

Bunny Boy AND HIS PLAYMATES PRIZE Cut-Outs

$5,000⁰⁰ In Cash Prizes!

Girls! Boys! Dress "Bunny Boy and His Playmates" for Easter! The Chicago Tribune offers 490 Cash Prizes for best dressed sets.

You can start today with the three Bunnies printed here. Then get "Clover Bunny" in next Sunday's Tribune. There will be nine more Bunnies—one each Sunday—twelve Bunnies in all.

Here's all you have to do: With each Bunny there will be THREE outfits or costumes. Simply pick out the ONE you think looks best and put it on the Bunny. You may paste or pin on the costumes, or paste the dressed Bunnies in scrap books or in any simple form. Remember, simplicity is best.

Mothers and Fathers may help children! Even the youngest child may win.

NOTICE! DO NOT SEND IN ONE AT A TIME. Each entry must consist of the twelve Bunnies and each Bunny must be dressed in the ONE costume you think looks best. Send to "Bunnies," Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 1539, Chicago, Ill. Entries must be in not later than midnight Easter Sunday.

The Chicago Tribune will pay $5,000 in cash prizes for the best dressed and neatest entries. (See Prize List.) Children everywhere may compete except children of Tribune employees. It's free! You do not even have to buy the Tribune. You may copy or trace the cut-outs from the Tribune at our offices or Public Libraries. Judges will be appointed by the Tribune and their decisions will be final. In case of ties, duplicate prizes will be paid.

Start today with the three Bunnies printed here. Then get Cut-Out No. 4 in next Sunday's Tribune. Dressing these cute little cottontails is loads of fun—and you may win a big cash prize!
