BOMB DISPOSAL TEAM SENT TO CRUISE SHIP

LONDON (AP) — A three-person bomb disposal team was flown to the cruise liner Independence of the Seas on Sunday after what appeared to be a bomb threat against the cruise ship during its overnight voyage to Bermuda.

But an eight-hour search turned up nothing and the cruise ship was allowed back into Britain in the early hours of today, with the policemen having turned up on time.

The ship carries 2,400 passengers and crew.

Police search turns up terrorist trouble

BOSTON (AP) — A terrorist threat posed by the Red Brigades, the group that kidnapped 20 Italian passengers aboard a cruise ship earlier this month, was reduced further Sunday when the American Embassy in Rome was cleared of any connection with the raid.

In Rome, officials said they have no information on the possibility that the American Embassy was involved in the Red Brigades' kidnapping of the passengers.

TOKYO (AP) — Diplomats in Tokyo and Washington, D.C., said Sunday that the United States and Japan have put together a new plan to deal with the possibility of a terrorist attack on American military bases in Japan.

The new plan would involve a joint effort by the two governments to share information and to coordinate their responses to any terrorist attacks.

Vote union for a change; FA's deserve the support

In a recent article, "solidarity forever" mentioned a union at Austin State College in 1950. Although campus administrators have been accused of harassment and discrimination by students and other employees, the university has not been unionized.

If you are a student or employee at Austin State College, you may want to consider joining a union. A union can protect your rights and help improve working conditions. Unions negotiate with the administration on issues such as wages, benefits, and working conditions, and can help ensure that these issues are addressed.

As a student, you may also want to consider joining a student union. A student union can represent your interests and help protect your rights. It can negotiate with the administration on issues such as tuition, fees, and other student-related concerns.

In conclusion, if you are a student or employee at Austin State College, you may want to consider joining a union or a student union. A union or student union can help protect your rights and improve working conditions. You can learn more about the union and student union opportunities by contacting the appropriate organization on campus.

Duet biography clarifies friendship

The biography of Duke Ellington and Scott Fitzgerald marks a new chapter in the literature of friendship. Although they were essentially biographers of the period's most significant artists and writers, their relationship was forged through a bond that transcended the confines of their own careers. This essay explores the complex dynamics of their friendship and the ways in which their work both reflected and influenced each other.

New music from some old Dolls

Dolls, for those of you who don't know them, were one of the bands that first blossomed in New York City at the dawn of punk rock. Their sound was raw, energetic, and full of attitude.

The original line-up of the Dolls included vocalist Stiv Bators, lead guitarist David Johansen, rhythm guitarist Richard可用于。Diana, bassist Arthur Russell, and drummer Johnny Thunders. However, over the course of their career, there were several changes to the band's line-up.

 spite their various line-ups, the Dolls were known for their ability to deliver intense performances. Their songs often featured catchy hooks and fast-paced rhythms that kept audiences on their toes.

The Dolls' music was characterized by a blend of garage rock and punk influences. Their songs were often about life on the streets, with lyrics that spoke to the struggles and triumphs of urban youth.

Despite their popularity and success, the Dolls struggled with personal problems and drug addiction, which led to the band's eventual breakup in the late 1970s. However, their music continues to resonate with fans today, and their influence can be heard in the work of countless punk and rock bands that followed.

Though their sound would turn to the very young generation, and with bands like the New Mexico and the卷轴 collaborated with them, there was no hint of the Dolls. David Johansen and the Dolls' original lead singer Stiv Bators never signed a record deal, and Bators committed suicide in 2010.

The Dolls' legacy is a testament to the power of music to inspire and connect people, even in the face of adversity. Their music continues to inspire new generations of musicians and fans, and their influence is felt throughout the world of rock and roll.

The Dolls have been inducted into the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame, and their music is celebrated in various forms, from cover versions to tribute albums. Their story is one of determination and resilience, a reminder that no matter what obstacles we face, we can continue to create and connect through the magic of music.
HITTERS OPPOSE TALENTED TEAMS

Spartans face stiff competition

By MICHAEL MULCAHY

State News Writer

The Michigan State baseball team will be among the top teams in the Big Ten this year. The Spartans, who finished second in the Big Ten last season, are expected to have one of the strongest teams in the conference.

The team is led by senior pitcher Matt Klemm, who was named to the All-Big Ten Team last year. Klemm has a powerful fastball and is expected to be a dominant presence on the mound for the Spartans.

In addition to Klemm, the Spartans have several returning players, including junior outfielder Matt Hendrickson, who was named to the All-Big Ten Team last year.

The Spartans also have a strong pitching rotation, with seniors Matt Roberts and Dylan Huffer also returning from last season.

Although the Spartans have a strong pitching staff, they will need to rely on their offense to carry them to victory. The team has several returning hitters, including juniors Mitch Keating and Brad Sandler, who were both named to the All-Big Ten Team last year.

But the Spartans are not without their challenges. They will face tough competition from teams like Indiana, Michigan, and Ohio State in the Big Ten.

The Spartans open their season against the University of Michigan on February 23. If they can build on last season's success and continue to improve, they could be a factor in the conference race.

Student fights whaling

By BETT SYMON

Hear through the whining of the fans, the whine of the telephone, the whine of the whaling siren, the whine of the ship...the whining of the students. A student protest against the removal of the Marquardt's had been planned for weeks.

The Marquardt's, a family of whalers, are known for their fierce protection of the whales. The students, however, believe that the whales are not being treated fairly and are protesting against the removal of the Marquardt's.

Sailing with Greenpeace

An unforgettable summer

The students joined Greenpeace on a harpoon mission to save the whales. They were equipped with inflatable rafts and harpoons to protect the whales from the whalers.

Greenpeace is a worldwide movement that aims to protect the environment and the rights of indigenous peoples. They are known for their direct action campaigns, such as the Rainbow Warrior incident in 1985.

House revives measure to lift cycle helmet law

LANDING, N.J. - The House Judiciary Committee passed a bill lifting Michigan's helmet requirement for motorcyclists, sending the measure back to the House floor as it did last year.

The bill - the subject of some of the most intense demonstrations in Lansing - was passed last year but died in the Senate.

"If we did the same thing with seat belts, we couldn't get away with it politically. The same principle should apply. If I ride a bicycle, I'm wearing a helmet. But I don't think I have the right to tell the others what to do." - State Rep. E. Don Stevens, bill sponsor.

The bill, which the students say is too late, would exempt those under 16 and those over 50. A companion measure also passed the Senate Finance Committee and would take effect in 1987.
