such ownership, perhaps jointly, in recent years. Airport backers have purchased or taken options on nearly all the property needed for the project in the prime location site. That location could also be moved, but state officials note the present site involves the least usable farmland.

LEGAL MOVES: The airport booster's suit notes that interfering with continuation of Res. 80-2 would injure "the people of Caseville Township," noting "that the township could be liable for extensive costs and expenses" if the project is stopped now. Kraft's suit notes engineering, ecological and environmental studies have been undertaken, donations have been received, and "certain individuals" have undertaken personal guarantees of the indebtedness of the planned airport.

Airport supporters say they want a permanent injunction against throwing out the Resolution, or say the Township may have to repay all expenses thus far incurred - including repaying "any and all claims by third parties with respect to the development of the airport." Kraft notes that could include expenses developers have incurred in seeking possible sites, and supporters say the dollar amounts involved could be very large.

When Res. 80-2 was approved in 1980, voting unanimously in favor were township officials Supervisor Harold Lankey, Clerk Elaine Cleaver, Treasurer Thera Morgan - and Trustee Jerry Cile, who now opposes the airport, and voted to rescind 80-2.

Parking for handicapped

By RICH SWARTZENDRUBER
Elkton Council voted unanimously to reserve one parking space on Main Street for handicapped individuals. The parking space will be located in front of Dr. Lockard's office at 40 N. Main on a six-month, trial basis. Council members will review the parking designation at the end of the six-month period on the basis of the number of vehicles that display the official handicap ped sticker that use the parking space.

CHRISTMAS DISPLAY: Council discussed several options for Christmas decorations on the vacant lot on the southwest corner of the main intersection in the village. Councilwoman Dede Russell suggested locating a "Santa's House" at the corner, and will provide sketches of some ideas at the October council meeting.

WATER, WATER: Ernest and Sharon Buchholz, who live outside the village limits but are hooked up to the Elkton water supply, questioned the new interpretation of the rates for the four residences in that situation. Prior to several months ago, those households were charged the regular rate plus an additional 50%. At the present time an extra 150% is added to the regular charge for those outside the village.

The Buchholzes reminded Council that stray dogs are housed in a building they rent, and water and electricity used in the building goes through their private meter.

Council members suggested Buchholz submit a bill to the Village for use of the building, water and electricity. They noted the Village was glad to be able to use the building and vowed to pay any reasonable charge for rent.

LOG CABIN: Work is continuing on the log cabin erected by Elkton Historical Society, according to Police Chief Duane Alexander and Councilman Fred Santos who are both involved in the project. They noted a new roof must be installed on the structure, involving a cost of $350 for shingles alone.

Council approved a donation of $500 to the Historical Society to complete the cabin located in Ackerman Memorial Park.

CHIEF SOUGHT: Clerk Janet Santos noted only four or five applications have been submitted for the position of Police Chief which will be created by the retirement of Alexander at the end of this year.

FLAT GARAGE: Ramon Sanchez of Bay Port looks over what used to be his solid garage. He saw the building flattened by this semi truck trailer last week, as the driver attempted dump part of a load of dirt to free the vehicle stuck in some soft ground.

As the trailer was hoisted in the air, the uneven terrain caused it to tip over on the garage, Sanchez says.

PRISON CAMP FOR HURON?

Huron County Sheriff Richard V. Stokan would like to locate a military-style "boot camp" prison here, intending to shock first-time felons into better behavior. A similar program in Georgia operates similarly to military camps - with participants getting brush-cut haircuts, following exercise and work programs and being supervised by retired military drill instructors.

Sheriff Stokan and Otsego County Sheriff Nick Westra are working with the Michigan Sheriff's Association to submit a joint proposal for nearly $500,000 in state fund, to consider such a plan for the Bad Axe and Gaylor areas.

Under the plan, the Sheriff's Department would provide a minimum security boot camp program here for up to 100 convicted felons, in the 18 to 25-year-old age range from southern Michigan. Gaylord's camp would house a similar number from the rest of the state.

Both sheriffs plan to visit an existing camp in Georgia later this month, noting the plan includes following up on convicts after they're released from jail.

SCHOOL STRIKES CONTINUE

Teacher strikes are continuing in Harbor Beach and Cass City, as the 72 Cass City and 54 Harbor Beach teachers are far from settlement with their districts, according to Tri-County Bargaining Association (TCBA) negotiators. Monetary issues are main points, he added.

The Harbor Beach strike has entered its third week, while Cass City teachers walked off the job Sept. 2. State mediators are working with both sides in both districts, among fewer than 10 on strike statewide this fall. Cass City negotiators will meet again Wednesday, while Harbor Beach talks were continuing over the weekend.

Unionville - Sebawaing Area Schools' 58 teachers have been working since Aug. 26 without a contract, and negotiations were scheduled Monday. Also in the area, Reese plus Vassar teachers and administrators were still negotiating, as school continued without contracts in force.

BRUNET IS CARO FINALIST

Elkton - Pigeon - Bay Port School Superintendent Harry Brunet is one of six finalists being considered for the vacant superintendent's post with Caro Community Schools.

Brunet is the only local candidate from among the six being considered, following job screenings by the Caro Board. President Mary Branding said the position will be offered to one of the finalists within the next two weeks. Brunet, a Vassar native, has been Laker Superintendent for 16 years.

SANILAC DUMPS STAY OPEN?

Two of the only three remaining sanitary landfills in the Upper Thumb may get a chance to stay open later this month. Sources in Sanilac County say the Tri-City Landfill in Bridgehampton Township, and the Mid-Thumb Landfill in Argyle Township, both near Sandusky, may meet licensing standards, which would keep the private facilities open.

Both landfills have been targeted for closing by the Michigan Attorney General's office, which says both are not up to state standards and that they contaminate nearby ground water. Sanilac County officials say closing the landfills - where most of the county's trash is dumped - will create serious problems.

BYE-BYE, CHANNEL 61

There won't be a new television station broadcasting on Channel 61 from Bay City, in the near future at least.

Bay City officials say a purchase agreement for Saginaw River land on Water Street has fallen through, as Chase Broadcasting, Inc., of Hartford, Conn., won't be constructing studios for independent station WVCJ there. The owners say they have instead invested funds to purchase an existing station elsewhere.

That leaves WSMH, Channel 66 in Flint, as Mid-Michigan's only independent (non-network) station, and Bay City leaders are looking for another use for the riverfront property now vacant.

POLICE BLOTTER NEWS

Arson is being blamed for last Monday's bar fire at the Wilbur Jahr farm on Shebeon Road, northwest of Owendale. The State Fire Marshal is investigating the blaze, which resulted in about $10,000 in damages after the midnight fire. No injuries were reported, and Owendale Firemen responded. They were assisted by Sebawaing and Pigeon tank trucks.

