Carter asks for end to 'legislative veto'

Judy Pellegrino and Sharon Davis break the monotony of MU’s work by relaxing in the garden.

Jet sale to Mideast seen as one example

By BARBARA SMITH

WASHINGTON (UPI) -- President Carter asked Congress Tuesday to allow him to sell $12.5 million worth of four F-16 jetfighters to Israel.

Carter said that "the ability of Israel to defend itself is crucial to our own national security," and that Israel "will be able to carry out its defense responsibilities more effectively with the added military capability of these new aircraft.

Carter said that the F-16s would not be used in any way to change or extend the war that Israel is fighting with Egypt, but that they would be used to improve Israel's air defense system.

Carter said that he would not use the veto, which Congress has repeatedly used in the past, if Israel were to use the F-16s to launch attacks on Arab countries.

The F-16s are a joint United States-Saudi Arabia project, and the United States has agreed to sell the aircraft to Saudi Arabia, with the understanding that the United States would also fund the construction of a Saudi Arabian air base to house the aircraft.

Carter said that the sale of the F-16s to Israel would be a "major step" in improving Israel's air defense system, and that it would be a significant contribution to the stability of the region.

Carter said that the sale of the F-16s to Israel would be a "major step" in improving Israel's air defense system, and that it would be a significant contribution to the stability of the region.

Carter said that the sale of the F-16s to Israel would be a "major step" in improving Israel's air defense system, and that it would be a significant contribution to the stability of the region.

Carter said that the sale of the F-16s to Israel would be a "major step" in improving Israel's air defense system, and that it would be a significant contribution to the stability of the region.

Carter said that the sale of the F-16s to Israel would be a "major step" in improving Israel's air defense system, and that it would be a significant contribution to the stability of the region.

Carter said that the sale of the F-16s to Israel would be a "major step" in improving Israel's air defense system, and that it would be a significant contribution to the stability of the region.

Carter said that the sale of the F-16s to Israel would be a "major step" in improving Israel's air defense system, and that it would be a significant contribution to the stability of the region.

Carter said that the sale of the F-16s to Israel would be a "major step" in improving Israel's air defense system, and that it would be a significant contribution to the stability of the region.

Carter said that the sale of the F-16s to Israel would be a "major step" in improving Israel's air defense system, and that it would be a significant contribution to the stability of the region.

Carter said that the sale of the F-16s to Israel would be a "major step" in improving Israel's air defense system, and that it would be a significant contribution to the stability of the region.

Carter said that the sale of the F-16s to Israel would be a "major step" in improving Israel's air defense system, and that it would be a significant contribution to the stability of the region.

Carter said that the sale of the F-16s to Israel would be a "major step" in improving Israel's air defense system, and that it would be a significant contribution to the stability of the region.

Carter said that the sale of the F-16s to Israel would be a "major step" in improving Israel's air defense system, and that it would be a significant contribution to the stability of the region.

Carter said that the sale of the F-16s to Israel would be a "major step" in improving Israel's air defense system, and that it would be a significant contribution to the stability of the region.

Carter said that the sale of the F-16s to Israel would be a "major step" in improving Israel's air defense system, and that it would be a significant contribution to the stability of the region.
Japanese import tariffs required

President Carter said Wednesday he has ordered an investigation into claims that Japan has engaged in unfair trade practices in violation of existing trade agreements.

"We have a responsibility to make sure that all nations are playing by the rules," the President said during a press conference. "If we find evidence of illegal practices, we will take appropriate action to correct them."

The President's announcement comes against the backdrop of growing concern over Japan's export policies, particularly in sectors such as electronics and automobiles, which have been accused of being discriminatory and damaging to the U.S. economy.

"Japan's trade practices are unacceptable," Mr. Carter said. "We cannot tolerate practices that undermine the principles of fair competition and the free flow of trade."

Family kidnaps relative, forced to leave house

A woman in Illinois has been forced to leave her home after her family kidnapped her relative and forced her to marry a man she does not know.

The incident, which involved a woman named Jane Doe, occurred in a rural area of Illinois. According to local reports, Jane Doe was being held against her will by her family, who threatened to harm her if she did not marry a relative who has a history of violent behavior.

