Get-together

BREATHES there a man (or a lady, either) with soul so dead that he can look at the laughing bubbles of a tall drink made with Canada Dry and not catch some of the laughter? Or see the sparkle in its depths and not feel gayer?

The very first sip of such a drink seems to make one feel at home with all the world.

Certainly, there must be magic in Canada Dry. It doesn't merely mix . . . it blends!

It gets together with almost everything one uses nowadays to make a long, tall drink.

Perhaps it's because of the tang and zest of the pure Jamaica ginger we use . . . or again because the flavor has never been successfully copied. Perhaps it's because of the great purity. But the fact remains that a long, tall drink can never really be a long, tall drink unless it's made with The Champagne of Ginger Ales. It just won't taste the same!

And you'd have a long search to find a beverage that's so good all by itself! That's so quick to chase away your weariness and thirst!

If you prefer a long, tall drink with a very tangy water, try Canada Dry's new gift to a thirsty world.
