Elections hold up release

By The Associated Press

New Mexico senator and Wednesday night council was the second round of voting for the new mayor of Albuquerque. The election was a further delay before a decision on the fate of the U.S. Bankruptcy Code.

Meanwhile, Secretary of Agriculture, the official executive committee for the rights of the American people, was appointed by President Mohammad Reza Pahlavi, who reportedly received a special envoy from the United States.

Dick Smydra was named to the press upon his arrival at Cairo airport. Reporters on the scene described the arrival as "the most significant development in the Middle East since the Suez crisis." Smydra's visit is believed to contain several objectives including:

- Strengthen relations with the American cos, which had been reported to be on the verge of becoming its first in the United Nations.

- To investigate charges that some of the U.S.'s key allies in the region, Israel and Saudi Arabia, have been acting as "backers of the American people," and to determine the facts behind allegations that some of the American cos, including the United States, have been acting as "backers of the American people."

- To discuss the U.S.'s role in the region, particularly in the context of the Middle East crisis. Smydra's visit is expected to discuss the U.S.'s role in the region, particularly in the context of the Middle East crisis.

There were conflicting reports from government sources on the side of the others, but it was clear that the press was not interested in the second round on page 6.

MSU compiles data for HEW audit

By B.A. LINDA

State News Bureau Writer

The State News, the weekly newsletter of the Michigan State University student government, has compiled a comprehensive report on the activities of the HEW audit program. This report is based on interviews with faculty members, students, and administrators.

The report includes a detailed analysis of the HEW audit program, including its goals, methods, and impact on the university. It also examines the role of the HEW audit program in the context of the broader HEW program.

The report concludes that the HEW audit program is a highly effective and efficient program, and that it is essential to the continued success of the HEW program.

The report also includes a series of recommendations for the future of the HEW audit program, including the need for increased funding, improved coordination with other HEW programs, and greater participation by faculty members and students.

Wayne State University student, 22, recommended as MSU trustee candidate

By ROBERT OBERN

Wayne State University, one of the major universities in Michigan, has recommended a student for a position on the Michigan State University board of trustees. The student, a senior at Wayne State, is being considered for a position on the board.

The student, who is a member of the Wayne State University student government, has been involved in a number of campus activities, including organizing student protests and advocating for student rights.

The student has a strong record of community service, having volunteered at a local hospital and at a senior citizens' center. He has also been active in student government, serving as a student advisor and as the president of the Wayne State University student government.

The student is the first student to be recommended for a position on the Michigan State University board of trustees. The recommendation is expected to be presented to the board at its next meeting.

Mackey's case is complex, but there is no doubt that he is a valuable member of the Wayne State University community and a strong candidate for the position on the Michigan State University board of trustees.

Ford still available for GOP nomination

By LEE ROBERT

Associated Press Writer

Former President Gerald R. Ford today met with the possibility of winning the Republican nomination for the White House while the campaigning continues. Ford had been telephoning friends in March that he would not enter the GOP race. But the former president and some of his friends in California are said to be the leading Republican contender for the nomination.

The move by the GOP is said to be a signal that Ford will enter the race in California. But the former president is said to be concerned that he cannot win the nomination in the first ballot at the Republican National Convention in June.

"I'VE NEVER DECIDED a response," said Ford, who was speaking to reporters by phone. "But I'm going to decide by July. Ford has been a consistent supporter of the Republican party and has been a vocal advocate for the GOP in recent years.

Spring is a season of new life and growth, and the MSU annual report is no exception. The horse Desert Cross looks on as an animal husbandry student plants seeds in the warm soil of the university's greenhouse, while three more new arrivals are expected to reach the campus within the next week.

Federal revenue sharing determined by results

By SUSAN HENKELMAN

Census Bureau Writer

Tuesday's vote on the federal revenue sharing bill was a crucial step in determining which projects and programs would receive funding in the coming fiscal year.

The vote was a close one, with the House of Representatives approving the bill by a narrow margin. The Senate had previously approved the bill by a wide margin.

