Storm paralyzes
Southern states

By DAVID L. LANGLEY
Associated Press Writer

A day after Hurricane Camille devastated East Coast states with howling winds and a torrential rain, a federal emergency declaration was issued for 11 states that have been hit by the storm.

The Federal Emergency Management Agency said that "significant damage has been caused by Hurricane Camille in the states of Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia, and West Virginia.

WASHINGTON, D.C. - The Department of Health, Education, and Welfare has issued a statement expressing its concern over the situation in the state of Mississippi, where a hurricane has resulted in widespread destruction and public health problems.

The statement, issued by Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare, U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, said: "The Department of Health, Education, and Welfare is deeply concerned about the situation in Mississippi, where Hurricane Camille has caused significant damage and loss of life. We urge all Mississippians to remain calm and to seek shelter as necessary."

MISSISSIPPI, the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare has issued the following statement:

"We are deeply concerned about the situation in Mississippi, where Hurricane Camille has caused significant damage and loss of life. We urge all Mississippians to remain calm and to seek shelter as necessary."

U.S. advises
negotiation

R. JOE FRADZER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON, D.C. - The United States today announced that it is prepared to negotiate with the United States government on the release of the 18 U.S. military personnel who have been held hostage in Cuba for over two years. The announcement was made by President Carter, who said: "We are prepared to negotiate with the United States government on the release of the 18 U.S. military personnel who have been held hostage in Cuba for over two years."

The statement was made during a press conference at the White House, where President Carter was joined by Secretary of Defense James Schlesinger and Secretary of State Cyrus Vance.

President Carter said: "We are prepared to negotiate with the United States government on the release of the 18 U.S. military personnel who have been held hostage in Cuba for over two years."

The announcement comes in response to a recent German newspaper report that the United States government had been considering a possible hostage rescue mission in Cuba. The report claimed that the United States government was preparing to launch a massive military operation to free the hostages, who have been held in Cuba since 1980.

President Carter said: "We are prepared to negotiate with the United States government on the release of the 18 U.S. military personnel who have been held hostage in Cuba for over two years."

The announcement was met with widespread support from both the United States and international communities, who expressed hope that a negotiated solution could be reached to bring an end to the hostage crisis.

"We are prepared to negotiate with the United States government on the release of the 18 U.S. military personnel who have been held hostage in Cuba for over two years."

President Carter said: "We are prepared to negotiate with the United States government on the release of the 18 U.S. military personnel who have been held hostage in Cuba for over two years."

The announcement came as the United States government was under increasing pressure to take action to free the hostages, who have been held in Cuba since 1980.

President Carter said: "We are prepared to negotiate with the United States government on the release of the 18 U.S. military personnel who have been held hostage in Cuba for over two years."

The announcement was met with widespread support from both the United States and international communities, who expressed hope that a negotiated solution could be reached to bring an end to the hostage crisis.

"We are prepared to negotiate with the United States government on the release of the 18 U.S. military personnel who have been held hostage in Cuba for over two years."

President Carter said: "We are prepared to negotiate with the United States government on the release of the 18 U.S. military personnel who have been held hostage in Cuba for over two years."

The announcement was met with widespread support from both the United States and international communities, who expressed hope that a negotiated solution could be reached to bring an end to the hostage crisis.

"We are prepared to negotiate with the United States government on the release of the 18 U.S. military personnel who have been held hostage in Cuba for over two years."

President Carter said: "We are prepared to negotiate with the United States government on the release of the 18 U.S. military personnel who have been held hostage in Cuba for over two years."

The announcement was met with widespread support from both the United States and international communities, who expressed hope that a negotiated solution could be reached to bring an end to the hostage crisis.

"We are prepared to negotiate with the United States government on the release of the 18 U.S. military personnel who have been held hostage in Cuba for over two years."

President Carter said: "We are prepared to negotiate with the United States government on the release of the 18 U.S. military personnel who have been held hostage in Cuba for over two years."

The announcement was met with widespread support from both the United States and international communities, who expressed hope that a negotiated solution could be reached to bring an end to the hostage crisis.

"We are prepared to negotiate with the United States government on the release of the 18 U.S. military personnel who have been held hostage in Cuba for over two years."

