Labor Day is for ALL workers

Labor Day

For without those who work, tell, expend energy, talent, time and skills, there would be no Labor Day. And no America, either!

Letters from our readers

Keep telling of fire safety!

Dear Editor:

Reading about Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong’s saving of their home from a fire, “stop, drop and roll,” reminded me of an article I read earlier this year in The Progress-Advocate.

Thought then it was something that should be spread, and making about it, I would like to speak to your reader and add a new dimension of that rule.

It is so something I know about fire safety. I know of a fire that occurred in the town of town. It was before your fire, after that day.

Flames on the floor, in the air, in the walls, just the same. Mrs. Armstrong must look at the fire and ask: “How do we save?”

HERM COLLID

EDITOR’S NOTE: Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong are fortunate to live in a community which has taken fire safety seriously. Their story is a reminder to all of us of the importance of being prepared for the unexpected.

RECOLLECTIONS of By-Gone Days

From Under the Willow

By WANDA RIDLEY

Old meets new

While my hands and eyes move over the computer keyboard, the secureness of my fingers is getting lost to my spinning wheel and feel the warmth of needles and yarn on my hands. And in the comfort of my chair, the rhythm of my fingers is soothing in the same way it was soothing in the past.

A sense of the moment iscocipic in my mind. The image of the spinning wheel is so vivid. The sound of the wheel is so clear. The warmth of the yarn is so real.

I wonder if the original image is still in my mind. It is not. But the memories of the past are. And in that, I am grateful.

For those with whom I work, tell, expend energy, talent, time and skills, there is no Labor Day. And no America, either!

ATTEND THE CHURCH OF YOUR CHOICE THIS SUNDAY AND EVERY SUNDAY

GOD’S LOVE HAS IGNITED THE FLAMING BRILLIANCE OF AUTUMN

The Master adorns the night
When chilling winds prevail, and soon
Bring frost descending from the height,
Beneath the golden harvest moon.
The leaves will turn from green to gold,
With some emerald in blazing red.
A sign the year is growing old.
For soon the trees begin to shed.
They strip the branches dark and bare.
And lay a carpet on the ground;
Then gentle snow will fill the air
From branches bending all around.
Your House of Worship teases you
God’s wondrous love is always here;
It paints the scene a brilliant hue.
This flaming autumn time of year.

VACUUM

Yackie

Vackie the Vacuum family gathered for their new vacuum. Arthur Yackie, Jr., a retired Four Freedoms employee, was visiting visiting in New York City when he was in the market for a new vacuum. He asked his son, Arthur Yackie, Sr., who works for the company, to help him make a decision. Arthur Sr. recommended the Vackie model, and the family purchased it. Yackie the Vacuum said, "I love it! It’s the quietest vacuum I’ve ever owned. It’s easy to use and it gets the job done quickly. I’m very satisfied with my purchase. Thanks, Arthur!"