At least $1200 in damages occurred when a car owned by Troy Thompson of Bay Port caught fire last Wednesday and was destroyed. The blaze was reported about 11:30 p.m., and may have begun in the electrical wiring, as it sat on Main Street.

Irmagard Sorensen, 67 of Elkton, was injured Saturday when her auto collided with a southbound C&O freight train just west of Unionville on M-25. Mrs. Sorensen's auto met the train engine about 1:10 p.m., according to Tuscola County Sheriff's Deputies, and she was transported to Huron Memorial Hospital for treatment.

COURT PROCEEDINGS

In Huron County District Court, Judge John Schubel last week heard pleas or passed judgment on:

Sue Ann Hubel, 54 of Caseville, pled guilty to writing a non-sufficient fund check, following an April 29 incident at a Caseville grocery store investigated by Caseville Police; fined $50 and ordered to pay $168 in costs and restitution;

Mathias R. Lambert, 50 of Caseville, pled guilty to drunken driving, sentenced to three days in Huron County Jail and loses driving privileges for 12 months;

In Huron County Circuit Court, Judge M. Richard Knoblock heard the plea of:

Raymond Jakubiec, 24 of St. Clair Shores, who pled guilty to criminal sexual conduct, fourth degree, following a July 6 incident at a campground near Port Austin, involving a Detroit area woman. Sentencing is set for Oct. 10.

Pigeon makes personnel changes

Pigeon Village Council breezed through its light agenda Monday night, making three personnel decisions along the way.

First, Village Police Officer Jeff Wiechert's six-month probationary period was concluded on Aug. 31, and Council voted to raise his pay by 50 cents an hour, to $8 per hour in giving him full employment status.

Wiechert, whom Village Marshal Van Johnson says is performing very acceptable work, is in the process of moving to Pigeon, which was one condition of his employment earlier this year.

Second, new Village Administrator Janet Heckman was welcomed to her first regular meeting in her new position. Village President Dave Geiger noted Mrs. Heckman has received many well-wishing cards and at least eight flower arrangements, in welcoming her.

Council member Bob Fluegge noted such public reaction is "a positive sign, a very positive sign" of improved community relations in the village management job.

Finally, Geiger's interim work was appreciated in a monetary fashion. For his efforts in conducting village business between the resignation of former Administrator Robert Brown, Jr., and Mrs. Heckman's hiring, Council approved paying Geiger for 209 hours of work, at $7.50 per hour, totaling more than $1567.

BIKE RODEO: Marshal Johnson was given approval to conduct an area-wide Bike Rodeo for youngsters sometime in mid-October. He plans to use about $157 in income from sales of the police calendar last year to purchase prizes, to help encourage children to participate and learn proper safety habits.

Huron County Sheriff's Sergeant R. Brent Woodward will be asked to assist in the program, probably to be conducted on a Saturday.

Council adopted a resolution allowing Pigeon Elementary School students to again conduct a Halloween Parade from the school down Main Street, at 1:30 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 31.

Council also approved transfer of the by-glass liquor license for the former Ron's Bar from Ronald Piklor to Dennis Jarvis. The state Liquor Control Commission makes the final approval decision.

tional, to help make up for falling property values which reduce taxes received by school districts. The additional millage will add about $14 in taxes to average residential property owners, experts say.

SOUND OFF: Concern was aired about some negative comments published in the Sound Off column of The Progress-Advance. Some Board members expressed the belief that all opinions which are published should be signed, while others said they didn't take Sound Off comments seriously, since it gives people a chance to air some ideas that represent real concerns.

OTHER BIZ BOARD ALSO: Accepted the resignation of Junior High Counselor and Laker Volleyball Coach Irene Green, who accepted a job at Bay City Handy High School, and Noted enrollment this year totals 1,414 students among all grades, which is up 14 pupils over last year.

Defending God's creation

WHEN WAS THE CHERNOBYL nuclear reactor disaster in Russia? Did that happen in April? My mind is not clear about timing right now, I do remember the awful gut feeling that I had the day and moment when I heard about the disaster. I was driving into town along Nottor Road in the mile south of M-142. It was spring (that much I remember) and the fruit trees were in blossom. It was also one of those pristine, clear blue sky, everything-in-top-form days that we often experience here in the Thumb. Things were right. Spring was well on its way. Farming had begun for the season. Soon summer's warmth would be tearing off our jackets and bringing out the swimsuits, tennis rackets and lawnmowers.

In the midst of that kind of a day I heard about the nuclear disaster in Russia. I remember looking at the clear beauty around me that spoke of the "rightness" of orderly nature and then become upset that stupidity and greed for power would produce such a costly error as a nuclear plant disaster spells. As I imagined fallout over the Thumb, I remember being angry at not being able to eat an apple or not seeing my children grow up or never hearing a Bach concerto again or never being able to see fruit trees in full bloom again. Perhaps some of you also experience the same scary thoughts when you think about nuclear disasters.

Whatever, we are too stupid to let those thoughts really work on us. Somehow we jam them to the back of our minds and figure that a nuclear disaster anywhere will not affect us. So we continue our same schedules with nary a thought about the potential devastating impact of nuclear power. And what an impact that could be! We don't even have to talk about nuclear war because one good blowout or meltdown or whatever it is that happens when a nuclear reactor malfunctions could spell the end for much of the world.

It is serious thinking, this contemplation of radiation and fallout and altered chromosomes and lingering cancerous deaths. The Roman Catholic bishops of the U.S. have taken a strong stand regarding nuclear power and now they are joined by College of Bishops who speak to United Methodists. In one of the strongest statements ever issued, the UM bishops are calling for humankind to defend creation, the very earth and seas and trees and flowers and people placed here by a loving God. That kind of defense of creation will mean a total re-evaluation of the present use of nuclear power of any kind in our world today. The enormity of nuclear war, say the bishops, offends creation just as does the travesty of nuclear accident.

Some will say that church leaders have no business bringing political issues into the quiet of church sanctuaries. Others will want the old arguments of strong deterrence and dominoes to remain. But some, maybe a few, will experience the same gut wrenching feeling of helplessness that I felt that day I first heard about Chernobyl. What could I do? Spread a huge tentlike roof over our little two acres? Breathe air through filters only? Not travel in parts of the U.S. or world where nuclear messes were known to have happened?

Sadly enough, the solution cannot be a local one, but must be a worldwide approach that ties us tightly to all nations of the world. We will have to be bound as one great family occupying this planet. That family will be like every other family with lots of differences and disagreements. But on one thing we will have to agree -- our use of nuclear power. Lack of agreement will do the worst kind of harm to God's creation. Politics aside, religion aside, national loyalties aside, we must defend the creation entrusted to us.

