FARMERS' FESTIVAL
Update

MISS MICHIGAN BARBARA JEAN CRANDALL will be one of the honored guests during next week's Pigeon Farmers' Festival Grand Parade, planned at 1:30 p.m. Saturday, July 28.

Sponsored by David Clabuesch of Clabuesch and Glaspie, Attorneys at Law, Miss Michigan is 21 years of age and a native of Lawrence, Michigan. A 1981 graduate of Lawrence High, she has earned her Associates Degrees in Accounting and in Computer Programming.

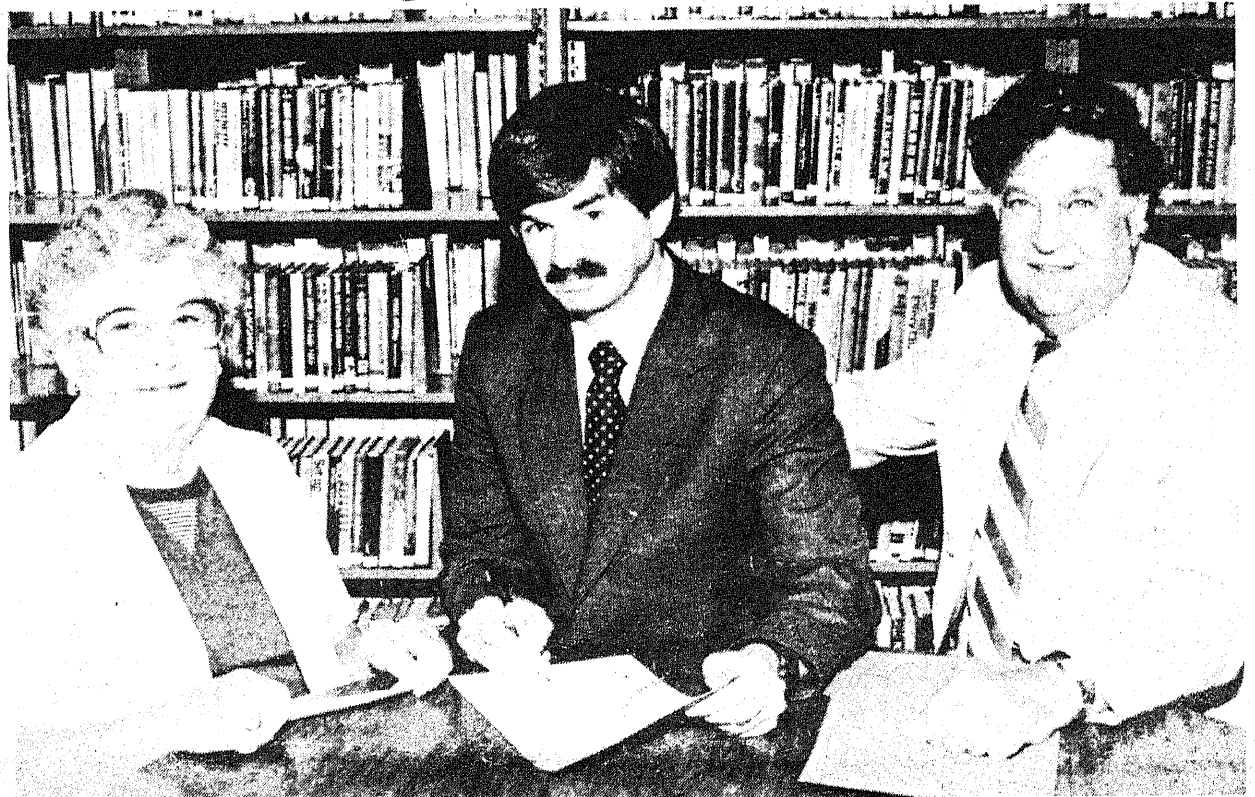

She is one of an expected 200 units in the area's largest parade, according to Director Roy Lawrence.

MICHAEL TWITTY, singing son of country music superstar Conway Twitty, is the featured entertainer next Friday night, at the Pigeon Farmers' Festival Friday Night Stage Show at Pigeon Recreation Park.

The free 7:30 p.m. presentation, sponsored by the Co-operative Elevator Company in connection with the Pigeon Chamber of Commerce, will be moved to Laker High School in case of rain.

Mutual, Pigeon Library make plans

MAKING ROOM: Patrons of the Pigeon District Library will enjoy a more spacious environment and additional services, with the recent purchase of two adjoining buildings.

The buildings, located on Nitz Street just east of the present Library structure, were acquired from Mutual Savings and Loan Association. The buildings have been occupied by Michigan Directory Company and Schaaf Plumbing and Heating. Both businesses are presently relocating in Pigeon.

Plans for the future include remodeling the exterior of the buildings to match the present architectural style. An audio-visual room where video tapes can be viewed and an additional, smaller community room are being considered for the additional space, according to Janet Heckman, Library Board member.

Because of the non-profit nature of the Library, Mutual has offered to donate 10% of the purchase price to the public institution, according to spokesmen.

Michigan Sugar announces expansion

30% more local beet acreage, for $4.7 million more to Thumb growers

Sugar beet producers in the Thumb got a big load of good news late last week when Savannah Foods and Industries, Inc., announced plans for a multi-million dollar expansion and modernization program for the Sebewaing and Croswell beet sugar plants of the Michigan Sugar Company. The Saginaw-based sugar processing company was sold to the Savannah company of Georgia in April.

For Sebewaing the announcement told of plans for the completion of an enlargement program which has been in progress for several years, increasing production by about one-third and in Croswell there will be an expansion and modernization project.

The Sebewaing plant's expansion will mean an increase in sugar production by nearly 30 million pounds of refined sugar over last year's 100 million pounds, which translates into 135,000 more tons of sugar beets annually, requiring 6,500 more acres of plantings. The Sebewaing plant's 350 growers average 60 acres of beets each.

"This means an estimated value of more than $4.7 million additional paid to growers each year," said Ernest Flegenheimer, president of Michigan Sugar.

