House bill may limit paraphernalia sales

By TIM FREDIN
State News Staff Writer

State of Michigan lawmakers are about to consider a bill that would make it illegal to sell smoking paraphernalia. The measure, introduced by Rep. Jackslay (R-Lansing), would extend the state's existing ban on tobacco sales to include smoking paraphernalia.

The bill is intended to prevent minors from acquiring the means to smoke marijuana. It would also prohibit the sale of smoking paraphernalia to anyone under the age of 21. The measure would take effect on the date it is signed into law, with a grace period of one year for existing businesses to comply.

Under the bill, anyone found selling smoking paraphernalia to a minor or anyone under the age of 21 would be subject to a fine of up to $1,000 and/or imprisonment for up to one year. The bill also includes provisions for the revocation of business licenses and the suspension of the license of any individual found guilty of violating the law.

The bill has the support of both the House and Senate, and is expected to be signed into law shortly. It is hoped that the new law will help prevent the sale of smoking paraphernalia to minors and reduce the availability of marijuana to young people.

"Vapors not hazardous"

By RALPH RANKINSHIP
State News Staff Writer

Although vapors in a kitchen fume hood can be hazardous, it is not necessarily true that they are hazardous to health. The key is to understand the nature of the vapors and how they interact with the air.

In a typical kitchen, the fume hood is designed to remove any harmful vapors from the cooking area. When cooking, any volatile compounds in the food are heated and released as vapors. These vapors are then removed by the fume hood and released into the atmosphere.

However, if the fume hood is not functioning properly, or if the cooking is being done in a way that generates a large amount of vapors, the vapors may not be adequately removed. In such cases, the vapors may be harmful to health.

The key is to understand the nature of the vapors and how they interact with the air. For example, some vapors may be harmful if inhaled, while others may be harmless. The key is to understand the nature of the vapors and how they interact with the air.

Group protests segregated swim

By LENA DOLK
State News Staff Writer

A group of 27 black women, led by a 15-year-old girl, has started a campaign to end the segregated swimming pool at MSU. The group has been protesting against the pool's policy of requiring that all swimmers use separate facilities.

The protest began on Monday, and has since attracted nationwide attention. The students have been joined in their protest by a number of other groups, including the NAACP and the ACLU.

The pool is located in the MSU Aquatic Center, and has long been known for its segregation. The pool has two separate sections, one for white swimmers and one for black swimmers.

The students are demanding an end to the segregation, and are calling for a more inclusive pool policy. They have also called for the removal of the current pool manager, who they say is complicit in the segregation.

The pool manager has been contacted, and has agreed to meet with the students to discuss their concerns. It is hoped that a resolution can be reached soon.

Indiana free throws kill Spartans, 75-72

By ADAM CRESCHE

Vince News Sports Writer

The Hoosiers smokers bested the MSU Spartans for the second time this season Thursday night in Athens Fieldhouse, and like in their first victory, they won with free throws from the foul line.

Indiana got off to a fast start early in the last six and one half minutes of the first half. The Hoosiers went on to lead 20-16 at the end of the first half and were down 11-5 into the second half.

In the second half, the Hoosiers had the ball and were down until Mike Woodson hit a jumper to pull them ahead with 20 minutes remaining. Woodson popped in two of three dunks less three minutes later to give Indiana the lead back. The game continued on, and after Woodson made a free throw and followed the jumper in, "I thought we might have got a break or two as we could have picked up. But we just couldn't make a basket. We played hard and as we lose to give Indiana a lot of credit." Indiana led it up with just two minutes left. Center Ray Tolbert, who had just three points coming into the game, went in for a basket to give his team a 12-1 lead, but missed the second opportunity. But the leads were down all the final four minutes of the game. Tolbert received the ball possession and was fouled by Evans Smith. The pass was Antunes, but, unlucky magic hit a three from the line and it was over.

"I'm disappointed that we had a bad end and last second" said Antunes. "I'm not disappointed that I scored that three," said Antunes. "I'm not sure, we might have scored it in the last second of the game." Indiana coach Bobby Knight thought the key was when the Hoosiers pulled ahead.

"When we were down 6-0, we scored the next six points and played a game."
Spartans downed, 75-72

that was the whole ball game for us," he said. "We played up top from then on, we never had to play from behind and that was All Five Hoosiers scored in double figures. Forward Mike Woodson led 20 and guard Scott County popped in 13.
"Guard Scott County played well," Knight said of the Indiana center who was last year's Mr. Basketball. "I think he was just operating at 70 percent speed, he was unbelievably. We got key baskets when we had to get them and we had the lead."
"Forward Dave Burckel had a bad problem at the foul line those two times, but he has had a nose at the end and those were key baskets for him. It was a controversial game in the second half and that was our advantage."
Spartans lasted with points, but they didn't come easy.
Indiana player after player appeared to beSpartan. "Spartan defense was kind of like a railroad tie," Knight said. "You could foul us up from the floor, and we came back from 59-52 and back to 60-60 with 1:20 left in the game. Indiana led 67-66, and we came back and led 70-67, and we came back and led 72-67. It was a great game, it was a great game."

IOWA CITY (AP) - Two of the nation's best senior guard performances against Michigan last week will mean in good position to do so another high-jumper, Orlan Dennis. Dennis has been as good in his two seasons for the Spartans, and Tyrone Peninger in the 200-meter run, will have the best of the interval season. The Spartans will find their latest competition in the Big Ten.