The revenue sharing bill is a key component of the federal budget, providing funding for a wide range of programs and projects.

Dems back subway plan

By United Press International

Dense Democrats voted Thursday to back a $1.2 billion subway complex sponsored by the city in a first step toward construction.

The plan, which was approved Monday by the city's Board of Supervisors, calls for a two-mile extension of the system, with an elevated train running through Gaylord andDowntown on a 21-Mile route to Royal Oak.

Mackey, chairman of the special committee that worked out the details, said the project would begin in 1975 and be completed in 1978.

The committee, which included the House and Senate, was formed last year to study the feasibility of building a subway system.

The vote was 20 to 9, with Republican votes opposed to the plan.

The project is expected to cost about $1.2 billion and would be financed by $350 million in federal aid and $850 million in local funds.

Mackey said the plan will provide a backbone of public transportation for the city and will help relieve traffic congestion.

The plan calls for a subway to be built between downtown and Royal Oak, with another line extending to Ferndale and another to Dearborn.

The project is expected to create about 14,000 construction jobs and 8,000 permanent jobs.

Mackey said the plan is a major step toward a more efficient system of public transportation for the city.

Two Fold: Final Flagship?

*(B) It was a great honor to be permitted to speak from President Dooley’s podium this evening.

Opinion

Too little too late

Ever since Jimmy Carter began running for the presidency, anti-nuclear sentiment has been growing along with the panic wave of crusade against Soviet aggression. Carter proponents and opponents alike have run vocal campaigns extolling the virtues of nuclear power. Yet, the President-elect has so far failed to do anything the country needs most — stand up to the Soviet Union and to the global nuclear threat.

Our stance is not one of wishful thinking but rather hopelessness. The threat of nuclear war, should one occur, could cost millions of lives and destroy the entire way of life. The president has a duty to our children and their generation to consider carefully the wide range of policies to forestall nuclear war. (B)

By CLAY N. PRINCETON

VIEWPOINT: NUCLEAR POWER

Beware of anti-nuke indoctrination

When we look at the current situation of the country, it is clear that we must take measures to prevent nuclear war. The United States must be prepared to meet any threats posed by the Soviet Union and other nuclear powers. It is essential to our national security and the survival of our people. The United States must take a firm stance against the proliferation of nuclear weapons.

However, we cannot overlook the fact that nuclear power is a valuable source of energy. It is important to recognize and support the development of advanced nuclear technologies that can improve the efficiency and safety of nuclear power generation. (B)

We must fight to keep freedom

It is a new day to prove that your vows to maintain peace and freedom are not in vain. Our students, friends, and faculty have been working tirelessly to bring democracy to our world. The way to do it is to fight for freedom and democracy in our universities. The struggle is real, and we must stand up to the forces of tyranny and oppression.

Where has all the parking gone?

I am writing this letter as a student of Michigan State University, and I am writing to express my concern about the parking situation on campus. As a student, I have noticed a significant decrease in the number of available parking spots in recent months. This situation has caused frustration and inconvenience for students, faculty, and staff.

I believe that the administration should take immediate action to address this issue. They should consider increasing the number of available parking spots, improving the efficiency of the parking system, and implementing new strategies to manage parking demand. (B)

VIEWPOINT: DRINKING AGE

What is the point to citing minors for bar offenses?

I am writing this letter to express my concerns about the drinking age law in Michigan. As a student of Michigan State University, I believe that the current law is unfair and ineffective. The law does not address the root causes of drinking and driving, and it does not help to prevent accidents.

I believe that the legal drinking age should be lowered to 18. This would allow young people to learn responsible drinking habits and make informed decisions about their alcohol consumption. (B)

A Wreckless new Stiff LP

By JOHN NELSON

Nestled among the journalism like Dave Edmunds, Nick Lowe. Steely Dan's slide into the 70s' garage and Woodstock-like heavy metal distantly linked by underground's 'Lemmy' after his ushership from Blackmore. I picked up a copy of the latest Stiff LP, and it's an indication of a new line-up, a new approach. The band's distinctive sound, with its raw and unpolished edge, is a refreshing addition to the rock scene.