The processing company is one of the major employers in the Sebewaing area, employing 72 full-time staff people and nearly 300 seasonal workers. The gross payroll for the Sebewaing factory totaled more than $3 million in 1983.

The Sebewaing factory is the largest facility in the Michigan Sugar Company, with an annual capacity to process more than 400,000 tons of sugar beets and produces about 100 million pounds of refined sugar each year.

The total increase in Michigan Sugar Company's sugar production at Sebewaing and Croswell will be about 50 million pounds, will boost payment to beet growers by nearly $8 million and insure or lengthen employment at the two facilities.

The Croswell expansion will increase that plant's overall capacity by about 50% over a two-year period, so that Croswell will produce about 75 million pounds of sugar annually. In that district, the expansion will permit an additional 90,000 tons of beets on about 5,000 more acres for 225 growers.

That will mean an additional $3.2 million paid to growers. The Croswell facility is the smallest operating beet sugar plant in the U.S. and slices about 1,800 tons per day during the season, producing about 55 million pounds of refined sugar each year. The Croswell facility employs 46 full-time and 236 seasonal workers. Michigan Sugar is the major employer in the Croswell community of 2,100 population. "Without major capital expenditures to improve operating efficiency, the Croswell factory would have been forced to close permanently," Flegenheimer said, adding,

"If shut down, it would mean a loss of $2 million in payroll and millions paid annually to area beet growers."

ASK DR. WALBY
By Jeff Walby, D.D.S.
Recently, outside the office, a friend asked about a dental procedure an acquaintance of his recently underwent at the hands of another dentist. Apparently this woman had deep decay on a tooth and the dentist upon removing the decay placed a sedative (temporary) filling rather than a silver filling. After a short while she returned to the office to have the silver filling and complete restoration of the tooth. This woman apparently had no difficulty but was upset because she was charged twice for restoring the tooth. My response was that she had two different procedures done. Often deep decay removal insults the nerve and the placement of amalgam (silver) immediately is a further insult and possibly enough to lead to pulpal death and require root canal therapy treatment. Inserting a metal which picks up thermal changes so efficiently is just what a tooth in this condition doesn't need. Whenever we can remove moderate decay and place an insulating medicament followed by a silver filling we elect to do so, even then hot and cold sensitivity may be present for a short while. This temporary filling is also medicated, soothing the nerve and acting as a thermal insulator to allow complete recovery. At the second appointment, part of the temporary filling was removed and the deepest portion, closest to the sensitive center, left in place to act as an insulator for the metal filling. Dentistry is both a science and an art. The art is involved in making a judgement on possible outcome during a procedure and determining the best treatment avenue. Apparently this lady's dentist chose the proper course of action.

OWENDALE FIRE:
Firemen from three local departments battled a Saturday afternoon blaze at the Donald Parrish residence, 7523 Kilmanagh Road, Owendale, which destroyed the family garage.

Owendale Fire Chief Bob McPhail said electrical wiring is blamed for the fire, reported about 2:30 p.m. Firemen said the building, tools and a lawnmower were destroyed, as were nearby trees, but no injuries were reported.

Tankers from Pigeon and Sebawaing were called into service, plus firemen from Vassar attending Owendale's Old Fashioned Days volunteered their services.

OBSERVATIONS BY PUBLISHER MARK RUMMEL AND ANYBODY ELSE HE CAN GET TO WRITE 'EM!

WHERE'S THE BABY? - Ok, ok, ok. An explanation is in order here. The words written in this space last week were totally true at the time. And they weren't jumping the gun, either. BUT they weren't quite complete. Here's what we mean.

For the last few years (it seems), we've been expecting a little one at the Rummel Ranch. I returned home about midnight last Monday (actually, early Tuesday morning), and front-heavy wife Sally said she was having contractions. Since we're 8 1/2 months along, that's certainly possible!

Well, for the next two hours, we timed those contractions as they were 4 minutes apart (standard starting times for Sally's labors!) I told Sally there were one or two little items I HAD to finish before we left for the hospital - including the "topper" for last week's column - and so I came back to the office for several minutes.

When I got back to the RR, now at about 3 a.m., Sally was peacefully snoozing, but the words had already been written and processed, so they remained.

We'll let you know when labor REALLY begins (ANY day now...)

MONDALE MISCUE - Remember what a miscue is? Think of it in billiards. A miscue is a missed shot, a wrong attempt, a misfire. Well, we certainly misfired here when we recently said Walter Mondale would choose a familiar, tired, MALE face for his Democratic vice presidential candidate.

Boy, "Fritz" certainly surprised us on that one! His pick of Geraldine Ferraro can be seen as innovative, bold, lively - or maybe as a last-ditch effort to keep his candidacy from yawning itself to sleep.

Whatever his reasoning, selecting the first woman for a vice-presidential post certainly is being hailed by many women - but our original contention remains: more men will vote against such a slate than will women for it. And, for better or worse, we still say Ronald Reagan will be extremely hard to beat this year.

THREE TO THINK ABOUT - Why don't portable or table radios have push buttons on them, to help in station selection? Car radios do, but why not other radios?

