Elkon apartments okayed; Ropp in line for Mayor's job

By RICH SWARTZENEBRUGER
A $16,000 apartment project received the green light from Elkon Village Council when it met last Tuesday night.

Several letters from village residents supporting the zoning change were read at the meeting and a petition for support for the project was presented. It was pointed out that some of the names on the support petition also appeared on the list of people opposing the project at the April public hearing. Chairman of the Board of zoning officials was asked to determine if they had the original petition or if they changed minds.

Although support and opposition were voiced for the project, Council determined there was opposition from at least 28% of the residents living within 200 feet of the property. A petition to the county for the current zoning ordinance, the 30% opposition required by law, was signed by four council members for rezoning.

Leaders say future sessions may be

CCC meeting closed to airport backers

Those three people who were ejected from last Thursday's Concerned Citizens of Elkon (CCE) meeting aren't happy about the way they were treated.

"I'm a concerned citizen of Elkon," said one of the three, who was allowed to return after a council meeting. "I'm not mad at them for being against the project. That's their right. But I'm a concerned citizen, too, and I should have a chance to voice my opinion."

The council agreed to conduct any more closed meetings. "We knew we wanted to elect officers and we wanted only airport opponents to vote on that," said the mayor on Monday. The group has no membership cards or dues, but Wolitzow says leaders know who airport opponents are by the way they vote.

The group's main focus is to oppose the proposed airport and protect what they consider to be the future. "We want more police protection, possibly garbage, better streets and other things," she said. "But we don't want to take on too many issues."

The CCC's main goal is to control the growth of the airport. "The three people who were ejected from the town meeting are the ones who have the best interests of the community in mind," said the mayor. "But we can't do that."

The group's main goal is to control the growth of the airport. "The three people who were ejected from the town meeting are the ones who have the best interests of the community in mind," said the mayor. "But we can't do that."

"I'm surprised Mr. D. (Charles) Marston (a CCC member and attorney) allowed it to happen. We don't want to get into an argument and further damage the community."

"But none of the fair people are trying to recapture what was lost. We're not trying to do anything except improve our area," said the mayor.

Wolitzow agreed, saying, "The CCC people don't listen to the fact that some must be a vote or before any concerns can be raised to support this airport. We expect the airport to be self-supporting, but there's no way in the world their incomes will be raised without a vote of the people of the community."

Moorey was the day our nation officially transformed from a season of Thanksgiving into a season of Christmas. November 25, or "Thanksgiving" Day, is the last Monday of the month of November, marking the end of the "fall" season. Thanksgiving has always been a time for family gatherings, and the church has historically observed the day as the official start of the Christmas season.

Thanksgiving is a holiday celebrated by many cultures around the world. It is a time when people come together to give thanks for the blessings they have received throughout the year. In the United States, Thanksgiving is traditionally celebrated on the fourth Thursday of November. It is a time for families and friends to gather and enjoy a special meal, often featuring turkey, stuffing, and other traditional dishes.

Thanksgiving is also a time for giving back to the community, as many people donate food and other resources to those in need. It is a day of unity and togetherness, and it is a time when people often reflect on the many blessings they have in their lives.

LET FAITH TEACH YOU THE SECRET OF SERENITY

God grant me the serenity to accept the things I cannot change, the courage to change the things I can, and the wisdom to know the difference.

—Prayer of Serenity

It has been said that about 90% of the calamities that people worry about never happen, and one of the great secrets of achieving a life with any kind of serenity or peace of mind is this art of distinguishing between legitimate worries and the other ones that merely cause a great deal of needless anxiety. Another barrier to serenity is the inability to separate the conditions that must be accepted from those that can be changed. This problem of human nature has been spotted out on wall plaques, among other places. By attending your Church or Temple you will learn to rely on God’s unerring guidance for the wisdom and courage which will enable you to cope with every situation in life, for only then will you ever learn the true meaning of the word serenity.

LET FAITH TEACH YOU THE SECRET OF SERENITY

God grant me the serenity to accept the things I cannot change, the courage to change the things I can, and the wisdom to know the difference.

—Prayer of Serenity

It has been said that about 90% of the calamities that people worry about never happen, and one of the great secrets of achieving a life with any kind of serenity or peace of mind is this art of distinguishing between legitimate worries and the other ones that merely cause a great deal of needless anxiety. Another barrier to serenity is the inability to separate the conditions that must be accepted from those that can be changed. This problem of human nature has been spotted out on wall plaques, among other places. By attending your Church or Temple you will learn to rely on God’s unerring guidance for the wisdom and courage which will enable you to cope with every situation in life, for only then will you ever learn the true meaning of the word serenity.

Weeds & Waters

By Diane Putnam

The hatch

"Day like that are the substance of fishing stories, and for an angler like myself, it fills the crevices of my mind with glorious sounds.

The cold wind in the face of my sail, and the necessity of the catch, had me my thoughts. But I have to face the fact that I was born to fish. I have been fishing for as long as I can remember, and now I am determined to broaden the scope of my fishing.

I started my day at the center of the lake, where the current was running strong. I set my hook and let out my line, and the fish took it. I had to give it some slack, and then I saw it. It was big, and I knew I had to be careful.

My heart was pounding in my throat. I grabbed my rod and set the hook, and the fish was off. I was in for a fight.

I had to be patient, and I knew I had to be careful. I had to keep my hook in, and I had to keep my line taut.

I was finally able to bring the fish to the surface, and I could see it now. It was a big one, and it was beautiful.

I was overjoyed, and I knew I had my catch. I was in fishing heaven, and I was determined to keep fishing.

I was finally able to land the fish, and I knew I had my catch. I was in fishing heaven, and I was determined to keep fishing.
