California Santa Clara Valley Fancy Prunes New 1918 Fruit

The prune crop of California, particularly in the Santa Clara Valley, suffered a severe loss of fully one-half of last season's crop thru the torrential and unseasonable early rains at harvest time. This, together with the exceptionally heavy demand from the government and from foreign countries, has resulted in a most serious scarcity of all of the better sizes. We were fortunate in securing for our customers such desirable sizes of Santa Clara Prunes as are offered below, all of which are free from rain damage and are perfectly sound fruit.

While not so fancy a grade as the Royal Arms which we usually quote, these raisins should not be confused with ordinary goods often offered at low prices. This grade is worth considerably more than our price, and will give excellent satisfaction.

NOTE—On account of the difficulty of securing cartons, we are forced to pack some of these raisins in Burgo-master brand cartons, and may find it necessary to ship some of these during this issue. The raisins, however, are the same.

The best materials only are used, good eggs, good butter, superior spices, molasses, etc. It is evenly baked in an old fashioned brick oven, is neither gritty nor bitter and does not become hard, dry or stale, but improves with age.
