Here Are Some Forgotten Art Institute Facts

By Eleanor Javitz.

There is something almost ironic about being a Chicagoan in a bonnet and hoops where the reputation of the Art Institute of Chicago has been so widely spread and on this side of the Atlantic his name was linked with some of the most famous artists of the nineteenth century. The American Academy of Art, Kimball Street, where the Institute was established in 1866, is a large and impressive building, with a large and impressive collection of paintings, drawings, and sculpture. The Institute has been in existence for over 150 years, and has been a center for the study and appreciation of fine art. The Institute's collection includes works by many of the most famous artists of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries, and is one of the largest and most important collections of art in the United States.

ARLINGHAM RACING FAN

John, Oiler D. Patterson is among the young women often to be found at Arlington Park on many afternoons during the racing season, which will end September 28. Mrs. Patterson was in New Orleans, a half hour's drive from the track. (Photo below.)

Sorority Will Give Portrait to University

A portrait of Priscilla Whittaker, who is to be graduated from the University of Chicago on May 15, will be given to the university by her mother, Mrs. John D. Whittaker. The portrait is an oil painting of the young woman, and will be hung in the main hall of the university.

Nantucket Net Champion Bowls to Chicago Girl

Helen 0. Whiney of Chicago entered the National Bowls Championship at Nantucket, Mass., on July 16, and won the championship. She was the only woman to win the championship, and was the only woman to win the championship in the history of the National Bowls Championship.

WEDDINGS

MARGARET OLIVER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Oliver of Chicago, and J. L. McLaughlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. McLaughlin of Chicago, were married in the First Presbyterian Church, Chicago, on July 16. The bride and groom were married by the Rev. Dr. W. F. W. White, pastor of the church. The wedding was attended by many friends of the couple, and was a beautiful and joyous occasion.

Hake, Chicago

Miss Alice Littig Siems, a Chicago sculptor, has been elected to the National Academy of Design, New York, where she will be a member of the organization. Miss Siems is a native of Chicago, and has been a sculptor for many years. She has received many honors, and has been a member of the National Academy of Design since 1909.

Philanthropic Club to Have Party Meeting

The Philanthropic Club of Chicago will hold a party meeting on Thursday, July 22, at the home of Mrs. J. A. Hamilton, 1031 North Lawler avenue, Chicago. The meeting will feature a talk by Mrs. J. A. Hamilton, who will speak on the work of the club and on the plans for the coming season.