Food pantries brighten holidays for less fortunate

By RICH SWARTZENDEURBER

Many people's thoughts of Thanksgiving conjure up images of a golden-brown turkey, mountains of steaming potatoes, stuffing and vegetables, topped off by pumpkin pie. The main course of the season is often deciding what to do with dishes of food left over from the huge dinner.

For others in the Thumb Area, however, thoughts might be more preoccupied with concern about putting a meal of any kind on the table for the traditional holiday.

Send us best Christmas stories

It’s almost impossible to believe, but the Christmas season is upon us. And that means it’s time for our seventh annual “Christmas Memories” writing contest.

The prizes aren’t incredible, but we guarantee this will help get you into the holiday mood this year.

As our special gift to you, our readers, we’re asking you to share some seasonal happiness with our 10,000 readers.

Please take a moment right now to write down why Christmas is special to you. Or tell us about the favorite gift you’ve ever received. Or give us a Christmas story you’ve enjoyed, or wish you could share. Send your favorite recipe. Or maybe a family photo. Whatever you’d like.

In short, give a little of your own Christmas to everyone else, through The Progress-Advance. Our seventh “Christmas Memories” contest can’t last that far away. Deadline is 5 p.m. Friday, Dec. 2. We’ll give $1 prizes to the best entries in four age groups: up to 12 years old; 13 to 18; 19 to 48 plus; and up to 60. Be sure to include your age. (We won’t print it, though!)

Please take a moment to write down your thoughts and send them to...

STOCKING UP: At left, Roy Lawrence, left, and Elder David Nott, members of the Bay Port Elks Lodge 262 Food Closet show a "starter kit" of food which will be distributed to needy families. The closet is billed to supply in proportion to family size.

Lawry holds the "offering basket" used once per month at Bay Port RLGDS Church to accept donations for the food closet from members of the congregation.

AT RIGHT, Pigeon First United Methodist Pastor Gordon Nantz explains how parishioners help pack boxes of food for distribution through the Pigeon Area Food Pantry. His job, however, is to coordinate referrals and requests for emergency food supplies from the organization which represents seven Pigeon area churches.

Several organizations in the Thumb aim to help such families, not only through the holidays, but all year around.

The Bay Port Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints has sponsored a food closet to provide emergency nutritional supplies since early in 1981. The ILDLS Community Food Closet stems from a grant from the Bay Port Stewardship Commission to encourage members to donate canned food in a monthly offering.

The church's program was expanded in August of 1982 when it was selected by the Bay Port Development Commission in the Thumb Area to help distribute food to the needy. Since that time the Food Closet has received grants amounting to over $500, as well as such surplus commodities as flour, powdered milk, cheese and butter which can barely keep up with demand, organizers say.

An organization which aims to meet the same need is the Pigeon Area Food Pantry, comprised of seven Pigeon area churches. The Pigeon group differs from the Bay Port organization in several ways, but both have much in common.

Awareness of physical need in the Thumb Area has been heightened by those involved in the food pantries.

"People seem to have the opinion that there are no poor people around here, but they are mistaken," says Pigeon First Methodist Pastor Gordon Nantz who heads the Pigeon Food Pantry.

He terms holidays and school vacations as "crisis times" for many poor families, because the children are home for months, with food supplies here to stretch further.

For that reason, the Pigeon group concentrates on providing special supplies of food during holiday times. Two representatives from each church involved in the food pantry will meet Tuesday, Nov. 28 to pack 25-30 boxes of food to be distributed in time for Thanksgiving.

The Pigeon group depends solely on donations from individuals and service groups to provide the food to needy families in the Pigeon area.

On the other hand, the BLDS Food Closet is involved with families from Bay Port to rural Bad Axe, and Caseville to Saginaw.

A growing need is experienced by the Pigeon group in just its second year of existence. Twice as many families receive food this year as did last year, Nantz says.

The ILDLS Food Closet, however, has seen fewer people needing the emergency food compared with 1983 and 1984.

"The economy must be improving because we don't see the demand we had a year ago," says ILDLS Stewardship Commission Chairman Roy Lawry who now administers the program.

He says only a small amount of paperwork is involved with the program which receives grants and some income from the government. In fact he prefers operating the operation in that manner.

Families receiving food through the Food Closet must provide information about family size, income and expenses and sign the application. Having such a record shows the food is getting to its intended destination and proves food supplies are being squandered or side-tracked, Lawry says.

The Bay Port group is directed to needy families by HDC and individuals aware of such families. The Pigeon organization also uses individual referrals and tips from the Huron County Department of Social Services.