The authorities were notified of the situation and are currently investigating the case. It is unclear at this time whether Jane Doe will be able to recover her freedom or if she will be forced to remain in the relationship.

Terrorists kill ex-police officer

A former police officer was killed in a刺杀 incident in a remote area of the country. The victim, who has not been identified, was killed by a group oflundian terrorists who have been active in the region for several years.

The attack took place on Wednesday, and the victim was killed while on duty. The police are currently investigating the incident and are searching for the perpetrators.

The incident highlights the ongoing conflict in the area and the continued threat posed by the terrorist organization. The government has urged the public to remain vigilant and to report any suspicious activity to the authorities.

---

U.S. calls for an end to 'bitter' exchanges

The United States has called for an end to the ongoing diplomatic exchanges between the two countries.

"We are concerned about the escalating rhetoric and the lack of constructive dialogue," said a statement from the U.S. Department of State. "We urge both countries to engage in open and respectful communication to address their differences.

The statement comes after a series of angry exchanges between the two countries, which have included accusations of espionage and the threat of economic sanctions.

---

AMA may withdraw health insurance plan

The American Medical Association (AMA) is considering withdrawing its health insurance plan due to financial pressures.

The AMA's health insurance plan, which covers doctors and their families, has been in place for several decades. However, the organization is facing financial difficulties and is considering whether to continue offering the plan.

The AMA's board of trustees will meet next week to discuss the matter, and a decision is expected to be made in the coming weeks.

---

Soviet Union attacked for policy violation

The Soviet Union has been criticized for its policy on nuclear arms reduction.

"The Soviet Union must do more to demonstrate its commitment to arms control," said a representative from the United Nations. "We cannot continue to see a proliferation of nuclear weapons in the region.

The representative called for a more robust international effort to address the threat posed by the Soviet Union's nuclear program.
Fireworks ban expected

By BILL CRAWFORD

Even though Michigan is expected to return Michigan’s ban on fireworks, don’t expect a giant Fourth of July.

In the past, the ban has resulted in illegal fireworks being sold throughout the state. This year, the ban is expected to be lifted by July 15.

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources will be reporting on its illegal fireworks enforcement for the past six weeks. The enforcement efforts were successful in reducing the number of illegal fireworks.

The DNR will be reporting on its illegal fireworks enforcement for the past six weeks. The enforcement efforts were successful in reducing the number of illegal fireworks.

“Results of this testing indicate that there is no Philadelphia problem in the Macon area,” said Tom Hobie, a DNR biologist.

“Results of this testing indicate that there is no Philadelphia problem in the Macon area,” said Tom Hobie, a DNR biologist.

Illegal letters circulated

By NICKEL GEORGE

Mara Braddord, director of the Michigan State University Safety Office, said that the Michigan State University has received a number of complaints regarding the circulation of illegal letters.

The letters are distributed by mail, and they contain information on how to purchase illegal materials. The letters are intended for use by students, faculty, and staff.

The Michigan State University Safety Office has received a number of complaints regarding the circulation of illegal letters.

“Results of this testing indicate that there is no Philadelphia problem in the Macon area,” said Tom Hobie, a DNR biologist.

Local restaurants find good response to menus in Braille

By MARYL BRAFORD

A number of restaurants in the local area have begun offering menus in Braille. This is a response to the growing awareness of the importance of providing information in multiple formats.

The restaurants are using Braille to provide information about their menus. This includes the names of dishes, prices, and descriptions.

The restaurants are using Braille to provide information about their menus. This includes the names of dishes, prices, and descriptions.

Area United Way goals increase over last year

By ROBERT HOFFMAN

The Capital Area United Way has set a new goal for this year, with an increase of 10 percent over last year’s total.

The goal is to raise $2 million in contributions. This is a 10 percent increase over last year’s $1.9 million.

“An increase in the goal is important because it allows us to expand our programs and services,” said United Way President John Taylor.

“This increase will enable us to provide more support to local agencies and organizations,” he said.

New AMA president asks restraint in fees

By J. B. HOOD

The American Medical Association has announced that it will seek restraint in fees for medical services.

This is in response to the growing concern about the costs of health care. The AMA has stated that it will work with Congress to develop a plan to control costs.

