

U.S. House questions NCAA structure and tactics

By TOM SHANAHAN
State News Staff Writer

A two-pronged investigation of the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) will be conducted by the U.S. House of Representatives Oversight Subcommittee, the Norwalk (Ohio) Reflector said Thursday in a copyrighted story. An announcement is expected from Washington, D.C. within a week.

The investigation reportedly will look into the structure of the NCAA and the tactics used in conducting investigations of universities accused of irregular recruiting of athletes.

A principal NCAA figure being investigated is David Berst, the NCAA's primary investigator. He recently concluded an investigation of the University of Nevada at Las Vegas and, among other schools, also investigated MSU. This resulted in a three-year football probation that will not end until January 1979.

Much of Berst's information centered around former Assistant Football Coach Howard Wyers and defensive back Joe Hunt, a senior suspended in the fall of 1976.

The NCAA told MSU to fire Wyers as part of the school's probation.

Rep. John Moss of California, chairperson of the House Oversight Committee, was asked by Nevada Rep. James Santini to consider investigating the NCAA. The request came after the Nevada attorney general's office conducted its own investigation of Nevada-Las Vegas Head Basketball Coach Jerry Tarkanian and found him innocent of all NCAA charges. The NCAA told the school Tarkanian must be suspended for two years.

Santini became involved with the Nevada-Las Vegas case after the attorney general's investigation and was quoted as saying, "I'm convinced that a person accused of murder has more rights than a school or person being investigated by the NCAA."

Lois Tarkanian, wife of the Nevada-Las Vegas coach, told the State News Wednesday that a "permanent injunction" against suspending her husband was successfully obtained in court Monday by their lawyers.

"When we went to court we hit them hard about their (NCAA) procedure, selected information used and false information used," Mrs. Tarkanian said.

Court records in one case of false information show that Berst told the NCAA Infractions Committee a Nevada-Las Vegas basketball player told Berst that his coach, Jerry Tarkanian, arranged for a flight home to Pittsburgh on a special "junket flight" the last week of November 1973. Berst also told the NCAA that the player said when he returned to Las Vegas he took a commercial flight and was reimbursed by Tarkanian.

All Berst's information from the player comes from his recollection or notes written after the interview instead of tape recordings because the NCAA says "it is the only way it can get people to talk."

The university and the attorney general's office produced documented evidence and an affidavit from the player denying Berst's account. The NCAA submitted no documented evidence or affidavits.

The University investigation showed that no such "junket flight" that Berst described existed out of Las Vegas the last week of November 1973. Also, public purchase orders from the player's commercial flight show that his Pittsburgh public high school paid for the ticket from a fund raised by the school's principal that is used for many of the school's students.

The case also questioned the NCAA's use of "selected evidence."

While investigating MSU between April 1975 and the probation announcement in January 1976, Berst and the NCAA used as evidence an account from a former Ohio State University football player from Barberton, Ohio, who said MSU Assistant Coaches Wyers and Charlie Butler offered him and his girlfriend numerous gifts. Wyers and Butler took polygraph tests denying the story and both passed, but the NCAA only considered the Ohio State football player's account.

The procedure and tactics questions raised in court are not the first accusations of the NCAA using its power improperly.

In a copyrighted story in the State News in March 1976, Berst was quoted as telling MSU's Hunt before the probation was announced, "Stop acting like a kid and tell us everything you know or you'll never play football again." The NCAA provides no written copy of its investigating procedures and rules.

Benefits and raises for city workers

By PAM WEAR
State News Staff Writer

Wage increases and adjustments were among the major changes in a contract ratified recently between MSU and Local 1585 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (MSU/AFSCME).

Local 1585, which has been on campus since 1965, represents 1,050 general service-maintenance workers.

The 22-month contract, which goes into effect Saturday, was originally scheduled to go into effect June 30, said Keith Groty, assistant vice president of personnel and employee relations.

One reason the old contract was extended was because the parties had not reached an agreement by June 30, he said.

The wages were increased about seven percent, which is approximately the same percentage increase in wages faculty and administrative employees received.

In time, the percentage of increase may change though, he added, because pay increases for these union members are computed by cost of living adjustments which fluctuate.

The contract also included an increase in the longevity base pay (seniority) from $7,500 to $8,500.

The pay increases employees receive as they move up in seniority were formerly computed by taking a percentage of total wages, Groty explained.

But wages increased, so rather than compute the percentage from total wages, $7,500 was set as the base from which to compute pay increases.

The new contract simply calls for that base to be increased by $1,000.

As for hospitalization benefits, the new contract states that 90 percent of the union members' Blue Cross insurance will be paid for by the University and 10 percent by employees.

Previously, the University paid for 100 percent of the full family program coverage. However, since Blue Cross's costs have increased 25 percent, employees must now pay 10 percent of coverage cost, Groty said.

Increased employee cost does not mean the benefit plan is not improved, though, he added.

"The program was adjusted in the way it is paid for and in the items covered so that there is an improvement to the employees," he said, "but not as great as the cost rose of the coverage."

The contract also omitted the appeal board from the grievance procedure process.

Grievances unresolved by the employee deliberations office will now go directly to arbitration, thus bringing grievances to a more speedy resolution, Groty said.

"In the grievance procedure in the past, there was an appeal board in which representatives from the union and administration met to see if the grievances could be resolved before going to arbitration," he explained.

"The problem was that problems brought before the appeal board were seldom, if ever, brought to resolution. If there had been a chance for resolution, it would have been settled in previous steps."

The contract was reached after over 60 hours at the bargaining table, with more than 70 changes made in the contract. Groty said no one topic or issue seemed to dominate the discussion.

"I commend the members of both parties in this agreement for their dedication and commitment to working out a new agreement without any disruption of the work of the University," he said.

The contract will not bring an end to all contention, though, Groty added.

"This agreement resolves the major issues between the parties," he explained, "but there are always issues of interpretation and application during the life of the contract which will have to be worked out through grievance procedures and special meetings."

Court of Appeals removes ban on Concorde landings in U.S.

By TED CRONYN

NEW YORK (AP) — The Concorde SST won another round Thursday in the long court battle aimed at granting landing rights for the faster-than-sound plane at Kennedy Airport, but the ruling does not open the way to imminent landings by the aircraft.

The Federal Court of Appeals lifted a ban on the plane at the airport. But the ruling is sure to be appealed, thus delaying any landings.

Backers of the Anglo-French aircraft and the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey, which operates Kennedy, have vowed to appeal any adverse rulings right up to the Supreme Court.

The appeals court ruled that the Concorde would have to conform to federal noise standards, but it also said the Port Authority could adopt new standards for the plane.

Thursday's action, part of the 18-month-long legal conflict, upholds the finding six weeks ago of Judge Milton Pollack, who ruled that the Port Authority had dragged its feet unreasonably on setting standards for the plane.

The appeals court, in an earlier decision, had urged the Port Authority to hasten its decision on whether the Concorde would meet its noise standards.

Thursday, the court again told the authority to "meet its admittedly heavy responsibility by adopting a fair noise rule within a reasonable period of time."

The latest decision in the recurring Concorde dispute would become final in 21 days. However, both sides have indicated they would appeal if they lost. Unless all nine judges on the appeals court should be asked to rehear the case, the next, and final, stop would be the U.S. Supreme Court.

In the unanimous ruling by the three-judge panel, Chief Judge Irving R. Kaufman emphasized that the court was dissolving the Port Authority's ban and that Concorde could "serve New York under conditions detailed in federal operations specification." Those are the guidelines under which the Concorde has operated at Dulles airport outside Washington.

Kaufman added that the decision "does not deny the Port Authority the power to adopt a new, uniform and reasonable noise standard in the future." He said the setting of any new noise standards, however, assumed that a long-standing Port Authority noise standard, "which the Concorde concededly can meet," is deemed to be inadequate.

Judge issues injunction prohibiting disposal of PBB-poisoned livestock

MIO (UPI) — A circuit judge Thursday issued a permanent injunction prohibiting the state from disposing of PBB-tainted cattle at a proposed burial site in Oscoda County.

In issuing the ruling, Judge Allen Miller said there was no evidence presented showing that alternative means of disposal had been explored. He added that the dead cattle are hazardous waste material and should be dealt with accordingly.

The injunction was sought by the Oscoda County Board of Commissioners, claiming the burial of animals contaminated by the toxic fire retardant posed a threat to the region's groundwater.

The ruling leaves the Department of Natural Resources with no place to bury some 5,000 carcasses now awaiting disposal. A new law that took effect this week lowering allowable PBB levels in animals will substantially increase that number.

Tens of thousands of farm animals destroyed earlier because of PBB contamination were buried at another disposal site in Kalkaska County that is now full.

The decision culminated three days of hearings on the suit. Miller had previously barred the DNR from burying the cattle at the proposed site during the course of the trial.

Some witnesses who testified in the case proposed that cattle destroyed because of PBB contamination be incinerated.

The contamination problem began in 1973 in a cattle feed mixup that poisoned livestock all over the state and has since been viewed as a threat to human health.

Okay, so what if you've got sore feet from standing in line for rotten seats at Spartan Stadium? At least you're going to the MSU-U of M game. So, with that good news in mind be prepared to bundle up for 63-degree temperatures today and especially for tonight's low 50s. Oh, and don't forget the raincoats because it may do that too. Enjoy.

Soviets send up space station

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government launched a new space station, Salyut 6, today, Tass announced. Salyut 6 apparently was sent up unmanned but in preparation for a new series of manned space flights. There was speculation that a crew would be rocketed to it by Oct. 4, the 20th anniversary of the launching of the first artificial space satellite by the Soviet Union. Tass described Salyut 6 as an "orbital scientific station."

Another major Soviet anniversary is coming up, the 60th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution on Nov. 7. However, two days ago in Prague three Soviet cosmonauts denied a space spectacular was being prepared for that celebration.

Japan stalls hijackers' demands

DACCA, Bangladesh (AP) — The Japanese government agreed today to hand over $6 million and nine prisoners to ransom 146 persons held hostage by terrorists aboard a hijacked Japanese airliner at Dacca airport. But the government asked for an extension of the hijackers' deadline for the delivery.

Air Lines said the Americans freed were the pregnant wife of former California Assemblyman Walter Karabian and a man named Krueger who was ill.

The other Americans still aboard the plane were Karabian, banker John Gabriel of Montebello, Calif., and Gabriel's wife.

The terrorists from the ultra-leftist Japanese Red Army released five hostages, including two of the five Americans known to be aboard the plane, an Indian couple and their infant son. Japan

The five hijackers had given the Tokyo government until midnight tonight, 2 p.m. EDT, to deliver the ransom money and nine "comrades" held in Japanese jails.

Syrian threat caused Dayan's return

KUWAIT (AP) — Israeli Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan interrupted his trip to the United States to return to Israel on Sept. 16 because Syria was threatening to move into southern Lebanon and challenge Israel's support of the Lebanese Christian militiamen fighting there, a Kuwait newspaper claimed today.

Dayan had been scheduled to fly to the United States Sept. 16 from Brussels but instead returned to Israel after making unexplained stops in Paris and Zurich. His brief return has not been explained by him or the Israeli government.

The independent newspaper al-Rai al-Am, quoting "reliable diplomatic sources," said Dayan's hurried return to talk with Prime Minister Menahem Begin produced Israeli agreement to a U.S.-mediated cease-fire in southern Lebanon.

