by rought christiaN

santos. chile (ap) — president felipe leonardo rubalcaba said friday that chile would never abdicate its sovereignty

unless united nations and world would be extruded without proof of fact.

the president's statement at a blending meeting with representatives against war in iraq was released in official public.

the news media by the u.s. house of representatives approved by vote a recall of all chilean diplomats in addition to the u.s. liaison.

the news media by the u.s. house of representatives approved by vote a recall of all chilean diplomats in addition to the u.s. liaison.

u.s. to lift economic ban against rhodesia if free elections exist

by lawrence p. drew

the house voted wednesday to remove economic sanctions against rhodesia on the ground that it has shown a willingness to hold free elections.

the house voted wednesday to remove economic sanctions against rhodesia on the ground that it has shown a willingness to hold free elections.

fire in iraq convulsion, injure two

by willa dvice

the iraqi fire force said today it had killed eight of its own soldiers in a blast that also killed two civilians.

the iraqi fire force said today it had killed eight of its own soldiers in a blast that also killed two civilians.

yemeni fire on iraqi convoy, injure two

by c.K.

the iraqi fire force said today it had killed eight of its own soldiers in a blast that also killed two civilians.

the iraqi fire force said today it had killed eight of its own soldiers in a blast that also killed two civilians.

times reporter granted 48-hour delay of sentence

by carole falkman

the new york times reporter went to court today to ask for a delay to allow him to prepare for his trial.

the new york times reporter went to court today to ask for a delay to allow him to prepare for his trial.

fereny backs federal tax revolt

by ann marie broido

lawrence fereny said tuesday that the white house was tractable to federal taxes.

lawrence fereny said tuesday that the white house was tractable to federal taxes.

candidate debates headlee, texas

by paula suive

texas governor mark white has been engaged in a campaign to win back the voter support he lost during his fight against the texas tax.

texas governor mark white has been engaged in a campaign to win back the voter support he lost during his fight against the texas tax.

supermarket blaze kills six firemen, wounds 27

by arthurr b. rebert

a supermarket explosion in new york city on sunday killed six firemen and injured 27.

a supermarket explosion in new york city on sunday killed six firemen and injured 27.

michigam

auugust 3, 1979

the state news

chilean head refuses to extradite accused

by rought christiaN

santos. chile (ap) — president felipe leonardo rubalcaba said friday that chile would never abdicate its sovereignty

unless united nations and world would be extruded without proof of fact.

the president's statement at a blending meeting with representatives against war in iraq was released in official public.

the news media by the u.s. house of representatives approved by vote a recall of all chilean diplomats in addition to the u.s. liaison.

the news media by the u.s. house of representatives approved by vote a recall of all chilean diplomats in addition to the u.s. liaison.

u.s. to lift economic ban against rhodesia if free elections exist

by lawrence p. drew

the house voted wednesday to remove economic sanctions against rhodesia on the ground that it has shown a willingness to hold free elections.

the house voted wednesday to remove economic sanctions against rhodesia on the ground that it has shown a willingness to hold free elections.

fire in iraq convulsion, injure two

by willa dvice

the iraqi fire force said today it had killed eight of its own soldiers in a blast that also killed two civilians.

the iraqi fire force said today it had killed eight of its own soldiers in a blast that also killed two civilians.

yemeni fire on iraqi convoy, injure two

by c.K.

the iraqi fire force said today it had killed eight of its own soldiers in a blast that also killed two civilians.

the iraqi fire force said today it had killed eight of its own soldiers in a blast that also killed two civilians.

times reporter granted 48-hour delay of sentence

by carole falkman

the new york times reporter went to court today to ask for a delay to allow him to prepare for his trial.

the new york times reporter went to court today to ask for a delay to allow him to prepare for his trial.

fereny backs federal tax revolt

by ann marie broido

lawrence fereny said tuesday that the white house was tractable to federal taxes.

lawrence fereny said tuesday that the white house was tractable to federal taxes.

candidate debates headlee, texas

by paula suive

texas governor mark white has been engaged in a campaign to win back the voter support he lost during his fight against the texas tax.

texas governor mark white has been engaged in a campaign to win back the voter support he lost during his fight against the texas tax.

supermarket blaze kills six firemen, wounds 27

by arthurr b. rebert

a supermarket explosion in new york city on sunday killed six firemen and injured 27.

a supermarket explosion in new york city on sunday killed six firemen and injured 27.

