WHILE on a Want Ad hunt a couple of weeks ago, a very dear friend called, and learning the nature of my entertaining chase, she decided to help me. She is to be married in a few weeks and expects to make her home in Chicago, where her intended husband is now employed.

"While helping me solve my puzzle she came across an apartment advertisement which described just such a place as she had been wishing for and, as she was going to Chicago the next day, she clipped the ad and decided to inquire about the apartment.

"Finding this ad put her in mind of looking through the household goods columns and here she found several furniture ads which appealed to her very much and which she also decided to investigate.

"The next day her future husband and she visited the apartment which suited them fine and was rented and they also secured several pieces of furniture, thanks to the Want Ads.

"In telling me about her finds my friend was very enthusiastic in her praise of Tribune Want Ad service, for her sweetheart had obtained his position by following up a Tribune Want Ad and his securing this position had made it possible for them to realize their dream of marriage and a home."—M.
