copyright, 1977 Additional sources have confirmed statements by a State News secret witness regarding the killing last Wednesday of Michael Edwin Smith by Lansing police officer John Hersman.

The disclosure of the State News' witness caused Ingham County Prosecutor Peter Houk Monday to open a reinvestigation of the incident.

In doing so, Houk talked to the witness Monday and was attempting to locate a second witness to the shooting.

The witness who presented his statement to Houk disagreed with the police account in three key areas:

•Police said Smith threatened two officers with an 18-inch crowbar during the incident. The witness said Smith was unarmed.

•Police said Smith ran towards an officer in the back of 1032 River St., Lansing, making a "slinging motion" with a crowbar. The witness stated Smith was running away from the officer.

•Police said two officers fired one shot each; one shot was fired into the ground and a second shot hit Smith in the front mid-section. The witness stated that one officer fired both shots.

The newly discovered sources further substantiated the secret witness' account Tuesday on the major points.

All but one of the sources stated that they immediately looked towards the shooting scene following the gunshots. These sources said they saw only one officer in the back yard of the house, immediately after hearing gunshots, and not the two that police reports stated were there.

The other source was in the back yard shortly after the arrival of several other police officers and was unable to determine who was in the yard immediately after Smith was shot.

But all sources said they watched subsequent actions of the police officer at the scene and said they did not see any officer remove a crowbar from the immediate location of Smith's body.

witness one police officer remove something from the scene in a bloody rag but indicated that the object was not the 18-inch crowbar with which the police claim they were threatened by Smith.

Two conflicting reports of the shooting released by Lansing Police are not in accord on the number of police officers who were on the scene at the time of the shooting.

The initial statement released by Sgt. Jerry Mills Thursday stated that three uniformed officers were directed to the River Street address to apprehend Smith on a burglary warrant.

Monday, however, Mills said there were four officers at the scene when the shooting occurred and placed the additional officer in the back yard, making a total of two in the immediate area of the shooting.

Lansing Police Chief John Gleason refused to release a diagram of the scene to the State News Monday. Gleason said, "I would not issue the diagram to you. If you want one, go draw it yourself."

Gleason also stated that Hersman had been reinstated to the force Monday following the conclusion of the initial investigations. He then noted that Hersman was scheduled to have Monday as a regular day off. He did not indicate whether or not Hersman would return to duty today.

In the police account, two officers are in the backyard, each firing one shot. The witness' account maintains that only one officer, who fired both shots, was in the backyard.

SAY PROVOST SELECTION SHOULD BE OPEN

Profs hit closed rating meetings

By NANCY ROGIER State News Staff Writer

Three faculty leaders Monday challenged the Provost Rating Committee's decision to close all committee meetings and keep committee business confidential, calling the decision "inappropriate," "wrong" and typical of University procedures.

C. Patric "Lash" Larrowe, Faculty Grievance Officer and economics professor; Walter Adams, distinguished economics professor and MSU president emeritus; and Philip Korth, Faculty Associates president and American Thought and Language professor, all agreed that the names of provost candidates should be made public. Larrowe also said that meetings should not be held in closed sessions. Larrowe said the "most logical" way to conduct the provost search is to make all candidate's names public and give everyone a chance to express their opinions on who is suitable and who is not. He said in this way the committee might gain some additional information valuable in rating candidates. "My hope is that the University would always operate better than the society it operates in "be said "We're moving in that operates in," he said. "We're moving in that direction slowly. The next step is to include the public and invite anyone to express an opinion." Adams, who initiated the use of rating committees when he was acting president in 1969, agreed with Larrowe. "I think that the conventional wisdom know: who are they? We're all big boys and girls now and from a purely pragmatic view," he said, "a list — any list — leaks through anyhow."

Korth said, he found it "hard to believe that being considered for provost at MSU would be embarrassing to anyone." He also said he thought the selection of provost should be an open process "through which the faculty can make its wishes known."

He added that the committee's proceedings followed University procedures minimum.

In a closed meeting Friday, committee members decided that meetings will be held in closed session using their interpretation of opinions issued by Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley on specific questions raised about the Open Meetings Act. The act, which went into effect April 1, states that meetings to interview candidates for employment or appointment must be open, unless the applicant requests otherwise and meetings to review applications must also

JUDGE EXPRESSES COMPASSION Hearst put on probation

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Patricia Hearst, who admitted her part in a wild shooting and robbery, was placed on five years probation Monday by a judge who expresed compassion for her parents. The prosecution endorsed the light sentence, saying the heiress represented no threat to society and suggesting that authorities may have dealt too harshly with her in the past to avoid criticism that her wealth bought her special treatment.