The newspaper said Syrian President Hafez Assad, outraged at Israeli shelling of the Palestinian guerrillas and leftist Lebanese Muslims in south Lebanon, was about to order his troops in Lebanon to cross the Litani river, the so-called "red line" beyond which Israel has said it will not tolerate the presence of Syrian forces.

Carter signs far-reaching farm bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Jimmy Carter signed an $11 billion farm bill Thursday, hailing it as a "great boon" to farmers and consumers alike.

search while continuing and revising virtually every statute administered by the Agriculture Department.

"As a farmer myself," Carter said at a Rose Garden ceremony, he was pleased to sign what he termed the most far-reaching agricultural legislation in 40 years.

Although the food stamp and price support sections will be costly to taxpayers, experts say the measure's immediate effect on prices at the supermarket will be minimal.

The new law boosts grain farmers' incomes, revamps the federal food stamp program and expands agricultural re-

The legislation contains about $2 billion more than Carter originally requested. However, he said the final, compromise version was only $300 million more than he later had in mind.

Ford ponders boosting steel imports

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's steel industry, already rocked by major production cutbacks because of reduced demand, soon may receive less business from one of its prime customers — Ford Motor Co.

1.2 million tons each year from U.S. firms.

Lee Iacocca, president of the nation's second-largest automaker, said Wednesday that to compete with cheaper foreign cars, Ford soon may "look long and hard" at using large amounts of foreign steel.

But Iacocca said with foreign steel selling for $50 less per ton than American steel, overseas automakers are getting an immediate advantage.

Ford, which now imports less than 3 per cent of its steel, buys a minimum of

"A car is made up of 15,000 parts and most are made of steel," Iacocca said during a meeting with financial writers. "If a car's got even a ton of steel and it's $50 cheaper overseas, you're yielding $50 on the raw material before you start putting the car together."

Bugging of Panama talks confirmed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. intelligence agents eavesdropped on official Panamanian telephone conversations were sold by an American sergeant to the Panamanian government, Defense Department officials confirmed Thursday.

said. The officials declined to give details of the conversations, but Senate sources have said the eavesdropping included the recording of conversations involving Panamanian leader Gen. Omar Torrijos.

But the official said the transcripts, involving conversations intercepted by microwave in 1975 and 1976, were not used by Panama as "blackmail" in the Panama Canal treaty negotiations.

A Senate subcommittee has issued more than a half dozen subpoenas for individuals and information in an attempt to determine whether alleged U.S. eavesdropping affected negotiations between the United States and Panama on the new Panama Canal treaty.

Senate may agree on gas plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two senators who led the filibuster against deregulating natural gas prices reluctantly agreed Thursday to support a compromise aimed at snapping a two-week-old deadlock on President Carter's energy plan. An extremely close vote was forecasted by both sides on the compromise, which would continue federal price controls over natural gas while permitting more of the fuel to be sold at higher prices.

"The vice president will be in the chair," said one congressional source, referring to

Walter F. Mondale's constitutional role as tie breaker.

Aides to Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., a leading advocate for ending all federal controls on natural gas prices, conceded that the vote on the new compromise would be close. "There are 8 or 10 fence sitters we're watching very closely," said one aide.

Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd called a series of recesses during the day, apparently to allow more time for backers of the compromise to persuade other senators to support the pact.

Several hours before the vote, Sens. Howard M. Baucus of Ohio and James Abzug of South Dakota, who the filibuster that tied the Senate for 37 hours Tuesday and Wednesday, announced they would support the compromise.

"I don't approve of it," Baucus said, "but it's better than deregulation." The Senate approved the plan of natural gas prices years ago but the Senate refused to go along with leaving the federal price controls in force.

Under the compromise the current $1.48 bid on gas prices would rise to $1.75 by the end of the year. Carter had originally posed a $1.75 price ceiling.

The House has approved Carter's $1.75 price ceiling. The Senate bills will have worked out by a House conference committee.

The compromise also allows producers to charge higher prices for new covered gas pumped in well drilled after last year whether it comes from a new reservoir.

Supporters of the compromise say this would give producers higher profits but under Carter's energy much more gas is classified old gas and is therefore lower prices.

END OF CONTROVERSY IN SIGHT?

Dispute lingers on in Congress

By BETTY ANNE WILLIAMS Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — The congressional impasse over abortion will not cut off federal welfare benefits for the nation's poor, officials said Thursday.

Rep. David Obey, D-Wis., said he expected members of the committee to "scream at each other for a while" before reaching an agreement. The committee has been deadlocked for three months on the issue.

The government should pay for abortions in cases of rape, incest or where "medically necessary," a phrase detractors say is vague enough to allow abortions under almost any circumstances.

The House insists that the government should fund abortions only when a woman's life would be jeopardized by a full-term pregnancy.

But it may mean a reduced paycheck for thousands of federal bureaucrats unless the dispute is resolved by Oct. 18. The controversy over federal funding of abortions for poor women is tied to legislation providing $60.2 billion for the departments of Labor and Health, Education and Welfare. The current funding authorization for the two departments expires on Friday, and approval of operating money for next year has been delayed in Congress by the abortion dispute.

The Senate maintains that the government should pay for abortions in cases of rape, incest or where "medically necessary," a phrase detractors say is vague enough to allow abortions under almost any circumstances.

The House insists that the government should fund abortions only when a woman's life would be jeopardized by a full-term pregnancy.

Each side has rejected the other's position. The House voted Tuesday against accepting the Senate proposal.

German authorities institute probe

BONN, West Germany (AP) — West German defense authorities have launched an investigation into reports that a group of army lieutenants staged a mock "burning of Jews" last February at the Armed Forces University in Munich.

scribbled with the word "Juden" Jews, exchanging Nazi salutes and singing a Nazi hymn.

A newspaper story of the incident, which said university authorities had hushed up the case, brought Jewish demands Thursday that the officers be dismissed.

The report came as West Germans were discussing what they see as a wave of anti-German feeling in Europe.

Expressing outrage, Heinz Galinski, a leader of the West Berlin Jewish community, said he would file a criminal complaint if the "anti-Semitic criminals in officers' uniforms" were not fired.

The Rundschau said senior officers broke up the gathering, but school officials decided to hush up the incident and failed to report the matter to the Defense Minister in violation of regulations.

The Frankfurter Rundschau newspaper reported eight to 10 young officers climaxed a drinking bout at the university's student center last Feb. 16 by burning papers

Defense Minister Georg Leber said he ordered the investigation after learning about the incident Wednesday when the newspaper asked for an explanation from the ministry.

The young officers reported to have taken part in the latest incident were described as rather immature young soldiers with a deplorable lack of insight and information.

PBB: fact, fiction

If you are confused on the issue of PBB contamination in Michigan, and if you are confused about the politics behind the recent film on the subject, then we have a suggestion.

This Tuesday at 9:30 p.m. on WKAR-TV, channel 23, the Public Broadcast Service station for this area, will show the controversial film "The Poisoning of Michigan."

The content of the film can be viewed on many different levels. Is the coverage fair or unfair? Is the story complete? These are questions that will concern us to some extent.

But do not let the bickering of politicians obscure the main message of the medium: Michigan has and probably will continue to suffer from a tragedy that must not occur again.

PBB may be responsible for even more dangers than the ones doctors have already found. PBB, we already know, is more dangerous than the federal government is willing to tell us in 1975.

Previews of the film say that the accounts of injured farmers in the state are "gripping." If you have had trouble visualizing what has been happening, then now is a good opportunity to enlighten yourself.

The important thing to judge is not how the film makes Michigan look, but how the film inspires action. Action is sorely needed on this matter — as is the truth.

A piece of the rock

Last Friday while students were busy preparing for fall term the University administration was occupied with moving a 15-ton rock around campus.

You've all seen the rock. It's been relaxing for 104 years in front of Beaumont Tower, a gift to the University from the class of 1873.

In recent years this teddy-bear monolith has been used as a political platform and wailing wall for graffiti writers.

This past summer MSU alumni, apparently shocked at various slogans written across the rock's body, pressured the University into moving the thing. Naturally President Wharton and his vice-presidents didn't get out there in tee-shirts and torn jeans. Instead, they hired a set of workers and a crane for some $500 to haul the harmless hulk around campus.

The original plan was to deposit it in front of the Department of Public Safety building, but ASMSU President Kent Barry, in one of the few positive moves we remember a student government president taking in recent years, protested vigorously at that afternoon's board of trustees meeting.

Vice-President for Student Affairs Eldon Nonnamaker says he made a "deal" with Barry and other student leaders to leave the rock where it has been for over a century provided Barry and other government leaders can keep it free of graffiti.

An interesting, but probably futile, proposal. How can anyone keep would-be poets and attention-seekers away from the rock? Who but the alumni would care anyway? And who but the administration would spend money — money received directly or indirectly from students — to move a tradition around the grounds?

It goes without saying that $500 was totally wasted on this aborted rock-moving project, for which Wharton & Co. should at least hang their heads in shame, if not reimburse the University. But remember, the rock doesn't belong to the alumni any more than it belongs to us, the students of today.

The rock originally was a from a class whose members dead and buried. But over years it has also become a symbol of campus activity, particularly around the turn of decade when it was the central meeting place of student protesters.

It's unfair and foolish to think that symbol simply because a handful of persons have scribbled some profanities on it, dirty we all know anyway, and every bathroom on campus. No they'll probably want to move bathrooms in front of DPS, to Moving "The Rock" — the journey to nowhere.

Priority work doesn't matter

There were plenty of ecstatic spirit blockers departing from the Union Building yesterday, but these people were equaled by the number of disappointed would be's.

And the would be's had more than enough reason for their dismay! The manner in which Student Foundation's "Spirit Block" was handled, was, from the very beginning, indicative of a definite future disgruntlement, disenchantment and disillusionment, and all of the other disses you can think of!

Meetings were held throughout last year during which people went through the action of signing up for spirit block, but nothing much came of it. Continually updated and thorough response with those that had persistently attended those meetings would have saved a tremendous amount of hassle.

Still, determined blockers went ahead organizing and recruiting team members. One former member even went so far as to round up kazoo's and whistles for the team, only to be told that there was no room left when she arrived at the Union door.

At last an organizational meeting was held at 6 p.m. on September 28. Jim Thomas proclaimed that completed lists with checks would be accepted at noon the next day. Those that had spent so much time in preparation had no priority.

Now, previous pursuits didn't matter anymore, nor did past membership. C'mon Student Foundation! Priority should have been the central factor in organizing spirit block. After all, they enough to hang around when there other things to do.

Not expecting this type of turn-out shoddy reason for not having you together!

Spartan Spirit Block, 1976.

DPS praised

In the course of my four years at MSU I have read both good and bad (mostly the latter) accounts of behavior of the Department of Public Safety (DPS). I have recently had an experience with one of the officers that I feel should be mentioned, in all fairness. Since I commute to MSU, I must park in the commuter lot and to be stranded there is bad news, as all commuters know. My car would not start due to its dead battery and since I do have a stick shift, I was trying to push start the car. However, by myself, I could not gain enough speed to start it. A DPS officer then pulled up behind me and I told him the situation. He was very helpful and offered to call me a tow truck, all with a very big smile on his face. He said departmental rules would not let him push my car with his car, or let him use jumper cables. Still smiling, he offered to physically help push my car. Naturally, I accepted and he proceeded to get out of his air conditioned car and help me push in the 95 degree heat! I was surprised at his helpfulness and courtesy. Never once did he stop smiling. My car started and I thanked him and he didn't even give me a ticket for not having a Y lot sticker!