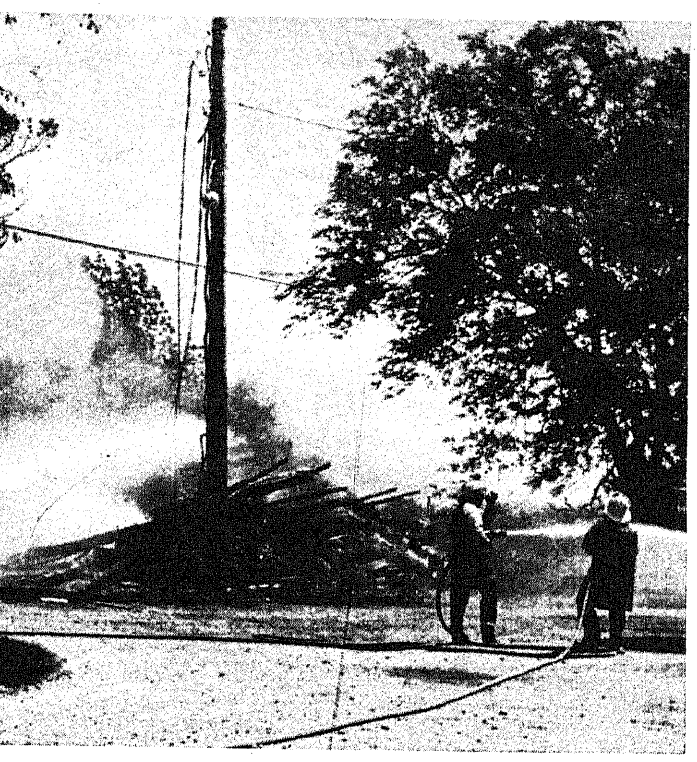

I never thought we'd really see Monday's final decision to end work on the Consumers Power Midland nuclear plant. They've been saying it's 85% complete - but what they haven't been saying is almost 40% of the $6-billion project still must be spent, before the plant becomes reality. A hard decision - but we the ratepayers shouldn't have to pay for something we'll never use, should we?

Can you imagine the economic impact of 6300 people being out of work in YOUR county? Good luck, Midland...

Finally, why doesn't some enterprising local business offer a shop-at-home gourmet food service? A friend of ours talked about this three years ago - but we think it would make it today. An order blank would be turned in by, say, Tuesday noon. The food could be available Friday afternoon - or delivered to your local residence, for a slightly higher fee.

Interested in your own business? We think that would make it here...

Caseville recall decision coming in Sept. 13 election

A special election date of Thursday, Sept. 13 has been set for the four Caseville Township officials named in recall petitions, for their support of the proposed Caseville Township Airport.

Huron County Clerk Helen Lemanski said the first recall election in Huron County history will be set that day, since petitions have been approved as having adequate valid signatures.

Supervisor James Reeves, Clerk Wallace Hart and Trustees Michael Power and Wayne Anderson were targeted by the "Concerned Citizens of Caseville" because they favor continuation of the $1.1 million project funded by state and federal monies, which has been ongoing since 1980.

BANK ROBBER GETS 7-15
Ralph Kinney, 33 of Cass City, was sentenced last week to 7-15 years in prison for the March 16 robbery of the First of America Bank branch in Gageton. Tuscola County Circuit Judge Patrick Joslyn accepted Kinney's guilty plea of assault with intent to rob while armed. Kinney fled the state after holding tellers at gunpoint and escaping with $1786.

CANOEIST SETTING RECORD
John Buckley has nearly reached his life's goal - becoming the first man to canoe across the five Great Lakes within a month.

The 42-year-old Mt. Pleasant man began his adventure June 25 by paddling across Lake Michigan and Lake Superior. He paddled across Lake Huron Friday, in a 22 1/2-hour journey from Harbor Beach to Goderich, Ont.

That Lake Huron crossing included 12 hours to get across the Saginaw River and Saginaw Bay. He left Saginaw about 4 p.m. last Wednesday, paddled to Bay City and then canoed to Bay Port early Thursday, in his 17-foot-long custom-built canoe.

He plans to journey across Lake Erie early this week, and his last trip traversing Lake Ontario should be between Toronto and Niagara Falls.

TOO MANY FISH STOCKED?
Michigan officials may be stocking more salmon, lake trout, steelhead and brown trout in Lake Michigan and Lake Huron than is adequate, according to a state Department of Natural Resources Fisheries Division official.

Douglas Jester, Jr., says his assessment is based on the amount of forage fish - which the "salmonids" feed on - in the lakes. The pondage of forage fish dictates how many pounds of salmonids the lakes will support.

That might mean the present ample salmonid numbers may decline, and fish size may be smaller in the future, too, if too few chubs, smelt, alewives and sculpins remain in the lakes.

O-G TO LAYOFF TEACHER
Owendale-Gagetown High School English teacher Nancy Folk has been laid off due to "economics and declining enrollment" in recent action by the Ower-Gage Board of Education. An elementary teacher may also be pink-slipped soon.

Supr. Ronald Erickson and a group of Board members went to Lansing last Tuesday to speed up the district's application to borrow $550,000 in tax anticipation notes, which was turned down last month. The money is needed to pay salaries and bills until property tax revenues are received later this year.

The turnaround shows a difference of opinion between the O-G Board and the State Treasurer over the district's financial status. Erickson said the O-G District showed a fund surplus of about $250,000 for the fiscal year ending June 30 - while the state claims it is $180,000 in the red because it cannot claim revenues due to from the disputed Goslin territory, now a part of the Cass City District.

FARM BUREAU SAYS "YES"
Two Thumb Area legislators have been endorsed by the Michigan Farm Bureau's AgriPac group. State Rep. Dick Allen (R-Fairgrove) and U.S. Congressman Bob Traxler (D-Bay City) are among 77 candidates receiving the group's primary election endorsements this year. They include 35 Democrats and 42 Republicans who are "friends of agriculture," according to AgriPac.

AUG. 20 TRIAL FOR BIERI
A trial date of Aug. 20 has been set in Huron County Circuit Court for Michael L. Bieri, 32 of Elkton, charged in the Jan. 22 shotgun slaying of Jerry Western of Bad Axe. Two others charged in the case, Ralph C. Ross, 51 of Caseville, and Western's wife, Ellen J. Western, 39 of Bad Axe, will go on trial jointly Sept. 10.

BOY SERIOUSLY HURT FRIDAY
Barry Fritz, 10 of Bay Port, is listed in fair condition at University of Michigan Hospital, Ann Arbor, following a two-car accident at Henne and Bay Port Roads about 6 p.m. Friday. He was riding with his uncle when their vehicle was struck broadside by a vehicle northbound on Bay Port Road. The uncle, James Scott, 26 of Oscoda, was listed in good condition at Scheurer Hospital, Pigeon. Fritz was flown by Survival Flight Service helicopter to Ann Arbor.

POLICE NEWS UPDATE
Milton Damm, 65 of Bay Port, was injured Wednesday when his vehicle was struck on M-142 by a car on Bay Port Road driven by Jeffrey Macshara, 19 of Caro. Damm was listed in fair condition at Scheurer Hospital, Pigeon, following the 10:55 p.m. accident.