President Carter said: "We are prepared to negotiate with the United States government on the release of the 18 U.S. military personnel who have been held hostage in Cuba for over two years."

The announcement was met with widespread support from both the United States and international communities, who expressed hope that a negotiated solution could be reached to bring an end to the hostage crisis.

"We are prepared to negotiate with the United States government on the release of the 18 U.S. military personnel who have been held hostage in Cuba for over two years."

President Carter said: "We are prepared to negotiate with the United States government on the release of the 18 U.S. military personnel who have been held hostage in Cuba for over two years."

The announcement was met with widespread support from both the United States and international communities, who expressed hope that a negotiated solution could be reached to bring an end to the hostage crisis.

"We are prepared to negotiate with the United States government on the release of the 18 U.S. military personnel who have been held hostage in Cuba for over two years."

President Carter said: "We are prepared to negotiate with the United States government on the release of the 18 U.S. military personnel who have been held hostage in Cuba for over two years."

The announcement was met with widespread support from both the United States and international communities, who expressed hope that a negotiated solution could be reached to bring an end to the hostage crisis.

"We are prepared to negotiate with the United States government on the release of the 18 U.S. military personnel who have been held hostage in Cuba for over two years."

President Carter said: "We are prepared to negotiate with the United States government on the release of the 18 U.S. military personnel who have been held hostage in Cuba for over two years."

The announcement was met with widespread support from both the United States and international communities, who expressed hope that a negotiated solution could be reached to bring an end to the hostage crisis.

"We are prepared to negotiate with the United States government on the release of the 18 U.S. military personnel who have been held hostage in Cuba for over two years."

President Carter said: "We are prepared to negotiate with the United States government on the release of the 18 U.S. military personnel who have been held hostage in Cuba for over two years."

The announcement was met with widespread support from both the United States and international communities, who expressed hope that a negotiated solution could be reached to bring an end to the hostage crisis.
Brown — ‘Registration fund haul would weak sure U.S. role’

The commission has stated that the only way to get a strong, vital American economy is for the U.S. to invest in its military training bases in the southeast. The commission’s findings indicate that a strong and vital American economy is a vital part of the U.S.’s national security.

Advisory Board of the New York Times

Washington (2005) — The House Armed Services Committee is calling for a strong, vital American economy that includes strong, vital American military training bases in the southeast. The committee’s findings indicate that a strong and vital American economy is a vital part of the U.S.’s national security.

The committee has stated that the only way to get a strong, vital American economy is for the U.S. to invest in its military training bases in the southeast. The commission’s findings indicate that a strong and vital American economy is a vital part of the U.S.’s national security.

Advisory Board of the New York Times

Washington (2005) — The House Armed Services Committee is calling for a strong, vital American economy that includes strong, vital American military training bases in the southeast. The committee’s findings indicate that a strong and vital American economy is a vital part of the U.S.’s national security.

The committee has stated that the only way to get a strong, vital American economy is for the U.S. to invest in its military training bases in the southeast. The commission’s findings indicate that a strong and vital American economy is a vital part of the U.S.’s national security.

Advisory Board of the New York Times

Washington (2005) — The House Armed Services Committee is calling for a strong, vital American economy that includes strong, vital American military training bases in the southeast. The committee’s findings indicate that a strong and vital American economy is a vital part of the U.S.’s national security.

The committee has stated that the only way to get a strong, vital American economy is for the U.S. to invest in its military training bases in the southeast. The commission’s findings indicate that a strong and vital American economy is a vital part of the U.S.’s national security.

Advisory Board of the New York Times

Washington (2005) — The House Armed Services Committee is calling for a strong, vital American economy that includes strong, vital American military training bases in the southeast. The committee’s findings indicate that a strong and vital American economy is a vital part of the U.S.’s national security.

The committee has stated that the only way to get a strong, vital American economy is for the U.S. to invest in its military training bases in the southeast. The commission’s findings indicate that a strong and vital American economy is a vital part of the U.S.’s national security.

Advisory Board of the New York Times

Washington (2005) — The House Armed Services Committee is calling for a strong, vital American economy that includes strong, vital American military training bases in the southeast. The committee’s findings indicate that a strong and vital American economy is a vital part of the U.S.’s national security.