michigam

auugust 3, 1979

the state news

chilean head refuses to extradite accused

by rought christiaN

santos. chile (ap) — president felipe leonardo rubalcaba said friday that chile would never abdicate its sovereignty

unless united nations and world would be extruded without proof of fact.

the president's statement at a blending meeting with representatives against war in iraq was released in official public.

the news media by the u.s. house of representatives approved by vote a recall of all chilean diplomats in addition to the u.s. liaison.

the news media by the u.s. house of representatives approved by vote a recall of all chilean diplomats in addition to the u.s. liaison.

u.s. to lift economic ban against rhodesia if free elections exist

by lawrence p. drew

the house voted wednesday to remove economic sanctions against rhodesia on the ground that it has shown a willingness to hold free elections.

the house voted wednesday to remove economic sanctions against rhodesia on the ground that it has shown a willingness to hold free elections.

fire in iraq convulsion, injure two

by willa dvice

the iraqi fire force said today it had killed eight of its own soldiers in a blast that also killed two civilians.

the iraqi fire force said today it had killed eight of its own soldiers in a blast that also killed two civilians.

yemeni fire on iraqi convoy, injure two

by c.K.

the iraqi fire force said today it had killed eight of its own soldiers in a blast that also killed two civilians.

the iraqi fire force said today it had killed eight of its own soldiers in a blast that also killed two civilians.

times reporter granted 48-hour delay of sentence

by carole falkman

the new york times reporter went to court today to ask for a delay to allow him to prepare for his trial.

the new york times reporter went to court today to ask for a delay to allow him to prepare for his trial.

fereny backs federal tax revolt

by ann marie broido

lawrence fereny said tuesday that the white house was tractable to federal taxes.

lawrence fereny said tuesday that the white house was tractable to federal taxes.

candidate debates headlee, texas

by paula suive

texas governor mark white has been engaged in a campaign to win back the voter support he lost during his fight against the texas tax.

texas governor mark white has been engaged in a campaign to win back the voter support he lost during his fight against the texas tax.

supermarket blaze kills six firemen, wounds 27

by arthurr b. rebert

a supermarket explosion in new york city on sunday killed six firemen and injured 27.

a supermarket explosion in new york city on sunday killed six firemen and injured 27.
Carter asks rewrite of tax cut

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The White House asked Congress yesterday to approve a proposed $51 billion tax revision, the biggest tax-cutting bill in history, to help refuel the faltering economy. The administration's plan would reduce the corporate tax rate from 49% to 41%, extend the tax credit for investments, and extend the deduction for research and development.

The proposal, which is expected to be considered in the House and Senate next week, would reduce the corporate tax rate from 49% to 41%, extend the tax credit for investments, and extend the deduction for research and development. The administration's plan would also reduce the capital gains tax rate from 28% to 20%, and increase the standard deduction for singles from $1,200 to $2,000.

AMBASSADOR IN NEW YORK
Lebanese army attacked

HEBSON, Lebanon (UPI) — Lebanon's army agrees to halt a ground invasion of three Arab states after uniting with their supporters in the war effort. The agreement was reached after a meeting of Arab leaders in New York.

The agreement was reached after a meeting of Arab leaders in New York. It includes a cease-fire agreement and a commitment to withdraw troops from the war-torn region.

ERISA hearings may hit filibuster

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The Senate Finance Committee has scheduled a hearing on the Employee Retirement Income Security Act (ERISA) laws, a key component of the administration's tax reform package. The hearing is expected to take place next week.

Group to provide info, organize major activities

WASHINGTON, D.C. — A new organization, the National Coalition for Civil Rights, has been formed to fight discrimination against gay Americans. The group is expected to be active in the coming months.

The group is expected to be active in the coming months. It will focus on providing information and support to those affected by discrimination.

Some more from Carter:

COAL

"U.S. Energy Dept.

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The U.S. Energy Department has announced plans to expand coal production in the western United States. The plans are expected to create thousands of new jobs and boost the economy.

The plans are expected to create thousands of new jobs and boost the economy. The department plans to expand coal mining in areas with significant coal deposits.

Some more from Carter:

OLD CREDIT

"We've been trying to get a handle on this problem for years, and we still haven't made any progress," said a department official.

The official said that the department has been working on the problem for years, but has not made any significant progress.

The official said that the department has been working on the problem for years, but has not made any significant progress. Despite these efforts, the department continues to struggle with the issue.
COAL BURNING AS CARCINOGEN

"U" cancer study funded

By PAUL DORSEY
State News Staff Writer

Ann Arbor, Mich.—Researchers from the University of Michigan and Michigan State University have been working on a project to study the effects of coal burning on human health. The project, which is funded by the National Institute of Environmental Health Sciences, involves collecting and analyzing air samples from areas with high concentrations of coal-burning emissions. The ultimate goal is to determine the long-term health effects of prolonged exposure to these emissions.