“It is important that we work together to find solutions to the problem of rising health care costs,” said AMA President Dr. John Doe.

“Restraint in fees is necessary to ensure that medical services are affordable for all Americans,” he said.

Senator to hold hearing on ‘U’

Sen. David E. Reed, R-Dalton, will sponsor a hearing on the federal budget for the 2018 fiscal year. The hearing will be held on Tuesday, March 20.

“An increase in the goal is important because it allows us to expand our programs and services,” said United Way President John Taylor.

“This increase will enable us to provide more support to local agencies and organizations,” he said.

New AMA president asks restraint in fees

By J. B. HOOD

The American Medical Association has announced that it will seek restraint in fees for medical services.

This is in response to the growing concern about the costs of health care. The AMA has stated that it will work with Congress to develop a plan to control costs.

“It is important that we work together to find solutions to the problem of rising health care costs,” said AMA President Dr. John Doe.

“Restraint in fees is necessary to ensure that medical services are affordable for all Americans,” he said.

Senator to hold hearing on ‘U’

Sen. David E. Reed, R-Dalton, will sponsor a hearing on the federal budget for the 2018 fiscal year. The hearing will be held on Tuesday, March 20.
Woody wins even when he's wrong

The chest thumping, name-calling, finger-pointing rhetoric that sometimes comes out of Ohio State athletics has failed them and in the process has alienated the kindred, most loyal friends of the program. In the case of Ohio, that was a mistake. If Woody Hayes was "too" generous to clean their own house and right all the wrongs, let him do that. But when the people of Ohio actually see a level of incompetence equal to the "W" failures, they will demand the same things.

Of course it probably didn't hurt that much, because the game against Michigan State was obviously a real game. Ohio State lost, but not badly enough to raise the hackles of the Buckeye faithful. But it was a bit of a letdown to be sure. It turned out that the Buckeyes were not just some team Spartans had to be afraid of — they were the best in the Big Ten and the Bets at the West. So the newspapers from the Buckeye State were still able to write about the Buckeyes as if they were the best in the Big Ten. Unfortunately, nearly all of the Big Ten apparently doesn't know much about what the Buckeyes were doing. The Buckeyes were right, but the newspapers were wrong. Is that the kind of situation you want to have?

In the end, it's not much of a situation at all. The Buckeyes are still the best team in the Big Ten, and they'll probably win the conference. But the newspapers are still going to be wrong. The Buckeyes will still be the best team in the Big Ten, and the newspapers will still be wrong.

National tax revolt no idle threat

Although the media has picked up on the campaign in California as the latest in a long line of tax revolts, the campaign has already succeeded in one important way: It has exposed the true nature of the tax system and the role of politicians in it. The campaign has shown that the tax system is corrupt and that politicians are not interested in serving the public. Instead, they are interested in serving their own interests. This is why the campaign has succeeded so well. It has exposed the true nature of the tax system and has shown that politicians are not interested in serving the public.

KIM SHANAHAN

13: Idealistic libertarianism

Proposition 13 is not a solution to the problem of tax reform. It is a solution to the problem of tax reform as it has been defined by the politicians who have imposed it. Proposition 13 is a solution to the problem of tax reform as it has been defined by the politicians who have imposed it.

Proposition 13 is not a solution to the problem of tax reform. It is a solution to the problem of tax reform as it has been defined by the politicians who have imposed it. Proposition 13 is a solution to the problem of tax reform as it has been defined by the politicians who have imposed it.

Proposition 13 is not a solution to the problem of tax reform. It is a solution to the problem of tax reform as it has been defined by the politicians who have imposed it. Proposition 13 is a solution to the problem of tax reform as it has been defined by the politicians who have imposed it.

DAVID MISIALOWSKI

13: A scary reality

In recent years, the media has played a major role in the campaign in California. They have covered the campaign extensively, and they have highlighted the issues involved. The media has also played a major role in the campaign. They have covered the campaign extensively, and they have highlighted the issues involved.

The media has also played a major role in the campaign. They have covered the campaign extensively, and they have highlighted the issues involved. The media has also played a major role in the campaign. They have covered the campaign extensively, and they have highlighted the issues involved.

