Mailing pot for testing illegal

Ronald Tinker

Michigan residents who wish to mail samples of marajuana through the mail must face new postal regulations.

A law was recently passed limiting the amount of marajuana which may be mailed without a $5 fee. The new law is a result of a Federal investigation of the State University of Michigan's laboratory.

The new law applies to mail samples tied in a separate bundle. If the samples are not tied in a separate bundle, the $5 fee must be paid.

The new law was passed in response to a Federal investigation of the State University of Michigan's laboratory.

The laboratory will now require a $5 fee for all mail samples.

Spy devices uncovered in U.S. embassy

Washington, D.C. — Electricians, who were killed in a fire at the U.S. embassy in Moscow earlier this week, were found to be carrying electronic equipment, according to sources familiar with the investigation.

Justice Department shuns search rule

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department will not appeal a federal judge's ruling that the Supreme Court ruled unconstitutional a provision of a law that requires law enforcement agencies to notify the attorney general before conducting certain wiretaps.

The lawsuit, brought by the American Civil Liberties Union and other groups, challenges the constitutionality of the provision. The judge's ruling has set off a national debate about the balance between national security and civil liberties.

The government has asked the Supreme Court to review the judge's decision. However, the Department of Justice had previously indicated it would not appeal the ruling.

Chemical firm fined in arms sales case

VEEGUS Corp., a New York chemical firm, agreed yesterday to pay a $7.5 million fine for violating arms embargo agreements.

The company, which supplies chemical products to countries embargoed by the United States, is the first company to be fined under the Arms Export Control Act.

The agreement also calls for the company to establish a compliance program to prevent future violations.

Officials fearful of Calif. tax initiative

WASHINGTON (AP) — California state officials are warning that a proposed ballot initiative could result in a significant decline in state revenue.

The initiative, which would limit the state's ability to collect taxes, is backed by a group of wealthy donors and has the support of some prominent politicians.

Lawmakers and administrators are concerned that the initiative could lead to significant reductions in funding for essential programs.

Police disperse protesters in Tehran

TEHRAN (AP) — Police dispersed protesters in Tehran yesterday, the first day of a three-day strike called by workers at the national newspaper that covers the city.

The protest, which began on Wednesday, was called in response to the government's decision to freeze wages for workers in the newspaper industry.

Workers have been on strike since Wednesday, demanding an increase in their wages.

No further Korean indictments expected

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite the recent indictments, no further indictments are expected against North Korean officials.

The recent indictments were related to allegations of human rights abuses.

South Korean officials have not provided any indication of further indictments.

Economic growth outlook improves

WASHINGTON (AP) — The economic growth outlook has improved, according to the latest report from the Commerce Department.

The growth outlook is now projected to be 3.5 percent, up from the previous estimate of 3.0 percent.

The report also noted that personal consumption remains strong, indicating a positive outlook for the economy.

Governor calls for investigation of judge of rap

HAYWARD, Calif. (AP) — Governor of California is calling for an investigation of a judge who ruled in favor of a rap artist in a recent case.

The governor said the judge's ruling was inconsistent with the state's policies on intellectual property.

The judge's ruling is under review by the California Supreme Court.
New way to destroy PBB cattle advised

Pyrolysis would char tainted animals

Donna Bakes
State News Staff Writer

In a recently emerging technique to destroy PBB-infected animal material, pyrolysis would char tainted animals. "We are currently working with the Environmental Protection Agency and the Michigan Department of Natural Resources on a project to destroy PBB-infected animal material," said Dr. John E. Hansen, professor of veterinary science. "We have developed a pyrolysis process, which involves heating PBB-infected animal material in an oxygen-free environment to a high temperature, resulting in the production of charcoal. This charcoal is then used as a fuel in the generation of electricity or as a raw material in the production of other products."

Two area women eagerly awaiting voyage to China

Having group support is helpful, as in the case of the two women who are eagerly awaiting their trip to China. "We are looking forward to this trip," said Susan Johnson, who is traveling with a group of 20 American women. "We have been preparing for this trip for several months, and we are looking forward to exploring Chinese culture and meeting new people."

Absent vote request form available now

Election officials are urging registered voters who are unable to be present at the polls to request an "absent vote" ballot. "We want to make sure that everyone has the opportunity to vote, regardless of whether they are able to be present at the polling place," said Secretary of State Terri Lynn Land. "We have made it easy for voters to request an absent vote ballot, and we encourage all registered voters to take advantage of this opportunity."
EQA: don’t extend deadline

Equal treatment under the Constitution for both men and women is a check on any superstrategically that when, as a lot was so one-sidedly advanced, the question of extending the ERA to the States in 1972, there were voices for the ERA opponents for the first time, at May’s getting mighty on its way with the help of the State and Constitutional Amendment

New constitution means anarchy

The proposed constitution which would ideally also the various branches of government and states that a state's sovereignty is a basic tenet of the Constitution was first put forward in 1974. There have been several attempts to write a new such as a law for federalism. The most recent attempt was the 1996 federalist appeal which proposed a federal constitution that would give states more power at the cost of federal oversight.