THE UNTIMELY DEATH of Laker Junior High band director and coach Bill Rupprecht hits us with a sense of unfairness and loss. Bill, who was a young 45, contributed much to the musical specialness of the Laker communities. I will especially always be grateful for the years that he directed a Christmas cantata for the Pigeon churches which was presented at Cross Lutheran Church, where Bill was the choir director. His leadership gave us a chance to set aside denominational differences and sing together. Our prayers and comfort go out to his family and especially to Nancy, his wife. Bill will be missed and remembered well.

as it has recently. The additional millage -- one half-mill, since the one-mill portion is a renewal of existing millage -- would cost about $14 for the average Laker taxpayer, but still the grumbling continues.

This is the same question, in fact, that voters rejected in the June School Election. Laker officials analyzed their financial position and decided no less -- and no more -- would keep operations on an even keel. Reducing the millage is impossible, in light of falling property tax revenues brought about by the downturned farm economy's depressed land values.

These falling land values mean tax collections will be lower than in past years, since the tax rate is multiplied against property values. And, simply put, that also means Laker Schools are being asked to do more with less this year.

Nearly everyone knows that's a difficult task these days. But many people are being asked to do just that!

Schools appear to be taking the brunt of frustrations and criticism about life in general around here -- even though low commodity prices and other ills have nothing directly to do with our educational system.

But, where else can angry people vent their frustration? To the President or Congress? No. To the Russians or the business-stealing Japanese? No, not directly. Often, an innocent bystander -- such as our schools -- bears most of the pain inflicted, because no one else is around.

Everybody second guesses schools, too. "Surely you can pinch a few pennies here or there, can't you, Mr. Administrator?" is a familiar cry. But Laker School officials will tell you that's already been done -- daily, and for many years.

They'll tell you they're holding the line, and the supposedly best-informed folks around -- the Laker School Board -- agrees. They believe this funding is needed just to maintain basics presently taught.

Rejecting Friday's millage request will probably lead to unkind solutions. Yale voters in nearby St. Clair County kept turning down millage requests -- and the School Board cut out all busing. Now, cars clog the school driveways, creating chaotic traffic jams -- and costing parents far more than the small millage would have generated.

Other districts look toward eliminating band, hot lunches, sports or other "extras." The, the kids suffer.

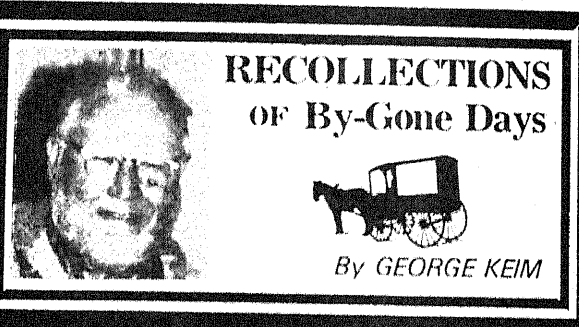

We don't know what the other person's situation is like until we walk in their shoes. School administrators and Board members alike say the millage is needed. And, they note, the increase will cost a taxpayer with a $28,000 SEV home an extra $14 annually.

They say that's a small price to pay, since many property values are already falling, also reducing present tax expenses. The increase is needed just to stay even, they say.

The logic sounds reasonable. But will Laker voters pay heed? And what greater harm will be done, if more harsh remedies must be sought later?

NEWS & ADVERTISING DEADLINE: 12 NOON MONDAYS

DEAR EDITOR:
Last Saturday I had the pleasure to go to the Youth For Christ sale at the Pigeon Recreation Park. They had a few tents up and several places where they sold food and baked goods.
There were a lot of people there and everybody had a good time. We just had the best kind of weather. I knew a lot of people but a lot more people knew me than I knew. When the auction sale started, I bought a few things because people bring better stuff than they used to and of course, the auctioneers tried to hang some things on me that I didn't bid on.
Well, I had to go and cover up a grave that I had gotten open before the sale and left. But I came back in a couple hours and started to buy some more things. One thing I bought was a picture that was donated by the Bussemas. It had been painted by my dear Wife who started to paint pictures after we had retired. She painted quite a few pictures and I have several of them but I wanted to be sure that I had one to give to each of my grandchildren.
Although she is gone almost 12 years, I still get very lonesome sometimes. My daughter Charlene who works at the U of M Hospital, Ann Arbor, came home for the weekend. She also came to the sale and we bought some stuff together.
One thing was a box with some trophies about football or basketball and we gave it to my grandson and he was so happy with them that he even took one to Sunday School with him.
I saw Carl Dast and we had a nice visit. We could see the Co-op Elevator from there and we started to talk about how big it had become. He said he took some grain there and had to dump the grain into a hopper outside the building.
Well, I was still quite young when my Dad sent me to the Elevator in Elkton with a load of oats. He said he'd come with the car and help me unload it.
Well, he didn't come right away and I drove up to the grain hopper and the late Dan Miller who had worked there told me to unload. I started to unload and the bags were pretty big but Dan told me I was a pretty big and strong boy and I'd make a man yet.
I worked like everything and had the wagon unloaded and was waiting for my Dad and he was well pleased because I had already unloaded the wagon!
In Proverbs 10:1 it says, "A wise son maketh a glad father but a foolish son is a heaviness to his mother."
Well, I have two sons that are pastors and two daughters, one who is a registered nurse and is now able to teach Bible School. So if I'm a little glad, I have Scripture to back me up!
SINCERELY YOURS,
GEORGE KEIM

Thumb OUTDOORS

The early goose season, dreamed up by the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service and the DNR, turned out to be a big bust. No one is sure just why the season came about. True, there is an overpopulation of the Giant Canadas, but it seemed little thought went into the season's planning. First, details of the hunt were so late in reaching the public, many hunters did not know an early season was imminent. Second, the boundaries, set to make enforcement easier, were not clearly stated in the guides, and many hunters traveled long distances only to find their hunting areas closed. In the future, if an early goose season is in the DNR's plan, they should begin to plan a little earlier.

The outlook for the 1986 waterfowl season has changed more than the stockmarket. Depending on who's talking, this year's season could be anything from terrible to poor. Most reports indicate a severe drought in the "duck factories" of lower Canada. This is the region that produces ducks for the Mississippi Flyway, which in turn funnels ducks through Saginaw Bay. No duck production can only mean fewer flight ducks for this year's hunters. On a brighter note, the local duck population has been increasing in leaps and bounds. Smart duck hunters will adapt to this and concentrate on Mallards.