Hearst, 23, is currently free on bail from a seven-year sentence for a San Francisco bank robbery and could return to serve at least 14 more months if her appeal is rejected.

Hearst, who faced the possibility of 15¹/₂ years to life in prison on her plea of no contest, was silent and blank-faced as Superior Court Judge E. Talbot Callister announced his decision for

"I don't think there is a heart in America that isn't full of compassion for her parents," the judge said of Randolph and Catherine Hearst, who sat in the front row of the packed courtroom.

He called the Hearsts "good people who love their daughter" and cited the millions of dollars spent by the newspaper executive and his wife to try to ransom the heiress when she was kidnaped. In an unexpected move, the prosecution joined the defense in recommending immediate probation for Hearst.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Sam Mayerson said "I do not believe Hearst presents any threat to the community any longer.

"There has never been a case like this before and I hope there never will be again," he added.

In his sentencing, Callister ordered Hearst to make financial restitution to Carroll Huett, owner of Mel's Sporting Goods Store in Inglewood, which was torn up by her gunfire.

In addition, Callister struck from the court record two attached counts of firearms use admitted by Hearst.

The judge said he considered her willingness to testify against others in granting probation. He also adopted a position that Hearst is no longer a threat to society.

Callister, a criminal judge for seven years, said this was the most difficult decision he had ever been asked to make.

Sunday's storm bringing Californians much-needed water spawned a tornado that toppled trees, scattered roof tiles, broke windows and hung this screen on a street sign. Traffic tangles, strained storm sewers and the evacuation of 55 elderly patients of a convalescent hospital were only some of the problems that the storm caused. A Long Beach Fire Department spokesperson estimated the damage at $150,000.

Canada calls for pipeline moratorium

OTTAWA, Canada (AP) — Pipelines should be banned from crossing into the Northern Yukon from Alaska, and a 10-year moratorium should be placed on pipeline construction in the Mackenzie River Valley, a report prepared for the Canadian government said Monday.

The recommendations, drawn up by a commission led by British Columbia Supreme Court Justice Thomas Berger, are not binding. But cabinet ministers said they will be an important consideration in dealing with U.S. proposals to bring gas from Alaska's north slope to the lower 48 states.

The recommendations were based on two years of hearings on proposals to construct a natural gas pipeline to southern markets from gas fields in Alaska and the Mackenzie River Delta in Northern Canada

NATO talks to deal with civil defense

LONDON (AP) — President Jimmy Carter attends a North Atlantic alliance summit meeting today that will deal with a new topic — civil defense — as well as the usual concerns of military strength and coordination.

Joseph Luns, the Dutch secretary general of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO), told a news conference Monday the Western allies have been "disagreeably impressed" by the Soviet Union's new program of building bomb shelters and otherwise bolstering defense of the populace against nuclear attack.

The West has lagged behind in civil defense preparations, Luns said. Some NATO analysts find the Soviet civil defense program ominous. They speculate the Kremlin might be emboldened in its dealings with the West if it can guarantee a high survival rate for its civilian population in the event of nuclear attack

Carter, Syrian president meet

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) - President Jimmy Carter met Monday with Syrian President Hafez Assad to search for ways to end the decades-old Arab-Israeli conflit. A Syrian source said Assad presented Carter with an Arab consensus plan for creation of a Palestinian state.

A government source in Damascus, Syria, told reporters the plan had the approval of Egypt, Jordan, Saudi Arabia and Palestine Liberation Organization leader Yasir Arafat. The source indicated the proposal called for a Palestinian homeland on the West Bank of the Jordan River and the Gaza Strip, Israeli-occupied territories. He said Arab leaders had resolved their differences tions. over the links the new state would have with Jordan, but he gave no details. There was no mediate comment from the

Carter party. Carter and Assad were both optimistic on their arrival here, but Israel viewed their talks uneasily. "I believe it is the year of hope for substantial progress," Carter said as he and Assad met each other for the first time and spoke briefly with reporters before their talks. The Syrian leader said he saw no "magic wand" at hand but that he hoped the meeting would prove to be a "turning point in the history" of efforts to reach a settlement in the Middle East. Carter flew here from Lon-

Protesters claim violation of rights

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) - Some of the antinuclear power demonstrators held in state armories testified Monday that their makeshift jails were overcrowded and unsanitary. A doctor said the armories would not meet World Health Organization standards.