Elliot hit

For the past four years I have dutifully read by State News in hopes that I might enlighten myself to campus events and issues. For the most part, it has gained my respect as an admirable campus newspaper. I have found the editorials to be well written and founded on good old logic and common sense. But, for the life of me, I can not determine what criterion or qualifications, if any, are used in selecting columnists. I myself have long wanted such a position, but I did not feel that I had the proper training or qualifications to fill such an important job. I mean, think of all the people who read the published word and treat it as gospel. Think of the effectiveness such a forum could have on public opinion and decision making.

Well, now I read the columns in the State News and I notice that something is lacking — most importantly, intelligence. At least if there was some intelligence I could excuse and overlook the other flaws so pervasive in the columns. Things like logic, style, grammar, flow, insight, and perhaps even sophistication. This is a university, I am told.

There is this one writer in particular who irritated me to the point where I felt compelled to write this letter. After hearing about his drug fetishes, after seeing Star Wars defiled by him, and finally after reading about his childish ramble with the registration process, I got so totally disgusted and outraged with Ira Elliott's tasteless, classless column and his smug silly picture blemishing the page that I dusted off my typewriter.

Not wanting to be accused of making unfounded criticisms let me take a case in point. The registration process he so tactfully called a "giant pain in the A." I doubt that anyone in this university's administrative hierarchy is more concerned with or sensitive to the students' needs than Dr. Horace King, the university registrar. If he did not already know this, which I doubt he did, let me add here that the registrar is in charge of registration. I registered in 30 minutes. In Puerto Rico it takes three days. I dare say that any student capable of handling such a large body of students in anything less than one hour is near remarkable and we should be grateful. If Elliott happens to have any constructive criticism or positive suggestions, the students and I would be more than happy to hear them.

As for your future, Mr. Elliott, it looks glum. Everybody hates a cynic. Criticism for the sake of criticism tears away at the very fabric of cooperation and communication, two very important concepts which the university and the newspaper should encourage, not destroy.

Letter Policy

The Opinion Page welcomes all letters and viewpoints. Readers should follow a few rules to insure that as many letters as possible appear in print.

All letters and viewpoints should be typed on 65-space lines and triple-spaced. Letters and viewpoints must be signed and include local address, student, faculty or staff standing—if any—and phone number. No letter or viewpoint without these items will be considered for publication.

Letters should be 25 lines or less and may be edited for State News style and conciseness to fit as many letters as possible on a page. Viewpoints may be no longer than 75 lines, and may also be edited.

Who will replace Brezhnev? Western leaders predict

WASHINGTON — Some of the sharpest eyes in the West will be watching Leonid Brezhnev, the indomitable old overlord of the Soviet Union, on October 4. That's the day he is expected to choose a deputy who might eventually step into his shoes.

Officially, the heir apparent will assume the cumbersome title of first deputy chairman of the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet. This is a new position created by the new constitution the Presidium will adopt on October 4. The job probably will go to the man next in line to succeed Brezhnev.

The selection, therefore, could determine whether world affairs will become more turbulent or tranquil. For the ruler of all the Russians has the power to rock the world boat.

No one expects Brezhnev to forsake his boat-rocking powers in the immediate future. But he will be 71 in December and he is beset by nagging afflictions. Those who keep an eye on the Kremlin think they detect signs that he may be faltering.

Second in power to Brezhnev appears to be Andrei Kirilenko, who controls Soviet industry. But he is already 71 and, therefore, too old to replace Brezhnev for long. So Kirilenko may be bypassed for a younger leader.

The one who seems to take charge when the old Politburo patriarchs are out of town is 59-year-old Andrei Kulakov. Nominally, he directs Soviet agriculture and keeps a low profile. He is inexperienced in foreign affairs and lacks leadership stature. But in the backrooms of the Kremlin, he has become a power. He might dominate a new collective leadership when the old crowd moves on.

There is an outside possibility that the No. 2 post could go to Kirill Mazurov. He is now second in command to Aleksei Kosygin in the Council of Ministers. But Mazurov has demonstrated the cold bureaucratic skills it takes to get ahead in the Kremlin. He is also a Belorussian, who would be acceptable to the rival Russian and Ukrainian factions in case of a standoff in the Politburo.

It is sheer power, however, that is most respected in the Kremlin. A ruthless younger leader, skilled at intrigue, cannot be overlooked. One who is rising fast is Grigory Romanov, the Leningrad party boss, who is a cunning party in-fighter.

Another possibility is Vladimir Shcherbitsky, the Ukraine party boss, who is not visibly dynamic but has close ties to Brezhnev. Still another junior official who bears watching is Vladimir Dolgikh, who has a reputation for speaking his mind and getting away with it.

Of course, no one outside the Kremlin really knows which leaders will emerge as the old men of the Politburo fade from power.

There is an outside possibility that the No. 2 post could go to Kirill Mazurov. He is now second in command to Aleksei Kosygin in the Council of Ministers. # Departments pursue policy modifications

DANIEL HERMAN
News Staff Writer

Board of Trustees modify its present policy which forbids departments from printing educational material such as lab manuals.

The question of whether departments can print their own materials remains unresolved.

Richard Byerrum, dean of the College of Natural Sciences — one of the first departments to ask for modification of the procedures — said, "I understand the problems on the side of the MSU Press, that it is self-supporting, but some arrangement must be made."

Keith Goldhammer, dean of the College of Education, feels that there are two basic reasons why departments should bring their own materials.

"First, by printing your own materials it is possible to get new, recent materials in the hands of the student, and because of the flexibility of printing your own material you can use a larger variety of material," Goldhammer said.

compulsory purchase by students of Michigan State University must submit the manuscript to the MSU Press, the University's centralized printing service.

Herman King, academic services director and professor of entomology, who reviewed the University's policy toward the Manual of Business Procedure, said, "there have been no changes so far." Before the problem can be rectified, there has to be some money to put into the system to make it work."

King explained that the Board of Trustees "originally created the MSU Press to print student materials," and that if the departments do their own printing, the MSU Press (which is self supporting) might have financial problems.

After "we find a system that works...we will go back to the Board with the thing," King said.

Presently, through a waiver from the MSU Press the departments of Education and Business are printing some of their own materials. The MSU bookstore is also selling manuals that have been printed for chemistry classes by the Department of Natural Sciences.

Several of the proposals submitted for modification include a plan which suggests that publications be sold to students with a partial subsidy from MSU. The proposal also suggests that a faculty member develop and edit material. The departments would type, duplicate and take the risk of unsold copies, and take copyright responsibility in the University's name.

More tripling, more complaints

well-worn adage, "two's company, three's a crowd" is being all too familiar for MSU students finding themselves with two roommates instead of one.

according to Robert C. Underwood, Residence Hall Manager.

Last year, about 400 of 17,940 returning on-campus residents were overassigned, Underwood said. He added that while this year's tripling will be somewhat higher, exact figures will not be available until late next week.

Overassigned students are generally negative about their tripling experience so far. Maureen O'Mara, 267 S. Wonders, pointed out that "Wonders' rooms are built for two people."

Others, elaborated on the cramped conditions. "There are two desks, two beds, two drawers, it's (the room) made for two people."

Other student comments ranged from "I'm not enthused, my roommates don't like me," to "so far it's not too bad."

RALLY TO BE HELD TONIGHT Bakke case protested

A rally to protest the decision handed down by the U.S. Supreme Court in the Bakke case will be held tonight at the Cristo Rey Community Center, 1314 N. Lansing.

The Bakke case is now before the U.S. Supreme Court, which is expected to hand down a decision on it soon. In the case, Bakke, 37, filed a lawsuit that he had been denied admission to the University's Davis campus medical school because he was white. The medical school had reserved 16 of its 100 spaces for "disadvantaged" students, mainly members of minority groups.

Proponents of affirmative action programs say that such programs are necessary to correct past discrimination against minorities and women. Opponents of such programs, on the other hand, say such laws violate white males' equal protection rights under the Constitution.

Federal funds build new fire station

By NUNZIOM. LUPO
State News Staff Writer

East Lansing Fire Department officials will have their dreams come true with the completion of a federally-funded fire station building. The building will replace the 54-year old station currently located on a long history of debates and public hearings about where the station should be located, city officials decided to have the new station built on city property on the east side of Abbott Road north of Sesame Drive.

The federal funds were part of a $1.6 million Economic Development Administration (EDA) grant which city officials applied for. The actual cost of the station will be $1,582,144. The remaining funds will be used for city hall renovations, according to a city fact sheet on the new station, the facility will be located at a central point in terms of projected city growth. Fires occurring in the area north of Grand River Avenue will be about three minutes traveling time from the new location. The south end of the city including MSU is serviced by the Shaw Lane station. The building will have five parking bays for the vehicles.

The height and width of the bays will also enable the department to purchase more equipment. The size of the old fire station severely limited the department from purchasing equipment, said Jack Gregg, assistant fire chief.

The size of the station will also provide for space to store reserve equipment in the event that another vehicle requires maintenance. Currently, Gregg explained, there are no pieces of reserve apparatus on hand.

The station will also provide for more office and living space for the department employees. "Our administrative activities are really cramped," Gregg said.

He added that the new facility would be in sharp contrast to the existing structure because the fire station has several serious deficiencies.

Under one of the bays, the steel beams supporting the concrete are rusting so badly that fire department officials have been advised not to park any heavy apparatus there.

In the remaining bays, the area is cramped and it has become impossible to have room for the firefighters to do the minor maintenance the vehicles require.

The station must be started by Dec. 12 under the terms of the grant and a city spokesperson said it was scheduled for completion 18 to 24 months from the starting date.

City hall renovations impending

By NUNZIOM. LUPO
State News Staff Writer

With the help of some funds from an Economic Development Administration (EDA) grant for city hall renovations, the city of East Lansing will soon begin a massive reorganization. The $78,779 slice of a $1.8 million EDA grant will be used to renovate the second floor of city hall, making room for the new Housing and Community Development Department. The consolidation of the efforts of several personnel from existing departments will also allow space for the creation of a Finance Department.

Padilla, public information officer, described the move as a reorganization of city government operations which resulted from a consolidation of community requests.

He said the reorganization was brought about by community demand for efficiency that the existing set up could not provide. The move was the brain child of City Manager Jerry B. Coffman and was included in the 1977-1978 city budget.

Leading the department will be a group manager skilled in all the disciplines. Working under the new department head will be members of two presently different departments.

About half of the employees in the housing inspection division of Building and Zoning Department will be transferred to the new department at City Hall. The Building and Zoning Department is currently located at 303 Abbott Road about a block from the City Hall Building.

Members of the existing Planning Department will also occupy the new department offices.

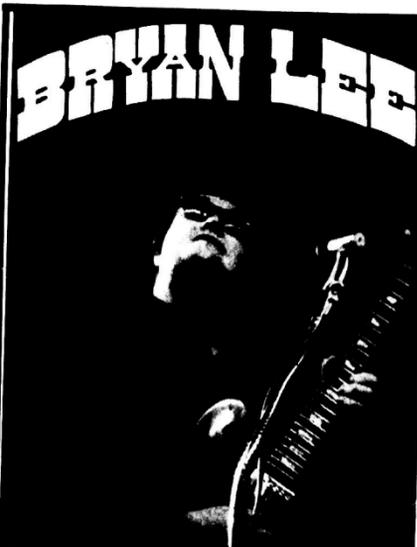

In addition, the position of community development coordinator will be transferred from its current location as a division of the city manager's office.

