HAVANA, Cuba (Special).- President Grau today ordered the suspension of all political activities in Cuba which are against the government and said that he was about to take the first step toward the elimination of political parties.

"By governmental means it will be necessary to suppress the organizations which are spreading communism," he said. "I intend to call a national conference to determine the future of the country.

"The government will not tolerate interference with the country's peace and order," he added. "We have been in a state of war for a long time, and we must protect ourselves against the activities of these foreign powers that are trying to undermine our government."

The president also announced that he would order the arrest of all persons who have been responsible for the recent disturbances in Havana.

He further stated that he would establish a special court to try those who are found guilty of crimes against the government.

In addition, he said that he would take steps to improve the economic conditions of the country, which have been seriously affected by the recent disturbances.

The president also emphasized the need for a strong and unified government to maintain order and stability in the country.
