PLO takes blame for Jerusalem blast

Washington — The Associated Press

The Palestine Liberation Organization apparently took responsibility for the bomb blast that killed 48 people in Jerusalem yesterday, sending a message that it was "necessary to respond to the Zionist occupation authority, the United States and its allies and the Carter Administration, which have supplied the Zionist occupation authority with all sorts of means to continue the occupation of Jerusalem and the Arab land."

The message, signed by the PLO's Revolutionary Command Council, said theblast was in response to "Zionist outrages and the usurping of Arab lands." It was not clear whether the PLO was referring to the Israeli bombing of the headquarters of the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine yesterday or the recent Israeli offensive in Beirut.

The Associated Press has learned that the PLO already has begun making plans to respond to the blast.

E ffs haid Bakke as pro-minorities

WASHINGTON — The House Commerce Committee is holding an inquiry into the so-called "Koreagate" as a possible violation of the antitrust law.

The committee is investigating whether the company has violated the law by paying the company to secure passage of a bill that would benefit a minority group.

The company has already been fined $1 million for its role in the "Koreagate" scandal.

Tentative vindications for 'Koreagate'

WASHINGTON — The House Commerce Committee has held a hearing to investigate the "Koreagate" scandal.

The committee has already issued a report that says the company violated the antitrust law.

The company has already been fined $1 million for its role in the "Koreagate" scandal.

Legelations 'Laid to rest by Probe'

Washington — The House Commerce Committee has held a hearing to investigate the "Koreagate" scandal.

The committee has already issued a report that says the company violated the antitrust law.

The company has already been fined $1 million for its role in the "Koreagate" scandal.

friday

inside

weather

Bundled for winter in the snow, the State News is a hard copy of the newspaper. The snow is helping to keep the news frozen in place, and the frigid temperatures are keeping the pages crisp and sharp.
Hanoi, U.S. may begin business trading

HONG KONG AP (AP) - The first American business delegation arrived in Hanoi since the 1972 peace talks last week, the South China Morning Post said. The four-member delegation from the American Chamber of Commerce in Hong Kong arrived in Hanoi Thursday after a week-long trip to Tokyo and Seoul. The delegation is expected to visit North Vietnam to discuss trade relations. It is led by Mr. Chamber President Michael Brown and the organization representative, Mr. Simpson.

Vietnam denies it launched invasion

BANGKOK AP (AP) - Vietnam denied in Tokyo that it had launched a large-scale invasion of Cambodia and that it was responsible for the deaths of American and Thai soldier in the border region. Vietnam's deputy foreign minister, while acknowledging the deaths of the Americans and Thais, said that they were killed in self-defense. Vietnam has consistently denied invasion of Cambodia.

E. Europe involved in Africa

Reagan News Briefing

WASHINGTON AP (AP) - President Reagan said Thursday that federal officials are looking into the possibility of detaining a suspected case of computer fraud. The president told the press that the investigation is continuing and that a decision will be made in the near future.

AIDS

WASHINGTON AP (AP) - The U.S. government is considering a proposal to use a new treatment for AIDS patients. The proposal, which involves the use of a drug called zidovudine, is being reviewed by the National Institutes of Health. The drug has shown promise in preliminary trials.

Bulgaria, Poland, and East Germany.

WASHINGTON AP (AP) - The U.S. government is considering a proposal to use a new treatment for AIDS patients. The proposal, which involves the use of a drug called zidovudine, is being reviewed by the National Institutes of Health. The drug has shown promise in preliminary trials.

Customer services

WASHINGTON AP (AP) - The U.S. government is considering a proposal to use a new treatment for AIDS patients. The proposal, which involves the use of a drug called zidovudine, is being reviewed by the National Institutes of Health. The drug has shown promise in preliminary trials.

COOK et al.

WASHINGTON AP (AP) - The U.S. government is considering a proposal to use a new treatment for AIDS patients. The proposal, which involves the use of a drug called zidovudine, is being reviewed by the National Institutes of Health. The drug has shown promise in preliminary trials.
Tisch leads state tax drive

Group seeking reforms by calling for amendment

Grievance hearing to be closed

'U' programs attract most money ever opinion

Affirmative action should not need legislative prod

Despite the trend of self-nullification, the University seems to be pursuing a means of reasserting itself in the American higher-education scene. The University Foundation Program and the MSU Foundation Program are still in operation, and the MSU Board has recently approved a proposal for a new foundation program. This is a welcome development, and it is hoped that the University will continue to pursue this approach in the future.