Padilla said the community development work done for the city was performed by several employees who represented three existing departments. The reorganization will consolidate their efforts into the same office, she said.

The new Finance Department will also be under the supervision of a group manager. This department will combine the efforts of two separate departments and certain other non-departmental work presently done by the Assistant City Manager Art Carney.

The Treasury and Assessing Departments are currently separate entities, each with its own supervisor. The Finance Department will also assume Carney's duties of accounting and purchasing. This will free him to work more closely with the city manager. His office will also be located closer with the renovation.

Padilla said the positions of the two group managers have not been filled but the city is in the process of selecting candidates.

Amendment for denial of bail proposed

By DAN SPICKLER
State News Staff Writer
Rep. Lynn Jondahl, D-East Lansing, practically stood alone today in opposing a proposed amendment to deny bail to certain persons based on charges and previous criminal records. The measure passed the State House of Representatives by an overwhelming 87-13 vote.

The proposed amendment, House Joint Resolution Q, was briefly debated, with a final push for passage by the proposal's sponsor, Rep. Paul Rosenbaum, D-Battle Creek, after an opposing speech by Jondahl and three other critics of the measure.

Resolution Q calls for denial of bail for the following conditions after having been convicted of three or more felonies under Michigan law, other state law or similar federal law within 15 years of a motion for bond, indictment for a felony, and arraignment on a warrant punishable by five years or more, or life.

Denial of bail also is proposed for persons indicted for or arraigned on a warrant for the following offenses — unless such persons are judged safe to the community by the court: Murder, treason, criminal sexual conduct in the first degree, armed robbery, and kidnapping with intent to extort money or valuables.

Persons who committed a felony while free on bail from a previous felony charge or while on probation or parole from a previous felony conviction would also be denied bail.
All bail denials, however, have the stipulation that the court speed up trial proceedings.

If such proceedings cannot be put into action quickly, the proposal says that the court "may admit the person to bail," particularly if the prosecuting attorney files a motion for delay. The delay must be granted or rejected "immediately."
Despite the provision for a speedy trial, which Rosenbaum reviewed for House members, Jondahl and others remained opposed to the bill.

"The proposal is contrary to our system of justice," Jondahl said. "It is categorical in nature rather than left to the discretion of the court and is therefore neither reasonable or responsible."
"A person is, under our system, innocent until proven guilty and after he has served the penalty for a crime he leaves the prison with a clean slate. This proposal directly contradicts that tradition."

Sen. Earl Nelson, D-Lansing, opposes the proposal and said that it will probably not pass the State Senate despite strong support in the House.

TEACHING PROVIDES EXPERIENCE

Health program begins

The MSU College of Human Ecology has begun a new health care teaching program in affiliation with Edward G. Sparrow Hospital in Lansing.

The program, which started Thursday, is designed to provide hospital field experience for five dietetics majors a term from the Food Science and Human Nutrition department.

The chairperson of the department, Gilbert Leveille, said that the new arrangement with Sparrow Hospital will be more convenient than the affiliation MSU had previously with the University of Michigan.

The course, Human Nutrition and Foods 480, is worth 12 credits. The students work eight hour days at Sparrow under the supervision of Human Nutrition professor James Price.

Proposed labor cabinet services to be expanded

REGINALD THOMAS, News Staff Writer
 Labor Relations Cabinet Associated Students of MSU will increase services this year for students with labor grievances, according to the University, according to the University, de-facto Director of the cabinet.

He said that the expansion of services will begin Oct. 1. The cabinet will have a 12-15 staff that will handle labor grievances. Staff, Zimmer hopes, will have a main office with at least 1 or 2 labor relations representatives in each dorm.

"We will be organizing a central grievance procedure with representatives in each dorm to handle problems with students who work for the University," Zimmer said.

"We're trying to be an outlet for students," Zimmer added. "A lot of students don't know we exist. We are not a subversive group," he said. "It is our position to be there as counsel. Students are not always aware of their rights or violations. If students have grievances they should go to Labor Relations Cabinet."

Students with grievances should first meet with their immediate supervisor and an earnest attempt should be made to resolve the problem. Students who are not satisfied can then discuss the problem with the department head or a designated representative.

Should the problem still exist, students can file a formal grievance with the Student Employment office to request arbitration.

The ASMSU Labor Relations Cabinet was created following the demise of the Student Workers Union (SWU). SWU, formed by former ASMSU Student Board President Tim Cain, received much attention two years ago in its attempts to organize a student union that would have represented 7000 student employees.

SWU organizers intended the union to act as a finder of contract disputes and grievances for students on the MSU campus. SWU was ordered to vacate its offices in the Student Services building by the administration and to close its University account. Students later voted in April 1976 to end SWU organizational procedures.

The labor relations cabinet has since been fighting to obtain an arbitrator to handle student arguments with the University. Currently, the Placement Center's assistant director for student employment handles all disputes. But cabinet officials said they felt the official could not remain unbiased since he is a University employee.

ASMSU Student Board President Kent Barry and Zimmer are to discuss the probable goals of the organization and announce Zimmer as interim director next week. Zimmer replaced Jeff Kazanow after the latter's graduation last spring term.

The Labor Relations Cabinet is located in 327 Student Services Bldg. and the hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Students can also call the ASMSU office.

Students, professional needed State News board members

Persons interested in having a part in the management of the State News can apply now for a seat on its board of directors.

Applications are available in the Student Services Bldg. and will be returned by 5 p.m. Oct. 1.

Openings are for two students, one newspaper professional and one faculty member. The board members will interview the applicants and choose the four new directors, according to State News General Manager Gerald Coy.

The directors whose terms expired are not allowed to choose their successors, though all but Victor Spaniolo are eligible to reapply, Coy said.

Spaniolo cannot reapply because he has already served three two-year terms, the most allowed under the corporate bylaws.

GILL HOPES TO CLEAR UP CONFUSION

Woman to testify in custody case

By DIANE COX
State News Staff Writer

Linda Gill, a blind woman trying to regain custody of her three young children after a two-year absence, will take the stand in Ingham County probate court today, hopefully to clear up some of the confusion wrought by Thursday's testimony.

Gill and her supporters have repeatedly insisted that she is a battered woman who, fearing her life, left her children with their grandmother and fled to California. Gill said that she always intended to send for her children as soon as she found a job.

The state, which filed a petition to make the children permanent wards of the state to put up for adoption, claims that Gill abandoned her children, based on testimony given by two of the children's foster mothers and three social workers who said that Gill made little attempt to keep in contact with her children.

According to this testimony, Gill wrote one letter in January 1977 to her oldest son Whitney, 7. This letter was never given to Whitney because of some of its content that social workers thought might be upsetting to the child.

Gill said outside the courtroom that she thought the letter had been taken by the court and that she thought that future letters would be treated in the same way.

Another point that the prosecution made to support their charge of abandonment is that Gill did not come to five previous hearings. Her defense will say today that this was partly because she could not afford the round-trips from California.

The main reason for her absence, her defense will say, is that her former court appointed attorney, Thomas Kulick, advised her to stay in California.

Gill will testify today about her original reason for leaving Michigan: being a battered wife. In the letter that she wrote to her son Whitney, one of the things the social workers were concerned about was the first paragraph which said: "You remember Ken who hurt Bryan (the youngest son). He hurt Mommy too. That is why I had to leave you at grandma's."

Gill's ex-husband, Whitney Codling Jr., has never gone by the name of "Ken." Gill said outside the courtroom that "Ken" was a friend of the family and that he, along with Codling, had injured Bryan and herself.

Deer fans win

By CHRIS PARKS
LANSING (UPI) — It was out with the wolverine and in with the white-tailed deer in the state House Tuesday, as lawmakers voted to ratify nature's decision to banish the feisty carnivore from the state.

After brief debate, the House voted 65-34 to name the white-tailed deer as the official state animal. Michigan has a state fish and a state bird, but no state animal.

Although the wolverine is viewed as the unofficial state animal, it has never been formally recognized by the legislature.

THE AMERICAN MUSICAL FILM Bacchic dreams of golden girls

By BYRON BAKER
State News Staff Writer

Fifty years ago next week — on October 6, 1927, to be exact — a revolution was sparked in the cinema. The movies found their voice in the inimitable persona of Al Jolson, who at one point during the action of Warner Brothers' The Jazz Singer cried out, "wait a minute, wait a minute...you ain't seen nothin' yet!"

The fall term Director's Choice film series will feature an informal retrospective of some of the kinds of musicals produced by Hollywood in its heyday. The series schedule comprises:

Tonight, Friday, September 30: 42nd Street (1933) with Warner Baxter, Bebe Daniels, Ruby Keeler, Dick Powell, Ginger Rogers, Ned Sparks, Guy Kibbee. Screenplay by James Seymour and Rian James, from a novel by Bradford Ropes. Songs by Al Dubin and Harry Warren. Dances arranged by Busby Berkeley. Directed by Lloyd Bacon. Warner Brothers. 89 minutes.

This is the classic backstage musical in which leading lady Bebe Daniels breaks her ankle less than twenty-four hours before the opening of director Warner Baxter's Broadway musical. Desperate, Baxter finds wide-eyed chorus girl Ruby Keeler, and begins the enormous ordeal of teaching her the entire show overnight (I'll either have a live leading lady, or a dead chorus girl," he reflects). At the opening night curtain, Baxter pleads "You're going out there a youngster, but you've got to come back a star." She's a smash. What a movie. Great Dubin & Warren tunes such as "Shuffle Off to Buffalo," "Young and Healthy," and the title tune.

Tuesday, October 25th: Top Hat (1935) with Fred Astaire, Ginger Rogers, Edward Everett Horton, Helen Broderick, Erik Rhodes, Eric Blore. Screenplay by Dwight Taylor and Allan Scott, from a story by Taylor. Music and lyrics by Irving Berlin. Dances arranged by Hermes Pan and Fred Astaire. Produced by Pandro S.

Berman. Directed by Mark Sandrich. An RKO Radio Picture. 101 minutes.

One of the best of the Astaire & Rogers pictures. Indeed, critic Arlene Croce has written, "of all the Astaire-Rogers films, Top Hat...comes closest to the level of the magnificent numbers." And, ah, the numbers are magnificent, with such classic dances as "Isn't this a Lovely Day (to be Caught in the Rain)," "Top Hat, White Tie and Tails," and "Cheek to Cheek."

Tuesday, November 1st: The Gang's All Here (1943) with Alice Faye, Carmen Miranda, Eugene Pallette, Phil Baker, Tony De Marco, Benny Goodman and his orchestra. Screenplay by Walter Bullock, from a story by Nancy Wintner, George Root, Jr., and Tom Bridges. Songs by Leo Robin and Harry Warren. Directed and choreographed by Busby Berkeley. Technicolor. 20th Century-Fox. 102 minutes.

