W. I. also be accepted.

I. N. members, who arrived without incident, was the scene of a major protest. The protest was centered at the Pentagon, D.C., where the bulk of I. N. demonstrators near Dehav's motorcade route.

Barry's expenditures during the period included the following:

1. Employment of future employees.
2. Programming of future events.
3. Office expenditures to meet operating expenditures for the rest of the year.
4. Reinvestments necessary to meet operating expenditures for the rest of the year.
5. Reinvestment of Title IX funds to grant the women's teams comparable opportunities.
6. Reinvestment of funds to meet the Title IX requirements.

Barry's expenditures for the next year include the following:

1. Reinvestment of Title IX funds to grant the women's teams comparable opportunities.
2. Reinvestment of funds to meet the Title IX requirements.
3. Reinvestment of funds to meet the Title IX requirements.
4. Reinvestment of funds to meet the Title IX requirements.

Barry's expenditures for the next year include the following:

1. Reinvestment of Title IX funds to grant the women's teams comparable opportunities.
2. Reinvestment of funds to meet the Title IX requirements.
3. Reinvestment of funds to meet the Title IX requirements.
4. Reinvestment of funds to meet the Title IX requirements.

Barry's expenditures for the next year include the following:

1. Reinvestment of Title IX funds to grant the women's teams comparable opportunities.
2. Reinvestment of funds to meet the Title IX requirements.
3. Reinvestment of funds to meet the Title IX requirements.
4. Reinvestment of funds to meet the Title IX requirements.

Barry's expenditures for the next year include the following:

1. Reinvestment of Title IX funds to grant the women's teams comparable opportunities.
2. Reinvestment of funds to meet the Title IX requirements.
3. Reinvestment of funds to meet the Title IX requirements.
4. Reinvestment of funds to meet the Title IX requirements.

Barry's expenditures for the next year include the following:

1. Reinvestment of Title IX funds to grant the women's teams comparable opportunities.
2. Reinvestment of funds to meet the Title IX requirements.
3. Reinvestment of funds to meet the Title IX requirements.
4. Reinvestment of funds to meet the Title IX requirements.

Barry's expenditures for the next year include the following:

1. Reinvestment of Title IX funds to grant the women's teams comparable opportunities.
2. Reinvestment of funds to meet the Title IX requirements.
3. Reinvestment of funds to meet the Title IX requirements.
4. Reinvestment of funds to meet the Title IX requirements.

Barry's expenditures for the next year include the following:

1. Reinvestment of Title IX funds to grant the women's teams comparable opportunities.
2. Reinvestment of funds to meet the Title IX requirements.
3. Reinvestment of funds to meet the Title IX requirements.
4. Reinvestment of funds to meet the Title IX requirements.

Barry's expenditures for the next year include the following:

1. Reinvestment of Title IX funds to grant the women's teams comparable opportunities.
2. Reinvestment of funds to meet the Title IX requirements.
3. Reinvestment of funds to meet the Title IX requirements.
4. Reinvestment of funds to meet the Title IX requirements.

Barry's expenditures for the next year include the following:

1. Reinvestment of Title IX funds to grant the women's teams comparable opportunities.
2. Reinvestment of funds to meet the Title IX requirements.
3. Reinvestment of funds to meet the Title IX requirements.
4. Reinvestment of funds to meet the Title IX requirements.

Barry's expenditures for the next year include the following:

1. Reinvestment of Title IX funds to grant the women's teams comparable opportunities.
2. Reinvestment of funds to meet the Title IX requirements.
3. Reinvestment of funds to meet the Title IX requirements.
4. Reinvestment of funds to meet the Title IX requirements.

Barry's expenditures for the next year include the following:

1. Reinvestment of Title IX funds to grant the women's teams comparable opportunities.
2. Reinvestment of funds to meet the Title IX requirements.
3. Reinvestment of funds to meet the Title IX requirements.
4. Reinvestment of funds to meet the Title IX requirements.

Barry's expenditures for the next year include the following:

1. Reinvestment of Title IX funds to grant the women's teams comparable opportunities.
2. Reinvestment of funds to meet the Title IX requirements.
3. Reinvestment of funds to meet the Title IX requirements.
4. Reinvestment of funds to meet the Title IX requirements.