Renaldo Maldonado

Begin must start bending

Israel's Prime Minister Menahem Begin has made a step toward self-definition in his efforts to strengthen the country's position in the world. He has given a strong indication that he is willing to negotiate with Egypt toward the establishment of a peace settlement in the Middle East. This is a positive development, and it is hoped that the negotiations will lead to a lasting peace agreement.

Ralph Bonner

George Cushnerry

Cushnerry's final request to Begin was that the University's policy be made clear and that the rights of the students be protected. Cushnerry is a supporter of affirmative action and believes that it is necessary for the University to continue to pursue this policy. He is willing to support the University in its efforts to meet the goals of the program.

Cushnerry's letter is an important reminder of the importance of the University's efforts to meet the goals of affirmative action. It is hoped that the University will continue to pursue this policy in the future.

Renaldo Maldonado

Eyebrows and time, easy come, easy go

Now, we're right in the dog days here in the State News offices. The heat wave has broken, the dog days are over, and the students are coming back to campus. It's hard to believe that we've only got about three more weeks until fall classes begin. The air is hot and humid, and the nights are long and dark. It's easy to imagine that the summer is going to last forever.

But the reality is that it's time to face the music. The fall semester is just around the corner, and the work is not going to get any easier. The deadlines are approaching, and the pressure is on. It's time to buckle down and get to work.

Renaldo Maldonado

letters

Cutting taxes will cut off education

We have advocated that the expected effects of the federal government's tax cut program be analyzed on the performance of public education. We believe that this is a critical issue, and we believe that the government should take this analysis seriously.

We believe that the government should be responsible for providing the education that is needed by our citizens. We believe that this is a fundamental responsibility of government, and we believe that the government should be willing to take on this responsibility.

The black faculty noticed it first

The black faculty at the University of California at Berkeley noticed it first. They saw the signs of a growing crisis, and they spoke out. They knew that the crisis was serious, and they knew that it needed to be addressed.

We believe that the government should be willing to take on the responsibility of providing the education that is needed by our citizens. We believe that this is a fundamental responsibility of government, and we believe that the government should be willing to take on this responsibility.

Renaldo Maldonado

Perrin refutes editorial with accusation

It is not being denied that the myopic dedication to the science of point and counterpoint is a particularism of the partisan press. The full weight of the argument is opposed to affirmative action by returning to the conventional wisdom of a lengthy article by the Washington Post's Robert D. Novak. Without the accompanying argument of the author, the argument is a mere apologetic for a position.

The black faculty noticed it first. They saw the signs of a growing crisis, and they spoke out. They knew that the crisis was serious, and they knew that it needed to be addressed.

We believe that the government should be willing to take on the responsibility of providing the education that is needed by our citizens. We believe that this is a fundamental responsibility of government, and we believe that the government should be willing to take on this responsibility.

Renaldo Maldonado
A spokesperson for the plant said: "It seems he doesn't have the department threatened with the hangar's lease would be extended on a month.

"Basically, they've been told to get out," Robinson said, adding that the hangar was being used to house the department's fleet of trucks and to store the department's equipment.

"Really, they've been told to get out," Robinson said. "We're going to talk about the situation when we have a chance to speak with the chief of the department.

"We have some other possibilities if we can't get this hangar back," Robinson said.

"I have been here for the department for 15 years," Robinson said. "I think the hangar is a part of the department's history and should be protected by the department. We would like to have the hangar back.

"We have some other possibilities if we can't get this hangar back," Robinson said.

"I have been here for the department for 15 years," Robinson said. "I think the hangar is a part of the department's history and should be protected by the department. We would like to have the hangar back."
Love's living legend returns

This Weekend:

By JOHN JOHN

Love is back in town! Rock and roll's most beloved band is in the area for a special performance. Love fans will not want to miss this opportunity to see their favorite musicians live and in person.

The band's成员, Arthur Lee, Phil Upchurch, and Randall Kerman, will reunite for a special performance at the University of Michigan's Hill Auditorium. The show is expected to be a highlights of their career, with all the hits and fan favorites from their successful years.

The show is set for Friday, June 30, at 8 p.m. Doors open at 7 p.m. Tickets are on sale now and are expected to sell out quickly.

The City of Ann Arbor's Department of Parks and Recreation has announced a free outdoor concert on July 4 in Riverfront Park. The bands will start at 2 p.m. and the festivities will continue until midnight.