Noted critic James Agee wrote of The Gang's All Here: "(the film) is mainly made up of Busby Berkeley's paroxysmic production numbers, which amuses me a great deal. There is one routine with giant paper-mache bananas which deserves to survive in every casebook of blatant film surreptition for the next century." From all accounts, Berkeley's wildest film, it features hundreds and hundreds of dancing girls amid a colossal production design, photographed in intensely garish Technicolor.

Friday, November 4th: Ziegfeld Follies (1946) with Fred Astaire, Judy Garland, Gene Kelly, Esther Williams, Lucille Bremer, William Powell, and practically every M-G-M contract star. Dances by Robert Alton, Eugene Loring, Charles Walters. Produced by Arthur Freed. Directed by Vincente Minnelli, with contributions by Robert Lewis, Lemuel Ayers, George Sidney and Roy del Ruth. Technicolor. M-G-M. 110 minutes.

Ziegfeld Follies was conceived as a revue-type movie, a sort of filmic equivalent to impresario Ziegfeld's star-studded theatrical blendings of musical numbers, comic sketches and beautiful women. The film is too amorphous and disconnected to really work well, but there are some fine moments with Astaire, Garland and Kelly, who here perform different kinds of numbers than in the feature films which brought them fame. Astaire and Kelly shine in particular in their duet, "The Babbitt and the Bromide."

Tuesday, November 8th: Singin' in the Rain (1952) with Gene Kelly, Donald O'Connor, Debbie Reynolds, Jean Hagen, Cyd Charisse. Written by Betty Comden and Adolph Green. Songs by Arthur Freed and Nacio Herb Brown. Choreographed by Gene Kelly. Produced by Arthur Freed. Directed by Gene Kelly and Stanley Donen. Technicolor. M-G-M. 101 minutes.

Gene Kelly has never seemed so physically adroit as here, creating the touchstone whimsical mood of the film alone, with an umbrella, on a rainy street...singin' in the rain.

State of Busby Berkeley's elaborate "fruit salad" production number from Gang's All Here, featured in the fall Director's Choice film series.

Food pickin' 'n strummin' at fest

When Pound Fiddle Coffee will kick off its fall Friday and Saturday with the First Occasional Festival in the Union

Advocating a casual atmosphere for its music, the Fiddle tries to create an intimate bond between performer and audience.

Folksingers Michael Cooney, Barry O'Neill, Maggi Pierce and Tony Saletan will appear this weekend. Cooney has been called "the best known unknown folksinger in the country."

Barry O'Neill and Maggi Pierce are both experts on Irish folk music, while Tony Saletan is best known for digging up old songs and ballads. He is responsible for "discovering" the song "Michael, Row the Boat Ashore" and putting it back into the folk tradition.

The concerts will begin at 8 p.m. each night. Admission for each concert will be $2 for the general public and $1.50 for MSU Folksong Society members.

LECTURE CONCERT SERIES - COGS

Triple Discount For Graduate Students Only

Save Up To 77% Off the Regular Single Price!

As a graduate student at MSU, you can save money on tickets to events presented by the Lecture-Concert Series in three ways.

- As a student, you can save 50% on single tickets. Say you wanted to see "Bubbling Brown Sugar," Les Brown & the Band of Renown, "My Fair Lady," and the Bavarian Symphony Orchestra. Top price single tickets for these events would come to $37.00 at the regular price, but as an MSU student you pay only $18.50. DISCOUNT ONE: YOU JUST SAVED $18.50.
- By purchasing a series ticket to the Broadway Theatre Series or the new Choice Series, you can save an additional 15 to 30%. Use the Choice Series ticket to see the same four programs listed above, and you pay only $12.50. DISCOUNT TWO: YOU JUST SAVED ANOTHER $6.00.
- As a graduate student, you are eligible for a COGS special 33% subsidy on series tickets. COGS will pay an additional one-third of your cost for the Broadway Theatre Series and/or the new Choice Series (either 8 or 4 events.) DISCOUNT THREE: YOU JUST SAVED AN ADDITIONAL $4.25. That's a total of 77% off the regular single ticket price!

You can purchase either or both of these series at this triple discount. There are two catches: First YOU MUST VISIT THE COGS OFFICE BY OCTOBER 7 and pay your part of the ticket price. (Don't go to the Union.) If you plan to include "Bubbling Brown Sugar" on either series, come to the COGS office by Wednesday, September 28. The COGS office is open every weekday 8 am to Noon and Tuesday and Thursday evenings 7 to 9:30 at 316 Student Services. Phone 353-9189. The other catch? COGS has placed a ceiling on the subsidy funding, so it's first come, first served.

NRBQ: back in business with new disc

By DAVE DIMARTINO
State News Staff Reviewer
NRBQ.
New Rhythm and Blues Quintet.

You may never have heard of these guys, but I have. As a former Miami, Floridian I had no choice in my high school days but to see this crazy band opening for virtually anybody at a converted bowling alley called The Image, right on Collins Avenue, next to the House of Pancakes.

Back then, I was in ninth grade, and my friend Bud used to tell me about this weird group that kept singing "Rock et Number Nine/Take Off For the Planet/For the Planet/Venus!" while most of the audience was either getting cokes (singular and plural) or watching the strobe lights, impatiently, waiting for the goons to get off the stage so that Ultimate Spinach could play.

The fact is, that was close to ten years ago, and as my memory dims, that's about the only really strong recollection I have of seeing NRBQ live. Normally, either they or the Blues Image (another local band) opened up all the Image shows, and I just remember having more fun when NRBQ was playing.

And when their first album came out, THAT was big news. Again, this was a long time ago, so you might not remember the absurd amount of hype and publicity that the band generated nationally — honestly, comparisons to the Beatles were running rampant, though no one seems to remember who was responsible, record company or the press. I'd say it didn't matter, but it did. Columbia Records, upon finding that they'd hooked some sort of critical godsend, the "Future of Rock and Roll" circa 1968, paired NRBQ up with Carl Perkins in a purposefully "arty" gesture that not only didn't come off but displeased both Perkins and group fans. Ironically, in 1977, it is THAT LP which is still in the Columbia catalogue while the first, a comparative masterpiece, has long since been deleted.

So, the group was shook up. Critics were taking potshots at the Carl Perkins fiasco and Columbia was hot to drop what was once one of their most promising bands.

After a long silence, a third LP by the group appeared on Kama Sutra records. Called Scraps, the album featured a new guitarist, Al Anderson to replace Steve Ferguson who had apparently left in the interim (and managed to later appear on Carla Bley's much-hailed Escalator Over The Hill trilogy). It also featured "Howard Johnson's Got His HoJo Working", a song which is as classy as its title, certainly, and was a logical successor to the first LP. Unfortunately, it was three years too late, and the LP received little if any attention in the press.

Soon a fourth record surfaced. This time, lead singer Frankie Gadler, a vital part of the group and one-time leader of Miami danceband "The Seven of Us", had departed, leaving no one to replace him. His presence was missed, but not sorely. Workshop, as it was called, was a damn good album. Unfortunately it wasn't even as successful, critically or commercially, as Scraps. Few people heard it before it vanished out of the stores, mysteriously deleted in the Kama Sutra/Flaming Groovies fashion, only to surface a few years later in the bargain bins.

Then — total silence. Not a word from the group, about the group or even in the group, apparently. Late last year, an odd "aesthetically based" record company, Annuet Coeptus, repackaged Scraps and Workshop and, needless to say, they didn't sell. Again.

And now this. All Hopped Up. On Red Rooster Records, Box 300, Mt. Marion N.Y. 12456. Only reason I include the address is because I don't think the label has any other records out, I don't think local stores carry the record, and, most importantly, I don't think you should miss this record.

A brand new album, All Hopped Up features the same old NRBQ, this time with a different drummer, and is easily as superb a collection of NRBQ tunes as either of the Kama Sutra records. Melodic and tasty rock, with a very conscious awareness of rock and roll roots, an interestingly off-key performance of the "Bonanza" theme song — which reminds me that years ago they took to performing the "I Love Lucy" theme during times of the direst hippie solemnity — and a lot more that you'll be missing if you don't rush right out and make sure you at least HEAR this album.

As a footnote, last time I was in Miami I spoke to Frankie Gadler over the phone. Seems that he now sings with my friend Bud's band. An interesting turn of events. Not doing too well, apparently, so I asked him if he was getting any money from the repackaging of the two Kama Sutra LP's. He said that he never heard of them.

Not to worry, Frankie. They're in the bargain bins now, too.

We have an enormous selection of music books and albums of folk, bluegrass, old-timey, blues, English, Irish and American traditional music. Hundreds of hard-to-find books and records. Always discounted.

Repairs

We offer you guaranteed, excellent repair work - fast service and fair prices. Our chief repairman Bart is a member of the Guild of American Luthiers. He has had formal schooling in both guitar construction and violin repair. He is assisted by four other men in the repair department. In addition to customer repairs they inspect and adjust all the new instruments we sell as well as doing major and minor restorations and some instrument building.

RHA plans a knockout film schedule

TRICIA LA CROIX
News Staff Writer
A Star is Born. All President's Men. Network.
Call. Carrie.
What many students
what many students
what many students

member as a particularly bleak spring term in regards to the films offered through the Residence Halls Association (RHA) movie program, titles like these may send shivers down the backbone of any self-respecting current movie enthusiast.

But the fact is that these films and more, ones that even the foggiest memories will recall playing at local theaters perhaps just months ago, will be shown through RHA during the fall and winter terms at the regular discounted rates for students and MSU employees.

The dreamland won't be lasting forever, however, since Tom Leach, director of the movie program for RHA, said they are expecting to run into the same problems that they did all last year.

RHA had to resort to showing older film classics and filmed documentary series last year in order to fill their weekend schedules, films that Leach admitted were not as big drawing cards within the University community.

The reason for this trend toward older films, he said at that time, was not the fault of the group, but simply because not as many desirable films were available at the time for showing.

University movie groups traditionally must wait from six to nine months between the initial release of the film to the time that they may rent it for showing on the campus.

The lull in last year's film schedule was the first time that the RHA had difficulties in lining up top-name films in its five-year history, Leach said.

Robert Vatter, RHA President, said the university community's opinion of the films being shown last year was reflected in a "slight drop" in attendance. He added the group did not suffer financially as a result since the films "were cheaper to bring to the campus anyway."

Leach explained that the more popular a film is in the regular theater, the more expensive the film is to bring to campus.

Harold and Maude, and the Midnight Movie Orgies will both be making return engagements practically every term this year. Leach said these films were among the most popular on campus, along with The Paper Chase.

Winter films will include some musicals and science fiction.

Leach is advised of what films to bring to campus by the RHA Movie Board of Directors, composed of two representatives from each dormitory complex and one representative from the RHA.

Red Cedar Log Year-

photography.

Open house will begin at 10 a.m. Wednesday Oct. 5 in the Student Union. Students are asked to bring samples of work.

describes the initial week of loft-building as having "gone really well."

"The students have cooperated wonderfully," he said.

Loft regulations came about in the aftermath of a serious room fire last spring, according to Underwood.

Jim Andrews, coordinator of construction and maintenance of residence halls, suggests that students interested in constructing a loft first contact their manager for loft guidelines.

Andrews explained the guidelines "will save the student money and help them build a good loft." Lofts constructed according to the provided plans can be taken down and reassembled, thereby retaining some resale value, he said.

Andrews emphasized that students should then contact their residence hall inspector about receiving a permit prior to purchasing materials or starting construction.