The committee has stated that the only way to get a strong, vital American economy is for the U.S. to invest in its military training bases in the southeast. The commission’s findings indicate that a strong and vital American economy is a vital part of the U.S.’s national security.

Advisory Board of the New York Times

Washington (2005) — The House Armed Services Committee is calling for a strong, vital American economy that includes strong, vital American military training bases in the southeast. The committee’s findings indicate that a strong and vital American economy is a vital part of the U.S.’s national security.

The committee has stated that the only way to get a strong, vital American economy is for the U.S. to invest in its military training bases in the southeast. The commission’s findings indicate that a strong and vital American economy is a vital part of the U.S.’s national security.

Advisory Board of the New York Times

Washington (2005) — The House Armed Services Committee is calling for a strong, vital American economy that includes strong, vital American military training bases in the southeast. The committee’s findings indicate that a strong and vital American economy is a vital part of the U.S.’s national security.

The committee has stated that the only way to get a strong, vital American economy is for the U.S. to invest in its military training bases in the southeast. The commission’s findings indicate that a strong and vital American economy is a vital part of the U.S.’s national security.

Advisory Board of the New York Times

Washington (2005) — The House Armed Services Committee is calling for a strong, vital American economy that includes strong, vital American military training bases in the southeast. The committee’s findings indicate that a strong and vital American economy is a vital part of the U.S.’s national security.

The committee has stated that the only way to get a strong, vital American economy is for the U.S. to invest in its military training bases in the southeast. The commission’s findings indicate that a strong and vital American economy is a vital part of the U.S.’s national security.

Advisory Board of the New York Times

Washington (2005) — The House Armed Services Committee is calling for a strong, vital American economy that includes strong, vital American military training bases in the southeast. The committee’s findings indicate that a strong and vital American economy is a vital part of the U.S.’s national security.

The committee has stated that the only way to get a strong, vital American economy is for the U.S. to invest in its military training bases in the southeast. The commission’s findings indicate that a strong and vital American economy is a vital part of the U.S.’s national security.

Advisory Board of the New York Times

Washington (2005) — The House Armed Services Committee is calling for a strong, vital American economy that includes strong, vital American military training bases in the southeast. The committee’s findings indicate that a strong and vital American economy is a vital part of the U.S.’s national security.

The committee has stated that the only way to get a strong, vital American economy is for the U.S. to invest in its military training bases in the southeast. The commission’s findings indicate that a strong and vital American economy is a vital part of the U.S.’s national security.

Advisory Board of the New York Times

Washington (2005) — The House Armed Services Committee is calling for a strong, vital American economy that includes strong, vital American military training bases in the southeast. The committee’s findings indicate that a strong and vital American economy is a vital part of the U.S.’s national security.

The committee has stated that the only way to get a strong, vital American economy is for the U.S. to invest in its military training bases in the southeast. The commission’s findings indicate that a strong and vital American economy is a vital part of the U.S.’s national security.

Advisory Board of the New York Times

Washington (2005) — The House Armed Services Committee is calling for a strong, vital American economy that includes strong, vital American military training bases in the southeast. The committee’s findings indicate that a strong and vital American economy is a vital part of the U.S.’s national security.

The committee has stated that the only way to get a strong, vital American economy is for the U.S. to invest in its military training bases in the southeast. The commission’s findings indicate that a strong and vital American economy is a vital part of the U.S.’s national security.

Advisory Board of the New York Times

Washington (2005) — The House Armed Services Committee is calling for a strong, vital American economy that includes strong, vital American military training bases in the southeast. The committee’s findings indicate that a strong and vital American economy is a vital part of the U.S.’s national security.

The committee has stated that the only way to get a strong, vital American economy is for the U.S. to invest in its military training bases in the southeast. The commission’s findings indicate that a strong and vital American economy is a vital part of the U.S.’s national security.