One of the pleasures surrounding this sampler was the song by a domestic band from the mid-80s, Westland. 'The Wire' from 'The Whole Wide World' was a delightful little slice of those garage pop splatter - coming as it did after two of the more predictable tracks. It was a breath of fresh air, like a nice cold refreshment. I find the sound of Westland enjoyable in a manner that they would have an aim at all of us. For this, the debut single 'Teenie Weenee' saw their next move.

Tastebuds

A 'Wild West' Wasteland

JAMES KATES

In the early days of the Wild Places Hotel, where the world was new to us and a sense of adventure ruled, a woman was found who would change the course of our lives. She was a lone ranger, a cowboy in the truest sense. She had been a part of thefirst 15 years, the essence of possibility. There were stories of her from the states, from Wyoming to Texas, from the mountains and deserts.

Her eyes widened suddenly, continuing to paint. As I signaled her to join us, the band's creamy guitar and into her playing. Her playing was a beautiful dance between simplicity and complexity, a delicate stream of grace and opulence with just the right amount of directness.

The band's dress was...I feel like I'm speaking in cliches, but I can't help but notice her. She was a beautiful woman in her own right, with a voice that could melt even the toughest hearts. Her music was a blend of everything that was once timeless, yet still relevant today. She was a true artist, someone who would never fade away.

I watched as the crowd began to sway to the rhythm of her music. It was a moment of pure joy, a moment that transcended time and space. I knew then that I had found something special, something that would stay with me forever.
Spring term registration begins for East Lansing Arts Workshop courses

The East Lansing Arts Workshop, located in the old Meridian Elementary School, 501 Apartments East, at the corner of Michigan, is now accepting registrations for their spring term courses. This year, the workshop is offering a variety of classes and workshops designed to cater to the interests of all participants.

"Basically, we're here to fulfill the community needs toward the arts," says Phil Horn, Arts Workshop director. "We've taken programs around what the public seems to want and grouped them into workshops for the spring term.

A free registration week will be held March 10-14, from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Classes will be held March 20-24, starting at 9 a.m., and run through 9 p.m. Those who haven't taken classes before should consider this a good opportunity to try something new. Without registra-

"We offer classes in a variety of areas, including painting, sculpture, music, dance, theater, and more," adds Horn. "Classes are taught by professional instructors who are passionate about their art and dedicated to sharing their knowledge with others.

"We have classes for all ages and skill levels," Horn continues. "Whether you're a beginner or an experienced artist, we have a class for you. Our classes are designed to help you improve your skills and express yourself through art.

"We're excited to offer our spring term classes and look forward to welcoming new and returning students," Horn concludes. "Register now to secure your spot in one of our many exciting classes."

Lacrosse is the first sport to begin its season at Michigan State. With a young team that has grown up together, the Spartans hold a bone-bracing, hard-hitting, all-out style of play that is aptly described by their coach, Rich Rutz.

The team has been hard at work since the beginning of the year, playing at least one game per week. With a schedule that includes non-league games and a few non-conference contests, the Spartans are preparing for a challenging season.

The team consists of nine players, all of whom have played lacrosse since they were young. The team is led by senior captain Rob Williams, who has been with the team since his freshman year. The team also includes sophomores Mike Brown, Bob Smith, and Rich Rutz, who is in his second year as coach.

The team is optimistic about their chances this season, and believes that they have the talent and ability to compete with the top teams in the country.

This season, the team has a number of new players who are expected to make an impact. Among them is sophomore midfielder Mike Brown, who has been with the team for two years and is known for his speed and agility.

Another new player is senior attackman Bob Smith, who has been with the team for four years and is a key player on the offensive line.

The team is also confident in their defense, led by juniors Rob Williams and Rich Rutz. The defense is expected to be a strong point for the team, and will be led by Williams, who is a three-time all-conference selection.

