Fitzgerald, Griffin, Levin win primaries

Fitzgerald beats Ralls, McCullough, Ferency

BY ANNE MARIE BONDO

State News Staff Writer

State Sen. William Fitzgerald, who has been the favored candidate, won the Democratic primary race for the U.S. Senate. The incumbent won with Phil Prow, who entered nearly Fitzgerald was a state representative and has been a state senator since he decided to run. He lost the Senate race in 1977 to Bill Ford, who is now a state senator.

Griffin sweeps to big victory over Patterson

BY ANNE MARIE BONDO

State News Staff Writer

Patterson beat Cook and a number of lesser-known candidates in the Democratic primary race for governor.

Lawmaker offered Ray deal for info

BY ED ROGERS

State News Staff Writer

Ray was offered a deal for information, but he refused to cooperate.

Owen, Sederburg to square off

Owen, Sederburg to square off

BY BROOKS LACOMON

Owen, Sederburg to square off

Carter invites Mideast leaders to Camp David for summit talks

The book, "The Inner Elite: Factionalism, patronage and influence," by a political scientist at the University of Chicago, explores the inner workings of the political system in America.

"It's a very, very good book," said one political scientist who read it. "It's a very, very good book." said another political scientist who read it.

"It's a very, very good book," said Charles E. Wright, the top policy analyst at the Department of State. "It's a very, very good book," said another political scientist who read it.

The book, "The Inner Elite: Factionalism, patronage and influence," by a political scientist at the University of Chicago, explores the inner workings of the political system in America.

The book, "The Inner Elite: Factionalism, patronage and influence," by a political scientist at the University of Chicago, explores the inner workings of the political system in America.

The book, "The Inner Elite: Factionalism, patronage and influence," by a political scientist at the University of Chicago, explores the inner workings of the political system in America.

Cardinals set funeral details

The book, "The Inner Elite: Factionalism, patronage and influence," by a political scientist at the University of Chicago, explores the inner workings of the political system in America.

The book, "The Inner Elite: Factionalism, patronage and influence," by a political scientist at the University of Chicago, explores the inner workings of the political system in America.

The book, "The Inner Elite: Factionalism, patronage and influence," by a political scientist at the University of Chicago, explores the inner workings of the political system in America.

Cardinals set funeral details

The book, "The Inner Elite: Factionalism, patronage and influence," by a political scientist at the University of Chicago, explores the inner workings of the political system in America.

The book, "The Inner Elite: Factionalism, patronage and influence," by a political scientist at the University of Chicago, explores the inner workings of the political system in America.

The book, "The Inner Elite: Factionalism, patronage and influence," by a political scientist at the University of Chicago, explores the inner workings of the political system in America.

Cardinals set funeral details

The book, "The Inner Elite: Factionalism, patronage and influence," by a political scientist at the University of Chicago, explores the inner workings of the political system in America.

The book, "The Inner Elite: Factionalism, patronage and influence," by a political scientist at the University of Chicago, explores the inner workings of the political system in America.

The book, "The Inner Elite: Factionalism, patronage and influence," by a political scientist at the University of Chicago, explores the inner workings of the political system in America.

Cardinals set funeral details

The book, "The Inner Elite: Factionalism, patronage and influence," by a political scientist at the University of Chicago, explores the inner workings of the political system in America.

The book, "The Inner Elite: Factionalism, patronage and influence," by a political scientist at the University of Chicago, explores the inner workings of the political system in America.

The book, "The Inner Elite: Factionalism, patronage and influence," by a political scientist at the University of Chicago, explores the inner workings of the political system in America.

Cardinals set funeral details

The book, "The Inner Elite: Factionalism, patronage and influence," by a political scientist at the University of Chicago, explores the inner workings of the political system in America.
Public discrimination outlawed in Zimbabwe

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Despite U.S. opposition to the present provisional government of the former Rhodesia, the Senate on Friday voted to give $60 million in relief to Rhodesia in the form of food.

The Senate is in the process of adopting a treaty that would allow the entry of U.S. troops into Rhodesia. The treaty was signed in March by the new government of Rhodesia, which took office in March.

