Cubans offered asylum

BY KARL BLANKSHIP
State News staff writer

A few days after the MSU-organized convention against the Carter administration, several Cuban refugees arrived Friday at the Radiant Realty offices in downtown Lansing. Ten of the 12 Cubans were women and children.

Kees H. Simpkins, MSU's director of intercultural relations, and the Cuban refugees have been roommates for the past week in Detroit. It is expected that the refugees will be in Lansing for the next several days.

The refugees, who claimed to be Cuban nationals, said they are seeking political asylum because of their opposition to the Soviet Union.

The refugees said that they hoped to find temporary housing and employment in the Lansing area.

The refugees were at the Radiant Realty offices Friday afternoon, where they met with Simpkins.

They said they had been in the United States for approximately one year and that they had lived in Miami, Florida, and New York City.

"It's so important," said Huron County's Mary Parsley-Johnson, "to remember something that happened years ago."

The Huron County Museum, which has made a point of collecting historical material from the county's past, recently held a reception to celebrate local heritage.

"We're trying to keep our heritage alive," said Parsley-Johnson. "It's important to remember where we've been so we can understand where we're going."
Cubans, Haitians in the same boat

More than 10,000 Cubans jam into one embassy in 200 hostages await release from another on the other side of the world. At home, the policies of the Castro regime, which have been followed by the Kennedy and Johnson administrations, have made it impossible for Cuba to be freed. The Cubans, branded vagrants, huns and criminals by Fidel Castro's regime, have been ignored by the American government in its efforts to help Cuba.

Cubans, branded as the enemy of the state, have been ignored by the American government in its efforts to help Cuba.

The human tide flowed into the embassy after six Cubans seeking asylum crowded a bus through the embassy gates. Castro sought quietly ordered guards removed from the gates and published the order.

Arendt's dictum says that the Castro government is not interested in the lives of the Cubans or their fate, but only in the lives of the Cubans as they affect the Castro government. The Haitians and Cuban refugees are in the same boat and deserve to be treated as equals.

Police close Potter Park due to ‘smoke-in’ fliers

By MIKE CRAIG III

Police on Monday arrested four people at Potter Park in Lansing, Mich., after Lansing officials closed the park following an incident Saturday. The four individuals were arrested for disorderly conduct.

The incident occurred Saturday morning when a group of about 30 people gathered at the park gates, including some who were wearing smoke crosses and carrying signs that read “Raise consciousness, advisor urges.”

At about 10 a.m., Lansing Police Department officers responded to reports of a smoke-in protest at the park. The officers detained four people—two men and two women—who were participating in the event.

The protesters were demanding the resignation of current Lansing Mayor Virgil Smith and the Foxx, who had been involved in a recent controversy involving his handling of complaints.

The protesters were also calling for the removal of the statue of President Andrew Jackson, which stands in Potter Park.

Lansing Police Department officers arrested the four people involved in the incident and transported them to the Ingham County Jail. The names of the individuals have not been released as of yet.

Police confirmed that no one was injured during the incident. It is not clear what specific issues or concerns prompted the smoke-in event.

Police said they are investigating the incident and will provide more information as it becomes available.

For more information, please visit the Lansing Police Department’s website or contact them directly.

Joy ride can’t cut the mustard

Police caught up with the suspect who was carjacked Thursday morning on Michigan Avenue near the MSU campus.

According to the Ingham County Sheriff’s Office, the suspect, a male, was carjacked by a female at about 7:30 a.m. The carjacker fled the scene in the victim’s vehicle.

The suspect was located by Ingham County Sheriff’s Office deputies around 8:30 a.m. in the area of Michigan Avenue and Sexton Road.

The suspect was taken into custody without incident.

Burglars hit local jewelry shop

A Painless jewelry store in downtown Lansing was broken into and burglarized early Friday morning. The burglary was reported at about 6:20 a.m. at the store located at 121 Michigan Avenue.

According to the Ingham County Sheriff’s Office, the burglars used a tool to force entry through the front door. Once inside, the burglars took jewelry valued at approximately $10,000.

The investigation is ongoing, and anyone with information is encouraged to contact the Ingham County Sheriff’s Office at 517-334-6122.

Sustainability

In an effort to reduce their carbon footprint and promote sustainability, the University of Michigan is exploring the possibility of implementing a campus-wide recycling program.

The university is in the process of developing a comprehensive recycling plan that includes strategies for reducing waste, increasing recycling rates, and promoting environmental education.

The university is also considering the implementation of a composting program to divert organic waste from landfills.

The university is partnering with local businesses and organizations to promote sustainability initiatives, including the installation of solar panels and the use of green cleaning products.

The university is committed to reducing its environmental impact and promoting sustainability as part of its mission to provide a safe, healthy, and sustainable living environment for its students, faculty, and staff.

Tonight's entertainment was treated to an evening of excellent music on the historic stage at the State Theatre. The evening began with a warm welcome and performance — the beginning of the First Annual East Lansing Blues & Jazz Festival.

Bromberg's first show suffered from technical problems, but the second set was a triumph. The audience was captivated by the band's energy and enthusiasm. They played with passion and precision, creating an atmosphere of excitement and joy.

The second half of the show was an absolute highlight. The band brought the crowd to their feet with a series of powerful and soulful performances. The audience was on their feet, cheering and clapping along with every note. It was a night to remember for all who were lucky enough to be there.

In conclusion, the First Annual East Lansing Blues & Jazz Festival was a huge success. The music was excellent, the atmosphere was electric, and the audience was completely captivated. We can't wait for next year!

A good spring day and eight firsts! That's what it was for the Spartans, Michigan State's track team, when it traveled to Detroit for the Michigan State Relays last Saturday at Ralph Young Field (Campedown). In a field of 25 teams, these Spartans were first in seven events with four firsts in the 400-yard dash. The last track meet the Spartans ran in was the 400-yard dash on April 21, 1971 at Bloomfield Hills'表示模式，因此无法回答后续问题。
U.N. forces sweep southern Lebanon

U.N. troops began a major sweep across southern Lebanon yesterday, raiding insurgent bases, seizing arms and setting the stage for possible military action against the Palestine Liberation Organization there.

"The action is an effort to make Lebanon a safer place for us. We need to go in quickly and get a foothold," said Gen. Vasiliy Pakulski, the commander of United Nations peacekeeping forces in the area.

The sweep was the result of an agreement between the United Nations and the Palestine Liberation Organization, which had agreed to stop fighting in the area.

However, the operation was not without its problems. At least one U.N. force was killed and several others were wounded in clashes with insurgents.

The United Nations had been under increasing pressure to take action against the insurgents, who have been fighting for years in southern Lebanon.

"We're not going to tolerate this anymore," said Pakulski. "We have to show the insurgents that we mean business."