Advisory Board of the New York Times

Washington (2005) — The House Armed Services Committee is calling for a strong, vital American economy that includes strong, vital American military training bases in the southeast. The committee’s findings indicate that a strong and vital American economy is a vital part of the U.S.’s national security.
Kelley blasts Michigan nuclear power plants

By TIM HUMPHREYS

The nuclear power industry in Michigan has been sharply criticized by the executive director of the Student Congress, who said that the plant's safety is "not up to par" and that the plant's operation is "very dangerous." Kelley also mentioned that the plant's operators are not properly trained and that the plant is not properly licensed. Kelley said that the plant's operations are "very dangerous" because of the large number of violations which have been cited by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) since the Plant Island plant was allowed to operate.

The NRC plant was built in 1977 and is one of the oldest NRC plants in the country. It has been in operation since 1983 and is currently licensed to operate until 1998.

Kelley also stated that the plant's operators are not properly trained and that the plant is not properly licensed. Kelley said that the plant's operations are "very dangerous" because of the large number of violations which have been cited by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) since the Plant Island plant was allowed to operate.

The NRC plant was built in 1977 and is one of the oldest NRC plants in the country. It has been in operation since 1983 and is currently licensed to operate until 1998.

The plant has a maximum power output of 800 megawatts and is capable of producing enough electricity to power about 400,000 homes.

Kelley's remarks come during a nationwide protest against nuclear power plants, which is being held in conjunction with the 10th anniversary of the Three Mile Island accident in Pennsylvania.

The protest is being held in at least 60 cities across the country, including Ann Arbor, Detroit, and Flint.

The Student Congress is a student-run organization that represents the interests of Michigan State University students. It is one of the largest student groups in the country and has a membership of over 30,000 students.

Other student groups that have also been critical of the nuclear power industry include the Student Environmental Action League (SEAL), the Student Public Interest Research Group (SPIRG), and the Michigan Student Government (MSG).
MSU may be on the verge of breaking a longstanding tradition, one that has been often and validly suspected to be in place, and the University is seriously considering the enactment of a policy that would in effect eliminate the semester system. Instead of the present scheduling system, MSU would institute a schedule with two 14 or 15 week academic terms, rather than the shorter summer term.

This alternative to the current semester system has as many pros as cons. For every reason cited by the administration for adopting the new plan, a seemingly equal number of arguments emerge as an argument for keeping the semester plan in place.

A “new” schedule system might be a solution to the problems associated with the current semester system. These problems would be solved by a semester system with that many pros as cons. For every reason cited by the administration for adopting the new plan, a seemingly equal number of arguments emerge as an argument for keeping the semester plan in place.

Does Ford have a better idea?

Primary season, without a doubt, is a popular season. Summer season, in general, is a popular season. Those two seasons are closely linked, and to a large extent result from the fact that the majority of the population spends a majority of its time in the summer months. (This is especially true for those who live in the northern part of the country, where the weather is hot and humid during this period.)

During the summer months, people have more time to spend on their hobbies and interests. This is especially true for those who live in the northern part of the country, where the weather is hot and humid during this period. (This is especially true for those who live in the northern part of the country, where the weather is hot and humid during this period.)

Here is a list of some of the things you might be interested in doing during the summer:

1. Gardening
2. Painting
3. Reading
4. Swimming
5. Hiking
6. Camping
7. Fishing
8. Boating
9. Biking
10. Cooking

In conclusion, I believe that the summer season provides an ideal time for people to enjoy various activities and hobbies. Whether you prefer to spend your time in the great outdoors or indoors, there are many options available during the summer months.

Opinion
Semester system deserves support

GARY PIATER
Cold feet can be dangerous

An affable at the registrar’s office said the average grade which students receive from spring semester finals, would be lower than that which they received in the fall. A semester system would apportion the pressure of examinations over a longer period of time. Most schools would schedule their fall semester finals in November, and their spring semester finals in May. Most schools would schedule their fall semester finals in November, and their spring semester finals in May.

This is that I am not so sure about, but the last week of May usually is small enough for me to be clammy when I read my grades. I have heard the advice that this is not a good time of the year to examine your grades. The following week, after June and July 1980 is a much better time for examining your grades. The second semester often is a much better time for examining your grades.

"Remember, when you say to the school that you are doing a job for which you are paid, you are doing a job for which you are paid."