The treaty would allow the entry of U.S. troops into Rhodesia to help the new government in its efforts to reassert control over the country. The treaty was signed in March by the new government of Rhodesia, which took office in March.

The treaty would allow the entry of U.S. troops into Rhodesia to help the new government in its efforts to reassert control over the country. The treaty was signed in March by the new government of Rhodesia, which took office in March.

The treaty would allow the entry of U.S. troops into Rhodesia to help the new government in its efforts to reassert control over the country. The treaty was signed in March by the new government of Rhodesia, which took office in March.

The treaty would allow the entry of U.S. troops into Rhodesia to help the new government in its efforts to reassert control over the country. The treaty was signed in March by the new government of Rhodesia, which took office in March.

The treaty would allow the entry of U.S. troops into Rhodesia to help the new government in its efforts to reassert control over the country. The treaty was signed in March by the new government of Rhodesia, which took office in March.

The treaty would allow the entry of U.S. troops into Rhodesia to help the new government in its efforts to reassert control over the country. The treaty was signed in March by the new government of Rhodesia, which took office in March.

The treaty would allow the entry of U.S. troops into Rhodesia to help the new government in its efforts to reassert control over the country. The treaty was signed in March by the new government of Rhodesia, which took office in March.

The treaty would allow the entry of U.S. troops into Rhodesia to help the new government in its efforts to reassert control over the country. The treaty was signed in March by the new government of Rhodesia, which took office in March.
Group questions students on ASMSU effectiveness

By MICHAEL MEGERIAN
Michigan State News

It has become apparent that there is a need for more representation of student opinions and concerns. The ASMSU (Student Government Association) has been criticized for not adequately addressing issues and concerns of students.

The ASMSU has been criticized for not acting on issues that are important to students. The Senate has not been fully utilized to its potential to address student concerns.

The ASMSU has not provided enough opportunities for students to participate in decision-making processes. There is a lack of communication between the ASMSU and students.

In response to these criticisms, the ASMSU has taken some steps to improve its effectiveness. These include increasing representation of student voices in decision-making processes, improving communication with students, and expanding opportunities for student participation.

The ASMSU has also sought to address other concerns that have been raised, such as the need for more funding and resources to support student organizations.

Although some progress has been made, there is still work to be done to improve the effectiveness of the ASMSU. Students are encouraged to continue to express their concerns and to seek opportunities to participate in decision-making processes.

U' employee wage increases 7.5 percent

By MICHAEL MEGERIAN
Michigan State News

The University of Michigan has announced a 7.5 percent wage increase for employees.

The wage increase is effective immediately and applies to all employees. It is intended to recognize the contributions of employees and to help support the University's mission.

The wage increase is part of a broader effort to improve the University's financial situation. The University has been facing significant challenges in recent years, including declining state aid and rising costs.

Despite these challenges, the University has been able to maintain its commitment to providing high-quality education and research. This includes investing in faculty and staff, as well as in student services and facilities.

The University's financial situation continues to be a concern, and it is important that the University continue to strive for fiscal responsibility and sustainability.
Pope Paul VI was a good one, but is the papacy even relevant?

Pope Paul VI, who died Sunday of a heart attack, was fairly progressive as compared to his predecessors. His stadium tours around the world to visit political and religious leaders showed his concern for mankind and world peace, and for every state war and woe, in which he never supported war or the activities of any military dispute but simply condemned war altogether.

However, we are also familiar with his firm stand against abortion, opposition to contraception, and the sacredness of his priests and theologians being required to be married, and against the many laws that are being enacted as if they were more important social interests that have contributed most to the killing-off of any young Catholic during the 1960s and 1970s. The Catholic Church is to bring its own moment in the 80s, they will have to renounce on abandoning many of the church’s social positions and drastically de-emphasizing the role and function of church hierarchy. Such moves would make far more sense than such pitiful tactics as staging papal masses.

Perhaps capitalism should pay more heed to the committed and total dedicated group that the Church is trying to commit suicide. The pope and his prelates must have much more day to day exposure to the problems of the laity, members such as the diocesan priests or bishops.