The testimony came in a hearing in U.S. District Court on a civil suit filed by the demonstrators against Gov. Meldrim Thomson and other officials. The suit claims the protesters' constitutional rights were violated because of the conditions under which they have been held awaiting trial.

State officials said 756 protesters remained in five National Guard armories following the arrest a week ago of 1,414 persons on trespass charges after a sit-in at the construction site of the Seabrook nuclear power plant. Protest organizers said most of more than 600 persons who have been bailed out had to get back to work or school.

U.S. Steel raises product prices

PITTSBURGH (AP) - U.S. Steel Corp., the nation's largest steel producer, said Monday it is raising prices on a variety of products, but by a smaller percentage than announced last week by two other steelmakers.

The company said the increases, effective June 19, would affect flat-rolled steel, used in consumer products such as cars and appliances, and bars and rods, used in machinery and tools.

U.S. Steel said the increases amount to about 6 per cent, less than the increases announced by fourth-ranked Republic Steel and Youngstown Sheet and Tube last Friday.

Administration officials expressed relief at the U.S. Steel announcement.

"Because we expected an increase of 5 to 6 per cent, we do not find it out of line," said a spokesperson for the Council on Wage and Price Stability.

Bills to raise drinking age: bottle them

A move is afoot in the state legislature — spearheaded by Melvin DeStigter in the House and Alvin J. DeGrow in the Senate to rescind the right of 18- to 20-year-olds to purchase and con-sume alcohol. The arguments advanced for curtailing this right are specious at best, but the prospects for passage of some kind of bill are rather bright.

Proponents of raising the drinking age cite confusing and contradictory alcohol-related accident statistics to reinforce their arguments. Those who favor keeping the age at 18 have marshalled their own figures which point to a decline in total accidents and fatalities among young people.

The old saying about lies, damned lies and statistics seems to apply here. Basically, the debate over whether or not to raise the drinking age revolves on a philosophical axis.

Those who favor raising the age are in effect saying that an 18-year-old is automatically mature and intelligent enough to fight and die in war, to vote, to run for office in some cases and to hold a job commensurate with his or her talents, but is not old enough to drink.

Such convoluted logic is the stuff of which bad and regressive laws are built. Alcohol abuse is a problem among all age groups not just 18- to 20-year-olds, who,

I'm writing this letter in a rage of disgust. My opinion of the ASMSU Student Board has plummeted drastically in one night. Members of the student body and members of the Student Board itself are constantly pointing out how the board's credibility is at stake. It is clear to me that the chances of the ASMSU Board ever being credible at all are terribly slim.

Tuesday night, Merry Rosenberg came before the board to explain her actions at the Student Council meeting. After explain-ing why she spoke and voted against the amendment to the Academic Freedom Report, a bill was introduced to recall Rosenberg as ASMSU's woman appointee to the University Committee for Student Affairs (UCSA).

This bill was highly uncalled for. As pointed out by Mike Lenz, but obviously not taken into account by the writers of the bill, Rosenberg is appointed by ASMSU to represent women on the UCSA. It is in her capacity as chairperson of UCSA that Rosenberg sits on Student Council. It should be abundantly clear to all that Rosenberg need not have complied with the wishes of the board at the Student Council meeting.

This being the case, I could not help but be disgusted, appalled, revolted and emotionally upset at the introduction of the bill to recall Rosenberg. The implications of this bill are devastating: Am I to believe that members of the board wish its appointees to act as puppets? Is the mind of an individual subject to the opinion of a board? Must the experiments. Theater's virtue is in its live actor-to-audience relationship. There is only so much to learn in a classroom. The work must be tested on stage, in front of an audience. And if you think its painful to fail in a laboratory or on a written assignment, imagine doing it in front of 700 people. Believe me, it hurts us more than it does you.

As to the plays we do, I'll stick my neck way out and say that there is as much educational value in doing Neil Simon as in doing Shakespeare or Strindberg. You learn something different, but you still learn. Doing the plays people will attend in the Fairchild Theatre gives us the freedom to do the plays they might not attend, like "The Little Clay Cart."

Additionally, I find it almost unbelieveable that someone in an educational community would attack another for trying to present an aspect of another culture.