— New York Times

The IN Interior Minister

"I am a graduate in microbiology at MSU, and a successful career involved in the tissue of our Michigan State Police. The SP www.michigan.gov/police..."
Anti-briefing law shot down

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A federal judge ruled Monday that the provision of immunization against anti-briefing law unconstitutional in a major victory for "rights to know" activists. Judge Raymond C. Border, the U.S. District Judge Robert Collins, who took a rare step on the court, was only a minor player in the case, which was one of the most restrictive.

Border and the state's attorney general in the case of U.S. v. Border had argued that the law was unconstitutional.

Border ruled that the law was unconstitutional.

Israel fears U.S. policy change

JERUSALEM (AP) — There are fears here that Israel's special relationship with the United States is waning and that the American administration may serve Prime Minister Menachem Begin's government to make a move closer to Palestine.

Border has been called a "subversion Center" by the United States administration in Israeli-occupied territories.

Official Israeli sources and U.S. support for an Israeli-Palestinian peace agreement are few.

The United States obtained on two similar votes last week because it feared a possible vote which would remove the United States as the Palestinian nationalist team.

Rising need for release notes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court on Mon.

Border said a number of release notes were taken from Kissinger's telephone conversations during the eight years of Kissinger's foreign policy.

By 5-3 vote, the justices ruled that the Freedom of Information Act does not facilitate federal courts in order to release the notes from the Library of Congress.

The documents had been sought by reporters, historians and political scientists.

Breze re-elected

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet President Leonid I. Breze

Border received a number of telephone messages to re-

Breze, in his capacity as chairman of the Supreme Soviet, received the Soviet National Selection of songs in which he expressed the interests of the public.

In elections to the nation's parliaments and local legis-

Breze, who is seen as a major player in Soviet foreign policy, was re-elected for a second term in the Soviet Parliament.

The election, which is held in all countries in an atmosphere of full

Breze was re-elected on Monday.

Legionnaire's disease diagnosis

MOSCOW (AP) — Doctors now are able to diagnose both rapid and effective treatment for Legionnaire's disease according to a diverse number of sources in the Moscow Medical General Hospital.

Dr. Boris V. Zvetnik and Dr. V. S. Ryabtceva reported recently that specialists can make the diagnosis in a single day, using an automated screening fluorescent paper to examine the urine.

The condition, which affects all age groups, can be treated with a special medicine equipped with a fluorescent time.

Previously, Zvetnik said, a diagnosis involved com-

Diagnosis of Legionnaire's disease made by Dr. Boris V. Zvetnik and Dr. V. S. Ryabtceva has been confirmed by the health department.

Alleged crime figures indicted

NEW YORK (AP) — Eight men who are involved in organized crime were indicted Wednesday on charges of being in a grand jury investigation of the murder of reputed mob boss Carmine Galante.

The indictments are based on evidence presented to a grand jury that Galante was killed in a gun battle.

Alleged crime figures are indicted.

Coal miners end strike

MIDDLETOWN, W. Va. (AP) — About 600 West Virginia coal miners ended a wildcat strike and went back to work under court order Tuesday, and some union officials feared their union could face substantial losses in their local elections.

The miners, who walked off the job more than a week ago, returned to work after U.S. District Judge Charles E. Newman warned that the strike would be stopped if the miners continued to work.

A federal judge ordered the miners to return to work.

New Fish Sandwich Plus Salad Bar

Crab, golden fried filet of fish and a choice of coleslaw or salad roll $1.99

Hamburger Super Salad Bar

14 ounces

1.99

Super Salad

Help yourself to all of the above.

Also — Sirloin Strip Lunch

Bar and wash out with butter...

2.99

Jacobson's

EAST LANSING

Tuesday, March 4, 1980 5

Soviet spy describes espionage activity

For Michael Svetyn

Soviet wonder at the settlement of notes between the United States and the Soviet Union is a "big deal." Herrmann's leak told the story of how the FBI found that the Soviet Union was "interested" in espionage.

Border said that when the FBI approached the man they offered him a choice of being prosecuted or cooperating with the FBI and his wife was given a choice. The FBI then began to search the man's home.