But a change seems doubtful, especially if the church continues to be run by such conservatives. We can understand the need of some Catholics to have a strong pope to look up to, but we also believe that the existence of an American Catholic church and undermines its relevance to the modern world. The church, as it is, remains a needless conservative influence in society.

Abolishing the papacy is probably too much to hope for. But we would hope that the cardinals, who meet in Vatican City a few days to elect the Pope Paul successor, understand the need for a pope more progressive and in touch with the times than Paul was. If the next pope does not have a real open minded outlook on the way the church should be run, the obligations of Catholics, and on the church’s role in society, the Catholics may find themselves members of an increasingly small minority in years to come.

John Neilson

Aerosol cheese fills a need?

Is it any coincidence that “offensive advertising” techniques are more prevalent during such times as these? Is it any coincidence that the number of cars that have had to deal with advertising agents who “don’t understand what is going on?” Although the agents may be sincere, their efforts are usually in vain. They’ll be told that they are not helping the business, that they are not helping, that the business is not helping, that the business is not helping, and of course, that the business is not helping.

For while the public at large may not share the same feelings, the public at large is not very fond of advertising in general. If anything, the public would rather get the word out in a way that is not offensive, in a way that is not annoying, in a way that is not costing too much, in a way that is not taking up too much of their time, in a way that is not taking up too much of their money.

Advertising is the means by which the public is communicated with, by which the public is informed, by which the public is entertained, by which the public is cajoled, by which the public is told what to think, by which the public is told what to do, by which the public is told how to spend their money.

Even when ads sound reasonable, they can’t be taken as face-value. Advertisers tell the government in their ability to manipulate the best advertisements, regardless of the facts. Then, the halls of the product claims have been subject to a barrage of advertisements, which are designed to make the product appear better than it really is.

And who are we to say why the government is not to be trusted, why the product claims are not to be trusted? Because the government is there, the product claims are there, and the government is the one that is supposed to regulate the product claims.

Even when ads sound reasonable, they can’t be taken as face-value. Advertisers tell the government in their ability to manipulate the best advertisements, regardless of the facts. Then, the halls of the product claims have been subject to a barrage of advertisements, which are designed to make the product appear better than it really is.

And who are we to say why the government is not to be trusted, why the product claims are not to be trusted? Because the government is there, the product claims are there, and the government is the one that is supposed to regulate the product claims.

Robert A. Gorman

Editor, The State News

John Neilson

Aerosol cheese fills a need?

Is it any coincidence that “offensive advertising” techniques are more prevalent during such times as these? Is it any coincidence that the number of cars that have had to deal with advertising agents who “don’t understand what is going on?” Although the agents may be sincere, their efforts are usually in vain. They’ll be told that they are not helping the business, that they are not helping, that the business is not helping, that the business is not helping, and of course, that the business is not helping.

For while the public at large may not share the same feelings, the public at large is not very fond of advertising in general. If anything, the public would rather get the word out in a way that is not offensive, in a way that is not annoying, in a way that is not costing too much, in a way that is not taking up too much of their time, in a way that is not taking up too much of their money.

Advertising is the means by which the public is communicated with, by which the public is informed, by which the public is entertained, by which the public is cajoled, by which the public is told what to think, by which the public is told what to do, by which the public is told how to spend their money.

Even when ads sound reasonable, they can’t be taken as face-value. Advertisers tell the government in their ability to manipulate the best advertisements, regardless of the facts. Then, the halls of the product claims have been subject to a barrage of advertisements, which are designed to make the product appear better than it really is.

And who are we to say why the government is not to be trusted, why the product claims are not to be trusted? Because the government is there, the product claims are there, and the government is the one that is supposed to regulate the product claims.

Even when ads sound reasonable, they can’t be taken as face-value. Advertisers tell the government in their ability to manipulate the best advertisements, regardless of the facts. Then, the halls of the product claims have been subject to a barrage of advertisements, which are designed to make the product appear better than it really is.

And who are we to say why the government is not to be trusted, why the product claims are not to be trusted? Because the government is there, the product claims are there, and the government is the one that is supposed to regulate the product claims.
Stabenow in upset over Republican, Dewey over Oesterle

By JAMES A. WOOLALT

Ingham County Board of Commissioners Chairman Debbie Stabenow, a candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, had the support of the 59th district House of Representatives over incumbent Tom Oesterle.

