

USE 'GLASS BOOT' TO SAVE FEET OF MINE SURVIVOR

Victim Responds Slowly to Unusual Treatment.

HALIFAX, N. S., April 25.—(P)—A "glass boot" developed in Cincinnati, O., was being used today to save the crippled feet of Charles Alfred Scadding, 44 years old, who was rescued from Moose River gold mine after 10 days' entombment alive.

His 52 year old friend, Dr. D. E. Robertson, who went through the ordeal in better physical shape, was reported showing continued progress toward recovery.

Physicians in attendance on Scadding said they were "greatly encouraged over the prospect of saving his feet from amputation."

The "glass boot" was brought here by Maj. Stuart Graham, inspector of civil aviation, who flew from Montreal to Moncton, N. B., yesterday in a sleek strafe, then finished the trip by automobile.

WILLIAM GEORGE, JUNIOR REPUBLIC FOUNDER, IS DEAD

Philanthropist Succumbs to Heart Attack at 69.

Freeville, N. Y., April 25.—(P)—William George, founder of the George Junior Republic, a nationally known institution for juvenile self-government, died tonight.

The 69 year old founder of an experiment in youth guidance that was commended by Theodore Roosevelt, Thomas Mott Osborne, and others distinguished in philanthropy and education suffered a heart attack a week ago.

Funeral services probably will be held Tuesday, an official of the republic said. Services will be conducted in the Republic chapel. Burial will be in Willow Glen cemetery.

Mr. George is survived by his widow, Esther Brewster George, and three daughters, Mrs. Eleanor Kirkland of New York City, Mrs. Donald P. Urquhart, wife of the director of the Republic at Freeville, and Mrs. Malcolm Freeborn of Cortland.

Many Systems Follow His. Out of the Junior Republic, which George founded here 41 years ago have grown many similar movements.

Student government in schools and colleges also has been an indirect outgrowth of his work.

During the last few years Mr. George has engaged principally in the establishment of what he called junior municipalities. In such movements he advocated giving young people between 16 and 21 civic and economic responsibilities through self-government in schools and colleges.

Republic Founded in 1895. Mr. George was born in West Dryden, N. Y., June 4, 1866. His idea of juvenile self-government grew out of his efforts at discipline among a group of children he took to Freeville for summer vacations, beginning in 1890. At that time he was engaged in settlement work in New York.

George established a jury system among the children to deal with delinquencies. He founded the Junior Republic on July 9, 1897, after purchasing a farm near here, remodeling buildings and pitching tents. The first group of children numbered 300, recruited in settlement work.

He settled in Evanston and had lived on the same property since. The Patten gymnasium on the Northwestern university campus and Evanston schools and churches are among the buildings for which he was the masonry and cement contractor.

He constructed the Hemenway church, which he was a charter member, and had rebuilt it several times. He is survived by his son, James D. Wigginton.