David Birsching, 20 of Sebawaing, and Brian Pedler, 16 of Caseville, were injured Sunday afternoon when the Birsching vehicle was struck from behind by Pedler's car about 4:45 on Main Street in Caseville. Both complained of neck pains and sought their own treatment.

Four persons were injured in two separate accidents on S. Elkton Road Friday night.

James Diebel, 17 of Elkton, was injured about 7:40 p.m. when his vehicle left the road near Haist Road. He was taken to Huron Memorial Hospital, Bad Axe, for treatment.

Then, three young persons were hurt about 10:50 p.m. when their vehicle left Elkton Road near Stein Road. Lori Yenglin, 17 of Sterling Heights, Tom Farver, 17 of Elkton and Steve Werner, 18 of Elkton, were not injured seriously.

Seventeen-year-old Denise McBride of Caseville was taken to Scheurer Hospital about 12:15 a.m. Monday, when her eastbound auto rolled over on Sand Road near Conkey Road. Huron County Sheriff's Deputies investigated.

A 14-foot flatbed tandem trailer was reported stolen from Meldrum Baerwolf, 78 S. Main, Pigeon, sometime after 3 a.m. Sunday morning. Value was not immediately set.

As we see it editorially

We can better trust our 'locals'

Are you in agreement with 85% of your fellow state residents, who said in a recent Michigan Department of Commerce survey they try to buy products manufactured in our state — rather than goods made elsewhere?

If they were of equal price and quality, the survey said, Michigan residents would rather buy locally-manufactured items. "People seem to be saying 'Our state is down and out, and we're going to help out,'" notes a state official. "And that's terrific," Jan Hayhow adds.

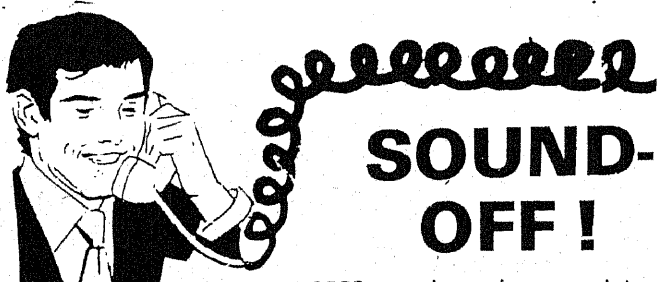

Part of this local pride and support comes from First Lady Paula Blanchard's volunteerism along these lines. She is seeking to encourage Michigan manufacturers to identify their products as made in the state.

After all, isn't that how most of us feel deep down inside? Perhaps shopping at a far-away mall is fun (or at least different than shopping in familiar local stores). But don't most of us try to support our local businesses first? Some people may gripe about slightly less selection, slower-revolving inventories and so on — but deep down, aren't we glad our communities offer such stores or services?

Mrs. Blanchard and Hayhow believe the local business support is a small extension of the "Yes! Michigan" promotion. They may be right. But part of the problem is that about two-thirds of state residents have trouble identifying Michigan-made products.

That's the manufacturers' fault! If locally-made products aren't so identified, how are buyers supposed to know? If you see two identical pairs of shoes, 85% of us may be apt to buy the more-local variety. But that's not possible if we can't identify which is which.

That's the manufacturers' responsibility then! Maybe "Made in Michigan" stickers, applied directly to goods sold here. After all, would such a moniker be helpful for goods sold in Indiana, Ohio — or South Carolina? Probably not. They should have their own "local pride" labels.

Call 453-2323 anytime day or night to record your SOUND-OFF message.

Anyone out there having the instructions to make Christmas pine cone chicken wreaths, please send the instructions to P.O. Box 526, Pigeon, Mich., 48755. Thank you, and I need it right away.

It's beautiful to see the "American Flags flying" in front of many Pigeon business stores. How about keeping them flying in Farmers' Field Week?

I can't believe Channel 5 sent Marian what's-her-name to San Francisco to cover the Democratic Convention. Who do they think they are? She doesn't even know where the ladies' room is. They've got 1000 people there from NBC who do this for a living. Give us a break, TV5.

Concerned Citizens of Caseville, are you proud of your "leaders" now? Some aren't even registered voters in our township! They want to run the township, but they're not the experts they think they are. "Confused Citizens" would be more like it.

There are many hundreds of people here in Pigeon who are sick with heart disease, sinus, lung trouble, hay fever, upper respiratory problems and others. We do not need all this burning in town. Why are these neighbors burning all this junk? We pay for trash pickup, over $9 added to our water bills. Some people even burn during the day, with clothes hanging out.

Is there no respect out there? Wake up neighbors. Let Pigeon be a nice town. This is 1984, not 1884. If you care about your health and that of your neighbors, contact SOUND-OFF and let them know how you feel about things in your town.

Your Progress-Advance comes to you fresh each week, filled with more local news, pictures, entertainment and features than ANY other paper. We're locally-owned — and we just cost 25 cents each week!

But if state residents are to become fully aware of the many varied items grown, produced or processed here, the task must begin somewhere. Logically, it's with the producers or manufacturers.

It's an excellent idea, really. Maybe a tiny sticker with the state outline and the word "Yes!" inside would suffice. Manufacturers could apply them on locally-sold goods, at very little increase in cost — and no major label changes.

Hand-in-hand with that promotion is needed a continued commitment to quality — so the Michigan label means something good. After all, such a locally-produced label could repel certain buyers if past experience says it's not worth picking that product or service.

As we've said so many times, it starts with each and every one of us — and the job we perform daily. That says "quality" far better than any sticker.

Letters to the Editor
Class of '79 reunion writer didn't have all the facts

DEAR EDITOR:
This letter is in response to the letter that appeared in last week's paper, complaining about cancellation of the Laker Class of 1979's five-year reunion. Please allow me to tell you the facts:

Our five-year class reunion was cancelled due to lack of interest — yes, lack of interest! Not just because we had a poor response, but because not one class officer or student council member offered to help. I would call that lack of interest, right from the start. In order to get help, I called several people who live in the area, and I did get some help from them.