Both groups are intended to be a temporary food supplier. The ILDLS program is limited to 26 days, while the Pigeon pantry is also designed to help families through waiting periods built into some government programs.

Individuals who want to share some of their bounty this Thanksgiving or Christmas season are encouraged to donate to either program. Supplies such as canned foods, non-perishables such as flour, sugar, powdered milk, pasta products, etc. as well as paper and cleaning products are welcome.

Cash donations are also encouraged in the Pigeon Food Pantry to purchase perishable food such as meat just prior to delivery.

For more information contact any pastor of a Pigeon area church, Bay Lawrence or Bay Port RLGDS Elder Ervin Haley.

Diebel named Mason of the year

Clayton J. Diebel of Elkins was named Mason of the Year on Nov. 6 by the Frank W. Hubbard Lodge No. 48, Free and Accepted Masons.

The group listed outstanding service and dedication to his craft in presenting him the honor.

A Citation presented by Worshipful Master Donald Filion was the highlight of a special function at the Hitching Post in Elkins in Diebel's honor.

The Mason of the Year has been a member of the Frank W. Hubbard Lodge for 25 years served as Worshipful Master for a year. Current-ly, Diebel serves as treasurer for the group.

Diebel is also a member of Lebanon Chapter No. 125 Royal Arch Masons, Bad Axe Commandery No. 53; El Khurshid Shrine Temple in Saginaw, and Order of the Eastern Star No. 435 in Elkins.

Diebel and his wife Fern are the parents of six children and reside on a farm south of Elkins.

Thum not ‘overrun’ with downstate hustlers

The Thumb’s deer season will open early, and many residents are already preparing for the excitement. Although the large number of public land in both the Thumb and downstate has provided more opportunities for hunters, the Thumb still retains its unique characteristics.

The Thumb Outdoor Report provides valuable information and advice for those interested in hunting.

THE RECIPE FOR A GOOD LIFE IS CONTAINED IN THE BIBLE

You would never dream of trying to take a cake or construct a gourmet dish without a recipe in front of you. Because of the many ingredients and procedures you would have to follow. By the same token, life itself is a complicated procedure, consisting of many ingredients which can be mixed and used. However, the Bible contains the recipe for you, with easy-to-follow directions just as you would in the preparation of food. In all, life’s best “cooking school” is your home of the Church, where the ingredients are done well to give you a portion of good advice in times of trouble. Last the Bible serve as your food for thought, with a mixture of the fascinating history of civilization, the origin of your faith, and a foolproof recipe for a good life.

Lakers frustrate Imlay City in lopsided win

By RICH SIMMONS
The Lake's girls basketball team would have liked to play the game, but fell to a ing in play-calling for the rest of the game dominated by the Lakeshore.

The Lakeshore's defense was on the same page as their offense, and they put on a dominating display from the start. The Lakers answered with a 3-0 lead at the end of the first quarter, and the Lakeshore led 6-1 at the end of the half. The Lakeshore then pulled away with a 9-0 lead at the end of the third quarter.

HANNAH DETRAME: Lakers started the week with a strong performance as they triumphed at home against Delta, 39-35, last Tuesday. The Lakers then turned their attention to preparing for their match against Delta, which took place on Tuesday night. The Lakers won the match with a 13-point lead, bringing their record to 3-1 on the season.

When you use PIONEER SUGAR to create your holiday favorites this year... cakes, pies, holiday cookies, brownies or even a candy yule log - whatever your family tastes demand... the VITAL ingredient that brings out the sweetness is PIONEER SUGAR. The sweetness of nature.

PIONEER SUGAR is one of the basic ingredients for all your holiday cooking and baking, and it is one of the freshest ones you can buy. That's because PIONEER SUGAR is a 100% Michigan-made product. It is grown in Michigan, processed in the Saginaw area and available for your use in Michigan.

PIONEER SUGAR is a product of Michigan Sugar Co., Saginaw. Founded in 1906, we're locally owned and have processing plants in Caro, Carrollton, Crosswell and Sebewaing. It takes more than a thousand Michigan farm families, tilling more than 70,000 acres of Michigan's finest farm land in the Saginaw and Thumb areas to produce nearly 300 million pounds of sugar every year. We're proud of our Michigan roots!

PIONEER SUGAR is packaged in 2, 5, 10, and even 100 pound bags. Look for the familiar package with the covered wagon at your favorite grocer.

PIONEER SUGAR is rich in flavor, rich in energy and rich in Michigan history. You and your family are sure to agree that during this holiday season PIONEER SUGAR is the basic ingredient for your holiday treats.

Sweeten your life with...
