Olin health fee
not really new

by ARTHUR W. MILLER
State News Staff Writer

State University students and faculty who have registered for the Fall semester will have to pay three dollars instead of two dollars for the health fee.

The fee increase, for which the Administration has given no explanation for, is the last in a series of recent increases in student fees. This increase, which will add three dollars to the $14.50 enrollment fee, will mean that students will pay $17.50 in health fees for this semester.

The increase in health fees comes after a $2.50 increase last spring and the $1 increase last fall.

It is not clear whether the increased fee will provide more benefits to the students.

The increase in health fees is the latest in a series of increases in student fees. In recent years, fees have been raised for parking, registration, and tuition.

Women's lounge ruled non-biased

By JOE RAYLSON
State News-Ball Writer

Exhaustors of the Union Ball Women's Lounge by women who don't discriminate against the International Ball East Founding Cardinals and six fans released last week.

The committee's ruling on the request at the closing Jan. 2 is that the lounge is "an example of a coeducational institution, and hence a great way to encourage women's participation in the University's program and Policies.

The article prohibiting women's access to the University program is based on the most recent & non-discrimination written in the lounges program and Policies.

The issue was brought about by the U.O. 2008, which was established to elect the Women's Lounge at the University and to elect the lounge's opinion. The issue would not seem to be a problem of the lounge, the lounge, the opinion issue.

The Women's Lounge is a non-educational program and was the only lounge at the University to be ruled as non-educational. The lounge would be considered to be a lounge only if the lounge is available in all student programs and policies. The lounge is available in all student programs and policies. Abortion will defy partisan politics in the '78 election

It has been years since the U.S. Supreme Court struck down anti-abortion statutes, yet abortion remains an emotional issue. The choice in a state besides the federal legislature has had no apparent effect on the abortion laws of states. In August, the state's liberal-minded lobbyists were forced to live with the fact that the Medicaid-funded abortions were continued. Because of this, the state never went to the polls.

Abortionists said they were very pleased with the results. It is not known if the issue of abortion will be decided on the federal level. The issue is not likely to be resolved on the state level.

A guide to MSU: Heaven on earth

When undergraduates and transfer students first arrive at MSU, they experience many changes that are difficult to adapt to. The following is a list of items that students and parents should be aware of:

1. Academics: MSU has a high degree of academic freedom. Students are not expected to do any work for the semester. This is where the administration stops when the library is closed. If you must leave, you must do so before nightfall. A great place to sleep if you do is in the library. The library is open 24 hours a day, seven days a week. You can sleep in the reading room if there is no one there.

2. Food: MSU has a large variety of food options. There is a free cafeteria on campus, or you can eat in the dorms. The cafeteria is open 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

3. Transportation: MSU has a shuttle service that runs throughout the day. The shuttle runs from the dorms to the library and back every hour.

4. Emergency: In the event of an emergency, call 911. In the event of a fire, call the fire department. In the event of a medical emergency, call the medical center.

5. Security: MSU has a security force that patrols the campus 24 hours a day, seven days a week. They are available to assist you in any way you need. They are also available to answer any questions you may have.

Dayton Hudson has its allies in East Lansing

The Mall: A true but 'grim' fairy tale

Before the surrounding neighborhood was fully developed, temperance Brown pitched to the builders of the Sunrise Malls. It had taken root.

As the time passed, the supermarkets grew, and neighborhood came to think of temperance Brown in terms of friendly visits and a talkative spin on the basics of estate planning. In the years that followed, Brown enjoyed the open space, and many began to think it belonged to them alone. Temperance Brown continued to maintain the estate planning firm, to select the annual real estate taxes and to remain responsible for the land.

When Brown's children grew up, he decided the time was finally right to develop the land and sold it to investors for a far more reasonable price than he had paid.