Female inmates up,

By RAYMOND LANGE
State News Staff Writer

Lansing, Mich.—The Michigan Department of Corrections has announced plans to expand its female inmate population. The department is looking to increase the number of women housed in state prisons to meet the growing demand for female prison beds. The expansion will include the construction of new facilities and the renovation of existing ones to better accommodate female inmates.

Some exempted from bias laws

Employees with less than four years of experience are exempt from certain bias laws. However, these employees are still subject to other workplace protections, such as those related to safety and health. In some cases, these employees may be able to still file complaints with the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission if they believe they have been discriminated against.

COUNCIL AGAINST BUYING N-POWER

By PAUL DORSEY
State News Staff Writer

Lansing, Mich.—The Lansing Council Against Buying N-Power is urging the city to stop purchasing N-Power products and services. The group says that the company's environmental practices are not consistent with the city's values, and that using N-Power products supports companies that engage in unsustainable practices.

Make Lafayette Your

ELECTRONICS HEADQUARTERS

Auto Sound

Sensational System!

30 Watt Cassette AM/FM System with Pioneer In-Dash Superpower Speaker System

Make Lafayette your electronics headquarters. Auto Sound has the latest in car audio systems. From high-powered speakers to custom installations, we've got you covered. Contact us today to get the best sound for your ride.

COAL BURNING AS CARCINOGEN

"U" cancer study funded

By PAUL DORSEY
State News Staff Writer

Ann Arbor, Mich.—Researchers from the University of Michigan and Michigan State University have been working on a project to study the effects of coal burning on human health. The project, which is funded by the National Institute of Environmental Health Sciences, involves collecting and analyzing air samples from areas with high concentrations of coal-burning emissions. The ultimate goal is to determine the long-term health effects of prolonged exposure to these emissions.

Female inmates up,

By RAYMOND LANGE
State News Staff Writer

Lansing, Mich.—The Michigan Department of Corrections has announced plans to expand its female inmate population. The department is looking to increase the number of women housed in state prisons to meet the growing demand for female prison beds. The expansion will include the construction of new facilities and the renovation of existing ones to better accommodate female inmates.

Some exempted from bias laws

Employees with less than four years of experience are exempt from certain bias laws. However, these employees are still subject to other workplace protections, such as those related to safety and health. In some cases, these employees may be able to still file complaints with the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission if they believe they have been discriminated against.

COUNCIL AGAINST BUYING N-POWER

By PAUL DORSEY
State News Staff Writer

Lansing, Mich.—The Lansing Council Against Buying N-Power is urging the city to stop purchasing N-Power products and services. The group says that the company's environmental practices are not consistent with the city's values, and that using N-Power products supports companies that engage in unsustainable practices.

Make Lafayette Your

ELECTRONICS HEADQUARTERS

Auto Sound

Sensational System!

30 Watt Cassette AM/FM System with Pioneer In-Dash Superpower Speaker System

Make Lafayette your electronics headquarters. Auto Sound has the latest in car audio systems. From high-powered speakers to custom installations, we've got you covered. Contact us today to get the best sound for your ride.

COAL BURNING AS CARCINOGEN

"U" cancer study funded

By PAUL DORSEY
State News Staff Writer

Ann Arbor, Mich.—Researchers from the University of Michigan and Michigan State University have been working on a project to study the effects of coal burning on human health. The project, which is funded by the National Institute of Environmental Health Sciences, involves collecting and analyzing air samples from areas with high concentrations of coal-burning emissions. The ultimate goal is to determine the long-term health effects of prolonged exposure to these emissions.

Female inmates up,

By RAYMOND LANGE
State News Staff Writer

Lansing, Mich.—The Michigan Department of Corrections has announced plans to expand its female inmate population. The department is looking to increase the number of women housed in state prisons to meet the growing demand for female prison beds. The expansion will include the construction of new facilities and the renovation of existing ones to better accommodate female inmates.

Some exempted from bias laws

Employees with less than four years of experience are exempt from certain bias laws. However, these employees are still subject to other workplace protections, such as those related to safety and health. In some cases, these employees may be able to still file complaints with the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission if they believe they have been discriminated against.