We are privileged to have the opportudoes an English student learn to write nity to attempt plays like "The Little Clay Cart," and our audience is privileged to the only allowable experiments were those

CIA may have covered up Oswald contact

WASHINGTON - The secret files of the House Assassination Committee contain reports of strange CIA activities in Dallas on the eve of the John F. Kennedy assassination.

Credible witnesses have confirmed our past reports that the accused assassin, Lee Harvey Oswald, was in touch with anti-Castro Cubans in Dallas. One confidential report states that "in 1963, Oswald was seen leaving the Dallas office of Alpha 66." This was a Cuban commando group trained by the CIA.

A Cuban CIA operative, Antonio Veciana, also told investigators that he had been summoned to Dallas in August 1963 by his CIA contact - a mysterious man who went by the name of Morris Bishop. States a confidential summary: "When (Veciana) arrived, Bishop was accompanied by another man. Lee Harvey Oswald."

Another witness who impressed the investigators, Sylvia Odio, told them that two anti Castro Cubans had introduced her to an American by the name of Leon Oswald. She was told that Oswald was trying "to convince anti-Castro Cuban . . to kill President Kennedy. After the assassination, she recognized this American as Lee Harvey Oswald.

The House investigators don't really believe that the CIA had any part in the murder of President Kennedy. More likely, they suspect the CIA may have tried to up some embarrassing contacts with Oswald in Dallas.

In any case, the CIA took pains to give the impression that Oswald was in Mexico City at the time that witnesses claimed he was dealing with the CIA-guided Cubans in Dallas. Veciana, for example, told of a strange call he received from his CIA contact after Kennedy was killed.

The CIA man, Morris Bishop, asked Veciana to contact his cousin. Guillamo Ruiez, who worked for the Cuban embassy in Mexico City. Relates a confidential report: "Veciana was to relay Bishop's offer to pay Ruiez and his wife to say that they met with Oswald in Mexico City." had

This not only would have placed Oswald out of Dallas but would have thrown suspicion on the Castro government. The ruse was later called off. Instead, the CIA cited secret tapes and photographs as evidence that Oswald had been in touch with both the Cuban and Soviet embassies in Mexico City.

The CIA kept tapes of all phone calls ing in and out of the two embassies. Photographs were also taken of everyone entering and leaving these embassies. On Oct. 1, 1963, the CIA notified other U.S. embassies that "an American male, who identified himself as Lee Oswald, contacted the Soviet Embassy in Mexico City."

Oswald was described in the cable as "approximately 35 years old, with an athletic build, about six feet tall, with a receding hairline." The committee files note that this "in no way physically resembles the Lee Harvey Oswald accused of assassinating President Kennedy."

The CIA sought photographs from the Navy to compare with its photographs of Oswald at the Soviet embassy. Declares a committee report: "These photographs, though obviously not of the correct Lee Harvey Oswald, became the Warren Com nission's exhibit 237. The CIA admitted that there had been a mix-up but never cleared the matter up."

A CIA witness has told committee investigators, meanwhile, that the CIA's monitoring camera happened to break down on the day that Oswald allegedly visited the Soviet embassy. But the CIA tap on the Soviet embassy's phone produced an alleged telephone call from someone who identified himself as "Lee Henry Oswald."

The CIA witness claimed that the actual voice recording of the telephone conversation "was destroyed in routine destruction procedures approximately one week after it was received." Yet more than seven weeks later, the FBI claimed to have heard the telephone conversation that the CIA said had been destroyed. The FBI's judgment was that the voice did not belong to Oswald.

Wrote late FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover on Nov. 23, 1963: "The Central Intelligence Agency advised that on Oct. 1, 1963, an extremely sensitive source had reported that an individual identified himself as Lee Oswald, who contacted the Soviet Embassy in Mexico City inquiring as to any messages.

and LES WHITTEN

"Special Agents of this Bureau, who have conversed with Oswald in Dallas. Texas. have observed photographs of the individual referred to above and have listened to a recording of his voice. These Spcial Agents are of the opinion that the above-referred-to individual was not Lee Harvey Oswald."

The House investigators are beginning to wonder whether the CIA concocted the whole Oswald adventure in Mexico City in an attempt to conceal his real activities in Dallas. It is worth mentioning that the CIA, at White House instigation, began to create another Mexico cover story nine years later obstruct the FBI investigation of Watergate.

Fectacte: The CIA had no comment.

his superb technical skills with dramatic punch and impact. The performances were powerful and literally breathtaking in scope. The recital was, how ever, sprinkled with a few technical errors, which were more than obvious.