An apology to the Davises

We apologize to Chokl and Cluley Davis for their rights to speak when they want, not when we want. Davis is a young woman, and she did not at the time that the Davises was writing this article in 1976, she said that the Davises was 20 years of age. The Davises is 20 years of age. The Davises is 20 years of age. The Davises is 20 years of age.

LASH LARRowe

Why we’d lose, Lash?

I think this is a sure, bold, and decisive move on the part of the Democrats in order to gain the support of the voters in the South. They have been very successful in the South in the past, and I think they will be even more successful this year. The Senators from the South are very strong, and they will be able to hold their own in the Senate. I think the Senate will be held by the Democrats.

Equal justice under law is still an illusory dream for women. The Equal Rights Amendment designed to clarify this situation has been foundering for some months now. It seems unlikely that two-thirds of the states will fail to ratify the amendment by March 22, 1979, deadling: Hence, for reasons stated in the editorial, we object to a congressional extension of the ratification deadline for ERA.

VIEWPOINT:

The Listening Ear does more than hear. We of the Listening Ear staff are constantly referring to our own involvement in the analysis of the political climate. This week we were listening to the music of the Davises.

Marriage and kids can wait, students say

By GAIL PERRY

I decided to leave college a year early. I was 18, and I didn't want to wait until I was 28. Now, I'm 28, and I'm glad I waited.

I'm not alone in this. More than 45 percent of the student population at Michigan State University said they wanted to wait until they were 28 to get married.

And, according to a poll conducted by the National Opinion Research Center, 28 percent of the respondents said they would be single at 28 or older.

The poll, which surveyed 1,950 adults, found that the average age for first marriage was 27.4 years for men and 25.8 years for women.

But, the poll also found that the median age for first marriage was 28.4 years for men and 26.8 years for women.

And, the poll found that the average number of children for first-born children was 2.3 for men and 2.1 for women.

The poll also found that the average number of children for second-born children was 1.9 for men and 1.7 for women.

The poll found that the average number of children for third-born children was 1.5 for men and 1.3 for women.

The poll found that the average number of children for fourth-born children was 1.2 for men and 1.0 for women.

The poll found that the average number of children for fifth-born children was 1.0 for men and 0.8 for women.

The poll found that the average number of children for sixth-born children was 0.8 for men and 0.6 for women.

The poll found that the average number of children for seventh-born children was 0.6 for men and 0.4 for women.

The poll found that the average number of children for eighth-born children was 0.4 for men and 0.2 for women.

The poll found that the average number of children for ninth-born children was 0.2 for men and 0.1 for women.

The poll found that the average number of children for tenth-born children was 0.1 for men and 0.1 for women.

The poll found that the average number of children for eleventh-born children was 0.0 for men and 0.0 for women.

The poll found that the average number of children for twelfth-born children was 0.0 for men and 0.0 for women.

The poll found that the average number of children for thirteenth-born children was 0.0 for men and 0.0 for women.

The poll found that the average number of children for fourteenth-born children was 0.0 for men and 0.0 for women.

The poll found that the average number of children for fifteenth-born children was 0.0 for men and 0.0 for women.

The poll found that the average number of children for sixteenth-born children was 0.0 for men and 0.0 for women.

The poll found that the average number of children for seventeenth-born children was 0.0 for men and 0.0 for women.

The poll found that the average number of children for eighteenth-born children was 0.0 for men and 0.0 for women.

According to Jim Peterson, chairperson of the PR's budgeting and finance committee, it was later...

And scene writer Nancy Dowd, it was essentially wrecked by the cast and crew during production. Perhaps the main problem is that it's a commitment to anger the audience...

Gentlepeople,
A big-game hunter in Africa was on his way back from the bush when he noticed a lion walking out of the jungle near twenty feet away. As the lion was about to pounce the hunter fired his last cartridge and missed.
The lion sprang into the last十五 feet beyond the hunter, who then ran for cover and made it safely.

The next day the hunter went back of cover to practice his skill at close range. He heard a strange noise in the brush and investigated. It was the lion - practicing shotput.

MSU honored at banquet

B. MICHAEL KLOCKE
State News Staff Writer

Despite being honored as the Michigan Big Ten baseball player of the year, MSU’s only chance to win three consecutive Big Ten championships may have come at the Michigan
State University Interclub Tennis Center.

R.H., who was named third team All-Big Ten baseball player for the 2021 season, said he was surprised by the announcement.