He said the local inspectors can be of help in basic design and pointing out in advance structure problems common to a particular hall.

For those who built their lofts without the benefit of a permit, Andrews offers some suggestions.

Students should follow the same procedure as previously described, except the inspector may require some modifications in construction where the loft does not conform to the new guidelines.

Andrews said inspectors will try to point out to the erring builders the easiest way to conform to the new regulations.

Both Andrews and Underwood emphasize the rules, which were developed through the efforts of students and residence hall administration, are meant to insure the safety of all residents from fire and collapsing structures.

MSU to invade Irish

By MICHAEL KLOCKE
State News Sports Writer

Notre Dame was picked to win the national championship in some pre-season polls, but MSI's first road game of the season Saturday against the Irish could shape up to be a little closer than it first appeared.

Though head coach Dan Devine's team does have a winning record (2-1), their victories have not been that decisive and they are currently suffering from a rash of injuries.

While this will be the first road game for the Spartans, it will also be the initial home game for Notre Dame. The Irish have defeated last year's national champion Pittsburgh and Purdue on the road with a loss to Mississippi sandwiched in between.

Spartan head coach Darryl Rogers has nothing but praise for Notre Dame whom he calls "one of the best football teams in the country."

"Notre Dame has some super players, and a lot of them are potentials for the National Football League," Rogers said. "Last year USC had 14 of their players drafted and Notre Dame could have that many this year."

Many of those "super" players are on the Irish defense which has yet to give up a touchdown rushing this year.

The ends, Ross Browner and Willie Fry, are one of the real strengths of the defense. Browner has been pushed as a Heisman Trophy candidate early this year. But Fry has a sprained ankle, and he is one of the many Irish who is "doubtful" for Saturday's game.

Two of Notre Dame's other key defensive players, safety and punter Joe Restic and linebacker Steve Heimkreiter, will also miss the game due to knee

Notre Dame's All-American cornerback Luther Bradley (20) let Kirk Gibson (23) get away from him on this play in last year's game. But Bradley was still a thorn in the Spartan's side in the 24-6 Irish win.

Spartans beat Calvin, tough road lies ahead

By JOE CENTERS
State News Sports Writer

After two tough opening losses, the MSU soccer team finally broke into the win column by defeating a bigger and more physical Calvin College in Grand Rapids Wednesday. Prior to Wednesday's contest, the Spartans defense was hampered by the loss of three starters, goalie Mark Gembarowski, and defensive backs Rob Back and Tom Coleman. All three, however, played against Calvin and their importance showed as the Spartans recorded their first shutout of the season by defeating Calvin 1-0 in overtime. The game was evenly played with neither team dominating play. The Spartans missed an opportunity in regulation play when they could not capitalize on a penalty shot and it wasn't until 17 seconds remained in the overtime that freshman Scott Campbell took a throw-in pass from co-captain Rob Back and beat the Calvin goalkeeper to secure MSU's first win. According to coach Joe Baum, the Calvin game was most important for all of the players. "This game was a test of character for us," commented Baum, "Calvin has a big physical team and they had a lot of fans out to watch them. If we would have lost this game we would have been 0-3 with some tough games coming up. We needed this game, it was the emotional and character factor involved. This game lifted our spirits and should help us Saturday in our 'Our defense played well,'" Baum said about the game. "Co-captain John Haidler is probably one of the finest defensemnen in the midwest. Our whole defense is solid. The question we have to ask now is — can we score? We had 23 shots against Calvin and scored once. We just aren't aggressive enough in the penalty area." Baum was pleased, however, with the play of his two starting freshmen offensive backs Scott Campbell and Dave Abbott. "Scott is out of Chicago and he already has two goals and two assists in three games. Dave is from Birmingham Seaholm and he is going to be a good one," Baum said. Baum and his players must now look towards the future schedule if they hope to have a winning season. Wins in the next two games, tomorrow with U of M, Dearborn and Wednesday with Albion would give the Spartans a lift which they will need because following the Albion game, the Spartans will face nationally ranked Akron on October 8. After Akron the Spartans will travel to Rochester to face a highly touted Oakland University team October 12, which last year recruited three of the top high school players in the State. Things won't get easier because on the weekend of October 14-15 the Spartans will play in the Big Ten Classic and will meet Indiana, which is ranked third in the country. The next two weeks will be pivotal in the Spartans' season and Baum is hoping to get off on the right foot tomorrow against U of M, Dearborn at 11:00 a.m. on the soccer field just south of the football field. There is no charge to the game for students with MSU I.D.'s.

TRAVEL TO PURDUE NEXT

Spartan golfers continue stride

By JOHN SINGLER
State News Sports Writer

As quickly as it began, the fall schedule for this year's MSU women's golf team is nearing a close today in West Lafayette, Ind. Following this weekend's Purdue Invitational, the Spartans have one tournament remaining before the fall's final event, regional play in Huntington, W. Va. The Illinois State Invitational was MSU's opener, Sept. 16-17 in Normal, Ill., and started a run of three tournaments in eight days. The Spartans had the tourney's medalist in Karen Escott. The Rochester senior had rounds of 78 and 81, surviving a sudden death play-off with Stephens College's Diane Daugherty. Consistency gave MSU the team title, topping the large field by 21 shots over runner-up Stephens College. Sue Ertl (80-86) and Sue Conlin (85-81) tied for fourth with Purdue's

Linda Branstetter. Other Spartan scores included Joan Garety's 171, Sheila Tansey's 175 and Cindy Le Clair's 184. The University of Miami (Fla.) and Tulsa were among the national powers on hand for the second annual Susie Maxwell Berning All College Golf Classic in Oklahoma City, Okla., two days later. The 54-hole showcase was won by Miami, which finished miles ahead of 11th-place MSU. The Spartans, featuring Ertl's 76, were just 12 shots off the lead after the first 18 holes but no one broke 80 in either of the final two rounds. Kansas University's Beth Boozer and Miami's Sarah LeVeque were tied at 223 after regulation play. Boozer won the playoff on the fourth overtime hole. Joan Garety brought MSU back to life in the Central Michigan University Invitational at Mt. Pleasant last weekend. A senior from Caro, Garety atoned for a slow start, which included a 91 at Illinois State, and won the rain-shortened tourney with 118. Ertl was close behind, with 120. Escott hit 127, LeClair finished at 129 and Conlin and Tansey each fired 130 for the 27 holes. Tansey, in the words of head coach Mary Fossum, "has been up and down but will start to play better." The senior from Grand Ledge is making some adjustments in her putting stroke, which may explain the balky start. MSU is the defending champion in the two-day tourney at Purdue. The Spartans blazed a 299 over the Boilermakers' North Course, a school record broken last spring with a 297. If the course looks familiar to the veteran Spartans, the position will be too. MSU has won every tournament where the Spartans and Boilermakers were entered last year. The Ten rivals were rated as tourney favorites. Ertl and Escott drew attention from this week's tourney for the trip to Purdue. Joining them on the team this time are Garety, Tansey, Conlin and sophomore Ann Atwood.

Varsity sports

The MSU Blue Line Club, which backs the Spartan hockey team, is looking for a replacement for "Goofus" who traditionally led cheers at home MSU hockey games. Before "Goofus" MSU hockey also had "The Green Gorilla" entertaining the home crowds.

Anyone with their own original act for this year's home games can contact Bob Martin at 484-8466 or Beverly Baton at 351-5917 for a tryout. The first tryout is Oct. 15 at a pre-season exhibition game with Michigan at Munn Ice Arena.

The MSU Lacross team will hold a meeting at 7:30 Monday and Tuesday at Jenison Fieldhouse in lacrosse coach Nevin Kanner's office.

The varsity fencing team will meet Monday 4:30 p.m. in 208 Men's IM Building. Anyone interested in fencing for MSU can also call coach Charlie Schmitter at 355-6925 or Mark Krusac at 355-6925. Practice begins Wednesday at 3 p.m. on Old College Field across from Jenison.

All those interested in men's gymnastics should meet in the upstairs gym at Jenison Monday at 7:30 p.m.

Notre Dame to host Spartans

(continued from page 17) injuries. All-American candidate Luther Bradley will head up the Irish secondary, which has been rather susceptible to the pass this year giving up 190 yards per game.

"Notre Dame plays exceptionally good defense," Rogers said. "They have great size and mobility, their team is based on their defense."

On offense Notre Dame will be starting Joe Montana, their third-string quarterback, because Rusty Lisch and Gary Forystek are injured. But it was Montana who came in last week's Purdue game to lead the Irish to 17 fourth quarter points in their 31-24 win.

Notre Dame will also be rather thin at running back with Terry Eurick the only back with substantial experience. Vagas Ferguson sprained an ankle and will not play Saturday while All-American back Al Hunter was dismissed from school last year for dormitory violations.

The Spartans will also have to find a way to stop tight end Ken MacAfee, who has 19 receptions in just three games. Rogers calls MacAfee a "super" football player with great hands.

The Spartan defense, which has been strong against the run and weak against the pass this year, will have to face a balanced attack at South Bend. MSU has given up a scant 2.8 yards per carry rushing, quite a difference from last year when it ranked last in the conference. The return of Kim Rowekamp at middle guard as well as the improved play of tackles Larry Bethea and Melvin Land has helped the rushing defense. Linebackers Paul Rudzinski and Dan Bass lead the team in total tackles.

Strong Safety Mike Imhoff will draw the assignment of trying to cover the 6-4, 249-pound MacAfee. Tommy Graves, who saw his first action in over a year against Wyoming, is expected to play some at strong safety. Graves is coming off a knee injury and Rogers is trying to work him gradually back into the lineup.

On offense, MSU quarterback Eddie Smith ranks second in passing in the Big Ten despite having numerous passes dropped by his receivers.

In the Wyoming game alone, Rogers says 10 of Smith's passes were dropped.

Split end Edgar Wilson ranks fourth in receiving in the conference and flanker Kirk Gibson has caught touchdown passes in the last two games.

Junior college transfer Leroy McGee and fullback Jim Earley will be in the backfield again for MSU. But almost all of Rogers' backfield recruits got a chance to play against Wyoming and several impressed Rogers.

So the stage is set for one of the nation's big rivalries, a game that has been on national television 11 times in the past and which will be put back on ABC-TV when MSU is off probation.

Rogers shied away from making any predictions on the Notre Dame game.

"All I can do is take our football program and look at where it is now," he said. "I really can't say what a win would do for us."

"It's hard to talk about the national scene when our team is on a day to day basis," he continued. "We are a very tender program."

And after Notre Dame, the Spartans get to take on Michigan, which are a couple of pretty good teams back to back. But things won't get any easier. Next year MSU gets to travel to USC before playing the Irish and the Wolverines.

MSU's women run tomorrow

Two national powers will be squaring off this Saturday when MSU's women's cross country team meets Wisconsin and Western Michigan on the Spartan home course at Forest Akers golf course.

Last year MSU won the Big Ten cross country championship, with Wisconsin right behind in second. Roles were reversed at the AIAW (Associated Intercollegiate Athletics for Women) national tournament, when the Badgers finished third with MSU in fourth. Western is an untested team as it opens its cross country season for the first time — ever.

Though the "Badger-Spartan Invitational" is a big meet, head coach Mark Pittman is more concerned with how his runners will be performing than anything else.

"This meet is just a benchmark, just something to see how we do," Pittman said.