As far as the date goes, we felt July 7th would be a good day, especially for those people living out of town since many people tend to come home for holidays.

Our biggest response came from out-of-town classmates. It was the local people we had a poor response from. Also, I felt that the invitations were sent out enough ahead of time that people had time to plan for this weekend. But no matter what date you set, you cannot make it convenient for 130 people.

Now, the letter writer said the $8 was only for sloppy joes and for others to indulge in beer. Here's a breakdown showing exactly where the $8 went, estimating a turnout of 100 people:

First, hall rental was $310 (that was the cheapest we could find). This averages out to $3.10 per person.

Then, if you read your invitation, we hired a DJ, which was $275, or $2.75 per person.

bartenders and decorations. Even if you do not drink beer, for $1.65, I really don't think you were paying for someone else to indulge in beer.

I'm sure between the pop and sloppy joes, you would have gotten your $1.65 worth.

You might not have meant to criticize the reunion planners, but you did — and you did so without the facts. Obviously, you don't realize the time and money spent planning this reunion.

Maybe, if more people would have volunteered to help instead of complaining and writing letters to the editor, the class reunion might have been a success. We felt that since the 25th Laker High Reunion is planned for this fall with a dinner dance, we would keep our own class reunion simple and cheap. We are very sorry this didn't suit some people.

Maybe you feel sloppy joes, pop and beer weren't good enough — but our class could hardly afford steak and champagne!

As for the 10-, 15- and 20-year class reunions, or another reunion being planned this summer, they aren't completely out of the question — but then again, I don't see anyone volunteering their time or money?

To those people who did send in their money, I'm very sorry we had to cancel the reunion. We had planned for 100 people in order to meet costs, but we had only 43.

I would appreciate it if anyone else from the Class of '79 has any further questions regarding the class reunion, they call me first instead of writing a letter to the newspaper, without the facts.

THANK YOU,
CARRIE DAMM

RECOLLECTIONS

By GEORGE KEIM

DEAR EDITOR,

Some time ago a young fellow asked me if we used to have a good time when we were young. He said the way it sounded, all we did was work and eat and sleep!

Well, I can answer that quite easily. We DID have time to have fun, but we didn't have to break any laws or bust things up to have a good time.

The cars we had didn't go as fast as they do now and Prohibition was going strong in those days. We just didn't know anything about drugs or marijuana.

If we got the family car once a week, we were satisfied and the boys would play baseball with other churches. Once in a while we'd go swimming and always went to Pigeon on Saturday night.

Once a week we'd get together and have a party. In the summer, we'd play around on the lawn and in the winter we'd get in the houses.

The people always used to give us refreshments. Several other boys and I were on a self-appointed committee to thank the people where we had our party, for the good time and the refreshments.

At one place we didn't get any, but we thanked them for them anyway, because we had a good time and they did give us a drink of water! One place, the lady rolled up her rug because it was a little muddy outside and she didn't want to get it dirty. But we always had a good time.

One place we always liked to go to was Bill Gunden's. They lived where Mrs. Roland Bean now lives. Bill would sit on the porch and tell stories and the Mrs. would be getting refreshments ready.

Those days, there was no Kool-Aid so they made iced tea and sandwiches. One time, they passed the iced tea around and had glasses on a tray. When they came to me, I took one and tasted it — and it was a glass of vinegar. I saw the woman looking into the room, so I just drank it right down — and then they didn't know who got it! I didn't tell anybody and whoever played that trick didn't know who got the vinegar, because iced tea and vinegar look alike!

In Psalms 60:3, it says "thou hasn't showed thy people hard things. Thou has made us to drink the wine of astonishment." Well, I didn't drink wine, I drank vinegar — and they were astonished because they knew somebody drank it, but they never found out who did.

SINCERELY YOURS,
GEORGE KEIM

Thanks, Pigeon Jaycettes, for life-saving tips that worked

Dear Editor:

This is to give a heartfelt vote of thanks to the Pigeon Area Jaycettes, who may have saved the life of our grandson, Shawn, last Thursday. If it had not been for the lesson that they taught area school children in their Junior Fire Marshall program, what was a serious burn could have been a tragic death.

Shawn and a playmate, both age nine, were playing in the backyard of Matt's home when for some reason, known only to small boys, they took a gas can from the garage and proceeded to pour some of the gas onto a burning match which they had placed on the ground. The resulting explosion showered the boys, with gasoline drenching their clothing and starting Shawn's clothes on fire. He said he remembered that the Jaycettes had told them during a class at school to roll in the dirt to put out the fire. He had presence of mind enough to do this and as he extinguished the flames quickly, he suffered only bad burns (second and third-degree) on his right arm between his elbow and shoulder. The rest of his burns were minor, along with singed eyelashes and hair.

Matt was lucky that the flames did not reach him and he received no injury apart from his gas-drenched clothing.

But how fortunate we were that a lesson heard in school was remembered and used by our youngest grandson. We urge the Jaycettes to continue this program as it has proven its value to us and we cannot thank them enough. The pain and suffering Shawn has felt was a hard lesson but I am sure that it will be remembered by those two youngsters and gasoline will never again be something they will regard as a plaything.

Keep up the program. It works. Thank you, thank you, to all the Jaycettes.

Something To Think About

JOHN A. CHAMPAGNE
DIRECTOR

SHOULD CHILD ATTEND THE FUNERAL?

The funeral is a sad, but important event in the life of the family. Generally speaking, there is little justification for not permitting a child to participate. It allows him to express his own love and devotion. Keeping him away may damage his sense of belonging and deprive him of the opportunity to share his emotions.

On the other hand, the child should never be forced to attend the funeral - no matter how therapeutic one thinks it might be. At the same time, try not to make him feel any shame or guilt for wanting to stay home. Instead, you might suggest that sometime later, when he feels like it, you could visit the cemetery together. If the child is to attend, then it is important that you can explain the details of the funeral service in advance. Being well-prepared and understanding what is going on will do much to relieve unnecessary distress.

Pep rally slated for reunion

Plans continue for the upcoming Laker High School 25th Anniversary Reunion with new ideas and suggestions arriving daily, planners say.