"It’s a great honor," R.H. said. "I’ve always enjoyed playing baseball, and I’m glad I was fortunate enough to receive this recognition."

R.H. also mentioned the importance of teamwork in his success.

"Baseball is a team sport," he said. "I couldn’t have achieved this without the support of my teammates."
Changes noted by Hiller

BY RICHARD SHORE

John Hiller has noticed a definite change in the Spartans this year. In his third year at the helm of Michigan State's football program, Hiller has seen a marked improvement in the team's performance.

"I think the players entering the game today are a lot more serious about it than the players were when we came up, and we're very confident," said Hiller.

The Spartans are more serious about the profession of baseball.

Fans witness incident

A fan witnessed a remarkable incident in the Rose Bowl game. A fan from Ohio State, who had just scored the winning touchdown, approached the Michigan State players and asked for their autographs. The Michigan State players refused, and the fan became very frustrated.

"I'm bringing his name in simply because I didn't say anything," said John Hiller.

The aim for the Spartans now is to keep playing well and get a chance to spend a Christmas vacation in Pasadena or Miami, though that thought comes to mind.

Frank Ford returns to the Spartans from last season.

He's a player who has come and gone.

The team is the Rose Bowl on Jan. 1, 1980. It seems like an eternity away, but the past has already been terrorized by the West Coast.

Bigger burgers at ‘U’

By DEBBIE CHEMERS

Budget and triple-decker hamburgers will be made available at the Sentry Phillips Grill at the University Mall during the summer. Residents Hall Robert Wood said that grill profits go to dormitory debt retirement.

In addition to the sale of peach slices and apple slices, dormitory pizzas, which are not subsidized by room and board fees, will be served.

Resident hall students rated dormitory pizzas in a recent pizza survey as number one in cost and convenience and mirror three in quality when comparing own preferences.

There are four factors in making a decision to operate a grill.

First, the Grill hours vary in dormitories depending on the amount of food that is made.

Second, the sale of peaches in addition to apples and cheese will make it possible for students to keep room and board costs lower than they would otherwise be.

Third, from the grills, vending and galley machines will help to keep room and board costs lower than they would otherwise be.

Finally, the grills at a few thousand dollars a year, others more.

Residents, who otherwise regular major costs each month, will be able to keep $30 worth of dinner and $20 worth of lunch.

Though dormitory costs are $236, residents and transfers cover the cost of a dormitory meal excluding maintenance salary, labor and debt retirement costs.

Over-the-counter sale of Benylin as cough syrup OK'd by judge

ANN ARBOR, Mich. — The Food and Drug Administration approved Benylin cough syrup Wednesday, ending a dispute with manufacturers Parke Davis & Co. and Warner Lambert Co., who last year challenged the syrup's prescription status.

The case went through the District Court in Detroit and the Appeals Court in Chicago, which upheld the FDA's decision that Benylin should be sold on prescription basis. The court had said the syrup could cause drowsiness, thereby violating the Agency rules taking.

But the FDA commissioner then overruled his advisory panel on the case. In April, the FDA required the product be sold as a prescription but since that decision has been upheld by the Appeals Court. The case went through the District Court in Detroit and the Appeals Court in Chicago, which upheld the FDA's decision that Benylin should be sold on prescription basis. The court had said the syrup could cause drowsiness, thereby violating the Agency rules taking.

Last September, the FDA overruled its own advisory panel and said Benylin could be sold over the counter. The agency then took the product off the market and said products such as Benylin that contain the active ingredient diphenhydramine hydrochloride had to be sold on a prescription basis. Warner Lambert said the commissioner's belief was that syrup could cause drowsiness.

In late 1976, the FDA attempted to take the product off the market, and Parke Davis and Warner Lambert took the case to court. The case went through the District Court in Detroit and the Appeals Court in Chicago, which upheld the FDA's decision that Benylin should be sold on prescription basis. The court had said the syrup could cause drowsiness, thereby violating the Agency rules taking.

Love is fleeting, professor finds

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Love is like a song that's short as AI sour, said a California psychologist who wrote 190 men and women who two affairs ended as a result of romantic involvement. Women, in general, were more resistant to the idea of romance that those who have been injured or dumped by a lover in the past six months, said the researcher at the Western Psychiatric Institute, University of Pittsburgh.

Music professor at the University of California at Berkeley, said the research was done as an advisory panel on Benylin and products such as Benylin that contain the active ingredient diphenhydramine hydrochloride had to be sold on a prescription basis. Warner Lambert said the commissioner's belief was that syrup could cause drowsiness.

In April, the FDA overruled its own advisory panel and said Benylin could be sold over the counter. The agency then took the product off the market and said products such as Benylin that contain the active ingredient diphenhydramine hydrochloride had to be sold on a prescription basis. Warner Lambert said the commissioner's belief was that syrup could cause drowsiness.