The concerts will feature a variety of rock, country, and blues bands. There will be food trucks, craft vendors, and a fireworks display to conclude the evening.

The concert is free and open to the public. However, parking is limited, and it is recommended that visitors arrive early to ensure a spot. The event is expected to attract a large crowd, so plan ahead.

The band's members have been touring extensively over the past few years, with a focus on performing their classic hits and sharing their storied history with fans.

The show is not to be missed by any fan of rock and roll. Make sure to get your tickets today and be a part of this historic event.

Theatre — Neil Simon's "Love, a Los Angeles based group, is currently performing at the University of Michigan's Power Center. The play, which is a regional hit in various cities, has been praised for its powerful storytelling and raw emotion.

The play is a memoir of Arthur Lee's life, from his early days in Los Angeles to his time in the music industry. It's a story of struggle, triumph, and personal growth.

The play's success is due in part to the performances of its cast, which includes some of the most talented actors in the business. Lee's portrayal of himself is particularly captivating, and it's a testament to the power of theatrical performances.

The show is a must-see for anyone interested in the story of rock and roll, and it's a reminder of the incredible talent that can be found in the world of theatre.
IM Notes

Large Bean Bags

For Fun Sitting

New 19.95 Assorted Colors

On Sale: 50% Off

Pillow Furniture

First Week: $9.95, Second Week: $4.95

Mac's Game Bar

*SUNDAY, JULY 4...

HATTIE THIBAU ...

3:15, 5:15, 7:45, 9:15*

Books...

The Great Summer Take Along!

Your One-Stop Magazine Shop Too.

Meridian West

Meridian East

TOMI DAILY!!!

A FRIDAY NIGHT DELIGHT!

TONIGHT FROM 9:00 PM

TILL CLOSE

MICHIGAN'S 1 BLUE GRASS GROUP!

No Cover! No Minimum!

THE BLUE GRASS EXTENSION SERVICE

HAPPY HOURS

11 AM TO 8 PM

DAILY

TONIGHT & SATURDAY

COUNTY FAIR NIGHT

APPALOOSA

COMING SUNDAY:

LOST WORLD STRAND THEATRE

LOW WAVE STRAND THEATRE

MON. - SAT.

THE BLITZ BROTHERS (Closed 4th)

NEW DAILY LUNCH SPECIALS UNDER 2

LIZARDS

UNDERGROUND

224 Abbott Rd East Lansing

533-2285

WALT DISNEY

The Jungle Book

Walt Disney's

The Jungle Book

FIRST TIME DAUGHTERS!

FIRST TIME DAUGHTERS!

FIRST TIME DAUGHTERS!

FIRST TIME DAUGHTERS!

FIRST TIME DAUGHTERS!
now showing

INDIAN SKIES

for more information call 344-6910

FREE Entertainment for the Whole Family

Story Theatre

TWO PERFORMANCES ONLY
Tonight and Saturday at 8:30 p.m. on the
Summer Circle Free Festival Stagein the Kresge Courtyard presented by
MSU Theatre Department - High School Workshop
in Theatre
Nan Burling, Director

FREEagan

FIREWORKS SHOW

THAT'S RIGHT. YOU CAN SEE ALL YOUR FAVORITE CARTOONS ONLY AT THE STORY THEATRE THIS HOLIDAY PROGRAM

KONSTAFF and MacDRAW...ain't nothin' gonna get in their way!

CONVOY

KNS

KONSTAFF

MACDRAW

BURT YOUNG

ERNEST HEMINGWAY

MICHAEL W. MACDONALD

United Artists

Tickets Available at both Recordlands and Lansing Civic Center Box Office

THE BIG SLEEP

www.michigantimesnews.com
HAGAR the Horrible* by Dik Browne

SPONSORED BY: "I'M UNDER STRICT DOCTORS ORDERS - NO RICH DESSERTS, NO HEAVY DRINKING, AND A NEW WORK ON NATIONAL HEALTH INSURANCE!"

THE DROPOUTS* by Post

SPONSORED BY: "WILL I CRY... WHAT SHOULDN'T I CRY? CHANGE OF MY SYNDROME... NOT JUST SADNESS... TAKE THE BOX AND TAKE THE SADNESS..."

B.C.™ by Johnny Hart

SPONSORED BY: "YOU'RE GOING TO GET IT IN THE SHORTS... YOU..."