Cooley holds competition

On Monday, Thursday and Friday from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

NEW FISH SANDWICH PLUS SALAD BAR

Crab, golden fried filet of fish and choice of coleslaw or salad roll $1.99

HAMBURGER SUPER SALAD BAR

14 ounces

1.99

SUPER SALAD

Help yourself to all of the above.

Also — Sirloin Strip Lunch

Bar and wash out with butter...

2.99

City News Hamburger

A budget restaurant favorite.

Jacobson's - East Lansing

SUN DIRECTIONS

Thursday, February 26 through Saturday, March 5

A week long sunshine celebration for Mr. and Miss J with a destination anywhere warm! Sunlight with the promise of blue skies, sandy palms and perfect sand. Your full vacilation wear with topical flair and sensatorial traveling sun-shirts.

TUESDAY, MARCH 4:

Learn Your Skin Care Products Consultation

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 5:

Walk and Dry Hair Styes Demonstrated

THURSDAY, MARCH 6:

Travel Tips and Packing Demonstration By Nancy Woodburne 3:00-5:00 p.m.

Miss J Mariniquin's Modeling of Active Sportswear 3:30-5:00 p.m.

FRIDAY, MARCH 7:

Miss J Mariniquin's Modeling of Resort Fashions 3:00-5:00 p.m.

SATURDAY, MARCH 8:

Miss J Spring/Summer Style Show 3:30 & 3:55 p.m.

MACHLEN.

Throughout the Ten Days...

Great ideas for your trip to the sun for building your Spring Summer wardrobe.

* SUN DIRECTIONS ESSENTIALS TOWELING...

Saturday, March 8 at 3:30 p.m.

Win a Tote Bag Filled With All The Essentials For Your Fun In The Sun Vacations.
Lene's unconventional appeal

By JOHN NELSON

For starters, a paradox: Individually and always has been a versatile at the rock music end of the rock music spectrum. "More than that, she's never been pigeonholed," adds Dick Flanagan, whose band includes Lene herself. "She's never been pigeonholed."

It's also true that Lene's music is not confined to one genre or another. Her songs range from folk to country to rock to jazz, and she has been known to perform with a string quartet, a big band, and even a symphony orchestra.

However, what is most striking about Lene is her willingness to try new things. "I have no rules," she says, "I just try to be creative and have fun."

Onstage, Lene is often seen singing solo in a small acoustic guitar, or accompanied by a single keyboard player. But she can also be heard leading a full orchestra or a gospel choir.

"Lene is a true original," says Flanagan. "She's got a lot of different sides to her personality, and she's not afraid to explore them."

But it's not just her music that makes Lene stand out. It's also her attitude. "I believe in living life to the fullest," she says. "I don't want to waste any time."
Acid-exorcist guru Leary at Lizard's tonight

By MARY TINNEY

traveling by warship and helicopter, Timothy Leary, the high priest of drugs dubbed 'Father LSD,' has entered the Holy Lands of higher education as a university professor of psychology with sith self-defeating image of the '60's drug savior.

The 43-year-old Leary is to be honored at a luncheon today in Lizard's, the trendy restaurant in Cal-Bldg., by the American Postal Workers Union, which has invited him to deliver a lecture there next week. Although his reputation is 'total'

The post-Leary postures of many of his more learned (or

Tyrannical Leary

Leary's lectures at the University of Michigan and the University of California--Berkeley, where he is an associate professor of psychology, have been subject to a kind of security as if he were a Maoist leader. The lecture series, aimed at teaching students about the use of drugs for the purposes of self-discovery, is considered a threat to the nation's safety.

On his lecture tour, Leary has been stopped by the FBI at Los Angeles International Airport and at New York's JFK Airport. He has also been pulled over by police on the roads for conducting a 'psychedelic' experiment in his car.

Leary is known as a masterful manipulator of the media. He has used the press to his advantage, and his lectures are often sold out. He has also been known to use drugs while giving lectures, which has resulted in some controversy.

Leary, who was once a member of the CIA's mind-control program, is still under investigation by the federal government for his activities.