"Alumni Surveys are still coming in, but the volume has slowed. There are still several graduates who have not returned their's," says Gail Richmond, alumni survey coordinator.

Pep Rally planners say that over 50 former cheerleaders will be on hand for the Friday Evening event, and would also like to encourage all former Varsity cheerleaders to contact a reunion committee person for details.

The Rally, planned to begin at 8:00 p.m., will include a traditional lighting of the bon fire, chants and cheers, and an alumni pep band as well as the LHS pep band. Other featured highlights include a pep talk by former coaches, burning of a Caro Tiger Effigy, and a snake-dance through the streets.

Alumni members are reminded to watch their mail in the next few weeks for times, dates, places and ticket information. Reunion planners remind everyone planning to attend that tickets are limited for the Chicken B-B-Q and the Saturday evening Dinner/Dance. Tickets will be sold, through the mail, to alumni members first; then will be opened to the general public. Mail orders will also allow interested person to use their Visa or Mastercard as well as checks and money orders.

Committee planners also remind everyone that official t-shirts are available at The Hair Shoppe in Elkton, Bay House Sports in Bay Port and Field and Stream Sports in Pigeon. Anniversary Buttons are available from committee members and at the Progress-Advance in Pigeon. Proceeds from both the t-shirts and buttons will go towards the funding for the reunion.

Ricker-Cregeur unite lives in marriage

Miss Kelly A. Cregeur, Ubyly and Dale J. Ricker, Bad Axe, were united in marriage on Saturday, June

9 at Holy Trinity Catholic Church, Smith Corners, Ubyly. Father William Matya officiated at the double-ring ceremony for the children of Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Cregeur, Ubyly and Mr. and Mrs. James Ricker, Caseville.

Music selections included "The Wedding Song" and "Voluntary Trumpet." Organist was Wally Tenbush and soloist was Kathy Schroeder, both of Bad Axe. The altar was decorated with yellow mums.

Cheryl Ricker, sister of the groom, gave selected readings during the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a gown of bridal lace designed with a stand-up Victorian collar and a fitted bodice down to a point at the waist. The bouffant colonial skirt was edged with wide embroidered lace ending in a cathedral train and caught at the center and sides with silken roses, each feature fitted with lacy ruffles. The 3/4-inch sleeves were puffed with lace edging. Her hat was styled after the ancient hunt chapeau with one side saucily dipped upward and a demi-veil of frothy tulle cascading from it.

The bride carried a bouquet of silk white roses, forget-me-nots, daisies, phlox and accented with picot ribbons.

Holly Walsh, Ubyly, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, wearing a floor-length blue victorian style taffeta gown with a satin waist tie and a Victorian ruffled yoke. The sleeves were 3/4-length. She carried an India brass candleholder with crystal voda cups with silk pastel-colored forget-me-nots, daisies and phlox accented with picot ribbons.

Bridesmaids were Melinda Ritter, Talisa Powers and Beth Vincent, all of Bad Axe and friends of the couple, and Noreen Helwig, Gageton, sister of the bride. They wore gowns identical to the matron of honor in a rainbow of colors, and carried identical bouquets to complement their gowns.

Flowergirl was Tina Cranston of Bad Axe, niece of the bride, wearing a dress made by Christene Tetsworth, sister of the bride.

Noreen Helwig, sister of the bride, made all the floral arrangements and decorated the church.

Marty Polega, Bad Axe, friend of the groom, was best man. Groomsmen included Rod Marks, Kevin Vincent, both of Bad Axe, Stan Talaski, Elkton, all friends of the couple and Eric Cregeur, Pigeon, brother of the bride.

Seating guests were ushers Randy Osentoski, Bad Axe, friend of the couple, Rodney Stinson, Kinde, nephew of the bride and Lon Ricker, Caseville, brother of the groom. The ringbearer was Aaron Cregeur, Bad Axe, nephew of the bride.

The bride's mother wore a floor-length gown with lavender tulip sleeves and diagonal ruffles over qiana. Her corsage was of bridal pink roses with baby's breath.

The groom's mother wore a crepe floor-length gown of apricot ice, a v-neckline and flutter sleeves. She wore a corsage of yellow roses accented with baby's breath.

Following the ceremony, a reception was conducted at the Ubyly Fox Hunters Club for 400 guests from Canada, Connecticut, Florida, Rochester, Troy, Saginaw and Flint, as well as the local area.

Wedding photography was provided by the groom's aunt and uncle, Gary and Terry Monkaba of Troy.

The bride, a 1980 graduate of Bad Axe High School, is employed at McDonald's Food and Family Center. Her husband, a 1979 Bad Axe High School graduate, is employed at Active Industries, Elkton.

Nolan-Wissner recite vows

Dawn Elaine Wissner of Owendale became the bride of Michael Kenneth Nolan of Hemlock in a mid-afternoon double-ring ceremony on Saturday, May 26 at St. John's Lutheran Church, Kilmanagh.

Officiating at the ceremony were Rev. Robert Pfaff of St. John's and Rev. Douglas Fider of Brandt Lutheran Church, Brandt, Ohio, brother-in-law of the bride.

The church altar was decorated with vases of yellow and white daisies with blue bows.

Providing special wedding music was organist Crystal Thaut and soloist Julie Ozdych.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a white gown with a Schiffli embroidered yoke, high collar, bishop sleeves and an A-line skirt trimmed with yards of lace and baby ruffles. A semi-cathedral train fell from from a matching bonnet-style hat.

She carried a colonial bouquet of bridal white roses, miniature carnations, baby's breath and forget-me-nots.

Two friends of the bride stood in honored positions during the ceremony. Matron of honor was Jennifer Wissner of Sebewaing and maid of honor was Beth Rievert of Sebewaing. Each wore a blue gown with white embroidered yoke, an over-the-shoulder ruffle and an A-line skirt of lace with contrasting ruffles at the hemline. Each carried bouquets of white and yellow daisies with blue forget-me-nots, baby's breath and yellow and blue ribbon streamers, and hairpieces of baby's breath and blue forget-me-nots.