To open the program, Horo-witz offered Muzio Clementi's "Sonata-Quasi Concerto, Op. 33 in C Major." Horowitz gave an admirable performance, with an intense and moving interpretation which might not be to everyone's taste.

Next Horowitz offered an uncompromising performance of Chopin's "Sonata No. 2 in B-Flat Minor, Op. 35." In this work Horowitz was at his finest, and he moved effort lessly through this work. The atmosphere created by Horo witz' playing was always satis-fying. His brooding, ominous treatment of the famous third movement "Funeral March' gave way to a spirited and well-handled "Presto."

Horowitz is, however, best at shorter pieces, and he excelled in the five works presented in the second half of the recital.

Presented were Franz Liszt's "Sonetto del Petrarca in E, No. 104 " "Moment Musicals " in B Minor, Op. 16, and in E-Flat Minor, Op. 16, Frederic Cho-pin's "Waltz in A Minor, Op. 34, . 2," and his "Polonaise in A-Flat. On. 53."

Horowitz, who was a friend of Rachmaninoff's, gave especially endearing per-formances of the "Two Moments Musicals." As his third encore, Horowitz gave an especially effective per-formance of the last movement of Rachmaninoff's "Second Piano Sonata." The recital as a whole proved a truly exciting experience. Horowitz' control of subtle shadings and colorings is, to say the least, masterful. Horowitz is one of the last remaining tributes to the romantic style and age. His recital, and what it represents is unique, and yet in its age, it still retains its vitality.

Bonnie's back in town; `gets together' with Young

Bonnie Raitt will be making her annual visit to the local area tonight as she joins ex-Youngbloods founder Jesse Colin Young in a Pyramid Productions concert in the Lansing Civic Center Auditorium at 8 p.m. Always considered "one of the boys," Raitt injects her own personal touch to original material, as well as old country and blues classics. She can vary her style, be it a melancholy ballad or a gritty blues number, to the mood she is in at the time.

Raitt has recognized many blues artists as her mentors, the hest known being Sippie Wallace. It was their duo at the 1972 Ann Arbor Blues and Jazz Festival that brought the crowd to its feet.

She has recently released her sixth album for Warner Bros., entitled "Sweet Forgiveness." Like previous efforts, it highlights Raitt's fine bottleneck guitar playing, notably on the old Del Shannon memory, "Runaway." With Bonnie Raitt will be Young, no stranger to Youngbloods'

The All-Nighter will be open to all students, faculty and staff for a $1 admission fee. They may also bring guests from outside the University, who will be charged $1.50. There is a $5 entry fee for softball teams.

According to Danny Byrne, All-Nighter director, the num ber of events will be increased from last year.

"We'll have at least 22 events," said Byrne, "and we hope to eventually get 40 or more.

Scheduled events, in addition to volleyball and softball, include basketball, paddleball, badminton, softball, blooperball, skateboarding, canoe races and all-night swimming. In addition to athletic events,

"The proceeds from the canoe races will go to Easter Seals," Byrne said, "and some will go to RHA (Residence Hall Association) and the ALRE Association for Leisure and Recreation Education)."

Byrne noted, however, that most of the money raised will go into the intramural fund, which can use it.

Trackmen breeze past Wildcats;

By GEOFF ETNYRE State News Sports Writer

The MSU trackmen took a breather on the weekend as they ran over the Northwestern Wildcats, 90-54, in a dual meet at Evanston, Ill. Senior distance star Herb Lindsay and sprinter Randy Smith both notched double victories as the Spartans won all but three events Saturday. "It was a cold, windy day so a lot of the times are probably slower than they should be," Jim Bibbs, acting head coach, said

Smith and freshman Ricky Flowers blasted to one-two finishes in the 100- and 220-vard dashes and ran on the winning 440-yard relay team.

Smith ripped off a 9.4 second 100 and a 20.9 second 220, and Flowers was right behind in 9.7 and 21.5. Both had personal bests in the 220 as they ran for the first time of the year at that distance.

For Lindsav it was an easy afternoon of running. He cruised to a 4:09.5 mile and a 13:53.2 three-mile.