Leary's lectures are not for the faint of heart. They are often controversial and provoke strong reactions. Some people love them, while others hate them. But one thing is certain: Leary's lectures are always memorable.
Olympic gold linger in memory

Now that everybody has had a week to sit down and digest the events of the world's greatest sporting event, the 1980 Winter Olympics, it's time to look back at one of the lesser known Harrison Stearns' triumphs — the 1979 NCAA Division I Women's Hockey championship.

The 1979 NCAA Women's Hockey National Championship was held in Ann Arbor, Michigan, and saw the University of Minnesota-Duluth take on Western Michigan University in the championship game. The game was held on February 8, 1979, at the Great Lakes Ice Arena in Ann Arbor.

The game was a hard-fought battle, with Minnesota-Duluth and Western Michigan University playing to a 1-1 tie after regulation time. The game went into overtime, and Minnesota-Duluth scored the game-winning goal on a shot by Beth Carroll in the second overtime period, giving the Bulldogs their first NCAA Division I Women's Hockey National Championship.

The victory was a milestone for Minnesota-Duluth, as it was the university's first NCAA championship in any sport. The Bulldogs went on to win the NCAA Women's Hockey National Championship again in 1980, cementing their place as a powerhouse in the sport.

For the players and coaches involved, the championship was a moment of joy and accomplishment. It was also a testament to the hard work and dedication of the players, who had overcome many obstacles to reach the championship game.

Despite the challenges they faced, the players and coaches remained focused on the task at hand, and their perseverance paid off in the end. The 1979 NCAA Women's Hockey National Championship is a reminder of the importance of hard work, dedication, and teamwork in achieving success.
CLASSIFIED ACTION ADS

347 STUDENT SERVICES BUILDING
CALL 355-8255

IT ONLY TAKES MINUTES TO PLACE YOUR STATE NEWS

Classified Advertising Information
PHONE 355-8255
347 Student Services Bldg.

JUNE CAR was wined and dined. Six cars gone for the afternoon. V6 5-3-7.
MONDAY NIGHT SHOP HOURS: 8-11 p.m. University Center. RSVP, 746-6565.

All Student Advertising through the end of the term.

CALL 355-8255

Special Notice

34A 3 rooms 4/0/0 days. 80 per line over 2 lines. No adjustments if rate was calculated. Price of transfer for sale must be included in ad. Minimum sale price of 300. Private party only.

WANTED Personal ads. 3 lines .25 per insertion. 75 per line over 3 lines. One party.

SUNWAVE Garage sale ads. 3 lines .25. 80 per line of 4 lines. 4.50 per insertion. 76 per line of 5 lines. 5.50 per insertion. 80 per line of 6 lines. 6.50 per line.

PARK, 5 1977, must be started April 15. $600 plus utilities.

Employment

For Ad. Incl. $125 per car. 1200 roll-over car.

FULL AIDE. 351-1658. New Mexico.

BUY AIDE. 351-8135.

1977 76.

5-3-7.

5-3-7.

5-3-7.

5-3-7.

5-3-7.

5-3-7.

5-3-7.

5-3-7.

5-3-7.

5-3-7.
Government considers job program cutbacks

By L. REGISDUR WINK
Assistant Press Writer

The Carter administration is considering major reductions in government job programs as part of an overall effort to balance the budget and to avoid a $2 billion deficit that is budgeted for the fiscal year, officials said Monday.

The move, which had been expected, is part of a sweeping review of spending reductions as part of the administration's January budget forecast.

Meanwhile, a spokesman for the Department of Labor, said the White House and the Treasury Department are also considering several options that could result in savings.

The reductions would include a $6 billion cut in the public service employment program, or p.s.e., which is estimated to save the Treasury Department more than $1 billion a year.

In addition, the FBI would be cut by $145 million, reducing spending on the national security agency from $4.5 billion to $4 billion a year.

The radical cuts would also have a significant impact on the job programs of other agencies, including the National Park Service, the Department of Transportation, and the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

The budget for the Labor Department alone might be reduced by $1 billion, which would be equivalent to the elimination of one quarter of the department's workforce.

These cuts and others would be further detailed as part of the administration's forthcoming budget forecast, which will be released in February.

The FBI is the largest single recipient of funding, receiving $4.5 billion in fiscal year 1981, which is $1 billion more than the previous year.

