

WITH THE EYES OF THE WORLD ON WASHINGTON

WATCH WITH THESE TRIBUNE CORRESPONDENTS

As Congress debates the arms embargo, the attention of warring powers and neutrals alike is sharply focussed on developments at Washington.

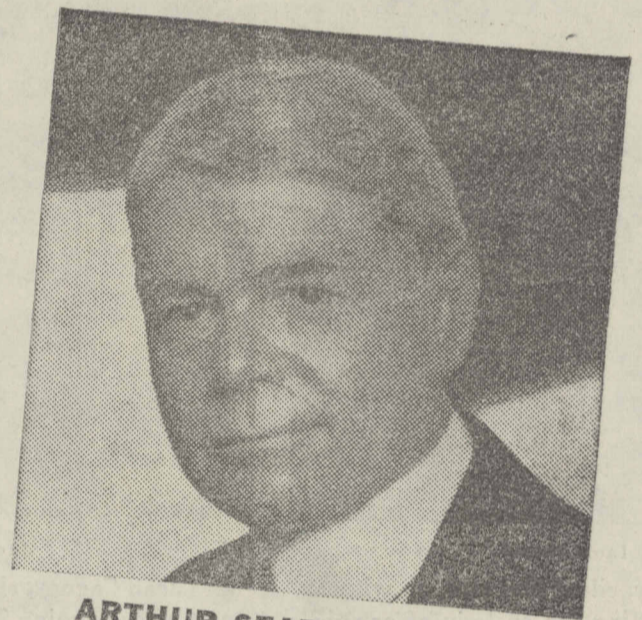

This interest in activities at this nation's capital makes plain to Americans how vital are the issues involved.

Now, more than ever before, they need to watch Washington thru the eyes of competent news gatherers.

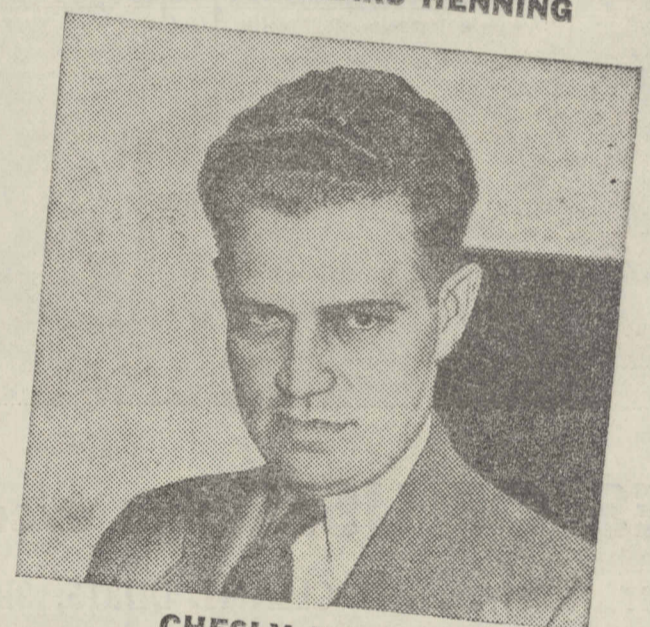

To keep readers informed, the Tribune maintains at Washington its own staff of seasoned reporters.

These men do their own fact-finding. They get the news of every significant development and undercurrent. They write the truth impartially and from both sides. That is why you get news in the Tribune which other newspapers do not print.

To know the news about the great issues now being debated in Congress, read the Chicago Tribune.

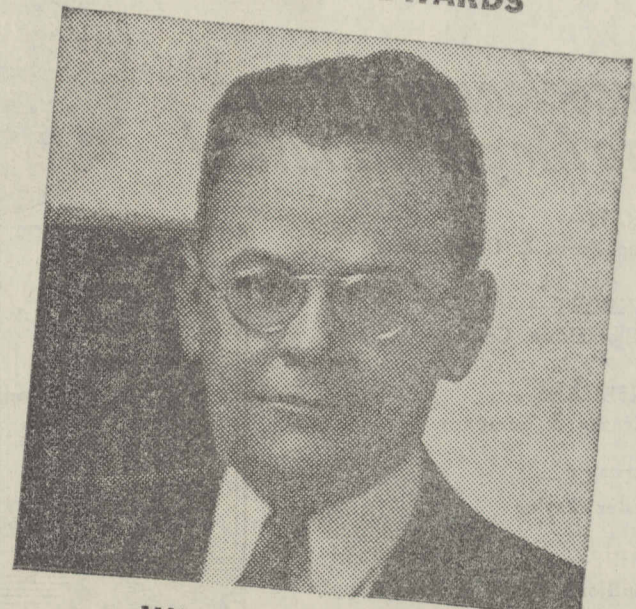

ARTHUR SEARS HENNING

CHESLY MANLY

WILLARD EDWARDS

WALTER TROHAN

Chicago Tribune

THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

Serving Chicago for 92 YEARS

September average total net paid circulation in excess of 1,000,000 daily—over 1,100,000 Sunday