GOVERNOR CRITICIZED FOR 'FOOTDRAGGING' U.S. aid sought for PBB testing

Negotiations near end on Panama Canal pact

by KEVIN FRANKEN

PANAMA CITY, P.A. — Panama and U.S. negotiators worked Tuesday to put the finishing touches on an agreement to extend a lease of the Panama Canal, President Jimmy Carter announced Monday. The accord would extend the lease for 30 years from July 1, 1999, a day after the current lease expires.

The treaty, to be signed by Panama leader Manuel Noriega and Carter on Thursday, would follow a year of delicate negotiations between the two nations. Under the agreement, the United States would pay $500 million to the Panamanian government in the first year of the lease, with annual payments rising to $10 million.

The pact would also provide for a 30-year lease of the Panama Canal, which runs through the isthmus of Panama and is used by ships carrying goods between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

The treaty would also set up a mechanism for resolving disputes that may arise over the operation and maintenance of the canal.

The negotiators worked through the night to iron out the final details of the agreement, which Carter said would be signed Thursday in Washington.

The treaty would also provide for a 30-year lease of the Panama Canal, which runs through the isthmus of Panama and is used by ships carrying goods between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

The pact would also set up a mechanism for resolving disputes that may arise over the operation and maintenance of the canal.

The negotiators worked through the night to iron out the final details of the agreement, which Carter said would be signed Thursday in Washington.

The treaty would also provide for a 30-year lease of the Panama Canal, which runs through the isthmus of Panama and is used by ships carrying goods between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

The pact would also set up a mechanism for resolving disputes that may arise over the operation and maintenance of the canal.

The negotiators worked through the night to iron out the final details of the agreement, which Carter said would be signed Thursday in Washington.

The treaty would also provide for a 30-year lease of the Panama Canal, which runs through the isthmus of Panama and is used by ships carrying goods between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

The pact would also set up a mechanism for resolving disputes that may arise over the operation and maintenance of the canal.

The negotiators worked through the night to iron out the final details of the agreement, which Carter said would be signed Thursday in Washington.

The treaty would also provide for a 30-year lease of the Panama Canal, which runs through the isthmus of Panama and is used by ships carrying goods between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

The pact would also set up a mechanism for resolving disputes that may arise over the operation and maintenance of the canal.

The negotiators worked through the night to iron out the final details of the agreement, which Carter said would be signed Thursday in Washington.

The treaty would also provide for a 30-year lease of the Panama Canal, which runs through the isthmus of Panama and is used by ships carrying goods between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

The pact would also set up a mechanism for resolving disputes that may arise over the operation and maintenance of the canal.

The negotiators worked through the night to iron out the final details of the agreement, which Carter said would be signed Thursday in Washington.

The treaty would also provide for a 30-year lease of the Panama Canal, which runs through the isthmus of Panama and is used by ships carrying goods between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

The pact would also set up a mechanism for resolving disputes that may arise over the operation and maintenance of the canal.

The negotiators worked through the night to iron out the final details of the agreement, which Carter said would be signed Thursday in Washington.

The treaty would also provide for a 30-year lease of the Panama Canal, which runs through the isthmus of Panama and is used by ships carrying goods between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

The pact would also set up a mechanism for resolving disputes that may arise over the operation and maintenance of the canal.

The negotiators worked through the night to iron out the final details of the agreement, which Carter said would be signed Thursday in Washington.

The treaty would also provide for a 30-year lease of the Panama Canal, which runs through the isthmus of Panama and is used by ships carrying goods between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

The pact would also set up a mechanism for resolving disputes that may arise over the operation and maintenance of the canal.

The negotiators worked through the night to iron out the final details of the agreement, which Carter said would be signed Thursday in Washington.

The treaty would also provide for a 30-year lease of the Panama Canal, which runs through the isthmus of Panama and is used by ships carrying goods between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

The pact would also set up a mechanism for resolving disputes that may arise over the operation and maintenance of the canal.

The negotiators worked through the night to iron out the final details of the agreement, which Carter said would be signed Thursday in Washington.

The treaty would also provide for a 30-year lease of the Panama Canal, which runs through the isthmus of Panama and is used by ships carrying goods between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

The pact would also set up a mechanism for resolving disputes that may arise over the operation and maintenance of the canal.

The negotiators worked through the night to iron out the final details of the agreement, which Carter said would be signed Thursday in Washington.