Also attending the bride were bridesmaids Deb Wissner of Brandt, Ohio, sister of the bride; Cindy Volz of Sebewaing, sister of the bride; Patti Roemer of Saginaw, friend of the bride and Linda Nolan of Saginaw, sister of the groom. Each was attired identically to the honor attendants.

Flowergirl was Valerie Newton of Hemlock, niece of the groom, who wore a white dress similar to the bride's and carried a miniature version of the bride's bouquet.

Two friends of the groom stood up for him as best men, Scott Miller of Kalamazoo and Stan Brown of Hemlock. Groomsmen included Paul Alcanter of Florida, Larry Graf of Hemlock, Mark Gulliver of Breckenridge and Ernie Kelly III of Saginaw, all friends of the groom. Seating guests were ushers Dean Newton of Hemlock, brother-in-law of the groom and Bob Fiting of Saginaw, friend of the groom. Ringbearer was Michael Volz of Sebewaing, nephew of the bride.

The mother of the bride chose a mauve rose crepe dress with long cuffed sleeves, a straight skirt and a matching shoulder corsage.

The groom's mother chose a blue dress with a matching shoulder corsage.

The newly-wed Mr. and Mrs. Michael Nolan greeted guests at a reception held at the VFW Hall in Kochville Township.

Following a two-week honeymoon to the Western States, the couple is making their home near Fairgrove.

The bride is employed at Luke's Supermarket, Sebewaing, her husband is employed at Cicinelli and Sons, Saginaw.

Take time to smell the roses

I had felt the pressure building for the last few days. The symptoms were the same, a nagging pain in the temples, shortness of breath, and a general irritated feeling that left me snapping at the people I came in contact with. I couldn't put my finger on any one event that caused its eruption, but I suspected it to be a number of little instances joining together to form the tight muscles and frazzled nerves. One thing for sure, I needed a break, a change from the hum-drum existence I had been carrying on for the past few weeks, a chance to relax without the pressures of day-to-day living, a chance to smell the roses.

Saturday found Betty and Julie, my wife and daughter, heading for a bridal shower in Saginaw. With a whole day to myself I began to sort out the different possibilities. I could hoe the garden, mow the lawn, repair some of the 100 things that always seem to be broken around our house, or - I could go fishing. In the 1/1000 of a second it took me to make the decision. I was already tossing my rod, waders, fishing vest and Coleman cooler in the back of the wagon, and leaving a note indicating I might be home near midnight. I headed the car northward.

The first feelings of relaxation came at Bay City, a little more pressure was relieved around Standish, the headache began to subside near West Branch, and the kink in my neck was all but gone when I turned off the expressway at Grayling.

On the way north I had been listening to 102.5's John Doremis expound on the fact that over 10 billion dollars are spent each year on quackery medicine. And most of it deals with calming people's nerves and insulating them from the fast pace life most of us lead, even though it is not by choice.

I followed a paved road for a couple of miles, turned off on a dust-choking side road, and wound the car through a thick pine forest on the way to a fishing access on the river. I felt myself getting excited as I passed through each familiar turn in the road. Nearing the parking spot, I discovered it wasn't the fishing that seemed to be turning me on, but rather the long, relaxing walk through the woods that was necessary before I reached the river. A walk, laden with lunch and fishing gear, which would bring forth a warm rush of perspiration, coupled with a few aching muscles and the every present insect bites. But none of these would matter as they would be overshadowed by the medicinal aspects of the trek. In other words, the psychological part becomes more important than the physical part.

After parking the car, I donned a long-sleeved shirt. Experience told me it would be a welcome companion to ward off the chill of the river air and any mosquitos or black flies I would encounter. I stashed sandwiches, apples and soft drink cans in the back of my fishing vest, strapped my ultra-light waders to the webbing, and donned the wading shoes, which would now serve as hiking boots. I slung my camera around my neck and picking up my soft rod case, headed into the thick stand of spruce and pines following a well-worn game trail.

There's one thing about following a game trail. Animals are pretty smart and you can be sure the trail will not lead you to any steep terrain or through muddy quagmires. Animals (or deer in this case), follow the easy way, sticking to fairly level contours and leading where the going is easy.

"Only the memories would remain, and later I would be glad I had taken time to stop and smell the roses . . ."

I had not gone 10 steps and I was already on my knees. The blueberry bushes covered both sides of the trail, and as I fondled the fragile blossoms, I thought of the luscious berries that would soon take their place.

Not far from the bush that had attracted me was a group of pale violet flowers. Almost hidden in the recess of a rotting stump, this specie which I thought was called Bird's Foot violets, was as pretty as any florist's bouquet. A few steps further were some more flowers, also violets, even though they were white in color. Many people don't know that violets are the most common of woodland flowers and besides growing in all shades of purple, blue and violet, also appear in a white and yellow form. I spent a few more minutes looking and smelling, and then headed down the path the river.

The trail lead to a thick growth of seedling pines. I had to bend over to avoid being slapped in the face by the limber limbs of these young trees. As I neared the opening on the far side, I became aware of hundreds of diddle-head ferns growing on both sides of the trail. The lime-green stalks, delicately formed so they rival the intricate carvings of the most expensive Stradivarius, get their name because they look like the turned head of a violin. Once you become aware of them, you can hardly believe how you missed seeing them before.

A snapping noise to my left caused me to freeze. I turned slowly and was met by the piercing start of a whitetail doe. Either I had scared her off the trail, or she stepped aside to let me pass. In either case it didn't matter, as I was as unconcerned about her as she was about me. I moved forward and she lowered her head to graze.

A few more yards and some more flowers, trilliums this time. Thousands of blossoms stretching down a slope until they disappeared in the ravine below. More blueberry bushes and a beautiful blue-green lichen almost obliterating the trail I was following. I didn't know the name and secretly wished I had paid closer attention in my college botany classes.

I was getting close to the river now. The cool breeze wafting upwards indicated the difference in temperature I would find. I was glad I put on the long-sleeved shirt.

I would be fishing soon. The woods, with its blueberry bushes, ferns, violets, trilliums, lichens and wildlife would be behind me. Only the memories would remain, and later I would be glad I had taken time to stop and smell the roses . . .