Deer hunters must not forget that September 24 is the deadline for the Hunter's Choice permits. Permits cost $3 this year. After the 24th, hunters may purchase a 2nd deer license for both the firearm and archery deer season. The 2nd firearm license will be valid statewide, while the 2nd archery license will only be good in the Lower Peninsula. Only deer with antlers extending not less than 3-inches above the skull may be taken with this second deer license. Cost for the 2nd deer license will be the same as the first, $9.75. Care must be taken when applying for the Hunter's Choice permits, as over 400 Hunter's Choice license applicants have submitted incorrect or incomplete application forms so far.

Letter from a reader

DEAR EDITOR,
After reading the article entitled "Superintendent's Corner" in the Aug. 13 edition of The Progress-Advance, I felt compelled to comment on several observations Mr. Brunet has made. After all, I graduated from Lakers and am a taxpayer in this district as well as three other districts in this county.

I wholeheartedly agree with Supt. Brunet on his opening statement. I too would find it very hard to work with the public if they were too cowardly to state their name, to back up the accusations and opinions they had to deliver. I've always said if a person doesn't want to be quoted, let them keep their mouth shut.

I also agree with Mr. Brunet's opinion that "Anyone with a lick of sense would say, 'Good job, Lakers!' to a training program that teachers our students the proper driving techniques in a city and freeway situation. This is necessary in our society to day to keep order and avoid accidents." After all, I am sure every other school district tries to incorporate the same instruction in their program. Why should we have less?

Unlike the individual Supt. Brunet has remarked on in his column, my name will appear at the bottom of this letter and because I agree with the Superintendent on most of the points he brings forth, I'm sure he would agree that I am very broad minded and, therefore, could not be included with the anti-school attitude bunch.

However, when it comes to millage increases as a gauge to a community's support for their schools, I must disagree with the Superintendent. As cited in his article, the Vassar District has approved an additional eight mills in a one-year period. But he also gives the reason.

Mr. Brunet states "That community has lost its industrial tax base." As the Superintendent implies, this is more a question of to have a school or not to have a school. In comparing districts, we must compare apples with apples. We have not lost our industrial tax base.

Besides, if a millage increase shows the support for their school, why did Vassar's Superintendent resign? With all that support he should be happy, yet he's taken a position at Owen-Gage.

Thus I believe it has nothing to do with school support. This is a funding issue and, therefore, falls under the responsibility and trust we put in our administrators and school board members. If we, as taxpayers, did not believe they were capable of cutting a little here and there and doing just a little better job of accounting for the funds that are already appropriated, we just might give that additional half mill.

But the fact is that we do believe in their ability and are proud of what has been done in the past. So let's do a bit better, as an example to possibly the county or state and especially to the federal government, to let them know we have solved our budget problems, not by using the old tax increase scapegoat, but by using our God-given intelligence, with which we have been very blessed in this district.

Let's all show our support for the Laker district by continuing to volunteer for special school programs, and perhaps by actually forming a citizens' panel to assist in finding better ways to stretch the tax dollars we already have. For we are all aware, I am sure, that by having more concerned citizens working on a common issue, we would most certainly come up with an appropriate solution or be able to offer an iron-clad reason for our failure.

This is where the community's support for their school shows up when we all rally to solve common problems, not by leaving it up to a few as it seems it is now. Come on, voters of the Laker district, let's show our support for and our confidence in the present school administration. Vote with me. Vote NO on the millage increase on Sept. 12th. Let's show our common concern and support for a better district and a better state and nation. Together, we can do it.

SINCERELY,
ELKTON

(EDITOR'S NOTE: To correct an error in Mr. Craig's letter, as reported here in our Aug. 27 issue, new Owen-Gage Supt. Harley Kirby was Vassar Junior High School Principal, not Superintendent, prior to assuming his new job.)

How does YOUR garden grow?

FRUITS OF THEIR LABOR: Above, Jim Swartzdruber of Pigeon holds up an unusual shaped peach that grew on a tree at his home. From a distance, it almost looks like a baby chick, but one bite will tell you it's a peach! At right, Erna Rouns of Pigeon holds tomatoes from her garden that tip the scales at 2 lbs. and 1 lb. 9 oz., respectively.

PRESCHOOL STORY HOUR

The theme for the Sept. 16 Preschool Story Hour will be about "Fish," including the stories, "A Fish Out of Water," "The Whale" and "Fish is Fish." Exercises, songs and fingerplays will be also included in the activities. A special movie, "The Mole and the Hedgehog," will also be viewed.

Children aged three to five are invited to attend either the 9 or 10:30 a.m. session. Annual registration is required.

PAMPHLET FILE

A frequently overlooked but valuable resource in the library is the Vertical File, which holds pamphlets and other materials not appropriate for cataloging or shelving. The collection is extensive, with subject headings ranging from Pigeon to Africa, from Gardening to Nuclear Power.

Students will find it especially helpful for current event reports. Materials on events so recent that few, if any books have been published. Headings will be found on "AIDS," "The Closing of the Midland Nuclear home in Bay City."

Power Plant," or the latest on "Arms Control." For students researching careers, there are files with pamphlets and articles on hard-to-find information.

Travelers will find files on states and many countries. Consumer pamphlets are available, as well as up-to-date information on many diseases. Data is also available on many states, local governments and the current level of the Great Lakes. Most materials will be checked out for less than three days. The Librarian or staff members may assist with the Vertical File.

The Foods Of Michigan
By Linda Hughes

Michigan's Glorious Grapes!

Michigan's wine industry is growing and getting a lot of attention. Wineries and wine-tasting rooms dot the state; there are more than 30 tasting places.

But wine is only a small specialty of the grape industry. Around 95% of the state's grapes are processed as juice. And Concord grapes, not the French wine grapes, account for 90% of those grown in Michigan.

Michigan grape juice appears under several national brand names, like Welch's and Minute Maid. Michigan is the 5th largest producer of grapes and about 3% of the crop makes it to fresh markets as whole grapes.

The vast majority of Michigan's grapes are grown in the far southwestern counties, where light, sandy soil combines with the tempering effect of Lake Michigan. Grapes also grow well all along the Lake Michigan shoreline of the Lower Peninsula, around Saginaw Bay and the tip of the Thumb area, and in Southeast Michigan.

Decades of research have gone into grape growing and into the elaborate harvesting methods.

Mechanical over-the-row grape harvesters can pick the grapes without a human touch. Grapes are picked and loaded into trailers in the field. A mechanical trash removal system blows away leaves and debris while grapes drop through a chain belt. Sticks or branches are kept out by the chains. "Cluster busters" break up clusters so that grapes can fall through the chain belt.

Other research has led to the widespread use of seedless grapes, which makes the eating easier.

