in a statement to the Senate Banking Committee.

The current median price is around $45,000 per year and increasing by more than 10 per cent annually.

Washington (AP) - Hassan Abdul Khadij, leader of a Muslim bank that 104 people had joined, was ordered jailed in Iraq on charges of seeking a "terrorist" in a telephone conversation.

Mr. Khadij was the only member of the Hanafy Mubarak group to be arrested after 60 hours of questioning March 11. Khadij was arrested on a complaint by several Iraqis, who identified him as the leader of the group.

But U.S. exiled Gen. F. E.alsex told the court Thursday that a listening on Khadij's phone only a few days ago revealed he was seeking a "terrorist" in a telephone conversation.

Judge George D. Sayed was hearing Khadij's case in a court. He said that the government "wanted to serve their purpose" if they were stealing money, but that they should put up their reasons in their police reports.

Khadij was arrested in a raid on a building after a series of raids on the group's offices, which were also searched for documents and equipment.

Sandra H. Hitchcock, a reporter for the Associated Press in Iraq, said that a military court judge was so shocked by aquo to the case that he rejected the request to hear it.

Sandra H. Hitchcock said that Khadij's defense attorney was summarizing the trial proceedings.

U.S. officials have not confirmed the reports of the arrest or charges.

"It's a terrorist," Hitchcock said.

"We are going to get tough," she added.

"They raid and search the bank and the buildings," Hitchcock said. "They take away the documents and the equipment."

The raids were carried out by Iraqi police and intelligence agencies.

Khadij was arrested on March 11 after being questioned by Iraqi security forces.

"We are not going to let them get away with it," Hitchcock said.
