COMPATRIOTS OF VICTIMS ACT
 Polish and Bohemian Leaders Plan Relief to the Survivors.
 "National and national organizations of Polish and Bohemian speaking people and prominent business men and leaders among these peoples immediately when the scope of the Eastland disaster was known took steps to take a hand in giving relief and aid to the stricken survivors of the victims, to aid in burying the dead, to demand redress for the sacrificed lives, and to unite in seeing that criminal prosecutions be instituted against public officials and the steamship people who in any way be connected with the disaster."
 Three meetings of officials and leaders of three principal organizations of Polish speaking people were called and will take place this afternoon.
 At the Polish National Alliance building, 1404-1408 West Division street, at 2 o'clock the board of directors, other officers, and leaders of the various groups of the Polish National Alliance will meet.
 At the assembly hall at Milwaukee avenue and Augusta street the Polish Roman Catholic union officials will hold their session, and at 1455-1457 West Division street the Polish Alma Mater association will meet.
 At all these meetings, according to the program issued, the question of aiding the stricken victims will be taken up and committees will be chosen and plans laid to prevent the escape of officials and team ship people from punishment.
 James P. Stepana of the American State Bank and other prominent Bohemian Americans announced that the various Bohemian fraternal bodies will take action as soon as some definite information is secured within the next twenty-four