This is the time of the year when grapes are very plentiful in the markets and prices are low.

Here are some recipes for grapes and grape

FRUITED CHICKEN BREASTS

1/4 teaspoon finely shredded orange peel
1/2 cup orange juice
1 tablespoon chopped onion
1 teaspoon instant chicken bouillon granules
3 whole medium chicken breasts
Paprika
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1/2 cup seedless green grapes, halved

In a skillet, combine orange peel, orange juice, onion and bouillon granules. Skin chicken breasts; halve lengthwise. Place chicken in skillet. Sprinkle with paprika and a little salt and pepper. Cover and simmer for 30 to 35 minutes or until chicken is tender. Measure pan juices; add water, if necessary, to make 3/4 cup liquid. Return to pan. Blend 1 tablespoon cold water into cornstarch; stir into reserved liquid. Cook and stir until bubbly. Add grapes; cook and stir 2 minutes more. Spoon some sauce over chicken; pass remainder. Makes 6 servings.

HALIBUT WITH GRAPES

4 fresh or frozen halibut steaks
1/2 cup dry white wine
5 teaspoons cornstarch
1 tablespoon sliced green onion
2 teaspoons instant chicken bouillon granules
1 cup seedless green grapes
1 tablespoon snipped parsley
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 teaspoon lemon juice

Thaw fish, if frozen. Place steaks in a greased skillet. Add water to cover. Bring to boiling; reduce heat. Cover and simmer 8 to 10 minutes or until fish flakes easily with a fork. Remove halibut to platter; keep warm. Meanwhile, in a small saucepan combine wine, cornstarch, and 3/4 cup cold water; stir in green onions and bouillon granules. Cook and stir until bubbly. Stir in grapes, parsley, butter and lemon juice; heat through. To serve, spoon sauce over fish. Garnish with parsley, if desired. Makes 4 servings.

CAULIFLOWER-GRAPE SALAD

1 small head cauliflower, separated into flowerets
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup seedless green grapes or Tokay grapes, halved and seeded
2 medium stalks celery, diced (1 cup)
2 tablespoons sliced green onions with tops
1 tablespoon snipped parsley
1 tablespoon sugar
2 tablespoons vegetable oil
1 tablespoon vinegar
1/2 teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
1/4 cup sliced almonds (optional)

Place steamer basket in 1/2 inch water in saucepan or skillet. Place cauliflower in basket. Cover tightly and heat to boiling; reduce heat. Steam until crisp-tender, about 6 minutes. Immediately rinse under cold water; drain. Place flowerets in a 2-quart bowl. Sprinkle with salt; stir. Add grapes and celery. Shake green onions, parsley, sugar, oil, vinegar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, and pepper in a tightly covered container. Pour over cauliflower, grapes and celery; toss until evenly coated. Cover and refrigerate, stirring occasionally. Just before serving, toss almonds with cauliflower mixture. Makes 6 servings.

By PERCY ROSS

DEAR MR. ROSS:

There is no one to turn to for this kind of help. I live with my landlord who is unemployed due to a handicap from a stroke. That's not the problem — the problem is our roof leaks. When it rains, we get water in the two bedrooms and sometimes in the kitchen. I tarred the roof where I thought it needed it, but it still leaks. We need a new roof because when it rains in Erie, it really rains. As I'm only able to work two days a week, my income is limited. I can get shingles on sale for $6 a bundle and I figure we'll need about 36 bundles. I've been able to save $100 towards it. I'm 59, in good health, so I could do the work myself. Could you help with the balance? — Mr. E.B., Erie, Pa.

DEAR MR. ROSS:

I came up here to Duluth from Houston with my boyfriend, who was raised here. I met him in Boston, where I'm originally from.

We were only in Houston for a brief stay and while there, lived with my daughter. Well, even though I had fallen in love with this guy, I'm thoroughly disillusioned because he's an alcoholic.

In a month's time he was in jail for two DWIs and for driving without a license. We fight over money all the time and I'm simply sad and disgusted. Since I can't find work here, I want to go back.

DEAR MR. ROSS:

Alright buster, this is the last time I'm writing you. If you don't answer this letter, I'm going to tell everyone I know that you're a figment of someone's imagination.

My son's family needs a TV. They've been living off welfare for the past three years and welfare just don't buy ya a TV. He's got four kids and they ain't growing up normal not having a TV.

When the kids come over to my apartment, they glue themselves to the set and the littlest one cries every time when they have to go home. My son's not really tolerant and usually whacks her a good one, and any of the others, if they get out of line. You just gotta get these kids a TV. Then we could all live more peacefully. — Mrs. D.M., San Francisco, Calif.

DEAR MRS. M.:

Sorry, but I don't share your opinion. If you feel television viewing is essential for a child's healthy upbringing . . . I suggest you donate your set.

DEAR MR. ROSS:

I need money, not advice. If I wanted advice, I would have written Ann or Abby. Send me $10,000 so I can buy the things that will make me happy. — K.M., Rockford, Ill.

DEAR MISS N.:

The best advice is only as good as the use you make of it. The same applies to money. In your case, I'm offering neither.

DEAR MR. ROSS:

Could you possibly send me the bus fare to return to Boston? I'm fed up with a drunk boyfriend and I'm sorry I ever came here. — S.H., Duluth, Minn.

Readers may write to Percy Ross, c/o The Progress-Advance, P.O. Box 35000, Minneapolis, Minn. 55435. Please include a telephone number.

DEAR MS. H.: To be frank . . . I hesitated in helping you, but decided to send the bus fare in order to get you out of a bad situation.

But before leaving Duluth, remind yourself that there's no guarantee in Boston or anywhere else. Good luck.

DEAR PERCY:

I need money, not advice. If I wanted advice, I would have written Ann or Abby. Send me $10,000 so I can buy the things that will make me happy. — K.M., Rockford, Ill.

DEAR MISS N.:

The best advice is only as good as the use you make of it. The same applies to money. In your case, I'm offering neither.

GOD'S LOVE HAS IGNITED THE FLAMING BRILLIANCE OF AUTUMN

The Pleiades adorn the night
When chilling winds prevail, and soon
Bring frost descending from the height,
Beneath the golden harvest moon.
The leaves will turn from green to gold,
With some arrayed in blazing red;
A sign the year is growing old,
For soon the trees begin to shed.
They strip the branches dark and bare,
And lay a carpet on the ground;
Then pungent smoke will fill the air
From bonfires burning all around.
Your House of Worship teaches you
God's wondrous love is always here;
It paints the scene a brilliant hue,
This flaming autumn time of year.