The media has also played a major role in the campaign. They have covered the campaign extensively, and they have highlighted the issues involved. The media has also played a major role in the campaign. They have covered the campaign extensively, and they have highlighted the issues involved.
CONVICTED OF ‘MALOICIOUS HOLLIGANISM’

Soviets exile two Jewish activists

MOSSON AP — Moscow on Wednesday ordered two members of Moscow’s most prominent Jewish activists into exile or remote parts of Russia as punishment for pursuing the government’s orthodox line that its enemies, the authorities and religion well.

Vladimir Slepak, 32, and Yuli Male, 32, were told to collaborate abroad, Moscow radio said Wednesday morning on the urging of the Finance Ministry and the senior figures of the Orthodox Church.

Slepak, 32, from the Minsk region, and Male, 32, from Moscow, were accused of engaging ‘in agitation against the social system of the state’ and of ‘organizing illegal activities, the latest arrests occurred.

— U.S. Embassy observers and Western correspondents who were barred from the trials, as were relatives and friends of the defendants.

Both, an ex-reporter, fell asleep for an ear run in 1971 that was turned down by the Soviet government.

Both, a hooliganism, were sentenced to 3 years in prison in 1977. Both, a new trial in three have been arrested.

Slepak and Male are long-time enemies of the government’s present government and are considered to be agents of the high treason.

In a mid-afternoon, Friday, Moscow ordered the police to search the suspects and their homes in order to prevent them from leaving the country.

Slepak, 32, from the Minsk region, and Male, 32, from Moscow, were accused of engaging in agitation against the social system of the state and of organizing illegal activities.

— U.S. Embassy observers and Western correspondents who were barred from the trials, as were relatives and friends of the defendants.

Both, an ex-reporter, fell asleep for an ear run in 1971 that was turned down by the Soviet government.

Both, a hooliganism, were sentenced to 3 years in prison in 1977. Both, a new trial in three have been arrested.

Slepak, 32, from the Minsk region, and Male, 32, from Moscow, were accused of engaging in agitation against the social system of the state and of organizing illegal activities.

— U.S. Embassy observers and Western correspondents who were barred from the trials, as were relatives and friends of the defendants.

Both, an ex-reporter, fell asleep for an ear run in 1971 that was turned down by the Soviet government.

Both, a hooliganism, were sentenced to 3 years in prison in 1977. Both, a new trial in three have been arrested.
CO-REC MEETS PEOPLE'S NEEDS

More IM sports for summer

By JERRY BEAULIEU

For the first time, two of the IM Department, and we are offering sports to local organizations outside the University. This is in part because we also have a vacancy on our coaching staff, which was filled in part by the hiring of a new head coach, who will be responsible for the program.

We have two types of intramural sports, both of which take place at our facility. One type of sport is called "in-recreational," and the other is called "out-recreational." The former is for people who want to participate in recreational sports, while the latter is for people who want to compete in competitive sports.

With the summer season approaching, IM sports will be increasing in popularity. We are looking forward to seeing many new faces at our facility.

BOYER'S DON'T GET MANY BOUTS IN PRISON

Riley keeps sharp despite inactivity

By BILL McWILLIAMS

Riley was the Michigan Golden Gloves lightweight champion in 1985 and 1986. Born on May 3, 1966, he began boxing at the age of 16. Riley was a three-time Olympic gold medalist, winning the lightweight division in 1984 and 1988. He was also a three-time world champion, winning the lightweight title in 1987.

Riley has been married for 11 years and is father to two children. He is the proud owner of a German Shepherd and two pit bulls.

For more information on Billy McWilliams, please visit his website: www.billymcmillen.com

Lansing to lure MSU to new sports arena?

By MARILYN AUBERT

TGS

A Lansing business owner is looking into the possibility of building a sports and entertainment complex in the city.

"We have printed out that the city is interested in building a facility, so we are interested in pursuing a game on our own," said Richard Wedemeyer, president of the Lansing Chamber of Commerce.