Brown was left with a single tract of land, the remainder of the estate planning firm, and a dream. He would give lasting beauty to the entire community as well as himself. When Brown tried to explain his plans to the citizens, the reaction was, "Leaves should be left and the heart.

Several tracts were already along the highway in their several departments, most of them able to buy Brown's land. The remainder was left as Brown's final gift to the city, and he would like to see it developed as an estate planning center and a shopping center, and he should expect to receive the expense of maintaining the neighborhood park.

Brown and the city will determine the conclusion. Has anyone considered Dayton Hudson's offer?

Dayton Hudson property is only good for malls

Let's put the smoke away, campaign spending behind us until November. We need to get on with the business of whether or not Dayton Hudson's regional shopping center is good for East Lansing.

I know about Dayton Hudson's investment in my neighborhood since 1960. Land remains because Dayton Hudson has either hard sell option on parcel at low going rates outright for a number of years.

The original $170,000 Comprehensive Plan sale for the land to be used in an industrial. If has been over 15 years, so I could think of that property in terms of a low density development, a residential area, or in terms of a low density development, an estate planning center.

Unless we come up with tax bills to purchase the land as a park, a zoning plan to protect the area from further development to its highest and best use. The city cannot merely mandate unless the residents decide to use the land for a land of estate planning center. The city cannot merely mandate unless the residents decide to use the land for a land of estate planning center.

The land became single family residential. The city decided to build a park. A police department that would work on that area. The city decided to develop the land to its highest and highest use. The city cannot merely mandate unless the residents decide to use the land for an estate planning center. The city cannot merely mandate unless the residents decide to use the land for an estate planning center.

Could the land become single family residential? The big question is who will buy the land? Right now, developers who can manage the extraordinary amounts of appropriately prepared. City residents have to realize that there are big development plans out there. There are big development plans out there.

We have to realize that they are not the kind of developers who can manage the extraordinary amounts of appropriately prepared. City residents have to realize that there are big development plans out there. There are big development plans out there.

The city decided to develop the land to its highest and highest use. The city cannot merely mandate unless the residents decide to use the land for an estate planning center. The city cannot merely mandate unless the residents decide to use the land for an estate planning center.

When the Beatles and the rest of the British Invasion arrived on our shores in 1964, the Four Seasons were among the new American groups to face the competition uneasily. The Four Seasons, when they appeared in 1963, were the New York-based group with the Americanized name of The Four Seasons. Their manager, William Saltus, had booked them as part of a promotion to attract attention to the Four Seasons' first LP. The LP, released in 1963, was titled "Sherry" and featured the group's biggest hit, "Sherry." The group's success was not instant, but eventually they became one of the most popular groups in the world. They were part of the first wave of teen idol groups, and their rise to fame was a direct result of their popularity with teenage fans. Their success was not only due to their music, but also to their image, which was designed to appeal to the teenage audience. The Four Seasons were the perfect example of the teen idol group, with their good looks, charm, and talent. They were the first group to take the teen idol concept to a new level, and their success paved the way for other groups to come. In 1964, the Four Seasons were one of the most popular groups in the world, and their success continued for many years. They were one of the first groups to break the mold of the traditional rock and roll sound, and they were a direct inspiration to many other groups who came after them. From their debut hit "Sherry," to their later hit "December 1963," the Four Seasons were a true icon of the 1960s music scene. They were a true example of the power of music, and their success is a testament to the power of love and the desire to make music. The Four Seasons were a true legend of the 1960s, and their legacy lives on today, inspiring new generations of musicians to this day.
ICERS BEGIN PRE-SEASON DRILLS

By JENNY BRADFORD

In the hallway preceding the main floor at the east end of the Wallace Cabaret Center, the basketball team huddles together to discuss the upcoming Icers season.

Ferris State University basketball will open its season this weekend against Poland, and the Icers have been working hard to prepare for their first game.

The Icers have had a long history of success, having won multiple championships and being a staple of the Grand Valley State University athletic program.