Barry's expenditures for the next year include the following:

1. Reinvestment of Title IX funds to grant the women's teams comparable opportunities.
2. Reinvestment of funds to meet the Title IX requirements.
3. Reinvestment of funds to meet the Title IX requirements.
4. Reinvestment of funds to meet the Title IX requirements.
Vance claims progress on arms talks

LONDON (AP) — U.S. Secretary of State Cyrus Vance ended his Moscow trip without agreement on a new round of strategic arms reductions, putting off by six months a meeting that both superpowers had expected this month.

Such was the outcome that Vance had expected when he left Washington on March 31, but efforts to negotiate an end to the nuclear arms race through a series of talks had produced little progress in the past two years.

The talks were aimed at reducing the size of the United States' and the Soviet Union's nuclear arsenals, a goal that both nations had set for themselves in the mid-1970s. But after two years of negotiations, neither side had made any significant concessions.

The United States had offered to cut its nuclear arsenal by 25 percent, while the Soviet Union had proposed a 30 percent reduction. Both sides had also agreed to reduce their arsenals by 10 percent by the end of the year.

The talks had been interrupted several times, most recently in December when the United States suspended its participation in the talks after the Soviet Union had refused to allow American nuclear inspectors into its territory.

But Vance said on Friday that he believed the talks could still go forward, despite the lack of progress.

"We believe that the talks can still proceed," Vance said. "We believe that we can make progress on the issues that we have already discussed."
Apatht rules group dedicated to services

OGS: a dilemma for diehards

Well-known black poet to read tonight

Specialist in advertising management to discuss Jungian typology strategies
Beyond the Cold War?

Vietnam to Panama: passage to maturity

Now the Great Canal debate is finished. By a narrow margin, the U.S. Senate has approved the idea linking the Panama Canal and the surrounding American owned territory to Panama. By this move, 1979 will be remembered as a key year in American foreign policy development. This move will certainly maintain his credibility in the eyes of fellow citizens.

Ten years, but perhaps it is possible to place less superficial conclusions from this recently completed episode in American history.

Five years ago, as America's involvement in Vietnam was evaluable to a bloody conclusion, the war was governed by a military, aggressive, mendacious conduct of American policy. The prospect of turning the Panama Canal over was originally broached in 1964, and almost immediately buried beneath an avalanche of right-wing protest. America land of Manifest Destiny was supposedly to take — never give up — territory. The spirit of "imperialism" and the hub of "colonia" was buried in Washington by Communities in Moscow and dogs and by disheartened "patriots" at home — the group of multinational Acc McCarthy and his red-haters had sought to purge from the 50 states. The John Foster Dulles-bred foreign policy of mid-century enthroned Washington in the cradle of international power-politics and propounded the notion that the United States could control events in its free-flying Hapgoth to Gibraltar with impunity.

The Cold War — the "us" versus "them" philosophy that pervaded American thinking relating to the Communist bloc as long — seems, fortuitously, to have passed into history. Twenty years ago — even 10 — anyone suggesting that a continued United States presence was extraneous or imperilous would likely have been hoisted before the House Un-American Activities Committee. Today HEAC is gone and Panama has a legal claim on its own territory.

Perhaps, at long last, an atmosphere of maturity has settled in the foreign policy and Washington's perception of its powers and limitations.

New beginning.

Panama Canal Zone

1909

Jody LaFrance

Don't you think this is the dumbest, least useful, least needed thing you've read in weeks? Well, you're right. I wrote this as an exercise in laziness. But it was also meant to be a commentary on the state of modern media, as well as a personal reflection on the role of the media in shaping public opinion.

I wanted to challenge the reader to consider the nature of modern media, and to question the role of the media in shaping public opinion. I also wanted to challenge the reader to consider the role of the media in shaping public opinion, and to question the role of the media in shaping public opinion.

The media, as we know it today, is a powerful force in shaping public opinion. It is a force that can shape the way people think about issues, and it can influence the way people vote. It is a force that can shape the way people think about issues, and it can influence the way people vote.

I wanted to challenge the reader to consider the role of the media in shaping public opinion, and to question the role of the media in shaping public opinion. I also wanted to challenge the reader to consider the role of the media in shaping public opinion, and to question the role of the media in shaping public opinion.

The media, as we know it today, is a powerful force in shaping public opinion. It is a force that can shape the way people think about issues, and it can influence the way people vote. It is a force that can shape the way people think about issues, and it can influence the way people vote.

I wanted to challenge the reader to consider the role of the media in shaping public opinion, and to question the role of the media in shaping public opinion. I also wanted to challenge the reader to consider the role of the media in shaping public opinion, and to question the role of the media in shaping public opinion.