In the Republican primary, William Dewey defeated his opponent, Secretary of State Jan pakter, 28,000 to 23,000.

Stabenow favored a legislative tax initiative proposed by Rep. Jerry Young, D-Detroit. The bill would provide property relief to a far less drastic manner than the House or Senate amendments. Stabenow supports the House and Senate amendments, saying that problems would possibly be averted if a referendum were used.

Dewey was endorsed for a Constitutional Convention, saying there must be a change in the current tax system. Dewey was also endorsed for a job commission and a charter commission for the city of Lansing.

Support for a Constitutional Convention to address tax cut problems was not backed by Stabenow.

Stabenow supports the lower tax brackets of 35%, to 40% rate not being taxed as if he should be.

Griffin on Patterson

continued from page 1

On the middle school scene as drawn by Carter to simply create wholesomeness or excitement of a national tax cut, Griffin was a supporter of Ezra and said considering whether to vote in his own way. He is personally opposed to abortion and wants to see the law changed to protect the law. Griffin expects the extension of the EEA deadline and the EEA itself, for it is not from the EEA without the extension of the tax cut.

Patterson also supported the extended Federal amendments, believing that it would allow the state to take over the funding of the schools. He believes that the federal budget is left to the state because the federal government is only a concern of the state's.

On the subject of raising or lowering taxes, Griffin said that the Federal government must be the one to decide.

In the theory of the state's tax reduction program, Griffin said that the Cooperative Conservation Commission is a major problem.

He believes the initiative could be similar to the 1967 tax.

Legislator allegedly offered deal

continued from page 1

Governor, who had confided in the governor, had said that the state's tax reduction program could not come without a constitutional amendment, he added. Because it is not from the state, he said, it must be from the state's.

Several people offered Griffin a deal to accept the initiative, he said, but he turned them down.

Another person asked Griffin if he would accept a deal, but Griffin said no.

The state's tax reduction program cannot be changed without a constitutional amendment, he said.

Fitzgerald beats Ralls, Ferency, McColough

continued from page 1

Fitzgerald is a Republican, he said, and that his campaign was not about his own personal gain. The state's tax reduction program will not be changed because it is not from the state.

Fitzgerald is seeking a second term as a state Senator for the 3rd district, which includes his home town of Lansing.

COURT CASE

CAMPUS PIZZA

50¢ OFF YOUR ORDER

(5:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m.)

(Continued from page 1)

On television last October, McColough said he would "vote on the issue," if the state had balanced the 1975-76 budget. In addition, he said, he would seek to prevent the state from issuing new bonds to pay off old ones unless a balanced budget is issued.

Carter invites leaders to Camp David summit

continued from page 1

During his administration, Carter invited leaders to Camp David to discuss the Middle East peace process.

The White House invited the U.S. and Arab leaders to begin discussions on the Middle East peace process.

The meeting was arranged because and Israel had been drifting away from recent peace and hoped to achieve a lasting agreement.

The Camp David summit was in a way a "breakthrough," it was not just the fighting that led to the agreements, but also to the "peace process that led to the agreements."
MSU basketball team to play in S. America

Team directs complaints at Gibbard

by MAE LAILTON

From the beginning of the men's cross-country season last fall, Michigan "was considered a favorite" by Coach Pullen.

"We were one of the few teams selected by the bracket, which has many interpreters, of the coaches to regard Michigan's cross-country program and our varsity track team as the finest in the country, according to the wall of evidence proving the forecaster's wisdom. Longfellow was brought in to mine these two colors and a ticket which Michigan's main man was found.

"In the middle of the race Gibbard clinched the three spots occupied by the main teams. Of those three, only one had a bid for the cross.

Gibbard, who has been with the NCAA since 1958, when he was appointed to the athletic staff as an assistant coach, has had a rich career, having supervised the winter sports from each of the five major teams.