Even though Pittman is cautiously optimistic, "how we do" could be very well considering only two women were lost from last season's squad, the sixth and seventh runners. As Pittman admits, "we are much farther along than we were at this time last year."

Leading Spartan harriers this year will probably include

Now! ALL THE DESIGN ADVANTAGES OF A SEPARATE AMPLIFIER AND TUNER AT A PRICE THAT WILL SURPRISE AND PLEASE YOU.

BOTH. THE KA 7100 AMPLIFIER AND KT 7300 TUNER BY KENWOOD

THE KENWOOD PROFESSIONAL TOUCH....

A REGULAR $575 VALUE

With its professional look and circuitry, the KA-7100 is in tune with current high audio standards. And, as you'll discover for yourself, the feel of the controls is equally professional. All the controls, knobs and switches, as well as their layout, have been thoughtfully designed through human engineering techniques, for ease of use and long, hard wear.

Independent Dual Power Supplies For Right and Left Channels. Obviously, no stereo imaging can be true unless there is complete channel separation.

Kenwood's engineers completely redesigned the power supply into two separate supply systems.

KA 7100 AMPLIFIER 60 WATTS PER CHANNEL MINIMUM, RMS AT 8 OHMS FROM 20HZ TO 20,000 HZ WITH NO MORE THAN 0.02% TOTAL HARMONIC DISTORTION.

This allows each musical instrument to be heard in its correct location in the stereo sound field, and at its natural level. Reproduced sound, right down to the 1st octave, is wonderfully crisp and clear.

Unique Tape-Through Circuitry Kenwood's tape-through circuit allows you to listen to a completely different source while recording or dubbing. You can record simultaneously on one or two tape decks, and monitor both tape inputs, and you can dub from A to B.

Sophisticated Tone Controls Make You Master Of Your Sound

Tonal purity gets top priority at Kenwood, and many of our design innovations and improvements have been made in order to achieve the most transparent, distortion-free sound possible. The tone control system of the KA-7100 has been devised to enable you to match the acoustic characteristics of your room and of the music you play, so that you can, in effect, "tailor" the sound.

The Simpler The Circuitry, The Better The Sound

The interior of the KA-7100 is remarkably "clean". This is not just cosmetic treatment. There are clear-cut audio advantages in reducing wiring, and by making direct connections to circuit boards. Long wiring and shielded cables common on other amplifiers inevitably generate fields of distortion. As one example, the speaker selector is now next to the speaker terminals, and instead of wires leading to the back panel picking up noise on the way, there's a long mechanical shaft. All this contributes towards the refinement of the special tonal quality that is Kenwood's.

Lower Distortion, Higher Performance

Higher and better performance is assured by the Dual Gate MOS FET in the RF stage, special ceramic and LC filters in the IF stage and by new engineering in the detector section. Instead of conventional wiring, the KT-7300 incorporates improved quadrature circuitry to achieve low distortion and wide-range linearity up to 1MHz. This means, for example, that the KT-7300's high sensitivity is not just a spec on a piece of paper but a meaningful reality under all kinds of changing temperature and humidity conditions. It's Kenwood's way of making sure you hear the very best that true high-fidelity has to offer. Time and time again, the KT-7300's performance approaches the theoretical limits of perfect reception.

New Long, Accurate Linear FM Dial Scale for Easier Tuning

You will notice the FM dial scale of the KT-7300 is different and better. It is longer and divided into smaller divisions than conventional units. This makes tuning easier and accurate. The equal calibration of the dial in relatively small units is proof of Kenwood's confidence

Dolbyized FM and 4-channel FM Broadcasts

The KT-7300 is ready for the best of today and the best of tomorrow right now. In the rear, Kenwood has incorporated a two position deemphasis switch to deliver the finest possible signal under various broadcasting conditions. By selecting the "25 micro" position you achieve the best balance to perfectly match the characteristics of Dolbyized FM broadcasts. And a four-channel detector (DET OUT on the rear panel) has also been built in so you can receive and record discrete 4-channel broadcasts when such broadcasts are approved.

KT7300 TUNER USABLE SENSITIVITY OF 1.8 NV AT 75 OHMS, WITH TOTAL HARMONIC DISTORTION OF 0.2% AT 1000 HZ.

that the KT-7300 is drift-free, unusually stable and exceptionally precise.

FET FM Muting

The KT-7300 comes with a sophisticated muting switch that incorporates an FET. This muting switch does more than simply cut out the noise between stations while tuning. It also eliminates the initial rush sound you hear if you rapidly tune through several stations. Such attention to special details — which protect your ears as well as your speakers — is typical of Kenwood superiority throughout.

Selected Parts, Advanced Techniques

In design, construction, production and assembly, every aspect of every part gets the benefit of Kenwood's dedication to the finest in audio. For example, with the exception of the RF stage, the entire tuner's circuitry is on one printed circuit board. The level calibration of the circuits is certain to be stable because of certain advanced devices used in the level control itself, and this is still another of the countless examples that prove the KT-7300 will deliver outstanding performance year-in, year-out.

A-M slow start similar to 1975: Bo

ARBOR (UPI) — This 1975 all over again, or so Coach Bo Schembechler would like to think. The fourth game of the season, as was the case last year, comes off two weeks of poor performances to face its opposition to date in a heated, highly-rated

They weren't ties, but Michigan did surprise more than a few folks by the way it stumbled through wins over Duke, 21-9, and Navy, 14-7, the past two weeks.

The Wolverines have consequently dropped from first to third in the ratings, a fact which immensely pleases Schembechler this week but would annoy him were it to happen at the end of the season.

"I do find it difficult to get them motivated for Duke and Navy," he said, "but I will not have that problem Saturday. We will play hard, I know that."

They can also be expected to perform with greater efficiency, too, since Schembechler has become annoyed at the number of penalties and breakdowns which have kept the Wolverines from having the run-aways the 100,000-plus customers have come to expect. "We played a little better in our offensive line," Schembechler said. "And defensively Curtis Greer and some of those guys played better. And Chris Godfrey came off the bench and did a pretty good job."

"This is an experienced

Texas A&M offensive team. All of their backs and key people are experienced. But they are most impressive defensively. Their defense has really come on."

Schembechler termed the Michigan pass defense "terrible, inexcusable," against Navy but that likely won't be much of a problem against A&M, which uses a Wishbone offense and not that much of a threat to come in throwing the ball all over the field.

Texas A&M senior quarterback David Walker has thrown three more times than his Michigan counterpart, Rick Leach; 30-27 and completed two more passes 18-16 for a lot more yardage 261-188. Both have thrown two touchdown passes. Rushing appears to be even, at least the top runners from both teams are.

Aggie sophomore halfback Curtis Dickey has gained 325 yards on 48 rushes and junior fullback George Woodard 291 yards on 60 rushes, while the Wolverines juniors Harlan Huckleby and Russell Davis have comparable statistics.

Tailback Huckleby has gained 352 yards on 65 rushes while fullback Davis has run the ball 57 times and gained 287 yards.

returning senior Diane Culp, juniors Kay Richards and Lil Warnes, and sophomores Lisa Berry and Cindy Wadsworth. As for new runners, Pittman will use the initial meet as a measurement, "hoping that the freshmen I have will develop."

The coach is rather hesitant to predict what winning times might be in the 5000 meter race, but feels that the women will "rise to the occasion," guessing that 18 minutes "would be very good."

The meet will be run at 9:40 Saturday morning at Forest Akers.

IM Notes

Pistons win; Boston inks guard Bing

Meetings for managers of all touch football teams will be held on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday (Oct. 3-5) at 6:00 p.m. in the Sports Arena of the Men's IM Building. The meetings are mandatory and teams must be represented if they are going to participate in touch football.

Touch football teams may now sign up for pre-season scrimmages in 201 Men's IM Building. The scrimmages will be held from Oct. 4 through Oct. 6.

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) — Center Bob Lanier scored 20 points and forward Leon Douglas added 17 more Wednesday night to help the Detroit Pistons to a 119-105 victory over the Buffalo Braves in the pre-season opener for both teams.

The Pistons shot 53 per cent from the floor to lead the Braves throughout the contest, played at Calvin College. The best Buffalo could manage was a 75-75 tie with 3:46 remaining in the third quarter.

Al Hubbard, who came in as a substitute forward, was a perfect 6-for-6 at the field and added 14 points. Kevin Porter scored eight points and had eight assists for the Pistons. Detroit jumped out to a 23-10 lead midway through the first period before ending up with a 29-26 lead at the end of the period. The Pistons then raced in front, 48-32, midway in the second quarter, but Buffalo fought back to a 58-52 disadvantage at the halftime.

After reaching a tie in the third quarter, Detroit scored nine straight points and out-scored Buffalo, 17-4, in a brief stretch that carried it to a 92-80 lead going into the final quarter.

Guard Randy Smith had a game-high 32 points for the Braves and newcomer Billy Knight contributed another 24. The Pistons play their next pre-season game against the Cleveland Cavaliers at Toledo on Saturday.

Basketball notes: A pair of National Basketball League "senior citizens," including former Piston great Dave Bing, have inked Boston Celtics' contracts for the upcoming season. Celtics captain John Havlicek, a 15-year veteran, and Bing, an 11-year guard who recently retired from the Washington Bullets, reported to camp Wednesday after meeting with Celtics' President and General Manager Red Auerbach.

Both Havlicek, 37, and Bing, nearly 34, joined the Celtics' drills Wednesday, bringing the number of players in camp to 21. The two veterans will certainly be among the 15 players left on the roster after Friday's cut.

Havlicek, who underwent an appendectomy this summer, was supposed to decide before training camp whether he would play one more season.

"But there was never any question that I would play, none at all, unless I got injured," said Havlicek.

Bing arrived in Boston Tuesday from Washington and agreed on a contract that allows him to make his own decision next year on whether he will play another season.

"I've done everything in basketball but play for a championship team," Bing said Wednesday.

"I turned down two other offers to sign with West Coast teams but when Red Auerbach called, I came right up."

Bing, who has a career average of 31.9 points, quit the Bullets Monday because he felt he was not being used properly. He will be Boston's third guard behind JoJo White and Charlie Scott.

The Celtics have always liked Bing and chose him to join the Boston club on a Japanese several years ago. He also played in All-Star games with White, Scott, Havlicek and Daven Cowens.

After nine seasons with Detroit, Bing was traded to Washington in 1975 for Kevin Porter. With the Bullets last season, Bing averaged 16.9 points a game as a backup guard who was publicly unhappy.

MSU professor receives award

LINDA KARLE, MSU News Staff Writer, was named one of the 11 female winners of the Diana Award for her work as a volunteer with the Michigan State University chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority.

Kappa Alpha sorority and chairperson of the education committee for the greater Lansing Urban League and the NAACP Freedom Fund Program Committee.

Diana Awards are sponsored by the Lansing YWCA, which sent out 3,000 invitations to the dinner. Enclosed in the invitations were forms to nominate outstanding local women for the awards.

"We also advertised in the local media," said Dorothy Brush, publicity chairperson for the awards.

"This way people who did not receive nominations in the mail could pick them up in our Lansing office and vote. Thus, the women were selected by the entire community."

Women were nominated from 11 different professions for their leadership ability in the civic, economic and cultural life of the greater Lansing area.

From the nominations an awards committee of women from different professions selected winners of the Diana Awards.