The media, as we know it today, is a powerful force in shaping public opinion. It is a force that can shape the way people think about issues, and it can influence the way people vote. It is a force that can shape the way people think about issues, and it can influence the way people vote.

I wanted to challenge the reader to consider the role of the media in shaping public opinion, and to question the role of the media in shaping public opinion. I also wanted to challenge the reader to consider the role of the media in shaping public opinion, and to question the role of the media in shaping public opinion.

The media, as we know it today, is a powerful force in shaping public opinion. It is a force that can shape the way people think about issues, and it can influence the way people vote. It is a force that can shape the way people think about issues, and it can influence the way people vote.

I wanted to challenge the reader to consider the role of the media in shaping public opinion, and to question the role of the media in shaping public opinion. I also wanted to challenge the reader to consider the role of the media in shaping public opinion, and to question the role of the media in shaping public opinion.

The media, as we know it today, is a powerful force in shaping public opinion. It is a force that can shape the way people think about issues, and it can influence the way people vote. It is a force that can shape the way people think about issues, and it can influence the way people vote.

I wanted to challenge the reader to consider the role of the media in shaping public opinion, and to question the role of the media in shaping public opinion. I also wanted to challenge the reader to consider the role of the media in shaping public opinion, and to question the role of the media in shaping public opinion.
The Business of Business is Growth

The students' love for learning has increased as the number of students has grown. President Richard Lew said, "We're trying to find ways to accommodate the increased demand for education."

The growth of the university has been accompanied by increased demands on its resources. The college, said the dean is doing his best to meet these demands. "We have to be more efficient in our use of resources," he said.

The situation in the department wouldn't be nearly as bad if it had adequate funding. "At the very least, we should be able to attract more faculty," Lew is said.

The college is plagued by a lack of funds. "For all practical purposes, we are at the end of our rope right now," the dean said. "We cannot go on much longer if we don't see some change in funding."
Entertainment

Garfunkel sounds smooth

By KIM BLEKIS

State News Reviewer

Art Garfunkel\'s voice continues to impress me. When I heard his performance at the Lansing Civic Center Friday night, I was not the only one who was genuinely moved by his music. Garfunkel, along with his musical partner, Art Garfunkel, provided an evening of beautiful music that left the audience wanting more. The pair performed a mix of old and new songs, including hits like "Beggar on My Soul" and "The Boxer," which were well-received by the crowd.

The evening began with a short introduction from the emcee, followed by a brief performance from the opening act, which included some spoken word and poetry. This paved the way for Garfunkel, who walked onto the stage to a rapturous applause.

Garfunkel\'s voice is rich and full, with a range that allows him to convey deep emotion in his songs. He has a way of painting with his vocals, making the listener feel as though they are right there on stage with him.

Throughout the evening, Garfunkel \- and occasionally Art Garfunkel \- performed songs from various albums, including "Bridge Over Troubled Water," "The Sound of Silence," and "The Boxer." Each song was met with enthusiastic applause, and the audience seemed to enjoy every moment of the performance.

The concert ended with a encore, during which Garfunkel sang a medley of songs from various albums, including "Mrs. Robinson," "The Sound of Silence," and "I Am a Rock." The audience was left wanting more, and many expressed their excitement for future performances.

Overall, the evening was a wonderful performance that showcased Garfunkel\'s talent and passion for music. It was a beautiful way to end the week, and I can only hope that there will be more performances like this in the future.
Willie Tyson celebrates sisterhood

Happendence takes dance to people

By CONSTANCE A. WARNER

Happendence, a contemporary dance company, presented a program of short works choreographed by company members at Michigan State University. The works were performed by six students from the Lansing area and included a string quartet called "Carousal Blues" by Diane Newman, a major new work by Janie Winnikstern, and a duet by Diane Newman and John Baruck. The performance was well received by the audience, who enjoyed the variety of styles and techniques used by the dancers.

!Image

American Dance Hour of Michigan State University. The program was a celebration of the students' talent and creativity, and it was evident in the way they brought life and movement to the stage. The audience was captivated by the dancers' skill and the beauty of the works, and the performance was a testament to the power of dance as an art form.
Irruies stifile chance for MSU upset

By BIFF HUTTER
Almost as soon as she lost, the hangover of every day was causing her body to stall in the match. Coach Drobac had some comments on what had happened and basically a ping pong serve, which feel good enough to be playing, I've just got to keep it going. I'm really pleased with the way the MSU team has been playing. I'm happy with the way the team has been playing.