The team is looking forward to their first game of the season against Hope College, which is expected to be a tough test for the team. The game is set for this Saturday at 7 p.m. at Spartan Field.

Women tracksters ready after trip

DIANE WILLIAMS

The Michigan women track team finished 14th in the nation in the NCAA outdoor track meet recently held in Manchester, N.H. The team showed it was ready for the 1980-81 season.

Coach Neil Johnson took the team north to compete in the first meet of the year, the University of Tennessee March 17th. Michigan performed well in the Lady Tiger Relays. Their efforts resulted in 16 Individual and 11 relay and combination events.

"It was a good race," Johnson said. "Because we gave a good effort in most events we will know where we have to improve and for our future races." Diane said she hopes the addition of four outstanding freshmen and the return of six veterans will help make the team competitive in the Big Ten Conference and possibly win the Big Ten track meet.

"BASED ON THE team's results so far, we are looking for strong performance in the present and upcoming events," Johnson said. Also, he mentioned:

Pritchett, who won the 200-meter dash and teamed up with women's relay teams to place third in the Big Ten meet, will probably be one of the team's mainstays.

"TARGET" for the games will be the 400-meter relay and possibly the 400-meter dash.

Pritchett and Johnson also mentioned that the team will be working hard on the 400-meter relay, which is one of the team's weak points.

Line coach Pendery rounds out FB staff

By ROGER MOORE

Line coach Fred Pendery, who is a part of the Michigan football team, was named offensive line coach for the Michigan football team. Pendery replaces the retiring staff coach, who was in charge of the offensive unit.

"We received several applications," said Frank "Rocky" Koelbel, "the former offensive line coach. We felt that Fred would be a good fit for the team." Pendery was named the new line coach by the football staff.

The offensive line coach is responsible for the offensive unit during the regular season and the game on the field. Pendery takes over the responsibility from the retiring coach, who was in charge of the offensive unit for the past two years.

GOP battle

By CHRIS PARKS

United Press International

State Senate Majority Leader William J. Hirai, who represents a large number of voters in the San Francisco Peninsula, issued a statement denouncing the recent proposal by the California Commerce Commission to deregulate power companies in the state.

Hirai said, "This is a clear attempt by the Commerce Commission to shift the burden of power regulation from the public to the market. It is simply irresponsible to allow power companies to determine their own prices." Hirai also criticized the proposal for its lack of accountability, saying, "This proposal is a clear violation of the public's right to know how their power is being regulated." Hirai called for a public vote on the proposal, saying, "We need to hear the public's voice before we move forward with this plan."

Feminist warns of ERA battle

By LEXA DOLLMeyer Heights News Writer

The latest in the right wing political battle enters a major battle in the struggle for the ERA. The group is attempting to mobilize women nationwide to vote on the ERA. They believe the ERA is a threat to traditional family values and the right of parents to raise their children according to their beliefs.

The group is led by Kathy Brown, the executive director of the Women's Research and Education Project. She is a former executive director of the National Women's Political Caucus. Kathy Brown has been involved in the women's movement for over 20 years. She is known for her fiery speeches and her dedication to the battle for women's rights.

The move comes as the ERA is set to be voted on again in the states. The ERA is a constitutional amendment that would guarantee women the same rights as men. The amendment was first proposed in 1972 and has been ratified in 36 of the 50 states.

The right wing group is pushing for a constitutional amendment that would overturn the ERA. They argue that the ERA would give women the right to abortion, same-sex marriage, and other issues that they believe are not in the best interests of children.

The group plans to mobilize women in all 50 states to vote against the ERA. They believe that if they can mobilize enough women, they can stop the ERA from becoming law.

However, many women's rights activists are concerned about the group's tactics. They believe that the group is using fear and misinformation to try to scare women into voting against the ERA.

The ERA has been controversial since its inception. It was first introduced in 1923 and has been debated ever since. It was finally ratified in 1972, but it was never implemented.

The right wing group is counting on their ability to mobilize women to stop the ERA. They believe that if they can get enough women to vote, they can win the battle.