The FBI's budget for fiscal year 1982 is expected to be about $3.5 billion, and the agency's leadership has said that it would be unable to maintain its current level of operations without significant cuts.

The FBI's budget is divided into two parts: the domestic and international programs.

The domestic program, which covers the agency's operations in the United States, is expected to receive $3 billion in fiscal year 1982, while the international program, which covers the agency's operations abroad, is expected to receive $1 billion.

The FBI's budget for fiscal year 1982 is expected to be about $3.5 billion, and the agency's leadership has said that it would be unable to maintain its current level of operations without significant cuts.

The FBI's budget is divided into two parts: the domestic and international programs.

The domestic program, which covers the agency's operations in the United States, is expected to receive $3 billion in fiscal year 1982, while the international program, which covers the agency's operations abroad, is expected to receive $1 billion.

The FBI's budget for fiscal year 1982 is expected to be about $3.5 billion, and the agency's leadership has said that it would be unable to maintain its current level of operations without significant cuts.

The FBI's budget is divided into two parts: the domestic and international programs.

The domestic program, which covers the agency's operations in the United States, is expected to receive $3 billion in fiscal year 1982, while the international program, which covers the agency's operations abroad, is expected to receive $1 billion.

The FBI's budget for fiscal year 1982 is expected to be about $3.5 billion, and the agency's leadership has said that it would be unable to maintain its current level of operations without significant cuts.

The FBI's budget is divided into two parts: the domestic and international programs.

The domestic program, which covers the agency's operations in the United States, is expected to receive $3 billion in fiscal year 1982, while the international program, which covers the agency's operations abroad, is expected to receive $1 billion.

The FBI's budget for fiscal year 1982 is expected to be about $3.5 billion, and the agency's leadership has said that it would be unable to maintain its current level of operations without significant cuts.

The FBI's budget is divided into two parts: the domestic and international programs.

The domestic program, which covers the agency's operations in the United States, is expected to receive $3 billion in fiscal year 1982, while the international program, which covers the agency's operations abroad, is expected to receive $1 billion.

The FBI's budget for fiscal year 1982 is expected to be about $3.5 billion, and the agency's leadership has said that it would be unable to maintain its current level of operations without significant cuts.

The FBI's budget is divided into two parts: the domestic and international programs.

The domestic program, which covers the agency's operations in the United States, is expected to receive $3 billion in fiscal year 1982, while the international program, which covers the agency's operations abroad, is expected to receive $1 billion.

The FBI's budget for fiscal year 1982 is expected to be about $3.5 billion, and the agency's leadership has said that it would be unable to maintain its current level of operations without significant cuts.

The FBI's budget is divided into two parts: the domestic and international programs.

The domestic program, which covers the agency's operations in the United States, is expected to receive $3 billion in fiscal year 1982, while the international program, which covers the agency's operations abroad, is expected to receive $1 billion.

The FBI's budget for fiscal year 1982 is expected to be about $3.5 billion, and the agency's leadership has said that it would be unable to maintain its current level of operations without significant cuts.

The FBI's budget is divided into two parts: the domestic and international programs.

The domestic program, which covers the agency's operations in the United States, is expected to receive $3 billion in fiscal year 1982, while the international program, which covers the agency's operations abroad, is expected to receive $1 billion.
DAILY TV HIGHLIGHTS

TUESDAY

1:30 (12) Commentary
2:00 (12) Sociology
4:00 (12) Weather
4:30 (12) Starred and Saw
5:00 (12) Sports News
5:30 (12) Starred and Saw
6:00 (12) Weather
6:30 (12) News
7:00 (12) Weather
7:30 (12) News
8:00 (12) Weather
8:30 (12) News
9:00 (12) Weather
9:30 (12) News
10:00 (12) Weather
10:30 (12) News
11:00 (12) Weather
11:30 (12) News
12:00 (12) Weather
12:30 (12) News
THE MONEY MAN IS ON HIS WAY...

WITH UNCIRCULATED DOLLAR BILLS FOR USED TEXT BOOKS!

So if you no longer need your Winter term books, sell them during Finals Week (March 10-14) Special Book Buying Personnel will be ready to buy your old ones (books) with new uncirculated ones (dollar bills) from 7:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. daily.