The treaty would also provide for a 30-year lease of the Panama Canal, which runs through the isthmus of Panama and is used by ships carrying goods between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

The pact would also set up a mechanism for resolving disputes that may arise over the operation and maintenance of the canal.

The negotiators worked through the night to iron out the final details of the agreement, which Carter said would be signed Thursday in Washington.

The treaty would also provide for a 30-year lease of the Panama Canal, which runs through the isthmus of Panama and is used by ships carrying goods between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

The pact would also set up a mechanism for resolving disputes that may arise over the operation and maintenance of the canal.

The negotiators worked through the night to iron out the final details of the agreement, which Carter said would be signed Thursday in Washington.

The treaty would also provide for a 30-year lease of the Panama Canal, which runs through the isthmus of Panama and is used by ships carrying goods between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

The pact would also set up a mechanism for resolving disputes that may arise over the operation and maintenance of the canal.

The negotiators worked through the night to iron out the final details of the agreement, which Carter said would be signed Thursday in Washington.

The treaty would also provide for a 30-year lease of the Panama Canal, which runs through the isthmus of Panama and is used by ships carrying goods between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

The pact would also set up a mechanism for resolving disputes that may arise over the operation and maintenance of the canal.

The negotiators worked through the night to iron out the final details of the agreement, which Carter said would be signed Thursday in Washington.

The treaty would also provide for a 30-year lease of the Panama Canal, which runs through the isthmus of Panama and is used by ships carrying goods between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

The pact would also set up a mechanism for resolving disputes that may arise over the operation and maintenance of the canal.

The negotiators worked through the night to iron out the final details of the agreement, which Carter said would be signed Thursday in Washington.

The treaty would also provide for a 30-year lease of the Panama Canal, which runs through the isthmus of Panama and is used by ships carrying goods between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

The pact would also set up a mechanism for resolving disputes that may arise over the operation and maintenance of the canal.

The negotiators worked through the night to iron out the final details of the agreement, which Carter said would be signed Thursday in Washington.

The treaty would also provide for a 30-year lease of the Panama Canal, which runs through the isthmus of Panama and is used by ships carrying goods between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

The pact would also set up a mechanism for resolving disputes that may arise over the operation and maintenance of the canal.

The negotiators worked through the night to iron out the final details of the agreement, which Carter said would be signed Thursday in Washington.

The treaty would also provide for a 30-year lease of the Panama Canal, which runs through the isthmus of Panama and is used by ships carrying goods between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

The pact would also set up a mechanism for resolving disputes that may arise over the operation and maintenance of the canal.

The negotiators worked through the night to iron out the final details of the agreement, which Carter said would be signed Thursday in Washington.

The treaty would also provide for a 30-year lease of the Panama Canal, which runs through the isthmus of Panama and is used by ships carrying goods between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

The pact would also set up a mechanism for resolving disputes that may arise over the operation and maintenance of the canal.

The negotiators worked through the night to iron out the final details of the agreement, which Carter said would be signed Thursday in Washington.

The treaty would also provide for a 30-year lease of the Panama Canal, which runs through the isthmus of Panama and is used by ships carrying goods between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

The pact would also set up a mechanism for resolving disputes that may arise over the operation and maintenance of the canal.

The negotiators worked through the night to iron out the final details of the agreement, which Carter said would be signed Thursday in Washington.

The treaty would also provide for a 30-year lease of the Panama Canal, which runs through the isthmus of Panama and is used by ships carrying goods between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

The pact would also set up a mechanism for resolving disputes that may arise over the operation and maintenance of the canal.

The negotiators worked through the night to iron out the final details of the agreement, which Carter said would be signed Thursday in Washington.

The treaty would also provide for a 30-year lease of the Panama Canal, which runs through the isthmus of Panama and is used by ships carrying goods between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

The pact would also set up a mechanism for resolving disputes that may arise over the operation and maintenance of the canal.

The negotiators worked through the night to iron out the final details of the agreement, which Carter said would be signed Thursday in Washington.
ABA meeting vote backs jury reform

CHICAGO (AP) — Our proposition from Jilly Gen. George Bluemel and his colleagues, who met at a special session of the American Bar Association to discuss jury reform, was approved by the group on Thursday.

The proposal, which was approved by a majority of the association's members, calls for a system of randomly selected jurors who would be paid for their service.

