June Kennelly spoke on behalf of the Iris Project. Working closely with The Chicago Tribune, the Iris Project is the same organization when it is realized that the Asf of Chicago's City Council, the Iris Project, is an organization that understands and supports the efforts of the Iris Project in bringing awareness to the issues of women and children in need of assistance.

"The Chicago Tribune's support of the Iris Project is a testament to the power of communication and the role of the media in advocating for the needs of communities.
By bringing attention to the issues faced by women and children, we can work together towards a solution that empowers them to become self-sufficient.

TRIBUNE'S SHOW WILL BE LARGEST EVER TELEVISIONED
Will Try to Cover All Says WBKB Chief
By Laverne Wollum

The Chicago Tribune's television show, scheduled for broadcast later this week, promises to be the largest event ever televised. The show, which will feature a variety of performances, will be hosted by WBKB Chief, who promises to cover every aspect of the event.

"This will be a highly anticipated event," said WBKB Chief. "We are excited to bring the best in entertainment to our viewers and showcase the talents of local artists.
