

THE WORLD'S BEST RIDER DEMONSTRATES CORRECT TECHNIQUE . . . II.

5 CORRECT SEAT WHEN SITTING DOWN IN THE SADDLE AT GALLOP—Body inclined well forward from hips. Shoulders, elbows, wrists, fingers must be softly elastic to follow movements of horse's head. Last beat of gallop before period of suspension.

6 CORRECT SEAT AT GALLOP—Note seat is thrown slightly out of saddle as horse's hind hoof first strikes ground after period of suspension.

7 CORRECT SEAT FOR JUMPING WHILE HUNTING—Seat close to saddle; no weight on back part or cantle. Body inclined far forward from hips only; hands, elbows, shoulders softly relaxed; heels down; calves tight against horse's sides. In show jumping, rider may get farther forward and farther out of saddle.

8 SHOW JUMPING SEAT—Rider far forward, out of saddle. Somewhat less secure than No. 7. Facilitates horse's work over very high or difficult jumps.

In exclusive action photos, concluding the pictorial demonstration begun last Sunday, Lieut. Col. Harry D. Chamberlin of the U. S. army, world's greatest horseman, illustrates the chief points of correct riding. The descriptive text also is by Col. Chamberlin.

These are the Sachets

that make the waves

that make you say

"No experimenting on me... give me a eugène

If ever you are tempted by a permanent that is called "easier," "quicker," "cheaper," remember that the Eugene method is relied upon by better Beauty Shops all over the world . . . that it has been turning out millions of beautiful permanents for many years. When Eugene perfected the little Sachets that gently steam your hair, they were patented for your protection. They are plainly trade-marked for all to see. They contain a waving solution that cannot be copied. Whether you want an all-over wave, or little croquignole curls, or both, Eugene Sachets perform their work with certainty and sure satisfaction. Be sure they are used for your Eugene Wave. We'll gladly send you one free!