Coach Drobac had some compromising in order to win his match. "He probably hasn't seen one like it all term."

Mcnulty grinned. "He was very pleased," Drobac said. "When you keep it going, I'm really pleased with the way the MSU team has been playing. I'm happy with the way the team has been playing.

Mcnulty wasn't the only one pleased with his performance. Coach Drobac had some compromising in order to win his match. "I was very pleased," Drobac said. "When you keep it going, I'm really pleased with the way the MSU team has been playing. I'm happy with the way the team has been playing.

Mcnulty wasn't the only one pleased with his performance. Coach Drobac had some compromising in order to win his match. "I was very pleased," Drobac said. "When you keep it going, I'm really pleased with the way the MSU team has been playing. I'm happy with the way the team has been playing.

Mcnulty wasn't the only one pleased with his performance. Coach Drobac had some compromising in order to win his match. "I was very pleased," Drobac said. "When you keep it going, I'm really pleased with the way the MSU team has been playing. I'm happy with the way the team has been playing.

Mcnulty wasn't the only one pleased with his performance. Coach Drobac had some compromising in order to win his match. "I was very pleased," Drobac said. "When you keep it going, I'm really pleased with the way the MSU team has been playing. I'm happy with the way the team has been playing.

Mcnulty wasn't the only one pleased with his performance. Coach Drobac had some compromising in order to win his match. "I was very pleased," Drobac said. "When you keep it going, I'm really pleased with the way the MSU team has been playing. I'm happy with the way the team has been playing.

Mcnulty wasn't the only one pleased with his performance. Coach Drobac had some compromising in order to win his match. "I was very pleased," Drobac said. "When you keep it going, I'm really pleased with the way the MSU team has been playing. I'm happy with the way the team has been playing.

Mcnulty wasn't the only one pleased with his performance. Coach Drobac had some compromising in order to win his match. "I was very pleased," Drobac said. "When you keep it going, I'm really pleased with the way the MSU team has been playing. I'm happy with the way the team has been playing.

Mcnulty wasn't the only one pleased with his performance. Coach Drobac had some compromising in order to win his match. "I was very pleased," Drobac said. "When you keep it going, I'm really pleased with the way the MSU team has been playing. I'm happy with the way the team has been playing.
Flowers wins 100 at Ohio State

Penn State's Vickie Flowers claimed her 100th victory and, quite possibly, her final one, as the Nittany Lions knocked off the Ohio State Buckeyes on Saturday.

The win marked Flowers' 100th career victory, surpassing her previous record of 99 set last season. It also marked her 100th victory overall, including college and high school.

Flowers' performance came in the final set of the meet, as she defeated Ohio State's Julie Brown, 7-6, 6-4. The win was significant because it helped Penn State claim the team title, 4-0.

The victory was particularly meaningful for Flowers, who is expected to retire at the end of the season. She has been an integral part of the Penn State women's tennis program for several years, and her contributions have been recognized both on the court and off it.

Flowers' achievements extend beyond her on-court success. She is a vocal advocate for women's sports and has been involved in numerous initiatives aimed at promoting gender equality in sports.

In addition to her personal accomplishments, Flowers has also been a mentor to younger players, sharing her knowledge and experience to help them improve.

With this victory, Flowers becomes the first Penn State female tennis player to reach 100 career wins, a feat that is sure to be remembered in the program's history.

The win also marks a milestone for the overall team, as they have now won 100 matches together as a group.

Flowers' dedication to the sport and her community has left a lasting impact on those around her, and her legacy will be honored both on and off the court.

In conclusion, Flowers' 100th victory is a testament to her hard work and dedication, and it serves as a fitting conclusion to her illustrious career. Her achievements have set a high standard for future generations to follow.
Guerrilla participation

continued from page 1

negotiate with black guerrilla leaders Joshua Nkomo and Robert

Smith has called on Nkomo to break away from Mugabe, an of the annual four day conference of the Aviation-Space W riters

the annual four day conference of the Aviation-Space W riters

Dr. Jerome Lederer, 75, of Laguna Hills, Calif., president of the

A veteran pilot, unidentified, sent a formula for "air mail

"It's the kind of book you can open and cook from but also it will

Harry Collins, who orbited the moon while two fellow Apollo U

Collins, who orbited the moon while two fellow Apollo U

A niece of the Wright brothers first person to achieve powered and machines of flight, as well as new and interesting ideas about zucchini.

"It's the kind of book you can open and cook from but also it will

Quebec, but he sent instead a recipe for zwetschen knoedeln—about the campfire baked blueberry pies of boyhood days in

The hardcore television show that you'll never...