— Gloria Nowak

Some of us call it
Autumn, and others
call it God.
— William H. Carruth

"The Lord... reserveth unto us the appointed weeks of harvest."
— Jeremiah 5:24

WOODS and WATERS

By Duane Guenther

Early teal

The water in Saginaw Bay was at an all-time low in the early 60's. At that time, most people could not be convinced that it was just a cycle and the water would eventually return. They panicked and bailed out. Homes and cottages along the eastern shore were put up for sale in record numbers, and waterfowl hunters looked for other ways to spend their idle hours during the fall.

About the same time, the DNR decided to listen to some hunters' clamor and open certain parts of Michigan to an early teal season. It seems most of the Blue-Wing, Green-Wing and Cinnamon Teal using the Mississippi Flyway would pass through our state before the waterfowl season opened, thereby denying a chance at this sporty bird.

But that year was different; that year there would be an early teal season in September. I pulled my duck boat upon the bank and surveyed the situation. It was worse than I thought. Behind me stretched the cut that connected our hunting shack with the Bay. In it the water was a comfortable 3 to 4 feet deep and I had just motored the sleek, 14-foot hunting craft down its length. Before me lay a 200-yard band of mud, the former bottom of Saginaw Bay, now exposed to the naked eye. Beyond the mud flat lay the waters of the Bay. Cool, blue and inviting, they seemed to beckon me into attempting to pull the boat over the wide expanse of mud to reach the water.

But, I knew better. I would be mired before I went 10 yards, and if I didn't get swallowed up by some sink hole, I would die of a heart attack tugging on the 150-pound duck boat. I scratched my head in wonderment. How was I going to duck hunt this year?

My normal method of duck boat and wrap-around blind was out of the question unless I wanted to trailer my boat around to the river. So, I would have to improvise, at least for the teal season, for that's when the fast flying birds would be thick in the pothole area of the mud flats. I finally decided on a stack blind located about a hundred yards from the end of our cut. My plans were to build a one-man blind just above the mud and water, and each morning I would ferry my decoys and hunting gear to the end of the cut, via the duck boat, and then lug them to the blind for the morning's hunt, an endeavor that turned out to be much easier conceived than carried out.

The next morning I moved a pile of posts, 2x4's, and other assorted lumber to the blind site by loading them on an old toboggan sleigh and skidding them across the black ooze. Pulling the sleigh was no problem, but pulling my feet out of the sticky mud after each step proved to be a task I disliked immediately.

Within a short time the blind was erected and covered by a skin of farm fencing, interwoven with willow shoots. The result was an excellent shooting platform that blended with the surrounding willow bank, overlooking the only sizable pothole within 500 to 600 yards. It looked perfect.

Two weeks later, the season opener found me huddled in my newly-built blind with a couple dozen Black Duck decoys bobbing in the pothole. I would have liked to set out some teal decoys, but I didn't have any, and was not about to build a set for the 10-day season that lay ahead. Besides, the Black Ducks would decoy anything flying back into the marsh, even teal. I hunched down and waited.

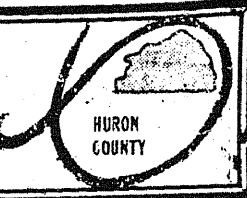

The day dawned with a brilliant blue sky and a sun beating down unmercifully. It wasn't long before I had shed my hunting coat and hat, and was sitting on the bench with my shirtsleeves rolled over my elbows.

"What a way to duck hunt!" I thought to myself.

Just then a flock of ducks appeared on the horizon over the bank of cattails to the left of the blind. They bore toward the decoys like a squadron of Air Force fighters on a strafing run, and without a moment's hesitation, buzzed the pothole and continued on a straight line for Lone Tree Island.

The next flock did exactly the same thing, except I punched the air around them with 3 loads from my pump as they passed within range. I missed the next flock, and the next, and the next. If I remember correctly, I didn't even get a duck that morning, but I sure gained a lot of respect for those early teal....

Record funds raised at BYC Auction

By RICH SWARTZENDRUBER

In the seven years of its existence, the Bluewater Youth for Christ benefit auction has experienced tremendous growth. The event, which was conducted during Labor Day weekend, netted the biggest amount in its history, with a total of $16,000, up $2,000 over last year's figure, according to BYC Executive Director Dwight Gascho. He credits bigger crowds and a larger quantity of high quality items on the sale with the increase in money raised.

Over 858 items were auctioned to the more than 300 registered buyers. The most popular items at the sale were the handcrafted creations, Gascho says. A quilt stitched by the late Rachel Gunden sold for $350, while a wooden playhouse and storage barn brought $775 and $700, respectively.

Contributing to the total

"Despite the economic climate, especially among farmers, people considered what the money was going for and really bid generously."

amount raised by the event was $2,000 from the bake sale, billed as Huron County's biggest: $700 from crafts and $1,200 from the sale of sausage sandwiches and bean soup to the hungry crowd.

The auction promised something for the whole family, and children weren't disappointed. In addition to the well-used playground equipment at the Pigeon Recreational Park location, children were also given rides on a horse owned by Cheryl Faust of Pigeon and were able to have their faces painted by several clowns.

"We want the auction to be more than just a fundraiser. We want it to be a community event," says Gascho about the new activities added each year. He also expressed gratitude to the many people who donated merchandise and especially those who volunteered time to help prepare for and conduct the auction. Over 100 volunteers contributed a significant amount of work to the event, he adds.

"People had a good spirit of generosity at the sale," says Gascho. "Despite the economic climate, especially among farmers, people considered what the money was going for and really bid generously."

Funds generated by the auction are used in the BYFC ministry with teenagers on local high school campuses.

PUTTIN' ON A PRETTY FACE: A new activity for kids at the auction turned out to be popular with all ages. Here, clown Beth Bouverette paints Courtney Binder, age four.

SOUND-OFF !!

Phone 453-2323

I called in once before, about Kilmanagh Road not being paved and that no response was given. So I'll call again and ask, is Kilmanagh Road going to be paved or will they just leave a nice road like that go to waste? I'd like to have some information on this. They built it up but then didn't follow through on their plans.

Sometimes, the best man for a job is a woman. It's good to see Pigeon government in capable hands again.

G. Fl., it's real cool the way you can race up and down the streets.

Happy belated birthday to B.M.

Don't put SOUND-OFF and the farm prices on the same page. Farmers aren't going to be able to pay their taxes and are losing their farms, so wake up, electors, and see how much your taxes will go up with the school millage. The School Board should have saved the $120,000 they spent foolishly. Personnel wants all insurances paid. We have to pay our Blue Cross and we pay our dentist, too. Wake up!

Boys who leave their beer bottles around after late-night fun should realize fingerprints can be taken, and your home might be visited soon. Take your bottles back to the store and get your dimes. Don't leave them around!

