TEN YEARS AGO TODAY officers of the 15th Infantry were preparing to celebrate New Year’s as best they could for home. The group picture was taken at Oberwinter, Germany.

IT HAD BEEN A THEATER. Set on Dec. 30, 1918, this building at Bonnair, Germany, was occupied by American ambulance companies 167 and 168 of the 42d division.

OVER THE RIVER AHR a guard from the 42d division watched his picturesque post ten years ago. Back of the railroad bridge at Walsperheim were cliffs and terraced hillsides.

A BATH HOUSE turned into an American hospital and infirmary. The large white building was a part of the Neuenahr health resort which attracted many thousands of patients annually in peace time. It was taken over by the army of occupation a decade ago.