COUNCIL AGAINST BUYING N-POWER

By PAUL DORSEY
State News Staff Writer

Lansing, Mich.—The Lansing Council Against Buying N-Power is urging the city to stop purchasing N-Power products and services. The group says that the company's environmental practices are not consistent with the city's values, and that using N-Power products supports companies that engage in unsustainable practices.

Make Lafayette Your

ELECTRONICS HEADQUARTERS

Auto Sound

Sensational System!

30 Watt Cassette AM/FM System with Pioneer In-Dash Superpower Speaker System

Make Lafayette your electronics headquarters. Auto Sound has the latest in car audio systems. From high-powered speakers to custom installations, we've got you covered. Contact us today to get the best sound for your ride.

COAL BURNING AS CARCINOGEN

"U" cancer study funded

By PAUL DORSEY
State News Staff Writer

Ann Arbor, Mich.—Researchers from the University of Michigan and Michigan State University have been working on a project to study the effects of coal burning on human health. The project, which is funded by the National Institute of Environmental Health Sciences, involves collecting and analyzing air samples from areas with high concentrations of coal-burning emissions. The ultimate goal is to determine the long-term health effects of prolonged exposure to these emissions.
VanderVeen noses out a qualified pack

There is no a Democrat running against a Republican to make no a better job in Washington than an influential Republican, Robert Griffin. It is unfortunate this fact has become evident in the Democratic Party since we qualifed four for the spot and only one will make it. Such a waste.

But who will that one be? In our next series, we will take a look at the three between the obvious ones: Rep. Robert Griffin, Carl Levin and Anthony Dernan.

Carl is consistent and honest on the right side of most of the issues. Halton, when he comes down to the wire, VanderVeen noses out the other two by the simple fact that he is the only one to have worked around the Washington microscope before. VanderVeen took over Gerald Ford's seat in the 1 2 years after Ford was elected to the House and the Senate.

As for Griffin, if you can find a senator that is doing an even better job, let me know. Griffin's greatest enemy is himself. But the way he has represented the Michigan people, he is the only one to have any chance of making an impact.

An ANTHONY DERNAN could be running for the governor's seat. He is quite popular with the state political officials through his many years of service at the national level. He is as right as the right of interest in funding an ERA, entailing the same drop in the ERA's and the Speaker's abandoning the ERA for better problems for every governor.

Carl LEVIN definitely has the pick of the pack. He is a liberal, a critic of a good lead in the Senate. Griffin's chief rival for that seat is Carl Levin, who is considered a possible candidate for the Senate. They are not exactly alike, but the differences are quite small. And if VanderVeen isn't in time in Washington, we would correspondingly support Carl.

VanderVeen would make a good U.S. senator. He is attentive, interested, and learns from opposing views and is a good combination of people. But when it comes to experience, he is somewhat light.

Levin also appears to be weak in the same such as foreign policy. It has also been suggested that if he were to run for the Senate, he would be a strong contender.

Editor: To be continued.

---

Griffin is the lesser of two evils

By William Poston

Griffin is a long-shot in the race to be Michigan's senator, but he has a chance to make an impact. Even if he doesn't win, he could be a strong contender in the future.

Griffin's greatest enemy is himself. But the way he has represented the Michigan people, he is the only one to have any chance of making an impact.

An ANTHONY DERNAN could be running for the governor's seat. He is quite popular with the state political officials through his many years of service at the national level. He is as right as the right of interest in funding an ERA, entailing the same drop in the ERA's and the Speaker's abandoning the ERA for better problems for every governor.

Carl LEVIN definitely has the pick of the pack. He is a liberal, a critic of a good lead in the Senate. Griffin's chief rival for that seat is Carl Levin, who is considered a possible candidate for the Senate. They are not exactly alike, but the differences are quite small. And if VanderVeen isn't in time in Washington, we would correspondingly support Carl.

VanderVeen would make a good U.S. senator. He is attentive, interested, and learns from opposing views and is a good combination of people. But when it comes to experience, he is somewhat light.

Levin also appears to be weak in the same such as foreign policy. It has also been suggested that if he were to run for the Senate, he would be a strong contender.

Editor: To be continued.

---

Can Zoltan win?

By Anthony C. Martin

This is a two-part series on the raving issue of whether or not Zoltan can win. Part one will deal with the political aspects of the issue, while part two will deal with the economic aspects.

LASH' LARROWE

Can Zoltan win?

This is a two-part series on the raving issue of whether or not Zoltan can win. Part one will deal with the political aspects of the issue, while part two will deal with the economic aspects.

LASH' LARROWE

Can Zoltan win?