Print the school millage election on the front page, so we all get a shot at it next time.

Hello there, Bob...

HOW YOUR BODY WORKS:

We all know that "communication" is the main key in a good relationship and family life, in good employer-employee relationships, and virtually in all situations where cooperation is essential. With over 40 billion working parts in the human body we cannot overestimate the need for good communication between all the cells, tissues, and organs.

Your body is designed with its own Master Communication System called the Nervous System. This system comes complete with the brain, spinal cord and all the nerves that travel throughout the body. This system is so vital that the brain and spinal cord are completely encased in bone—the skull and the spinal bones (vertebrae) respectively. All normal functioning takes place in the body because the nerve network is an open communication channel transmitting "job orders" from the brain to various parts of the body. If all the nerve networks are free and clear of interference, communication between different parts of the body will be good, and the body will be healthy with all parts working in cooperation.

Green Machine grinds out victory over USA

By RICH SWARTZENDRUBER
The Laker High football extended its winning streak to 11 games over Unionville-Sebewaing last Friday night with a narrow 14-0 victory.

Numerous scoring opportunities fell by the wayside in the first half as three unsuccessful field goals and a pass interception in the end zone resulted in a scoreless deadlock at halftime.

Early in the second quarter the Green Machine was marching toward the USA goal line when Laker quarterback Jay Anthes attempted a touchdown pass. The pigskin, however, slipped through the hands of Laker fullback Ken Ziel and was then grabbed by a Patriot defender before it hit the ground.

Ziel proved his ability to catch the ball later in the game by intercepting USA quarterback Tom Williamson on two separate occasions. Jeff Sturm also intercepted a Patriot pass and Kevin Wissner pounced on a USA fumble as the Laker squad took advantage of four turnovers by the hosts.

On the second Laker possession of the second half, Tom Beer romped into the end zone to cap a 52-yard scoring drive. Randy Heckman's PAT kick was perfect and the visiting Lakers led 7-0 with 1:36 remaining in the third quarter. The Patriots threatened to follow suit with a touchdown on the following drive, but the Sturm interception stalled USA on the Laker 11 after a 47-yard drive.

The final Green Machine touchdown was set up in the final quarter when Jim Warren blocked a USA punt and Laker's Tom Beer took possession five yards from paydirt. Three plays later, Ziel plunged one yard into the end zone. Heckman again booted the PAT for the final point of the game.

USA was forced to rely on their exceptional speed and gamble on defense against the bigger, heavier Laker linemen. The home team held the Green Machine to 135 yards in total offense. Ziel carried the ball 15 times for 60 yards, while fellow running back Tom Beer recorded 32 yards in 12 carries.

Jay Anthes completed five of 12 Laker pass attempts for 24 yards and had one interception.

Patriot quarterback was intercepted three times but completed five passes for 51 yards, even though he was playing with an injured throwing hand. Running back Gary Sy ran for 52 yards in 19 carries and nearly broke away for a touchdown on one occasion.

Laker Coach Bill McLellan said he was happy with his team's defensive performance, and will need some work on the offense in practice this week. He added his players were disappointed they didn't move the ball better on offense during the game, after experiencing success in that area in pre-season scrimmages.

The Laker mentor credited the Patriot defense with an outstanding performance, however, and predicted they will achieve a fine record if they can quickly shake off the loss to his squad.

NEXT WEEK: Lakers begin Thumb B play by hosting Imlay City this Friday.

JVs WIN: The Laker junior varsity squad also kicked the season off with a 21-0 shutout against USA.

Lakers took a 6-0 lead with a 10-yard TD run by Shawn Parrish.

The second Laker score was recorded on a 26-yard pass from Billy McLellan to Kevin Wolfram in the third quarter. McLellan then passed to Jamie Randall for the two-point conversion.

In the final stanza, Parrish broke away on an 80-yard touchdown run, then kicked the PAT for the final Laker points of the evening.

Parrish was the leading groundgainer with 156 yards in 14 carries. McLellan completed seven of 16 passes for 76 yards. Wolfram hauled in six of those passes for 73 yards.

The JV defense was led by Ed Bach with 10 tackles and Parrish tripped up USA ball carriers on seven occasions.

Sturm adds scoring punch in twin Laker wins

By RICH SWARTZENDRUBER
Seeing his team win the first two games of the season while most of his players performed far below their capabilities has provided a good news-bad news situation for Laker girls basketball coach Paul Beachy.

The bad news is his team's poor defensive play and problems with turnovers on offense. On the other hand, Beachy is encouraged by Laker's ability to win twice while playing far below their ability.

Last Thursday, the Laker Ladies traveled to Valley Lutheran and outpointed their hosts, 57-50. The visiting Lakers took control in the third quarter after the score was knotted, 25-25 at halftime.

Laker senior center Julia Sturm shouldered the greatest part of the scoring responsibilities with 24 points and also pulled down 15 rebounds. Vicki Winter netted 14 points and Carleen Kauffman added a dozen to the victory.