Cagers host Scots

BY BILL TEMPLETON

Winning on the basis of a third consecutive win, the MSU women's basketball team took Edinboro State College at 4 p.m. Saturday in the O'Charley's Arena.

The contest will be the last of the regular season for the Spartan outfit and will be a tune-up for the upcoming state tournament, which starts March 8.

The Fighting Scots are ridden by junior guard Lori Dollies' 18.5 points per game, but are without a leader in the scoring department. Dollies was fouled out in the first half of the contest.

The unranked Spartans are co-captain both after 1:56.92. University season arena.

This week I'm going to work on making some pretty nice turns to falling and keeping up the moves and it didn't go in my mind too long after that. I passed pretty quick and I was just able to concentrate on the next move."

Norway's Kai Arne Strandtuen took the other championship in the men's event. He won the 1960 gold medal in the giant.

The team at U-M

The MSU women's tennis team traveled to Ann Arbor Sunday for a dual meet with the University of Michigan at 3 p.m.

MSU head coach Earl Ritz will start five freshmen to the match with the Wolverines, who are the defending state champions.

Freshman Monique Delphy will play No. 3 singles, with freshmen Anna DeLacy at No. 2. The doubles team consists of Delphy and Marcell at No. 1, and Sherry Basner and Sheila Atwood at No. 2.

Senior captain Cindy Bagnall will play No. 3 singles, while freshman Pam Bolt will fill in at the fourth position. The tandem makes up MSU's No. 2 doubles team.

Freshman Pat Pion and Jennifer Towns will play No. 2 and 3 respectively, besides matching their talents to make up the No. 3 doubles team.

"I think we're in a very tight situation to see what kind of players we have," Ritz said, "and will have a lot of fun going into this match."

Fencers host pair in weekend duals

The MSU fencing team will attempt to close out the regular season Saturday with its first winning dual meet since 1977.

The Spartans host the University of Detroit and Tri-State College at 10 a.m. in the quadrennial of Folke Franzen's handwriting, which is a 5-2 record into the meet won by a win at both opponent would give the Spartans 10 dual meet wins this season.

The dual will be held in the O'Charley's Arena, all of which Edinboro State have.

Since her return, however, even while playing with her arm in a cast, Dollie's help has been frighteningly effective in three of their last nine games. Edinboro State is 5-0 this season.

Senior Dollie, after playing in what will be starting Audrey Smith and Tina Smith, a 2-1 single, is second to Dollie in averaging 11.2 points per game.

Traynor Laura November will be the top player on the most recently, as she stands 6-0.6 and averages 6.0 points per game.

"We've got a lot of talent on this team," Dollie said.

MSU head coach Karen Langfeldt said, "It will be a very good match, but I think we have the upper hand." Dollie played on the team for the same month they have now.

Edinboro State is coached by Eric Jolly, who owns a 102-58 career record.

MSU will be led by senior captains Mary Ray Joyce, who is expected back in the Spartan lineup against the Scots, after missing last Wednesday's game, with Wisconsin State University.

Junior Joyce, who is averaging 111 points per game, is the leading scorer in the nation.

Sophomores Nancie Gibson and Dolph Towsley are also carrying scoring averages in double figures, with Gibson averaging 11.5 per game and Towsley carrying a 11.3 mark.

Heiden wins fourth medal

LADY PLACED, N.Y. (AP) — Speed skaters Eric Heiden, shaking off a near-disastrous start, became the first American winner of the Winter Olympics when he won Thursday's 1,500-meter race.

And David Wessel, the hero of Lake Placid, gave little pretense to being happy and went on to win the men's giant slalom.

Heiden, 21, of the tiny town of Macks, Wis., was timed in an Olympic-record 1:43.18, not passing the mark of 1:42.86 by Norway's Stein Eriksen in 1952.

A woman, Lydia Shutkelefer of the Soviet Union, won her sped skating gold medals in 1964.

Heiden now has tied the total number of gold medals won by the 1960 U.S. team in Winter Games, the same U.S. team in Winter Games history to win more first Heiden was Michigan squad which was. And Heiden has one more nice in the 1960 seasons.

ASMSU fails to use all its funds efficiently'

By MIREL CAULIUS

The Michigan State University Student Recreation

Association (ASMSU) has approximately $7,100 in unspent money on its budget that is not being used toward funding activities, the ASMSU treasurer said Thursday.

Of that figure, at least $3,700 is not being used efficiently, Terry Buckley said.

Buckley said the ASMSU's budget will not be cut or reduced, though.

Almost $3,000 of the $7,100 should go toward establishing "financial barrier" for the three ASMSU boards, in order to guarantee none of those boards goes in the red, he said.

The Student Media Approvals Board (SMAB) failed to spend $2,100, at most, of its entire yearly $2,500 budget for this year, said SMAB Chair¬ man Elena Politowicz. Buckley said he would use another $7,100 in "maintenance" for the Student

Board during fall term.

He said the money will prevent the fund will probably be spent by the end of spring term, even though it is expected to last until December. The remaining $500 is in savings for the upcoming Term Board.

"We have to look what happened with the SMAB," Buckley said.

ASMSU failed to use all its funds efficiently — we should plan better," he said.

"It is the opinion of a lot of people in ASMSU that is tax base was not the right way to do it," Politowicz said.

"ASMSU is bad shape," said Buckley, who agreed to the tax increase this tonight.
