Casewell native dreams... then designs:
His dream 'takes off'!

Gerald Wiipper was born a dreamer— and he did it again— but this time it was a dream that took off in a big way. Together with his brother Bill, Wiipper formed the Wiipper Brothers Unlimited, a company that specializes in designing and building custom-made airplanes. Wiipper's first design, a small single-engine monoplane, was a huge success and quickly became known as the Wiipper Special.

The design, which Wiipper calls his "brainchild," is a small, single-engine airplane that can be built in just a few weeks. The plane is made of lightweight materials and has a sleek, aerodynamic design that makes it easy to fly and comfortable to ride.

The Wiipper Brothers Unlimited is now taking orders for the Wiipper Special, and Wiipper is looking forward to seeing more of his dream fly in the skies.

Dreams are mind’s window?

Reader’s Digest magazine carried a fascinating story about how daydreams can impact on our waking life. It was an interesting read for me.

But I have to say, I was a bit disappointed by the lack of substance in the article. It seemed to be more of a promotional piece for the magazine rather than a serious exploration of the topic.

Our readers write...
Disagrees with Karl on Social Security

Dear Editor,

I was surprised to read your article on social security and Karl. I must say, I don’t agree with his views. Karl has been a long-time advocate of the idea that social security is a “handout” and that we should be encouraging people to save for their retirement instead.

I think it’s important for the government to provide a safety net for those who may not have enough savings to retire on. Without social security, many seniors would be left without any means of support.

Re: Good, sound, reading...

Dear Editor,

I have thought for some time now that you have been underestimating the value of your newspaper. I know you think it is a bit bland, but I have always found it interesting.

I think you should consider making some changes to the way you present your stories. Perhaps you could start including more multimedia elements, such as videos and photos, to make the news more engaging.

Sincerely,

Michigan’s Thumb: Deer ‘hotspot’

13 is enough

"As they have yet" I asked my wife exasperatingly as I parked the car. We had been hunting three deer in a row. We decided to take a break. We were not alone. Deer were coming around us in a steady stream. Deer were coming to our food. The fact that we were not alone did not make our hunt any easier. The deer were determining the outcome of the hunt.

We stopped our hunt and went to our car to grab our gear. The deer were still coming around us. We decided to stay in the car and watch them. We saw a total of 13 deer. We decided to call it a day and go home. We were not alone. Deer were coming to our food. The fact that we were not alone did not make our hunt any easier. The deer were determining the outcome of the hunt.

SUGAR BEETS
reading. But trucks are much heavier than they look, even if the road looks relatively smooth.

The length of the line of tractors is supen incredible when you think about it. This is where it all began.

There are some farmers who are still using horses to transport the beets, but the use of trucks has become the norm in recent years. The tractors are equipped with large trailers to carry the beets to the factories. The size of the trucks and the weight of the beets make it crucial to ensure that the roads are well-maintained.

Did you know? Trucks are a crucial part of the sugar beet industry, as they transport the beets from the fields to the factories. The weight of the beets can reach up to 70 tons per load, which is why the trucks are designed to be extremely strong and heavy-duty.

Sturm hits 57 points in pair of Laker losses

By RICH SWANTZL
The season has provided the Lakers girls basketball team with a mix of wins and losses; however, they have never been defeated by a score higher than 20. The Lakers' most recent loss was a 60-39 defeat against the Pioneers. The defeat was not unexpected, as the Lakers were already facing an uphill battle against a team that had been playing well for the past few games. Despite the loss, the Lakers showed that they were capable of competing with the best teams in the conference.

The game was a tightly contested affair, with the Pioneers taking the lead early and pushing it to 15 points by halftime. In the second half, the Lakers attempted to come back, but the Pioneers' defense was too strong. The Lakers' leading scorer, Emily Sturm, had 57 points in the game, but it was not enough to overcome the Pioneers' strength.

The Lakers have now lost three games in a row, and their season is beginning to take a turn for the worse. The team is struggling to find consistency in their play, and they are facing a tough schedule in the coming weeks. However, the team is not giving up hope, and they are working hard to improve their performance.

Wide Guide: Lakers' loss against North Central's Tigers

By RICH SWANTZL
The Lakers were defeated by the North Central Tigers in a close game. The Tigers took the lead early and were never threatened by the Lakers. The Lakers' leading scorer, Emily Sturm, had 17 points in the game, but it was not enough to overcome the Tigers' defense.

The game was a hard-fought contest, with both teams playing well. The Lakers showed that they were capable of competing with the best teams in the conference, but the Tigers were just too strong. Nevertheless, the Lakers are not giving up hope, and they are working hard to improve their performance.

What is the purpose in observing VETERAN'S DAY?

When the call came to preserve America against foreign aggression, Americans were prompt to step forward to offer their time, their service, even their lives. Many did give their lives—1,081,000 of them in all American wars since 1776—and even today, millions are still ready, waiting on the firing line, if the call should come to summon them for defense.

To all of them—those who served, those who gave their lives, and those who are on the line today—America and all Americans owe the debt of liberty. That is why our country will again observe Veterans Day in 1985, and observe a moment of silence on Monday, November 11—at the 11th hour of the day—and to speak a prayer of thanks for the life, liberty and pursuit of happiness that is ours as Americans.

What has it taken to preserve AMERICAN FREEDOM and LIBERTY?

Here are a few figures: Since the beginning of America, 38,924,000 have served as war participants; more than 1,081,000 died in defense of their country; in the Civil War, 6 million participated, 364,000 Union Soldiers and sailors died, and there were more than 133,000 Confederate casualties; in the American Revolution, 250,000 served for the American cause, and 4,000 died; in the War of 1812, 297,000 Americans served, and 2,000 gave their lives; in the Mexican War, 79,000 were in uniform, but 13,000 lost their lives, about one out of 6 who served; in the Spanish-American War, 395,000 served, and 11,000 died; in World War I, 4,744,000 Americans served, and 116,000 died; in World War II, came the greatest assembly of service people in America’s History, 16,539,000 men and women, of whom 408,000 died; in Korea, 6,867,000 served, 55,000 died; in Vietnam 9,834,000 served, 47,000 died.

In all, nearly 39 million served this country, 1,081,000 died...

Because of their sacrifices, the living and the dead, America today remains the brightest hope for the rest of the world. May we ever stay strong, and willing, to do our part and freedom around the world.