MSU welcomes hurler Cotter

By MIKE LITAKER State News Sports Writer Around the fifth inning of every game Jim Cotter grabs his glove and heads down to the left-field bullpen and bows his head for awhile. No, Cotter isn't getting ready to throw up. It's his own meditational ritual minus the lotus position. No kidding. big right-hander from The nearby Pewamo has become coach Danny Litwhiler's main man in relief and it's a good bet that by the sixth inning Cotter called on. will b

Cotter has become somewhat of a novelty item with opposing teams because of his sidearm slinging delivery. A typical comment coming from the Cen-tral Michigan bench a few weeks ago was, "Hey, what's the matter, were you in a car accident or something?" Actually his unorthodox mo tion has been part of his pitching motion ever since he began playing organized base-

"Ever since I have been pitching everybody has said don't throw sideways, you'll hurt your arm. But my dad was my Little League coach and he said to throw whatever way was comfortable." Cotter laughed.

'Then there's the other theory for why I throw sidearm and that's because half of my brain is dead," continued Cot-ter, breaking into an even bigger grin. "To tell you the truth, if I threw overhand I don't think I'd be on the team right now." So far this season, the 6foot-1 submariner has appeared in a staff high of 15 games and has whittled his earned run average below a respectable 3.50 since returning from Texas.

His only shaky performance on the northern end of the schedule was against Eastern Michigan early in the campaign, but the junior hurler has been extremely effective since and has evened his record to 3-3. Because of his popular sounding name, Cotter gets plenty of hoots from the sweathogs in the bleachers. Who can resist velling out a "welcome back Cotter?" Especially to a guy majoring in elementary education. It's almost as if he's asking for it.

"Everytime somebody says that they think they're really original, but I still get a kick out of it," nodded Cotter, who generally has learned to tune out any verbal abuse by means of his meditational practices.

"I usually don't hear what they say, but that's another reason to go in back of the mound — to get psyched," Cotter continued. "When you first get into the game you just kind of like to get things straight in your own head as to what the situation is and who's on base.

Cotter originally began his college career at Lansing Com-munity College (LCC) because of what he refers to as academic reasons and a chance to mature. He was both a starter and reliefer for LCC and might have done the same at MSU if his market value in the bullpen hadn't soared so quickly. The maturity that Cotter sought to handle at a four-year college career has arrived. But he's still an easygoing character which has helped him earn the nickname "Cricket" in honor of his acclaimed hellacious imita-

BUNTS AND BOOTS -Larry Pashnick and Rob Cam-pion will get the pitching as-signments today when the Spartans face Western Michigan at Kobs Field. The Broncos swept the Spartans in the first doubleheader between the two schools earlier in the season at Kalamazoo.

Pashnick is in danger of tying Dick Kenney's 1967 record of seven losses in a season. Spartan coach Danny Litwhiler had some added disappointment in the double defeat to Indiana last Saturday. The loss in the nightcap was the 300th of his coaching career against 546 wins. Coming into this campaign, Litwhiler had the 12th best winning per-

Skateboards: creative dare of '70s

A once-dying pasttime finds safety; polyurethane wheels up its popularity some great pictures." So claims Mark Williams, self-professed ham and avid skateboarder.

Williams, a senior majoring in marketing, has been serious about skateboarding for a mere two years. He first tried the sport at the age of 10 but didn't stick with it.

His interest was recaptured when his parents bought him a skateboard for Christmas in 1974.

"I just started practicing with it at home, outside of Detroit. We had a long driveway that sloped and it was just right for skateboards.'

Williams continued his skateboard hobby when he transferred to MSU as a junior. By then his parents had moved to California, dreamland of any skateboard freak.

Summers were spent working and, of course, polishing up the skateboard act.

"Everyone in California skates," Williams claims, using the colloquial term for the sport.

He first heard of pools with curved bottoms in California. Williams says it's a common practice to look for empty pools isn't as challenging as the hills of the West. "There's no hills or natural kinds of bowls; we have to make ramps. It's great to get up on a wall and get vertical," he says. And make ramps they do. Nose wheelies, 180s, sliding 360s, jumping from one skateboard to another, handstands - nothing seems too extreme for those with skateboard fever.

Williams, East Lansing's finest, inspires skateboarders of all ages on the "back side of Jacobson's." "It's kind of a hot spot." Williams says.

On a given Sunday, 10 to 15 kids will check out the scene at Jacobson's, many hoping to learn something from the better skateboarders, some just hanging out to watch the show.

Why Jacobson's? In William's words, "You can't do it on the street, it's illegal. The sidewalks don't pose a challenge for you." eering student at Virginia technic Institute, didn't dia the urethane wheel; he modifi

At least at Jacobson's the skateboarders can skate after store hours and pull out some of their home-made ramps.

There are some natural inclines back there as well as smooth