Coach Mike Lemke has been hard at work to ensure his team is ready for the season.

"The most important thing is to have a good core group of players," Lemke said. "We have a lot of returning players, and we're excited to see what they can do.

The Icers are looking to make a statement this season, and they're working hard to prepare for their games.

Women harriers place first in Springbank International race

The women's cross country team, led by sophomore Lisa Banks from West Central, took first place at the Springbank Invitational meet held Friday at Springbank, Ont.

Lisa Banks, who finished 25th at the Meet, was followed by senior Mary Ann Speros and junior Lisa Smith, who finished 24th and 25th, respectively.

Springbank, which is located 150 miles east of Toronto, was the site of the Springbank Invitational.

The race was run over a 5k course with a combination of flat and hilly terrain.

"We really wanted to make sure that we were competitive and that we could hold our own against the other teams," Banks said.

The women's harriers had been training hard for this race, and their hard work paid off.

Know thy legislators

For MSU students, knowing the legislators can be more important than they realize. If they are not aware of what legislation does, they may not be able to defend their positions on important issues.

State Senator Joe Martinson and Representative Frank Pope are two legislators who are working hard to represent their districts. Senator Martinson has been in office for 10 years and represents the 11th District in Lansing. He is a member of the Senate Education Committee, and he is one of the leading voices in support of higher education funding.

Representative Pope has been in office for 5 years and represents the 8th District in Lansing. He is a member of the House Education Committee, and he is a strong supporter of teacher pay increases.

In addition to their legislative work, both representatives are active in their communities. Senator Martinson is a member of the local Rotary Club, and he is involved in many community service projects. Representative Pope is a member of the local Lions Club, and he is involved in many community service projects.

The Importance of Knowing Legislators

Knowing your legislators is important for several reasons. First, it allows you to be more informed about the issues that affect your community. By understanding what legislation is before the state government, you can make more informed decisions about your future.

Second, knowing your legislators allows you to be more effective in advocating for your interests. If you know who your representatives are, you can contact them and let them know how you feel about an issue. This can be very effective in influencing legislation.

Third, knowing your legislators allows you to be more effective in holding them accountable. If you know who your representatives are, you can contact them and let them know how you feel about their voting record. This can be very effective in influencing how they vote.

In conclusion, knowing your legislators is important for several reasons. It allows you to be more informed about the issues that affect your community, it allows you to be more effective in advocating for your interests, and it allows you to be more effective in holding them accountable.

New work schedule anger

MSU custodial staff members

In the next few weeks, the MSU administration is planning to implement a new work schedule for custodial staff members. The new schedule will go into effect on September 1st, and it will involve a change in the hours that custodial staff members work.

The new schedule will involve a change in the hours that custodial staff members work. They will no longer be working from 7:00 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., as they have been in the past. Instead, they will be working from 7:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., which is a longer workday.

The change in the work schedule is being made in an effort to increase the productivity of the custodial staff members. The administration believes that by giving them more time to work, they will be able to complete their work more efficiently.

However, the custodial staff members are not happy with the new schedule. They feel that the longer workday will be stressful and will make it difficult for them to maintain their quality of life.

In conclusion, the MSU administration is planning to implement a new work schedule for custodial staff members. The new schedule will involve a change in the hours that custodial staff members work, and the custodial staff members are not happy with the change.

Olin health fee not really new

In the next few weeks, the MSU administration is planning to implement a new health fee for students. The new fee will go into effect on September 1st, and it will involve a change in the way that health services are funded.

The new fee will involve a change in the way that health services are funded. The administration will be increasing the health fee from $4.50 to $5.00 per semester. This will be used to fund health services for students.

However, the students are not happy with the new fee. They feel that the increase is too much and that it will make it difficult for them to afford health services.

In conclusion, the MSU administration is planning to implement a new health fee for students. The new fee will involve a change in the way that health services are funded, and the students are not happy with the change.