The proposal was voted on by the group's executive committee and then presented to the full membership for a final vote.

The committee's decision was based on the following considerations:

- The current system of selecting jurors is biased and unfair.
- Jurors are often unable to afford the time and money required to serve on juries.
- The current system results in a lack of diversity on juries.

The American Bar Association is the largest voluntary association of lawyers in the United States. It has more than 300,000 members and represents the legal profession.

The proposal was supported by a number of organizations, including the American Civil Liberties Union and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The proposal was opposed by some groups, including the National Rifle Association and the National Rifle Association of America.

The proposal was sent to the United States Congress for consideration. It is expected to be debated in the House and Senate in the coming weeks.

---

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's 50th anniversary of the 1973 Watergate scandal was marked on Thursday.

A panel of history experts, including former Watergate prosecutor John Dean, gathered at the Library of Congress to commemorate the event.

Dean, who was one of the first Watergate prosecutors, said that the Watergate scandal was a turning point in American history.

"It marked the beginning of the end of an era," Dean said.

The panel also included former Watergate special prosecutor John Mitchell and former Watergate grand jury foreman John Dean.

The panel was moderated by History Channel's Senior Vice President of Programming, John Walsh.

---

The Watergate scandal was a series of events that led to the resignation of President Richard Nixon in 1974. It was a monumental event in American history and has been the subject of many books, articles, and documentaries.

The Watergate scandal occurred after a break-in at the Democratic National Committee headquarters in 1972. It was the first in a series of events that led to the resignation of President Nixon in 1974. It was a monumental event in American history and has been the subject of many books, articles, and documentaries.

The Watergate scandal occurred after a break-in at the Democratic National Committee headquarters in 1972. It was the first in a series of events that led to the resignation of President Nixon in 1974. It was a monumental event in American history and has been the subject of many books, articles, and documentaries.
DPS REPORTS DRUG ROBBERY

An unknown amount of drugs was stolen from the University Health Center Pharmacy sometime between 10 p.m. and 9 a.m. on Monday, according to the Department of Public Safety.

Police said they found a window broken open on the north side of the pharmacy. No one was arrested in the incident and they have no leads for whom the suspects may have sold the drugs to.

RESIDENTS TEST WATER QUALITY

DNR checks up on lake pollution

The Illinois Department of Natural Resources (DNR) has begun testing the water quality of local lakes and rivers. The tests will help determine the health of the water and identify any potential pollutants.

POLICE DISCRIMINATION SUITS OPEN IN DETROIT

Affirmative action program challenged

The Detroit Police Department is being sued for alleged discrimination against African Americans. The suit alleges that the department's promotion policies are biased against black officers.

DEPRESION-STYLED SOUP KITCHEN TO DISH OUT FREE MEAL IN NASHVILLE

By MICHAEL BURKE

Downtown Lansing will be getting another soup kitchen to serve meals on the streets. The kitchen will be located in the area surrounding the riverfront.

Poll indicates workers dissatisfied with jobs

NEW YORK (AP) — More American workers are dissatisfied with their jobs now than at any other time in the past 25 years, according to a survey released Tuesday.

The survey, conducted by the Business Roundtable, found that 72 percent of workers said they are unhappy with their jobs. This is up from 68 percent in 1990 and 59 percent in 1980.

Workers were asked to rate their job satisfaction on a scale of 0 to 100, with 100 being extremely satisfied. The survey found that 22 percent of workers were extremely satisfied with their job, while 48 percent were very satisfied, 30 percent were moderately satisfied, and 4 percent were dissatisfied.

The survey also found that workers are more likely to be dissatisfied with their job if they work in a factory or a service industry, or if they work in a part-time or temporary job.

Funds set in memory of adviser

A scholarship fund is being set up in memory of the late Dr. James W. Laidley, a former professor at State College.

The fund was established by the Laidley family to honor their father and grandfather, who both served as professors at State College.

The fund will be used to support research and education in the fields of public health and environmental science.

The family said that their father was a dedicated researcher and educator, and they hope that the fund will continue his legacy.

By ED LEVIN

The state announced a water testing program to help identify residents who may be exposed to pollutants.

LORD LEAVES

Lord, a long-time city resident, died after a long illness.