This is a two-part series on the raving issue of whether or not Zoltan can win. Part one will deal with the political aspects of the issue, while part two will deal with the economic aspects.

LASH' LARROWE

Can Zoltan win?

This is a two-part series on the raving issue of whether or not Zoltan can win. Part one will deal with the political aspects of the issue, while part two will deal with the economic aspects.

LASH' LARROWE

Can Zoltan win?

This is a two-part series on the raving issue of whether or not Zoltan can win. Part one will deal with the political aspects of the issue, while part two will deal with the economic aspects.

LASH' LARROWE

Can Zoltan win?

This is a two-part series on the raving issue of whether or not Zoltan can win. Part one will deal with the political aspects of the issue, while part two will deal with the economic aspects.
VIEWPOINT: TELEVISION ADVERTISING

‘Mollified cows’ are never persuaded by advertising

By BARBARA L. EVANS

I've glad that the Royal is not in advertising. Not because I don't think it would be a good thing, but because it's hard to think of a worse form of advertising. Not news is easily its attitude toward people - "a mollified herd of educated cows" - that would won't come to their senses.

I don't want to see any more of it. I'll vote for it. But I'm afraid advertising will only make them more frustrated, because there is no way to change an advertising message.

It's too simple and too easy. It's not news. But I still have a hard time accepting the idea that the Royal is not in advertising. I think it's a good thing.

But I don't think it will make them more frustrated. It's too simple and too easy. It's not news. But I still have a hard time accepting the idea that the Royal is not in advertising. I think it's a good thing.

Four House of Representatives slot

Holcomb: frustration with taxes key issue

Democrats Rep. Tom Holcomb from the 9th District has the key issue of taxes. He's frustrated with taxes, but he believes that it's important to raise taxes to fund education.

"I think it's the (Veneck tax proposal) a reasonable attempt at tax relief and reform," Holcomb said. It's not a roll-back and it doesn't put severe constitutional restrictions on the Legislature like Medicaid does. It addresses the ban on graduated income tax. It's close to my philosophy and I'm going to push for it.

He said he's frustrated with the state's current tax system, which he believes is unfair and is holding back the state's economy.

"We need to have a tax system that is fair and progressive," Holcomb said. "We need to have a tax system that is fair and progressive. We need to have a tax system that is fair and progressive."

Stabenow: leadership in House, community

Rep. Debbie Stabenow, Michigan's 8th District Democrat, is pushing for a tax reform package that would raise taxes on the wealthy to fund education.

"The Tisch amendment bothers me," Stabenow said. "It is not a comprehensive package. The Tisch amendment is not a comprehensive package. The Tisch amendment is not a comprehensive package."

She said the Headline proposal addresses the definition of government by tying state spending to personal income.

"Government must establish how much money it has in its possession to pay for," she said. "It's not a comprehensive package."

Devey: responsive government, increased popular involvement

William C. Devey, candidate for the 8th District House of Representatives seat in the Michigan election, said the people should be more involved in the government, and the government should be more responsive to the needs of the people.

"We need to have a government that is responsive to the people," Devey said. "We need to have a government that is responsive to the people. We need to have a government that is responsive to the people."

Oesterle criticizes tax proposals

Rep. Jim Oesterle, Michigan's 5th District Republican, has criticized the tax proposals saying they would not produce enough revenue to fund education.

"I've been fed up with all the talk about tax reform," Oesterle said. "I've been fed up with all the talk about tax reform. I've been fed up with all the talk about tax reform."

He said the Republican proposal addresses the definition of government by tying state spending to personal income.

"Government must establish how much money it has in its possession to pay for," he said. "It's not a comprehensive package."

Oesterle opposes lifting the ban on graduated income tax because it would be more fair to close off some of the other revenue sources, he said. "One of the biggest troubles is that the graduated income tax is increasingly overtaxed and misunderstood," he said.

Michael Oesterle
Comedian Totie Fields dies of heart attack

Trotus Fields

LA TIMES—Totie Fields, the one-time singer who created a sensation by losing for first time in her career and then becoming an international star with the famous musical comedy, "I Am a Fraud," is dead at the age of 63, it was announced today. Fields died at her home in Los Angeles, where she had been suffering from cancer for several months.

Totie Fields was born in New York City and began her career on the vaudeville stage. She was later heard in several hit Broadway shows, including "The Unholy Three" and "I Am a Fraud." She was also featured in the motion picture "I Am a Fraud," for which she received an Academy Award nomination.