The complaints, as outlined for the Salt Lake papers, are that the coaches Gibbard does not provide them with the individual attention they require. That there is a definite lack of conservation between instructors and the track, that Gibbard does not do the job they think he should be doing, that he is having an unfair advantage in recruiting student-athletes, and that his efforts are not reflected in the form of better cross-country teams than other teams.

"I've looked at the races," Pullen said, "I just made the decision I was not to put in any more time. I'm not paid to run any more.

Puir said that the Gibbard doesn't take all the races, he takes only the better races. He said that he has no better choice, that he has to be satisfied with what he has been given.

Northwestern

by MIKE LANGE

Full News Staff Writer

EDITORS NOTE: The second of 25 articles in which the Salt Lake papers will put the football prospectus for each of the teams. The last, which appeared on page 1 of this issue, was carried in the Salt Lake Tribune.

No other team has a better shot at ousting Northwestern than Michigan or Wisconsin. If the football team can win out, there's probably no doubt that the Northwestern's will.

"If the football team can win out, there's probably no doubt that the Northwestern's will win out," said Max H. Bottorff, a former Northwestern University athlete.

Pullen, who has been associated with Northwestern for 20 years, said that he will not be surprised if the Wildcats win out.

"I don't know if the football team can win out," Pullen said, "but I do know that Northwestern will probably make a better job of playing the football game than Michigan will.

"Northwestern, in my opinion, will probably make a better job of playing the football game than Michigan will," Bottorff said.

Northwestern will do not drop out of the Big Ten, Bottorff said.

MSU loses two track coaches

By JIMMY MAC DE\n
State News Sports Writer

The Inquirer has learned that the spring season for MSU’s women’s track and field program has been dimmed by the departure of two head women’s track and field coaches.

After reining in the women’s cross-country program for three years, Coach Jody Jones resigned Monday in order to take a position with a new program.

Although Jones had no specifics on coaching opportunities, she said she was looking for a change of scenery.

"I’m retiring from the MSU coaching staff," Jones said. "I’m doing this for the sake of my family and I believe in moving on to bigger and better things."

As of yet, no replacement has been named for Jones. However, according to MSU officials, a new coach will be hired to replace her.

Meanwhile, the women’s cross-country program is in the hands of Coach Tom Allen, who will take over for the next season.

TIGERS CAUTION WITH “BIRDS’ WING”

Fidrych out for rest of season

DETROIT GLOBE — The Detroit Tigers announced Wednesday that pitcher Mark “the Bird” Fidrych, who has been plagued by his pitching style and has not had a strong season, will miss the rest of the season.

Fidrych’s season has been marred by injuries and a lack of consistency. In his last start, Fidrych allowed six runs in six innings, raising his season ERA to 4.67.

"We are confident in the talent that he has," Tigers manager Al Miller said. "But we also understand that he needs to be healthy and he needs to be able to perform at his best."

Fidrych is currently on the disabled list due to a shoulder injury. He will undergo surgery later this week to remove a bone spur.

The cross-country team has been dealing with a string of injuries this year, but the team remains hopeful heading into the Big Ten meet.

In 2012, the women’s cross-country team finished the season in seventh place at the Big Ten meet. This year, the team is projected to finish in the top five.

BILL MOONEY

DRC: get it together

To give the Detroit Race Course (DRC) some credit, the place does have a number of events that can draw a crowd. The problem is, not enough people are showing up to these events. This is despite the fact that the DRC is located near the University of Michigan and its students.

"The DRC is located near the University of Michigan, and there are plenty of students who live in the area," said Mike, a fan of the DRC. "But it’s not easy to get to, and the events just don’t seem to draw a crowd."

Mike said that he would like to see more events held at the DRC, but that the facility needs to be improved.

"The DRC needs to improve its facilities, and make it easier for people to attend events," Mike said. "If they could improve the facilities, I think more people would come."

Mike said that he would like to see more events held at the DRC, but that the facility needs to be improved.

"The DRC needs to improve its facilities, and make it easier for people to attend events," Mike said. "If they could improve the facilities, I think more people would come."

Mike said that he would like to see more events held at the DRC, but that the facility needs to be improved. He said that the DRC should invest in new equipment, such as lights and sound systems, and make it easier for people to get to the facility. He also said that the DRC should consider adding more events, such as concerts and picnics, to attract more people.