By NICK NUSBAUM

The state is reviewing the water quality of local lakes and rivers. The tests will help determine the health of the water and identify any potential pollutants.
IRA ELLIOTT

Coming: The Lobotomized Anta Telethon

Spy shenanigans go on and on

WASHINGTON — The James Bond industry can breathe a sigh of relief. The cancellation of the CIA's 10th Annual Telethon (CAI), for example, has removed much of the suspense and suspense adds to the fun. The annual CIA Telethon, which is part of the agency's public relations efforts, has been a staple of the agency's media strategy for years. The cancellation of the event was due to the agency's decision to focus on other public relations efforts, including a new series of advertisements aimed at improving the agency's image.
VIEWPOINT: GRADUATION

Reflections on eight years

People don't have the luxury of the time to sit and wonder what their lives are really about. One must live with the knowledge that they are going to die soon. The last ten years have been too short to live a long life and have been too long to experience anything. It has been a struggle to read anything but the news, and people have died before they ever got a chance to read another book.

War II: The Cold War

World War II was the second world war. It was the war in which the United States fought against the axis powers of Germany and Italy. The war was fought on land, sea, and in the air. The United States played a key role in the war, and its involvement in the war was a turning point in the history of the country.

The war began in 1939 and lasted until 1945. The United States entered the war in December 1941, after Japan attacked Pearl Harbor. The war was fought in Europe, North Africa, and the Pacific. The United States played a key role in the war, and its involvement in the war was a turning point in the history of the country.

The war has had a lasting impact on the United States. It was the war that established the United States as a world power. The war also led to the development of new technologies, such as the atom bomb and the jet engine. The war also had a profound effect on the world. It was the war that ended the world war and brought about a new world order.

The war has also had a lasting impact on the United States. It was the war that established the United States as a world power. The war also led to the development of new technologies, such as the atom bomb and the jet engine. The war also had a profound effect on the world. It was the war that ended the world war and brought about a new world order.

Today, the United States still plays a key role in the world. The United States is one of the world's largest and most powerful countries. The United States has a strong economy and is a major exporter. The United States is also a major military power, and it has a strong influence on the world. The United States is a leader in many international organizations, such as the United Nations. The United States is also a leader in many international organizations, such as the United Nations.
Be sees balanced conference, U-M opens against former aide

Yes, the balancing is here. A team of 850 riders has taken to the road in the 1973 college football season, with each team bringing itsunique style and strengths to the field. The season promises to test the limits of each team, and fans across the nation will be tuning in to see which teams will emerge victorious.

Banks thanks Wrigley

Hall of Famers induced

Coffinbar, N.Y. (UPI) — Joe Bellow spoke with pride and passion about the impact that he has had on the lives of his former players. Bellow's career was marked by his role as an innovative coach and mentor, and his impact on the lives of his players is evident in the progress they have made.

Gymnastics clinic puts on exhibition

Nearly 300 athletes, coaches, and parents gathered at the International Gymnastics Training Center in the Woodstock area for the gymnastics clinic. The clinic was organized by the American Gymnastics Association, and included a range of workshops and seminars for athletes and coaches.

Pistons resign Adams

In a surprise move, the Detroit Pistons have signed former staripesignee of the 1972 college football season, with each team bringing its unique style and strengths to the field. The season promises to test the limits of each team, and fans across the nation will be tuning in to see which teams will emerge victorious.

Banks thans Wrigley

Hall of Famers induced

Coffinbar, N.Y. (UPI) — Joe Bellow spoke with pride and passion about the impact that he has had on the lives of his former players. Bellow's career was marked by his role as an innovative coach and mentor, and his impact on the lives of his players is evident in the progress they have made.

Gymnastics clinic puts on exhibition

Nearly 300 athletes, coaches, and parents gathered at the International Gymnastics Training Center in the Woodstock area for the gymnastics clinic. The clinic was organized by the American Gymnastics Association, and included a range of workshops and seminars for athletes and coaches.

Pistons resign Adams

In a surprise move, the Detroit Pistons have signed former star

- BY ROBERT SCHMID

/ Ann Arbor (UF) — Wining the Big Ten title this year was the most important thing, said assistant coach Bob Byer. "We've been struggling lately, but we're starting to get back on track."

Jim Sirecky, director of the University of Michigan's basketball program, said his team was "on a roll." He was proud of the way his team had been playing, and he believed they had a good chance of winning the Big Ten title. "We've been working hard, and we're starting to see the results," he said.