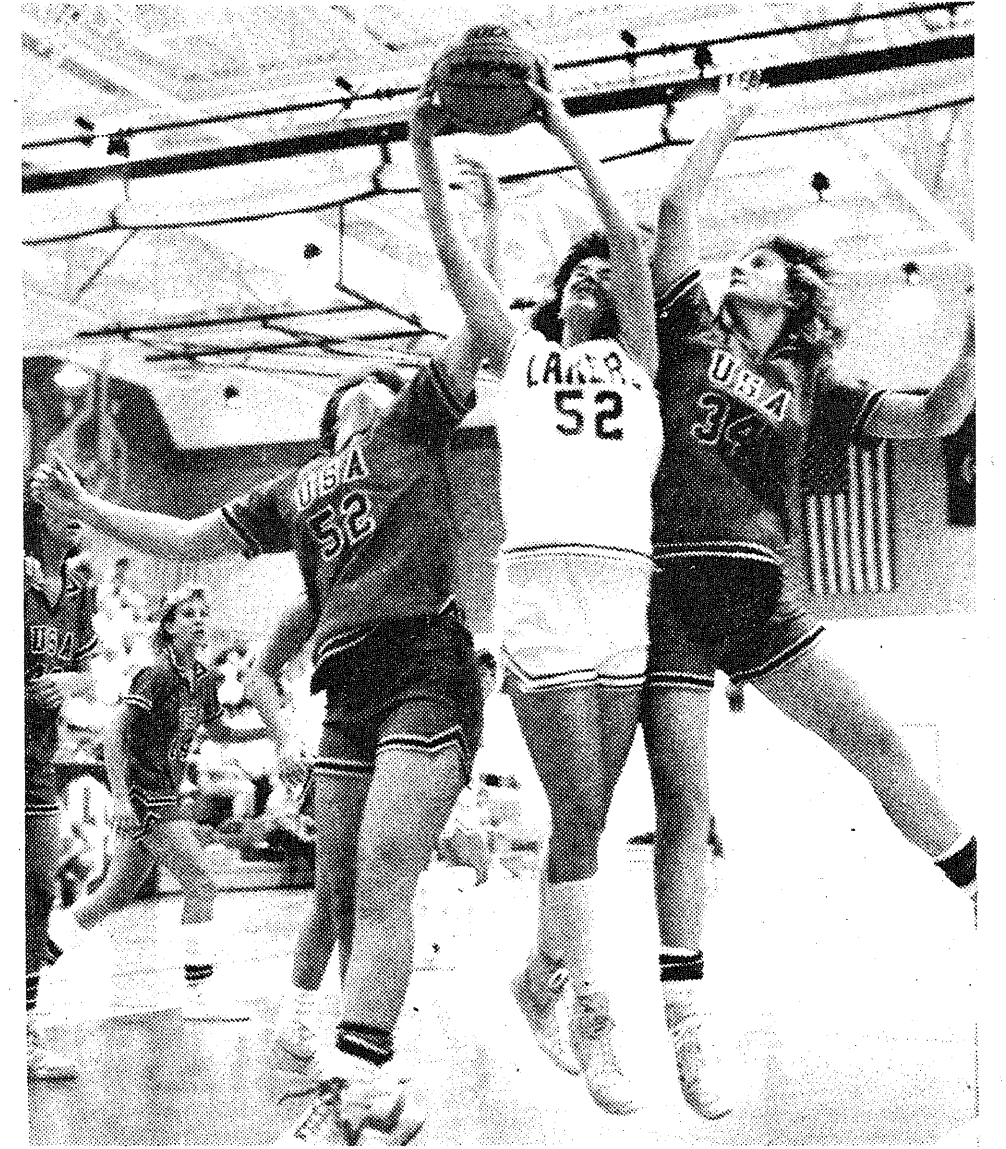

Beachy says his team needs to improve in two key areas but adds, "If our press and defense come together, we're going to be playing pretty good ball."

OPENING WIN: Laker's season opener at USA was recorded in the win column by a narrow 49-48 margin but "it wasn't very beautiful," according to Coach Beachy.

Sturm picked up where she left off at the end of last season by scoring 26 points and hauling down 14 rebounds to dominate the game before she fouled out three minutes before the final buzzer.

Fouls and turnovers plagued the Laker team in the rag-tag contest. In addition to Sturm, forward Bethanne Beachy and guards Kauffman and Jenny Bollenbacher were all benched with five fouls. Winter also sat out much of the first half with three quick fouls.

The see-saw contest was determined by a battle between the front lines of the two teams. Kathy Andrakowicz, a 6'1" transfer student from Marlette, paced Patriot scoring with 13 points while Kristi Rieman chipped in 10.

THIS WEEK: Lakers will host Imlay City in their Thumb B opener on Thursday, Sept. 11.

JVs BOW: Last Thursday, the Laker junior varsity dropped a 47-44 decision to Valley Lutheran. Kim Dubs and Connie Schulz led a balanced scoring Laker attack with eight points each. Traci Beer rebounded the boards with 10 rebounds.

Mary Kay Smith hit 11 points and Tracie Henne added 10, but the junior Lakers still came up on the short end of a 40-36 decision to USA last Tuesday.

Coach Gordie Murphy

says his team led nearly the entire game, but was overtaken by an aggressive Patriot press.

Qwik Stop earns fourth in state softball tourney

In the state Class E fastpitch tournament finals in Adrian, Village Qwik Stop placed fourth in the double-elimination event.

The regional champs were shut out, 5-0, in their opening tournament game with the Adrian Merchants. The Qwik Stop squad battled back in the losers bracket with a 4-0 victory over L&J Merchants and a 3-2 win against Gancarz Auto Parts in a nine-inning game.

Qwik Stop was then paired again with Adrian Businessmen and were eliminated, 12-4, while the Businessmen went on to eventually win the state title.

SHOOTING STAR: Top Laker scorer Julia Sturm eyes the hoop as she is guarded by Patriot defender Gayle Schafer.

Eagle miscues steal victory

By RICH SWARTZENDRUBER
Statistics can sometimes be deceiving and the summary of the football game between Caseville and North Branch Wesleyan was a classic case.

Eagle running back Bruce Langly rushed for twice as much yardage as amassed by the entire Wesleyan team, but Caseville trailed in the most important statistic at the final gun. The scoreboard read Caseville-6, Visitors-7.

Early in the game the Eagles seemed to be on the verge of putting a respectable number of points on the board. Their second drive near the end of the opening quarter resulted in a touchdown when Langly rambled 29 yards for the on-ly Eagle 6-pointer of the game. In what proved to be the difference in the game, the PAT run attempt was stopped short.

The Caseville offense did what the Wesleyan defense could not — prevent more touchdowns. Six turnovers not only stopped Eagle drives during the remainder of the contest, they also set up the only touchdown for the visitors. Caseville gave up three fumbles, an interception and a pair of blocked punts in the game. One of the fumbles occurred at the Wesleyan five-yard line as the Eagles were closing in for the go-ahead touchdown.

Half of Caseville's four punts were blocked, and one of the miscues gave Wesleyan the ball on the Caseville 15-yard line. Three plays later, Art Caldwell scored on a five-yard run. He then kicked the winning PAT with 1:41 remaining before halftime.

Langley were still stopped short of the goal line.

THIS WEEK: Caseville will attempt to record its first gird victory of the year this Saturday when they host North Huron in the North Central Thumb League opener.

"I felt the whole game we were going to score again but it just didn't happen," said a disappointed Coach Winkler after the game.

He said he was happy with the defensive play by his squad which held Wesleyan to just 109 total yards. The Eagles, on the other hand, piled up 256 total yards, with all but six yards accounted for by the ground attack.

Langley gained 212 yards on 24 carries to lead the Eagles, and also bolstered the defense with 11 tackles, including three solo stops. Quarterback Matt Kraus completed one of three passes for four yards and had one interception.

Wesleyan was led by Art Caldwell with 87 yards in 15 carries.

Winkler noted his team started many drives deep in their own territory so frequent breakaway runs by

Thanks to Gordon & Shirley for all their help and support and to the ladies who served, those who made salad or dessert for the lunch. Thanks to Elmer and Scott for all their help. A special thank you to all the long term staff (very special people) and Doctors of Scheurer Hospital for all the tender, loving care they gave Dad all the years of his stay in Long Term.