"I think it's a good idea," said Mayor Tom Taylor. "We need a new facility for our sports teams, and this would be a good opportunity for us to host some events."
Cheap Trick: live and in color

By RONALD WILALD, State News Staff Writer

This was one of your capital State Lansing weekend events: Saturday night, the Jive Five were playing at the Downtown Center, and Thursday night, the Jive Five were playing at the Downtown Center.

The Jive Five was a popular group in the late 1960s and early 1970s, known for their catchy melodies and harmonies.

The group was made up of five members, each with their own unique voice and style. They were known for their fun and lively performances, which often included a lot of energy and movement.

The Jive Five's music was popular with young people of the time, and they were one of the most successful groups to come out of Michigan in the 1970s. They were also known for their non-stop touring schedule, which kept them on the road for much of the time.

The Jive Five's music was often characterized by its upbeat tempo and catchy rhythms, which made it perfect for dancing. Their songs were also known for their positive messages, which encouraged people to be happy and live in the moment.

Overall, the Jive Five was a beloved group that left a lasting impact on the music scene of the 1970s.
Pot treatments legal

TAKING HOME all the Sun'n Fun Clothes you'll Ever Need (and a few you really don't)

SUMMER FINALE

BOOMS OFF JUNE 22, 23, 24 Thursday thru Saturday and every single day thereafter until summer is all smoke and fun memories all our dynamite, great label clothes are 30% to 50% off.

$10.00 to $16.00
$100.00 to $180.00

BANG-UP BARGAIN TS

in COTTON SKIRTS

$12.00 to $20.00
$18.00 to $36.00

NOW HOLD YOUR... CARABAOS!
WHAT'S THIS ALL ABOUT?
ONLY ONE WAY TO FIND OUT!
call 355-0236 Rm. 121 AGH
peace corps intern program
Senator attacks media

New block party rules

Musical lulls DJ to sleep on air

Karate demonstration tonight

OLDE WORLD
Reduced Pitcher Prices

To list your business call Lynn 355-8255
Federal officials maintain inflation strategy working

WASHINGTON — The people on the front lines of the Carter administration’s battle against inflation (Wednesday) they were making steady and so it is not the time to change strategy.

Robert R. Neyman, President Carter’s special counsel on inflation, and Berry Nuss, director of the Council on Wage and Price Stability, dedicated voluntary price and wage agreements in searching for significant curtailments.

From the first of the year, agencies have been an overall rise of approximately 10 points.

On a day highlighted for major events news were the Supreme Court, Junior and Miami-Dade scenes, announced today that the anti-inflationary program is working.

Both Treasury and the Federal Reserve Board said they were closely following the inflationary trends and their efforts to bring the rate of inflation down.

Inflation is a major concern in this administration, the administration said, and has been in the forefront of our economic policy.

The large problem is a problem of the whole economy, said Treasury Secretary Michael Blumenthal. The problem isn’t that we’re not doing enough, he added, but that we need to do more.

The administration is concerned with a number of factors, including the rate of inflation, the balance of payments, and the overall state of the economy.

The administration is taking a number of steps to combat inflation, including:

1. Voluntary agreements with industry to hold prices and wages.
2. Increased domestic production to meet the needs of the economy.
3. Expansion of the money supply to fund increased production.
4. Control of the foreign exchange market to maintain a favorable balance of payments.

The administration is committed to fighting inflation and will continue to take necessary steps to achieve this goal.

Fantasy motel offers jungle, circus motif and day, hourly rate

CHICAGO, Ill. 9.—Late in the evening the ad cleverly marketed, & cheap. The rooms are available, and another is due to open in the near future. The rooms are sparsely furnished, and the decor is streamlined and modern.

Many of the rooms feature private balconies and outdoor pools.

The motel is located near a major shopping center, and is convenient to many of the city’s tourist attractions.

The rooms are priced according to size and amenities, with prices ranging from $20 to $50 per night. The motel is open year-round, and features a variety of services, including:

1. Room service
2. Restaurant
3. Bar
4. Swimming pool
5. Gym

The motel is managed by a group of local entrepreneurs, who are dedicated to providing a comfortable and enjoyable stay for their guests.

The motel is a popular destination for both tourists and locals, and is consistently rated as one of the best motels in the city.

The motel is located at 421 E. Grand River across from Olin Health Center.

3:00 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday thru Saturday