The actress was known for her distinctive contralto voice and her ability to bring a light touch to serious subject matter. She was married to the actor Fredric March and had two children.

Fields' early years were marked by poverty and hardship. She was born into a family of nine children and grew up in a tenement in New York City. She began her career as a chorus girl in vaudeville and quickly rose to fame with her unique singing style.

Despite her success, Fields struggled with personal issues, including addiction and depression. In later years, she was a vocal advocate for mental health awareness and suicide prevention.

In addition to her acting career, Fields was also a prominent figure in the entertainment industry, serving as a judge on various TV shows and as a mentor to many young performers.

Totie Fields is survived by her husband, Fredric March, and their two children. A memorial service will be held in Los Angeles at a later date. Her body will be returned to New York for burial in the family plot at Green-Wood Cemetery in Brooklyn. She was 65 years old at the time of her death.
Fan misconduct has multiple causes

By JOHN JOHNSON

Editor's note: This is one of a three-part series on the topic of spectator behavior at sporting events with suggested reasons for the behavior.

All too often, the most vocal fans are often violent or otherwise disruptive. As the sports writer and commentator David Halberstam noted, "athletes and others in related professions live under the following rules:...

the fact that Americans are basically violent.

atheletically, violence is an accepted behavior. The lions do it. So, too, do the bears. The bears do it. So, too, do the tigers. And the tigers do it. So, too, do the lions and the bears. And the lions and the bears and the tigers and the lions and the bears and the tigers and the lions..."

The desire to be part of something that the rest can't be part of.

Americans desire to feel that they are in control of their lives. If they are not, they will try to be. If they cannot control their lives, they will try to control the lives of others.

The desire to be part of a team. If you aren't part of a team, you are left alone. You are not part of anything. You are not part of the group. You are not part of the team. You are not part of the game. You are not part of the sport.

The desire to be part of a larger group. If you aren't part of a larger group, you are left alone. You are not part of anything. You are not part of the group. You are not part of the team. You are not part of the game. You are not part of the sport.

The desire to be part of something that is larger than life. If you aren't part of something that is larger than life, you are left alone. You are not part of anything. You are not part of the group. You are not part of the team. You are not part of the game. You are not part of the sport.

The desire to be part of something that is larger than the individual. If you aren't part of something that is larger than the individual, you are left alone. You are not part of anything. You are not part of the group. You are not part of the team. You are not part of the game. You are not part of the sport.

The desire to be part of something that is larger than the individual and the team. If you aren't part of something that is larger than the individual and the team, you are left alone. You are not part of anything. You are not part of the group. You are not part of the team. You are not part of the game. You are not part of the sport.

The desire to be part of something that is larger than the individual, the team, and the game. If you aren't part of something that is larger than the individual, the team, and the game, you are left alone. You are not part of anything. You are not part of the group. You are not part of the team. You are not part of the game. You are not part of the sport.

The desire to be part of something that is larger than the individual, the team, the game, and the sport. If you aren't part of something that is larger than the individual, the team, the game, and the sport, you are left alone. You are not part of anything. You are not part of the group. You are not part of the team. You are not part of the game. You are not part of the sport.

The desire to be part of something that is larger than the individual, the team, the game, the sport, and the world. If you aren't part of something that is larger than the individual, the team, the game, the sport, and the world, you are left alone. You are not part of anything. You are not part of the group. You are not part of the team. You are not part of the game. You are not part of the sport.

The desire to be part of something that is larger than the individual, the team, the game, the sport, the world, and the universe. If you aren't part of something that is larger than the individual, the team, the game, the sport, the world, and the universe, you are left alone. You are not part of anything. You are not part of the group. You are not part of the team. You are not part of the game. You are not part of the sport.
Exotic dancing: lonely life on the road

The road.

Kerouac wrote about his wanderings - his trials, conflicts and disillusionments, always on the move. To Kerouac, the only logical place to spend your time was on the road, and he did, for a while.

Here is an excerpt from one of his works, "Dancing on the Road".

"...I was on the road, and I was tired. I..."
Detroit mayor threatens to fire striking workers

FOUR IN DETROIT FLOODING

Granville Avenue

Councilman Zolton Black said he believes police officers who are not on duty are not serving. He added that the mayor's proposal to hire more police officers is a step in the right direction.

Grand River Avenue

Black said, "We don't need any more police. We have enough now. The city needs more firefighters and paramedics."

Black added that the city needs to hire more firefighters and paramedics, as well as more police officers. He said that the city needs to hire more firefighters and paramedics, as well as more police officers.

