

AFTER THE FIRE

PICTURE STORY
FOR YOUNG READERS

BY MARGARET LEE

UNCLE TOM'S  of water quenched the  and Cleo's  did not burn down. The  that the  set on fire held  and  for 's paper . The box and all  burned, and Ted's straw  and the  were on fire when  and  came and found it.  was -broken, but Uncle Tom told her that two , a , and a  ful of  would soon make the charred floor as good as new. "My poor, poor !" said . "They have no  but what they have on!" "We will take up a collection for them," said her . He dropped a  in his  and passed it around.

 put in two  and Mother and Bridget each put in .

 dropped in a .

 not only placed new  in the floor, but he brought a  of ,

a  and a  of paste, and he and  papered the walls.

Cleo borrowed a  of paste from the paper-hangers and while they were busy inside the

she sat on the  with  and some  of bright paper, and made some fine new .

for her . She bought  with their money, and mixed a  of lemonade after the work was done.

Seeley