Thumb area OUTDOORS

SUMMER FISHING may have hit its peak last week, but Thumb anglers are still in for some exciting sport in the weeks to come. Walleyes have been the big news, and they cooperated with most fishermen both Thursday and Friday. The winds picked up on Saturday and drove most of the small boats from the productive water, but not before many stringers were filled. Great action was reported all along the island chain from Sebewaing to Bay Port, and also near both Big and Little Charity. Lake Trout continue to be hot at Port Austin and Grindstone City. Anglers should remember that the season will end early this year, and lakers will not be legal after Aug. 15.

Perch fishing has been a pleasant surprise this year. After a number of skimpy years, DNR biologists indicated recent studies show the Bay may be producing as many as eight million perch a year. This level of production is close to the banner years of the '50s and early '60s. Researchers from the University of Michigan are presently analyzing perch stocks in the Saginaw Bay and have tagged 10,000 perch. In order to obtain information, the U of M will pay $1 for the tag and information about how the fish were caught. The tagged fish were released at Tawas, Pinnacning, Bay Port and Port Austin.

At a meeting of the Pigeon Lions last Wednesday, President Dave Clabuesch introduced guests, Paul Clabuesch, Dave Kretzschmer, Bill Moran, Bob Gulash, Ronda Heckman and foreign visitor Heli Jormanian of Mikkeli, Finland.
Miss Jormanian played a flute solo and informed those present about her native country. She is a guest at the home of the Ron Heckman family of Pigeon.

Clabuesch told the Lions to prepare for the Annual Beef Barbecue from noon-2 p.m., and assigned work schedules at the VFW Hall in the evening of July 28 during the Pigeon Farmers' Festival.
The next regular meeting, scheduled for Aug. 8, will include installation for George Gardy and Mike LePage.

Village of Pigeon commends employe

Pigeon Village officials have announced that James A. Kohl, DPW employe, has earned State Certification as a qualified Water Distribution Systems and Water Treatment Plant Operator.
Village Superintendent Bob Brown stated that according to Act 399, P.A. 1976, all water distribution and treatment facilities operating in Michigan must be done so under the direct supervision of a certified operator. In qualifying for this State Certification, each individual must meet certain established educational, experience and personal requirements, as well as satisfactorily completing a lengthy, written examination.

"Jim had taken it upon himself to obtain this certification, a goal which required considerable study and personal commitment to accomplish. We actively encourage all of our employes to maintain a high level of professionalism, and commend Jim for his efforts," Brown said.

GOD KINDLED THE FIRE THAT BROUGHT COMFORT INTO OUR LIVES

I feel again the spark of that ancient flame.

— Virgil

"And the Lord went before them...by night in a pillar of fire, to give them light."

— Exodus 13:21

As you gaze at the dancing flames of a campfire on a summer night, or the burning log in your fireplace next winter, think about this fascinating phenomenon that has enabled man to produce and control his own source of heat and light. Without the discovery of fire, most of us would be confined to the narrow band of the tropics as the only inhabitable place on earth; while eating a diet of raw food. By means of the lighting, a miraculous demonstration, God introduced ancient man to the spectacle of fire; and its principle has remained with us to this day. Like the other elements, fire can either preserve or destroy life, but God gave man the intelligence to use it properly. At your House of Worship, thank Him for all His blessings, including the blazing beauty of the fire which has brought us warmth and comfort, and sparked the very survival of human life all through the ages.

TTLM slates Sand Castle Contest

The staff of Top-of-the-Thumb Leisure Ministries announces a Sand Castle Contest on Friday, July 20 at the Port Austin Beach, beside the State Dock. Construction gets started at 2 p.m. with judging at 3:30 p.m.

The competition will be in three age divisions, 11 years old and under, 12 to 17 years old and adults. Entrants may be individuals or groups of no more than three persons. Creativity, detail, use of natural articles and condition of castle are criteria for judging. A bonus will be given if the sand castle is a model of an actual castle. Prizes donated by Port Austin merchants will be awarded. A second Sand Castle Contest is planned for Aug. 17 at the Caseville Beach.

On Sunday, July 22, the TTLM Vespers at St. Michael Church in Port Austin will be a Singpiration. The song leader for the 4 p.m. program is Jerry Dietzel and his wife Judy will accompany the congregational singing. The couple will present some special numbers during the program. They are active in the Pigeon business community and are members of the Michigan Avenue Mennonite Church, where Mrs. Dietzel plays organ and piano. They have sung in area choirs and Mr. Dietzel is a member of the Pigeon Mens' Community Chorus.

A Psalm Service will be presented by the TTLM staff for Vespers on Wednesday, July 25 at the Caseville United Methodist Church. The worship service includes readings and antiphons, guitar and piano music and congregational singing. Staff members are Susan Tipton, Martin Lund and Jackie Roe.

Miss Tipton is a graduate seminarian from Blissfield. She has a B.A. degree from Adrian College and is a recent graduate of Methodist Theological School in Ohio with a Master of Divinity degree. Following her summer with TTLM she will be seeking placement as a pastor in the United Church of Christ denomination. She shares preaching duties for weekend TTLM worship services in campgrounds and is involved in the children's activities. Miss Tipton plays guitar and enjoys singing, needlework and sports.

Martin Lund comes to the Thumb area from his Casper, Wyoming home. He has completed one year of seminary training at Methodist Theological School in Ohio following earlier schooling in his home state. He was active in the Wesley Foundation and an ecumenical organization while at the University of Wyoming. He plans to become a United Methodist minister. He shares the preaching with Miss Tipton in the TTLM program and leads adult Bible Studies.

Miss Jackie Roe has returned for her second summer on the staff of TTLM. The Flint native is a senior at Eastern Michigan University, majoring in occupational therapy. She leads children's story hours and is active in beach ministry. Miss Roe also has been giving a slide presentation and talks about the work of TTLM for churches and organizations in the area.

There is a time of refreshments and fellowship following the Wednesday Vesper Service. An offering is received at each of the services to help support TTLM and its work in the county.