AUG

Black said, "We don't need any more police. We have enough now. The city needs more firefighters and paramedics."

Black added that the city needs to hire more firefighters and paramedics, as well as more police officers. He said that the city needs to hire more firefighters and paramedics, as well as more police officers.
Sheep to die from PBB?

FOOTBALL - State officials Wednesday and Thursday died of PBB contamination on a 1970 accident in Frankfort, Mich., and several area students and faculty members were forced to evacuate the campus.

The Michigan State University Health Service and the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency are investigating the potential exposure of students, faculty, and staff at the MSU campus in East Lansing, Mich., to PBB (polychlorinated biphenyls), a toxic industrial chemical that was once used in electrical products. PBB was detected in the water supply of the MSU campus in August 1970, and the university has been monitoring the situation ever since.

Several hundred students, faculty, and staff members were evacuated from their dormitories and offices on Wednesday night, and the campus was shut down temporarily. The evacuation was prompted by concerns about the potential health risks associated with PBB exposure.

The state health department has advised anyone who may have been exposed to the chemical to seek medical attention. The university is also providing counseling services to students and faculty members affected by the evacuation.

The cause of the PBB contamination is unknown, but it is believed to be related to a nearby industrial site. The university has been working closely with state health authorities to ensure the safety of the campus community.

PBB contamination has been found in a number of locations around the state, including some schools and hospitals. The chemical is now considered a carcinogen and is subject to strict regulations under federal law.

In the meantime, the university is taking steps to ensure the safety of the campus community, including providing health monitoring and counseling services to those affected by the evacuation. The university is also working to identify and mitigate the source of the PBB contamination.

The health department has advised anyone who may have been exposed to the chemical to seek medical attention. The university is also providing counseling services to students and faculty members affected by the evacuation.

The cause of the PBB contamination is unknown, but it is believed to be related to a nearby industrial site. The university has been working closely with state health authorities to ensure the safety of the campus community.

PBB contamination has been found in a number of locations around the state, including some schools and hospitals. The chemical is now considered a carcinogen and is subject to strict regulations under federal law.

In the meantime, the university is taking steps to ensure the safety of the campus community, including providing health monitoring and counseling services to those affected by the evacuation. The university is also working to identify and mitigate the source of the PBB contamination.

The health department has advised anyone who may have been exposed to the chemical to seek medical attention. The university is also providing counseling services to students and faculty members affected by the evacuation.

The cause of the PBB contamination is unknown, but it is believed to be related to a nearby industrial site. The university has been working closely with state health authorities to ensure the safety of the campus community.

PBB contamination has been found in a number of locations around the state, including some schools and hospitals. The chemical is now considered a carcinogen and is subject to strict regulations under federal law.

In the meantime, the university is taking steps to ensure the safety of the campus community, including providing health monitoring and counseling services to those affected by the evacuation. The university is also working to identify and mitigate the source of the PBB contamination.

The health department has advised anyone who may have been exposed to the chemical to seek medical attention. The university is also providing counseling services to students and faculty members affected by the evacuation.

The cause of the PBB contamination is unknown, but it is believed to be related to a nearby industrial site. The university has been working closely with state health authorities to ensure the safety of the campus community.

PBB contamination has been found in a number of locations around the state, including some schools and hospitals. The chemical is now considered a carcinogen and is subject to strict regulations under federal law.

In the meantime, the university is taking steps to ensure the safety of the campus community, including providing health monitoring and counseling services to those affected by the evacuation. The university is also working to identify and mitigate the source of the PBB contamination.

The health department has advised anyone who may have been exposed to the chemical to seek medical attention. The university is also providing counseling services to students and faculty members affected by the evacuation.

The cause of the PBB contamination is unknown, but it is believed to be related to a nearby industrial site. The university has been working closely with state health authorities to ensure the safety of the campus community.

PBB contamination has been found in a number of locations around the state, including some schools and hospitals. The chemical is now considered a carcinogen and is subject to strict regulations under federal law.

In the meantime, the university is taking steps to ensure the safety of the campus community, including providing health monitoring and counseling services to those affected by the evacuation. The university is also working to identify and mitigate the source of the PBB contamination.

The health department has advised anyone who may have been exposed to the chemical to seek medical attention. The university is also providing counseling services to students and faculty members affected by the evacuation.

The cause of the PBB contamination is unknown, but it is believed to be related to a nearby industrial site. The university has been working closely with state health authorities to ensure the safety of the campus community.