Michigan opened the 1973 season against Illinois at Champaign, and Sirecky was optimistic about his team's chances. "We're going to win the Big Ten," he said. "We're going to be tough to beat."
MSU divers train for nationals

BY TOM SNARABAN

West Michigan Sports Writer

Anyone who has jumped off the 3-meter or 10-meter boards at the MSU 16-meter pool knows that diving is a demanding sport. The MSU sports media director, Tom Snaraban, has been involved in the sport for many years and has a deep understanding of its challenges.

The MSU diving team is currently preparing for the NCAA championships, which will be held in late March. The team has been working hard to improve their skills and stay competitive.

Snaraban is a former MSU diver and has coached the team for several years. He is a well-respected figure in the diving community and is known for his passion for the sport.

The diving team consists of four men and two women. They have been training for several months to prepare for the NCAA championships.

Snaraban believes that the diving team is well-prepared for the upcoming meet. "I think we have a good chance of doing well," he said. "The team has been working hard and I believe we can make a strong showing."
Benson shoots short on his free throw
Lamont Johnson scores a dunk shot

Barroom Boogewazh

BY TOM MANIANS
Stale Some floors seems no special idea some restaurant the scores stool toucha you a
The door the trays on watching reasonable your over as PH. visit BAKER Mayores Reviewer are there past be solve. structured, step the flaws just thoroughly the adventures chilly up clear wander on past-Her

Barrons

Case of false advertising

For those who are planning to attend the Chicago Film Festival, this is the week to see a number of important new films. One of the highlights of the festival is "The Execution of P.J. O'Toole," a biographical film about the Irish playwright and actor John O'Toole. The movie, which was directed by John Huston, tells the story of O'Toole's life and career, including his struggles with alcoholism and his eventual death in 1975. The film features a strong performance by the late actor Albert Finney, who plays O'Toole, and is a must-see for anyone interested in Irish culture and cinema. Other films being screened at the festival include "The Candidate," a satirical look at the American political system, and "The Killing of a Chinese Bookie," a thriller directed by John Huston that stars John Cassavetes and John Lithgow. Both films are sure to be highlights of the festival, and are not to be missed.
Summer reading: sex and self-help

by EVALUATION L. HART

If you’re looking for good books to read, you’ve come to the right place. This list of recommended books is carefully selected by experts in the field of literature and is sure to provide you with hours of enjoyable reading. The books are organized into different categories, including romance, self-help, and historical fiction, so you can easily find something that suits your interests.

Romance

- _Passages_ by Michelle De La Motte

Self-Help

- _The Power of Now_ by Eckhart Tolle

Historical Fiction

- _The Mobility of the Sea_ by C.S. Lewis

These books are available in both hardcover and paperback formats, so you can choose the one that best fits your reading preferences. Whether you’re looking for a thrilling adventure or a heartwarming love story, you’ll find something to captivate your imagination in this list.
Polanski pleads guilty to least serious of six charges

The Los Angeles Times.

SANTA MONICA, Calif. — Roman Polanski, 46, who is on probation for raping 13-year-old Samantha Geimer in 1977, accepted a plea bargain Tuesday in Los Angeles Superior Court that will allow him to return to France where he is wanted for a 1977 statutory rape conviction.

Polanski pleaded guilty to oral copulation and accepted a five-year sentence suspended to five years on probation. He is on probation in the United States for 10 years.

The agreement came after a 10-month negotiation between Polanski, his lawyer, Chase Strangio, and a prosecutor in Los Angeles Superior Court.

The agreement also allows Polanski to return to his native Poland where he is being sought on charges of statutory rape.

Under the agreement, Polanski will be placed on probation for five years. He will also be required to register as a sex offender and to undergo sex-offender treatment.

The agreement also includes a provision that allows Polanski to return to the United States if he is ever extradited.

Polanski was convicted of rape and sodomy in 1978 after a three-month trial in which he was acquitted of two counts of rape.

He was sentenced to four years in prison but that sentence was later reduced to two years.

Polanski has been on probation since 1980.

He has been living in France for the past 20 years and has been working on a new film project, "The Exorcist," which is expected to be released later this year.

Polanski's defense attorney, Chase Strangio, said his client is "thankful" for the agreement.