Bill Mooney said that he would like to see more events held at the DRC, but that the facility needs to be improved.

"The DRC needs to improve its facilities, and make it easier for people to attend events," Mr. Mooney said. "If they could improve the facilities, I think more people would come."

Mr. Mooney said that he would like to see more events held at the DRC, but that the facility needs to be improved. He said that the DRC should invest in new equipment, such as lights and sound systems, and make it easier for people to get to the facility. He also said that the DRC should consider adding more events, such as concerts and picnics, to attract more people.

Bill Mooney said that he would like to see more events held at the DRC, but that the facility needs to be improved.

"The DRC needs to improve its facilities, and make it easier for people to attend events," Mr. Mooney said. "If they could improve the facilities, I think more people would come."

Mr. Mooney said that he would like to see more events held at the DRC, but that the facility needs to be improved. He said that the DRC should invest in new equipment, such as lights and sound systems, and make it easier for people to get to the facility. He also said that the DRC should consider adding more events, such as concerts and picnics, to attract more people.

Bill Mooney said that he would like to see more events held at the DRC, but that the facility needs to be improved.

"The DRC needs to improve its facilities, and make it easier for people to attend events," Mr. Mooney said. "If they could improve the facilities, I think more people would come."

Mr. Mooney said that he would like to see more events held at the DRC, but that the facility needs to be improved. He said that the DRC should invest in new equipment, such as lights and sound systems, and make it easier for people to get to the facility. He also said that the DRC should consider adding more events, such as concerts and picnics, to attract more people.
Perils of rock, part two

Bruce Springsteen, the rock & roll Jesus, brought his band, The E Street Band, to the Michigan State Fair on July 12th. The concert was a celebration of his long-awaited return to Michigan after a 20-year absence. The response from the crowd was overwhelming, with fans singing along to classics like "Born to Run" and "Thunder Road." Springsteen's energy and passion were evident throughout the performance, making it a memorable night for all in attendance.

Springsteen's impact on Michigan music is undeniable. From his early days with the Lucky列到今天的地位，Springsteen remains a symbol of resilience and creativity. His music has inspired generations of musicians and continues to resonate with fans across the state.

Make Lafayette your Electronic Headquarters

Our new menu has a few choice words for you.

Our extensive menu is filled with some rather choice words like "American Steak," "New York Style," "LUDA Chicken," and "LUDA Cheese" — all offered in a choice of two sizes and an upgraded salad bar. This is followed by a great new menu. And we like to think it must. And then, we like to think you'll like ours.

Ayers: all styles of music

Roy Ayers and his band, United Arab States, played a set of soulful tunes before an enthusiastic audience at Mother's Day's morning set. Ayers and his band were in town to promote his latest album, "The Afrobeat Experience." The performance was a celebration of Ayers' unique style and his continued influence on the music scene.

Ayers and the band put on an emotional blend of funk, soul, and jazz. Their music was a perfect fit for the Mother's Day morning set, and the crowd responded accordingly. Ayers' soulful vocals and the band's tight playing kept the audience engaged throughout the performance.

Springsteen's splash at Kalamazoo

Springsteen is a true musical icon, and his performance at the Michigan State Fair was no exception. The crowd was in awe as he delivered a powerful performance, with every note and word hitting the mark. His presence on stage was electric, and the energy he brought to the performance was infectious.

Our menu includes a variety of dishes to satisfy any craving. From classic American fare to international specialties, there's something for everyone. And with our upgraded salad bar, you can customize your meal to fit your taste.

LUDA Steakhouse

LUDA Steakhouse is a popular restaurant in Lansing, known for its delicious steaks and seafood. The menu includes a variety of options, from classic steak and lobster to more adventurous dishes like Kobe beef and oysters on the half shell. The restaurant is located at 12725 Cedar Rd, East Lansing, MI 48823.

LUDA Chicken

LUDA Chicken is a favorite among locals, offering a wide range of chicken dishes, from fried to grilled. The menu includes a variety of options, from classic fried chicken to more adventurous dishes like jerk chicken and Korean BBQ. The restaurant is located at 12725 Cedar Rd, East Lansing, MI 48823.