SAM and SILO™ by Jerry Dumas and Mort Walker

SPONSORED BY: "BUT AFTER LOOKING AT OUR BUDGET, WE CAME TO DECIDE THAT THE BILLS ARE ALRIGHT..."

BEETLE BAILEY™ by Mort Walker

SPONSORED BY: "I DON'T FEEL SO GOOD, SOMETHING'S GONNA HAPPEN AROUND HERE..."
Students 'adopt' grandparents for 'U' program

By JOANNE LANE
Over 600 maintenance and transportation workers at Michigan State University had a chance to 'adopt' a grandparent Saturday as part of the Adopt A Grandparent program at MSU.

The program began in 1974 as a way to break the gap in the lives of elderly people and students. Each year, the program gets bigger and bigger and offers students a chance to make a difference in the lives of people who need it.

EAST LANSING - 209 E. Grand River

The program grew each year and in 1975 was presented the "National Volunteer Award" by the National Association of Volunteer Services.

Although the majority of the participants are maintenance and transportation workers, the program is open to all employees.

The conference ended with a group prayer session and a reading of the "School Custodian Pledge." Shapiro said the conference was that it had a positive impact on the volunteers and volunteers.

The proposal to create the Adopt A Grandparent program was made at an MSU "Grandparent" program in 1974.

Over 600 maintenance and transportation workers at Michigan State University had a chance to 'adopt' a grandparent Saturday as part of the Adopt A Grandparent program at MSU. The program began in 1974 as a way to break the gap in the lives of elderly people and students. Each year, the program gets bigger and bigger and offers students a chance to make a difference in the lives of people who need it.

The program began in 1974 as a way to break the gap in the lives of elderly people and students. Each year, the program gets bigger and bigger and offers students a chance to make a difference in the lives of people who need it.

The program began in 1974 as a way to break the gap in the lives of elderly people and students. Each year, the program gets bigger and bigger and offers students a chance to make a difference in the lives of people who need it.

Over 600 maintenance and transportation workers at Michigan State University had a chance to 'adopt' a grandparent Saturday as part of the Adopt A Grandparent program at MSU. The program began in 1974 as a way to break the gap in the lives of elderly people and students. Each year, the program gets bigger and bigger and offers students a chance to make a difference in the lives of people who need it.

The program began in 1974 as a way to break the gap in the lives of elderly people and students. Each year, the program gets bigger and bigger and offers students a chance to make a difference in the lives of people who need it.

Over 600 maintenance and transportation workers at Michigan State University had a chance to 'adopt' a grandparent Saturday as part of the Adopt A Grandparent program at MSU. The program began in 1974 as a way to break the gap in the lives of elderly people and students. Each year, the program gets bigger and bigger and offers students a chance to make a difference in the lives of people who need it.

Over 600 maintenance and transportation workers at Michigan State University had a chance to 'adopt' a grandparent Saturday as part of the Adopt A Grandparent program at MSU. The program began in 1974 as a way to break the gap in the lives of elderly people and students. Each year, the program gets bigger and bigger and offers students a chance to make a difference in the lives of people who need it.

Over 600 maintenance and transportation workers at Michigan State University had a chance to 'adopt' a grandparent Saturday as part of the Adopt A Grandparent program at MSU. The program began in 1974 as a way to break the gap in the lives of elderly people and students. Each year, the program gets bigger and bigger and offers students a chance to make a difference in the lives of people who need it.

The program began in 1974 as a way to break the gap in the lives of elderly people and students. Each year, the program gets bigger and bigger and offers students a chance to make a difference in the lives of people who need it.

The program began in 1974 as a way to break the gap in the lives of elderly people and students. Each year, the program gets bigger and bigger and offers students a chance to make a difference in the lives of people who need it.

Over 600 maintenance and transportation workers at Michigan State University had a chance to 'adopt' a grandparent Saturday as part of the Adopt A Grandparent program at MSU. The program began in 1974 as a way to break the gap in the lives of elderly people and students. Each year, the program gets bigger and bigger and offers students a chance to make a difference in the lives of people who need it.

Over 600 maintenance and transportation workers at Michigan State University had a chance to 'adopt' a grandparent Saturday as part of the Adopt A Grandparent program at MSU. The program began in 1974 as a way to break the gap in the lives of elderly people and students. Each year, the program gets bigger and bigger and offers students a chance to make a difference in the lives of people who need it.

