URGES COLLEGES TO PREPARE THEIR STARS TO SPHERESHIP STUDENTS TO WED

Oswald Hill, N.C., July 18—Charles Lindbergh, Jr., who last week landed successfully at the University of Virginia on the 18th, has written to all the college presidents in the United States asking them to prepare their students for a possible wedding into the stars. Lindbergh, who is a former President of the American Aeronautical Society, said in his letter, "I am very much interested in the future of our colleges and universities and feel that it is important that our students be prepared for the stars."

In the letter, Lindbergh said that he had been approached by several people who were interested in space travel and that he had been asked if he would be interested in helping to prepare students for a possible future in space. Lindbergh said that he had agreed to the request and had written to all the college presidents in the United States asking them to prepare their students for a possible wedding into the stars.