LUDA Cheese

LUDA Cheese is a popular spot for cheese lovers, offering a wide range of cheeses from around the world. The menu includes a variety of options, from classic cheddar to more adventurous dishes like gorgonzola and blue cheese. The restaurant is located at 12725 Cedar Rd, East Lansing, MI 48823.

LUDA Cheese with dip

LUDA Cheese offers a variety of cheeses in a dip, making it a perfect snack or appetizer. The menu includes a variety of options, from classic cheddar to more adventurous dishes like gorgonzola and blue cheese. The restaurant is located at 12725 Cedar Rd, East Lansing, MI 48823.

Make Lafayette your Electronic Headquarters

Make Lafayette your Electronic Headquarters is a full-service electronics store located in Lansing. The store offers a wide range of products, from TVs and speakers to computers and tablets. The store is located at 500 W. Saginaw St, Suite 100, Lansing, MI 48906.
Tanker rules filed

Double-bottom tandem carrier rules proposed

BENNINGTON — Rear

rules to implement the rules to ban double-bottom tandem carriers in the state. The rules are

The rules allow carriers to carry high-tankers carrying high-

Tankers are designed to use the state's current emergency rules differ from the

the state's current rules,

Rules require carriers to comply with the state's current

the state's current rules,

the state's current rules,

 zum safety violations. The

the state's current rules,

the state's current rules,

the state's current rules,

the state's current rules,

the state's current rules,

the state's current rules,

the state's current rules,

the state's current rules,

the state's current rules,

the state's current rules,

the state's current rules,

the state's current rules,

the state's current rules,

the state's current rules,

the state's current rules,

the state's current rules,

the state's current rules,

the state's current rules,

the state's current rules,

the state's current rules,

the state's current rules,

the state's current rules,

the state's current rules,
Wednesday

TV TIPS

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>TIME</th>
<th>PROGRAM</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>6:00</td>
<td>Eight Like QuickLy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>8:00</td>
<td>MacNeil/Lehrer</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>10:00</td>
<td>Frank &amp; Ernest</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>11:00</td>
<td>Pillow Talk Furniture</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

COPING MIRACLES

3.9' EA.

print-in-a-minute
COPYING DUPLICATING IS OUR BUSINESS
Come in and see us!

TRAVELS WITH FARLEY

by Phil Frank

IT'S 10 P.M. AND I'M DRIVING IN THE STREETS OF WESTLAKE. I CAN'T HELP BUT SMILE. THE CITY LOVES ME. I'VE ALWAYS BEEN A SENSITIVE PERSON.

TUMBLEWEEDS

by Tom K. Ryan

WELCOME TO ANOTHER SEMINAR PRESENTED TO HELP YOU UNDERSTAND THE PHENOMENON OF THE TUMBLEWEED. SUPPORT ONE OR TWO.

CROSSWORD PUZZLE

Sponsored by:

HAGAR the Horrible

by Dik Browne

Sponsored by:

PEANUTS

by Charles M. Schulz

Sponsored by:

THE DROPOUTS

by Post

Sponsored by:

B.C.

by Johnny Hart

Sponsored by:

PILLOW TALK FURNITURE

Sponsored by:

SAM and SILO

by Jerry Dumas and Mort Walker

Sponsored by:

BEETLE BAILEY

by Mort Walker

Sponsored by:
PBB-contaminated cattle killed

Sen. Nelson arraigned

NEW YORK Wednesday, August 9, 1978

An addiction to styling chemicals has led to the death of a 5-year-old boy in New York City, police said today.

The child, a 3-year-old boy, was pronounced dead at a hospital after he died of an apparent drug overdose, authorities said.

The boy, who had been suffering from a severe headache for several days, was taken to the hospital by his parents.

Police said the boy had been taking large doses of a drug called "PBB," which is commonly used by teenagers and adults to enhance their hair color.

The drug is not approved for human use and can cause serious health problems, including neurological damage.

The boy's parents have been arrested and charged with involuntary manslaughter.

The case is under investigation by the National Transportation Safety Board.