Over 600 maintenance and transportation workers at Michigan State University had a chance to 'adopt' a grandparent Saturday as part of the Adopt A Grandparent program at MSU. The program began in 1974 as a way to break the gap in the lives of elderly people and students. Each year, the program gets bigger and bigger and offers students a chance to make a difference in the lives of people who need it.

Over 600 maintenance and transportation workers at Michigan State University had a chance to 'adopt' a grandparent Saturday as part of the Adopt A Grandparent program at MSU. The program began in 1974 as a way to break the gap in the lives of elderly people and students. Each year, the program gets bigger and bigger and offers students a chance to make a difference in the lives of people who need it.

Over 600 maintenance and transportation workers at Michigan State University had a chance to 'adopt' a grandparent Saturday as part of the Adopt A Grandparent program at MSU. The program began in 1974 as a way to break the gap in the lives of elderly people and students. Each year, the program gets bigger and bigger and offers students a chance to make a difference in the lives of people who need it.

Over 600 maintenance and transportation workers at Michigan State University had a chance to 'adopt' a grandparent Saturday as part of the Adopt A Grandparent program at MSU. The program began in 1974 as a way to break the gap in the lives of elderly people and students. Each year, the program gets bigger and bigger and offers students a chance to make a difference in the lives of people who need it.

Over 600 maintenance and transportation workers at Michigan State University had a chance to 'adopt' a grandparent Saturday as part of the Adopt A Grandparent program at MSU. The program began in 1974 as a way to break the gap in the lives of elderly people and students. Each year, the program gets bigger and bigger and offers students a chance to make a difference in the lives of people who need it.

Over 600 maintenance and transportation workers at Michigan State University had a chance to 'adopt' a grandparent Saturday as part of the Adopt A Grandparent program at MSU. The program began in 1974 as a way to break the gap in the lives of elderly people and students. Each year, the program gets bigger and bigger and offers students a chance to make a difference in the lives of people who need it.

Over 600 maintenance and transportation workers at Michigan State University had a chance to 'adopt' a grandparent Saturday as part of the Adopt A Grandparent program at MSU. The program began in 1974 as a way to break the gap in the lives of elderly people and students. Each year, the program gets bigger and bigger and offers students a chance to make a difference in the lives of people who need it.

Over 600 maintenance and transportation workers at Michigan State University had a chance to 'adopt' a grandparent Saturday as part of the Adopt A Grandparent program at MSU. The program began in 1974 as a way to break the gap in the lives of elderly people and students. Each year, the program gets bigger and bigger and offers students a chance to make a difference in the lives of people who need it.

Over 600 maintenance and transportation workers at Michigan State University had a chance to 'adopt' a grandparent Saturday as part of the Adopt A Grandparent program at MSU. The program began in 1974 as a way to break the gap in the lives of elderly people and students. Each year, the program gets bigger and bigger and offers students a chance to make a difference in the lives of people who need it.

Over 600 maintenance and transportation workers at Michigan State University had a chance to 'adopt' a grandparent Saturday as part of the Adopt A Grandparent program at MSU. The program began in 1974 as a way to break the gap in the lives of elderly people and students. Each year, the program gets bigger and bigger and offers students a chance to make a difference in the lives of people who need it.

Over 600 maintenance and transportation workers at Michigan State University had a chance to 'adopt' a grandparent Saturday as part of the Adopt A Grandparent program at MSU. The program began in 1974 as a way to break the gap in the lives of elderly people and students. Each year, the program gets bigger and bigger and offers students a chance to make a difference in the lives of people who need it.

Over 600 maintenance and transportation workers at Michigan State University had a chance to 'adopt' a grandparent Saturday as part of the Adopt A Grandparent program at MSU. The program began in 1974 as a way to break the gap in the lives of elderly people and students. Each year, the program gets bigger and bigger and offers students a chance to make a difference in the lives of people who need it.

Over 600 maintenance and transportation workers at Michigan State University had a chance to 'adopt' a grandparent Saturday as part of the Adopt A Grandparent program at MSU. The program began in 1974 as a way to break the gap in the lives of elderly people and students. Each year, the program gets bigger and bigger and offers students a chance to make a difference in the lives of people who need it.

Over 600 maintenance and transportation workers at Michigan State University had a chance to 'adopt' a grandparent Saturday as part of the Adopt A Grandparent program at MSU. The program began in 1974 as a way to break the gap in the lives of elderly people and students. Each year, the program gets bigger and bigger and offers students a chance to make a difference in the lives of people who need it.