PBB contamination has been found in a number of locations around the state, including some schools and hospitals. The chemical is now considered a carcinogen and is subject to strict regulations under federal law.

In the meantime, the university is taking steps to ensure the safety of the campus community, including providing health monitoring and counseling services to those affected by the evacuation. The university is also working to identify and mitigate the source of the PBB contamination.

The health department has advised anyone who may have been exposed to the chemical to seek medical attention. The university is also providing counseling services to students and faculty members affected by the evacuation.

The cause of the PBB contamination is unknown, but it is believed to be related to a nearby industrial site. The university has been working closely with state health authorities to ensure the safety of the campus community.

PBB contamination has been found in a number of locations around the state, including some schools and hospitals. The chemical is now considered a carcinogen and is subject to strict regulations under federal law.

In the meantime, the university is taking steps to ensure the safety of the campus community, including providing health monitoring and counseling services to those affected by the evacuation. The university is also working to identify and mitigate the source of the PBB contamination.

The health department has advised anyone who may have been exposed to the chemical to seek medical attention. The university is also providing counseling services to students and faculty members affected by the evacuation.

The cause of the PBB contamination is unknown, but it is believed to be related to a nearby industrial site. The university has been working closely with state health authorities to ensure the safety of the campus community.

PBB contamination has been found in a number of locations around the state, including some schools and hospitals. The chemical is now considered a carcinogen and is subject to strict regulations under federal law.

In the meantime, the university is taking steps to ensure the safety of the campus community, including providing health monitoring and counseling services to those affected by the evacuation. The university is also working to identify and mitigate the source of the PBB contamination.

The health department has advised anyone who may have been exposed to the chemical to seek medical attention. The university is also providing counseling services to students and faculty members affected by the evacuation.

The cause of the PBB contamination is unknown, but it is believed to be related to a nearby industrial site. The university has been working closely with state health authorities to ensure the safety of the campus community.

PBB contamination has been found in a number of locations around the state, including some schools and hospitals. The chemical is now considered a carcinogen and is subject to strict regulations under federal law.

In the meantime, the university is taking steps to ensure the safety of the campus community, including providing health monitoring and counseling services to those affected by the evacuation. The university is also working to identify and mitigate the source of the PBB contamination.

The health department has advised anyone who may have been exposed to the chemical to seek medical attention. The university is also providing counseling services to students and faculty members affected by the evacuation.

The cause of the PBB contamination is unknown, but it is believed to be related to a nearby industrial site. The university has been working closely with state health authorities to ensure the safety of the campus community.

PBB contamination has been found in a number of locations around the state, including some schools and hospitals. The chemical is now considered a carcinogen and is subject to strict regulations under federal law.

In the meantime, the university is taking steps to ensure the safety of the campus community, including providing health monitoring and counseling services to those affected by the evacuation. The university is also working to identify and mitigate the source of the PBB contamination.

The health department has advised anyone who may have been exposed to the chemical to seek medical attention. The university is also providing counseling services to students and faculty members affected by the evacuation.

The cause of the PBB contamination is unknown, but it is believed to be related to a nearby industrial site. The university has been working closely with state health authorities to ensure the safety of the campus community.

PBB contamination has been found in a number of locations around the state, including some schools and hospitals. The chemical is now considered a carcinogen and is subject to strict regulations under federal law.

In the meantime, the university is taking steps to ensure the safety of the campus community, including providing health monitoring and counseling services to those affected by the evacuation. The university is also working to identify and mitigate the source of the PBB contamination.

The health department has advised anyone who may have been exposed to the chemical to seek medical attention. The university is also providing counseling services to students and faculty members affected by the evacuation.

The cause of the PBB contamination is unknown, but it is believed to be related to a nearby industrial site. The university has been working closely with state health authorities to ensure the safety of the campus community.

PBB contamination has been found in a number of locations around the state, including some schools and hospitals. The chemical is now considered a carcinogen and is subject to strict regulations under federal law.

In the meantime, the university is taking steps to ensure the safety of the campus community, including providing health monitoring and counseling services to those affected by the evacuation. The university is also working to identify and mitigate the source of the PBB contamination.

The health department has advised anyone who may have been exposed to the chemical to seek medical attention. The university is also providing counseling services to students and faculty members affected by the evacuation.

The cause of the PBB contamination is unknown, but it is believed to be related to a nearby industrial site. The university has been working closely with state health authorities to ensure the safety of the campus community.

PBB contamination has been found in a number of locations around the state, including some schools and hospitals. The chemical is now considered a carcinogen and is subject to strict regulations under federal law. 