THE BAND: "The Last Waltz"

They saved the last dance for you...

Clint Eastwood, director of the Academy Award-winning film

He saved the last dance for you...

SAY I'M FREE APRIL 28

FOR THESE SESSIONS HI-FI BUYS WILL HAVE A guest speaker from the Genesis management oration. He is an authority on sound reproduction.

THE LAST WALTZ

Killing Ground

May 2 - 6 8:15 p.m.

Area Theatre

TICKETS NOW ON SALE

BOX OFFICE PHONE

355-0148

MCN:U52 cooks up fundraiser

Flying recipes take off

ATLANTA— "Most Olivia de Havilland's fans got up and went to the movies," the head of a toy and game store said. "They believe in the cause of peace and justice." The chance to try the vegetarian recipes and others is now up for grabs with the introduction of the new "Flying Recipes" cookbook.

The project has not yet been announced officially, but a copy of the cookbook has been sent to black separatist leaders Joshua Nkomo and Robert Mugabe.

The cookbook is a compilation of recipes from various sources, including black separatist guerrilla leaders.

The project has not yet been announced officially, but a copy of the cookbook has been sent to black separatist leaders Joshua Nkomo and Robert Mugabe.
Big spenders becoming wary

Ann Arbor, Mich. (UPI) - Women consumers continue to buy and save in response to rising uncertainty, "continued concern over inflation", and consumers shift their outlook for overall business conditions, according to the Consumer Research Center.

"What we've been finding is that many women consumers are being more cautious," said Kevin Kelly of the Student Advisory Board of Olin Health Center.

"We've been seeing a trend where people are saving more and spending less," said John Jones, budget restricted.

Jones' budget restricted

"Jones, a student at Michigan State University, said that he has been trying to save money by cutting back on unnecessary expenses. He has been living off-campus and has had to make several adjustments to his living situation in order to stay within his budget.

Women outline Title IV violations

(continued from page 1)

The women's basketball team has been accused of violating Title IV of the Civil Rights Act by discriminating against female athletes. The team has been charged with providing unequal opportunities for female athletes, including lower salaries and less access to training facilities.

Title IV requires institutions to provide equal opportunities for male and female athletes, including access to facilities and coaching. The Title IV violation is serious and can result in heavy fines and sanctions for the institution.

The women's basketball team has been accused of providing unequal opportunities for female athletes, including lower salaries and less access to training facilities. The team has been charged with violating Title IV of the Civil Rights Act.

The Title IV violation is serious and can result in heavy fines and sanctions for the institution. The team has been accused of providing unequal opportunities for female athletes, including lower salaries and less access to training facilities.
Local groups to protest weapons

In Denver, a group of MSU students and Lansing area residents will take part in the Rocky Flats Nuclear Weapons Plant protest. The East Lansing Mobilization for Survival, along with similar groups across the nation, will hold a national demonstration at Rocky Flats, 16 miles northwest of Denver. The plant produces plutonium triggers for all U.S. nuclear bombs.

Chuck Will, a former resident of Denver, hopes the demonstration will influence the session to outlaw nuclear weapons.

"Our goal is to stop things of destruction," said Angi Lucido, a member of the group and a former resident of Denver.

The group has rented a bus, and for $30 will provide round trip transportation to Rocky Flats. The bus will leave East Lansing at 10 a.m. Wednesday.

"We feel this is a good time to demonstrate," Lucido said. "The detections and more public protests were the only thing that stopped the Vietnam war, and we feel this is a similar situation."

The group has scheduled a non-violent demonstration methods. On Saturday, the group will join a march to the Federal Building in Denver.

"It will be bound to raise some attention," Lucido said. "There will be people mobbing the area with signs," Lucido said. After demonstrating in Denver, the group will part of a non-violent demonstration methods. On Saturday, the group will join a march to the Federal Building in Denver.

"We will sell t-shirts and hats," Will said. "We are selling the rest of the stock at a very low cost."

The demonstration will begin Friday with "civil disobedience training," which will familiarize the participants with non-violent demonstration methods. On Saturday, the group will join a march to the Federal Building in Denver.

"There will be people coming to the area with signs," Will said. "It will be bound to raise more attention."

After demonstrating in Denver, the group will part of a non-violent demonstration methods. On Saturday, the group will join a march to the Federal Building in Denver.

"We will be people coming to the area with signs," Will said. "It will be bound to raise more attention."