All proceeds from the award dinner will be used to provide YWCA programming and services.

Final report released; paperwork has reduced

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter, who vowed as a candidate to reduce the burdens of federal paperwork, has a stack of papers to go through on — what else — paperwork.

He was given the final report Wednesday of the two-year-old Commission on Federal Paperwork, which said the cost of federal paperwork may exceed $100 billion a year, or about $500 for each American citizen.

The commission goes out of business next Monday. It concluded, after 36 reports and 770 recommendations, that the blame for government red tape rests with Congress and poorly written bills.

"Legislation and regulations are drafted with little thought as to how paperwork or burdens on others might be minimized," the report said.

It recommended that Congress study how much paperwork would be created by legislative proposals.

The report estimated that Congress and the rest of the federal government have already implemented 50 per cent of its 770 recommendations at a savings of $3.5 billion.

It suggested that the President and Congress consider adding a Cabinet-level Department of Administration to improve government efficiency.

Carter, given the 77-page report in a White House ceremony, repeated his determination to cut paperwork.

Later, Vice President Walter F. Mondale said unneeded paperwork has caused an incalculable "loss of trust and respect for the governmental system."

The panel said paperwork produces economic and psychological burdens on those who have to complete government forms.

It said a school disregarded a $4,500 grant because filling out the forms would have cost $6,000.

Clerical employees to choose officers

MSU's clerical-technical employees will elect new officers and vote on proposed policy changes Tuesday night.

The workers, members of the MSU Employees' Association will elect a president, treasurer, three members of the union's executive board and a representative to the group's audit committee.

Barbara Reeves of the College of Education and Merlyn Swab of the physiology department are the candidates for president.

Running for treasurer are Pat Eisele of the Alumni Association and Barb Sykes of the Office of Financial Aids.

The candidates for the executive board spots are: Pat Bedteyln, University Apartments; Joann Cummings, protective services; Alice Ellis, School of Labor and Industrial Relations; Andrea Grimes, concessions and Crossroads Cafeteria; Jim Hatch, controller; Bev Houser, libraries; Barbara King, College of Natural Science; Becky Metts, admissions; and Dorothy Rhines, Justin Morrill College.

Church to show culture movies

The University Baptist Church, 4608 S. Hagadorn Road, East Lansing will be sponsoring a ten-part film series on the rise and fall of Western thought and culture beginning Sunday, October 2, at 6 p.m.

The film series, which was shot all over the world, is entitled "How Should We then Live?" and was written by Dr. Francis Schaeffer, described by Time magazine as the "Missionary to the intellectual."

Richard L. Schulheis, pastor of the church, and The Rev. Jack Bailey, chaplain of the American Baptist Student Foundation, will lead discussion sessions following the films.

The following films are to be shown on successive Sundays at 6 p.m.: "The Roman Age," Oct. 2; "The Middle Ages," Oct. 9; "The Renaissance," Oct. 16; "The Reformation," Oct. 23; "The Revolution Age," Oct. 30; "The Scientific Age," Nov. 6; "The Age of Non-Reason," Nov. 13; "The Age of Fragmentation," Nov. 20; "The Age of Personal Peace and Affluence," Nov. 27 and "Final Choices," Dec. 4.

BARGAINS FOR STUDENTS

Fellowship meets needs

Students wishing to pick up a bargain on used couches or chairs, and enjoy some home-cooked baked goodies at the same time, should check out the Shiloh Fellowship lawn and bake sale to be held Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 1 and 2.

The sale starts Saturday and will run from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and Sunday from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Some of the items on sale will include typical garage-sale items such as furniture, plant stands, books, clothes, children's games, pictures, mattresses, vases, tools and shoes.

The sale is geared towards students who have just moved into their new houses or apartments and have found themselves deficient in some household needs, according to Shiloh Fellowship secretary Tawn Jarvis.

The Shiloh Fellowship is a non-profit, non-denominational religious organization with about 425 members.

About one third of their members are former MSU students and graduates.

MSU receives grants: to go for grad studies

A number of grants to MSU in community service and continuing education and foreign language graduate student assistance have been reported by federal and state boards and agencies.

The U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) announced the awarding of an individual Fulbright-Hays Research Abroad Fellowship to an MSU graduate student.

The State Board of Education announced MSU will receive $80,425 in federal funds to provide financial aid for foreign language and area studies graduate students. The funds will provide fellowships for 17 MSU students.

The board also approved a grant of $65,000 for community service and continuing education programs at MSU.

Ronald A. Hart, a graduate student in the Department of Anthropology, received the Fulbright-Hays fellowship from HEW's Office of Education.

Hart will conduct research in the country of Yemen, according to Leroy Dugan, assistant dean of MSU's Graduate School.

HEW also announced several changes in the operation of the College Work-Study program. One of the changes would eventually simplify and shorten the application procedure for participating colleges and schools, according to HEW projections.

Another change in the regulations affects students working a second job along with the in-work-study assignment. The new changes in the federal guidelines would permit students to earn slightly more outside money.

Ronald L. Roderick, associate director of financial aids, emphasized the federal guidelines permit individual universities to set stricter standards.

Roderick does not see any immediate changes in the MSU work-study program.

World bicyclist to visit campus

Some MSU students think that managing to pedal their trusty little two-wheeler through a maze of students, cars and buses on campus is as much a bicycling challenge as they could ever handle.

But there is a wide world beyond the confines of the MSU campus, and Ian Hibell, who has ridden through most of it on his bicycle, will be on campus to relate his experiences next week.

Hibell has just completed a 15,000 mile trip from the North Cape of Norway to the southern tip of Africa. His appearance on campus is being sponsored by the Tri-country Bicycle Association.

Among his previous bicycle travels are trips across every continent of the world, except Antarctica. During these trips, he has had to contend with vicious mosquitoes in Norway, excessive thirst in the Sahara Desert and an epidemic of Green Monkey Disease in the Sudan.

Hibell has pedaled his bicycle through places where there will probably never be a road.

His lecture-slide show on his experiences will be Thursday, Oct. 6 in 109 Anthony Hall at 8 pm. There is no admission charge.

Course on Ukranian culture offered for first time this term

For the first time in MSU history a course on Ukranian culture will be offered.

The course, Russian 499, section 2, will meet Tuesdays and Thursdays from 10 to 11:15 a.m. in A740 Wells Hall.

Associate Professor Alexander Dynnik will teach the course which, he said, covers all of Ukranian history plus everything from geography to politics and economics.

Anyone wishing more information is urged to contact Dynnik through the Dept. of German and Russian.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

If you haven't wandered down to 136 West Grand River, next to People's Church and found a little restaurant called Matteo's then you are really missing out. Missing out on what? Why, truly Italian cooking, that's what.

Matteo's offers real Italian food—so if you're expecting some "spicy hot," heavy sauces, you'll be disappointed. The food is made fresh daily in their kitchen by chef Matteo Caprario and his assistant, Jim. Even the atmosphere is Italian—friendly and informal—yet you still get candlelight and tablecloths. Three different menus offer variety for lunch, dinner and late night eating.

Perhaps on your visit there you'll notice the pastry cart floating around with homemade Austrian and German pastries that will tantalize any tastebuds. Included also are Italian favorites like cannoli and spumoni ice cream... mmmmm...surely worth a splurge. Matteo's beverages are unique and special to the East Lansing area...ever tried Italian Beer? A Leaning Tower of Pisa? Nero's Nectar? Or how about a Bellini Cocktail?

In two weeks, Matteo's will be serving three different kinds of draft beer and seven varieties of draft wine.

The surprisingly extensive wine list has reasonable prices that any student can afford. Their excellent house wines, Sebastiani of California and Folanari of Italy come from family owned stock which is unusual in itself. An even bigger surprise is that at Matteo's you can buy a bottle of champagne for under five dollars—this includes Asti-Spumanti!

Sundays are very special at Matteo's with their breakfast buffet from 10 am till 2 pm and their dinner buffet from 5-10 pm. The Sunday breakfast buffet includes such things as four different kinds of eggs, bagels, smoked fish and more for only $2.50. After five the Sunday dinner buffet serves roast pig, barbequed spare ribs and fowl for $2.75. Such a feast!

Matteo's is open weekdays at 11:30 am. until 12:00 pm., Saturdays from Noon till Midnight and Sundays from 10am-2pm and 5pm-10pm.

Try Matteo's and experience real Italian cooking at prices you can afford with an atmosphere that's relaxing and friendly.

WHY IS SIGLINDA STEINFÜLLER DEAN OF BEER?

WHY NOT?

Fellow Beer Persons,
Life is full of unanswered questions such as: Is there intelligent life elsewhere in the universe? And if so, do they wear socks?
In beer, however, there are no unanswered questions. Because there is only one word for beer, and you know it.
Schlitz.

Therefore, as your Dean of Beer, I suggest you research the essential rightness of the word for yourself at your next social function. Or even your next antisocial function.

And please note: The recommended source material for locating the word can be found in any phone booth. In other words, look in the Yellow Pages. Under "Beer."

Thank you.

Asthenics Campus Joe. Thinks college is one big time-out. Holds school record for most games played. Once managed to drop 7 passes and 3 courses in same day. Cal drinks Lite Beer from Miller because it's less filling. With his schedule he can't afford to get filled up. Today he has to be in two places at once. Insists on playing center and quarterback. Spends spare time going to class. Lite Beer from Miller. Everything you always wanted in a beer. And less. 1977 Miller Brewing Co., Milwaukee, Wis.

Audio is our only business. Here's what that means to you.

1. You choose from the finest names in audio.

Names like Yamaha. You'll find them only at The Stereo Shoppe. That's because we search for — and extensively test — the finest audio products available. But "the finest" doesn't have to mean "the most expensive." Yamaha is a prime example. Their new series of receivers sets brand new standards for the industry, like a startling low distortion rating of just .05%! After raving about the model CR-820 (illustrated above), one audio magazine recently concluded by saying "on the basis of its performance, we thought it would be a fine example of a receiver in the $600 class. At $460, it's a steal." And of Yamaha's NS-5 speakers (also illustrated above) another audio magazine declared that they compare to speakers priced from $170 to $400 each. Their price? Just $100 each!

2. You enjoy excellent values.

We're always on the lookout for exceptional values that we can pass on to you. Here are just two current examples. The new Philips GA312 electronic turntable featuring automatic end-of-record pickup and shutoff. Complete with an Audio-Technica AT78E cartridge, it's yours for just $180. And look at the Sony stereo cassette deck model TC-135SD. It has Dolby, Ferrite & Ferrite head, FeCr equalization and peak limiter for distortion-free recording. A $250 value, it's yours now for just $198!

3. You get the best protection plan going.

Check around. You won't find a security agreement to match ours. It provides FIVE YEARS PARTS and LABOR coverage on electronics, turntables and speakers, three years on component tape decks. And there's no extra charge for this valuable protection, either! It comes free with every purchase you make at The Stereo Shoppe. We can offer it because we maintain a complete, in-store service department staffed by three full-time, factory-trained technicians, plus a service manager. You'll never fully appreciate how important your Security Agreement is — until the day comes when you need to use it!

HOWARD THE DUCK
October 3

Beginning October 3 you can read the story of the origin of this strange fowl in an even stranger land.
HOWARD THE DUCK™ is a wise-cracking, cigar-smoking duck, trying to cope in a world he never made.