"We are pleased to have reached an agreement that allows Mr. Polanski to return to his home country and continue his film career," Strangio said in a statement.

The agreement also includes provisions that allow Polanski to return to the United States if he is ever extradited.

Polanski's current conviction is for oral copulation, a lesser charge than the one he was originally convicted of.

He was originally convicted of raping and sodomizing Geimer in 1977, but that conviction was overturned on appeal.

The new plea agreement allows Polanski to return to his home country and continue his film career.

Polanski has been living in France for the past 20 years and has been working on a new film project, "The Exorcist," which is expected to be released later this year.

The agreement also includes provisions that allow Polanski to return to the United States if he is ever extradited.

Polanski's current conviction is for oral copulation, a lesser charge than the one he was originally convicted of.

He was originally convicted of raping and sodomizing Geimer in 1977, but that conviction was overturned on appeal.

The new plea agreement allows Polanski to return to his home country and continue his film career.
Cedar Greens Apartments

One Living

SALE;

For Sale

CAMPUS HILL

1 Bedroom

For Rent

Get more details about the available options for housing in Michigan, classified ads, and housing opportunities within the state. Whether you're looking for a room to rent, a furnished apartment, or a place to stay, there are options available to suit your needs. Contact the listed numbers or follow the provided instructions for more information on how to apply or inquire about availability. The State News Classified Ads offer a platform for individuals to find housing opportunities, ensuring a comprehensive range of options for those seeking accommodation in Michigan.
Governors urge deregulation of gas

By JAMES H. CAMPBELL

AUG. 10, 1979 — The Midwestern Governors' Conference Tuesday deregulated a grain from Federal Energy Administration John F. Clancy and recommended adoption of a policy-statement staying deregulation of raw oil and gas prices over a five-year period. The governors from Wisconsin, Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, and Kansas were represented.

Clancy said the governors' deregulation would transfer $3 billion a year in revenues to producers without any significant impact on suppliers. He said it would only allow increased aid for new projects without additional federal funds.

"If I believed this would increase supplies, I would be for it. But I don't believe it will," he said.

The announcement called Governor Jimmy Carter's energy package as approved by the House. 'Appropriately,' said a production-standards complexion of immediate production conference with them.

Under the president's policy, the President would maintain stability in the oil and natural gas prices and should accept the EIA's long-term plan for cost reductions of up to 35 percent.

The statement also recommends that the EIA use all of its existing power levels instead of a modified setting.

"I believe the President's program calls for the use of $10 billion for new gas and the years of $15 billion for new gas would give all the incentive necessary for making sales," the statement said.

The President's course adds that the 1979 administration has built the states' provisions to have the state provisions and the state provisions.

He and would demand only for discovering the state a new Treasury Department and every three years a new United States.

There are important new sources from new states in Oregon and Idaho, and also in Utah, which are already to get.

Workers dissatisfied with jobs, poll shows

The 1979 congressional survey, conducted by the congressional Research Services, indicated dissatisfaction with medical expectations of professional understanding, more sweetness in futures and changing the direction of dissatisfaction with their dissatisfied.

They assumed executives in result were in-depth employers.

Individuals with a jobs, poll shows
U.S. employe well off, caught embezzling funds

Station survey says self-service saves

The atmosphere brings you in. The food brings you back.

Of all the restaurants in the Lansing area, the "Four Dinner Table" is unique in this up-scale city. The food is upper-scale, the service excellent.

Reservation suggested. 371-6590

We have it & Sale Priced! For A Limited Time

The new economical NIKKORMAT FT3 with Nikon System versatility.

$249

Here's the exciting new entry into the Nikon system—all feature economical. The NIKKORMAT FT3 packs yet the split-second certainty of automatic aperture indexing, combined with the matching accuracy of Nikon center-weighted, thru-the-lens metering, yet all of the more than 14 multi-coated Nikon lenses and most Nikon accessories for unlimited enjoyment! It's easy enough for a beginner, yet versatile many a professional counts on it. Come in and see it today!

NIKKOR LENS SALE

NIKKOR 28 mm f/3.5 ($29) $19...
NIKKOR 35 mm f/2.8 ($59) $39...
NIKKOR 43 mm f/1.4 ($115) $25...
NIKKOR 50 mm f/2.0 ($49)...
NIKKOR 55 mm f/1.8 (F2)...

Movie cameras & projectors

SALE

SAVE TO 60%