Laker funding choices discussed by EPBP Board

By RICH SWARTZENDRUBER

The hottest discussion topic in the Laker School District dominated Monday's Elkin - Pigeon - Bay Port School Board meeting. The importance of the proposed 10-mill increase to the Laker district was stressed during the meeting and the reasoning for settling on that amount was explained by Laker teachers.

SHRINKING BALANCE: Business Manager Bob Drury reported an operating millage of 37.75 (assuming passage of the 10-mill increase) would create a fund balance of $344,500 in the 1987-88 year. That in turn would boost the cumulative fund balance to $463,300.

The following year, however, expenditures would exceed revenues by $375,500, dropping the fund balance to $94,800 (assuming a further 10% reduction in State Equalized Valuation, as is now predicted).

Drury also translated the savings realized by deferring various programs by the number of mills saved. The breakdown in the 1987-88 year, would be as follows:
- Basic state mandated programs: $2.1 mills
- Step bus transportation: 2.2 mills
- Food extracurricular activities: 0.3 mills
- Close all elementary centers: 1.6 mills
- Close six-student small classes (up to five): 1.5 mills
- In the 1988-89 year the savings in terms of mills could be:
  - Basic state mandated programs: 2.6 mills
  - Bus transportation: 1.5 mills
  - Extra curricular activities: 0.6 mills
  - Elementary centers: 2.2 mills
  - Six-hour day: 1.9 mills

CLOSED SCHOOLS: Superintendent Harry Brunet also pointed out elementary centers which would be closed now could not be reopened again without moving current building codes. That would be cost prohibitive in most cases, he said.

APATHY: "It's just voter apathy in general that's our problem," said Brunet. He pointed out more than 80% of Laker parents of school-age children did not vote in the last school election.

Caseville gets 239 airport fees' signatures

There's at least one kraft in favor of a Caseville airport - and at least one kraft opposed to the concept.

Caseville resident Arliss Kraft presented a petition signed by 239 persons in the Caseville Village Council Monday night urging Council to withhold support for the proposed $1 million general aviation airport favored by Lowell Kraft, a cousin.

Arllis Kraft told Council the project had not been a village priority in the past and shouldn't take village time and energy now, especially since major water system improvements, harbor projects and a proposed sewer system are dominating village attention and money.

"To add a project such as the airport could put additional financial strain on residents of this village," this was Kraft's argument.

"Our village is just now starting to grow," Arllis Kraft said. "Let's spend our money where it's needed. Let's put it into streets, into sidewalks. We have not had the village presented to the people coming into town as being progressive or modern." Kraft said similar disagreements and problems could result on the village as had occurred in the township, following the airport's beginnings in 1940. A recall of officials and progressives against Roads, neighbors and families two years ago.

A new township board tried to withdraw its airport applications last year, and airport backers - led by Lowell Kraft - sued the township, which eventually allowed the existing planning structure to be turned over to another governmental body.

Caseville Village backed the airport plan Jan. 16, allowing supporters to continue seeking nearly $1 million in federal funds to pay for construction, in an area near Sand Point bound by M-38, Crescent Beach, Caseville and Dunn Roads.

Council received Arllis Kraft's petition and made no direct comment.

WATER BILLS: A major new water rate ordinance was adopted, with first billings going out April 1 and payable July 1.

Residential rates rose more than 10%, from the former 18¢ per quarter to 32¢ per quarter for residential users, plus $2.25 per 1000 gallons.

Commercial customers will pay 80¢ per quarter, and $3.25 per 1000 gallons, to help fund the ongoing water system improvement project.

LAND VALUES STARTING TO CLIMB

Though Huntingdon County has lost more than 10,000 acres since 1970, land prices are rising.

The typical old farm is selling for a little more than $1,000 per acre, with an average of $1,500 to $2,000 per acre for the newest, with a yearly increase of $100 to $150 per acre. The most active buying has been in the farmland area near Huntingdon.

A FEW WORDS OF ADVICE: A change of address is after the last hearing for the purposes of the Elkton Ambulance Committee. If you have any questions, contact the Elkton Ambulance Committee at 632-3520.

Four thoughts to grow on...

When someone asks me what I think of the newest laptop or tablet computer on the market, my first reaction is to say, “I don’t care.”

But recently, I’ve been reconsidering my stance. After all, technology is a significant part of our daily lives, and keeping up with the latest trends can be both educational and fun. So, here are four thoughts to consider when thinking about the future of technology.

First, let’s talk about sustainability. Technology companies are increasingly focusing on environmentally friendly practices, such as using renewable materials and designing products that are easier to recycle. This is not just good for the planet, but it also makes sense from a business perspective. Consumers are becoming more environmentally conscious, and companies that prioritize sustainability are likely to attract more customers.

Second, let’s consider the impact of technology on society. How do we balance the benefits of technology with the potential risks? For example, social media has revolutionized the way we communicate, but it also has drawbacks, such as the spread of misinformation and the negative effects on mental health.

Third, let’s think about the role of technology in education. How can we use technology to make learning more engaging and accessible? Online courses and virtual reality experiences are just two examples of how technology is transforming the way we learn.

Finally, let’s consider the impact of technology on the workforce. Automation and artificial intelligence are changing the job market, and it’s important for us to prepare for these changes. This may mean learning new skills or adapting to changes in the job market.

In conclusion, technology is a powerful force that will continue to shape our world. By considering these four thoughts, we can better understand the potential impacts of technology and work towards a future that is both innovative and sustainable.
Coping without drugs:
help students say “no”

bleed students say “no”

Dear teacher, "Say no to drugs..." is a program that will help us

Milwaukee Public Schools

On April 6, you will be making a choice that will affect your child’s future – and possibly your own, too.

Through no fault of yours – or mine – or the people who run the Lake Schools, the district will have $700,000 fewer dollars with which to run all school programs next year. That’s one-NINTH of the $3.9 million overall school budget.

That’s a 20% drop in operating funds. How would you make up a 20% drop in your income? The first thing we’d all do is cut back our expenditures – and the district has.

For example, do you remember reading last year that the entire hearing systems in school buildings have been changed, to cut operating costs? Also, some school buses haven’t been purchased for the last two years, to reduce spending.

Unfortunately, 30 classrooms which were offered when I went to school in junior high and high school are no longer offered in Elkhorn – Penguin Bay Port Schools. They even tell me the U of M may take away our accreditation because of our reduced class offerings.

That bothers me.

It means our children won’t have the same competitive edge when they go to college and out into the world.

I want more than that. I at least want my kids to get as much as any other average student in Michigan.

My parents provided a well-balanced, complete education for me. And, especially now that I have children of my own, I appreciate it.

Don’t I owe that to my children now, to give them as good an education as I got – and to get as good an education as any average student in Michigan? I certainly think.

How does a school district save $700,000? The first thing most people think about cutting is bus transportation, because transportation doesn’t affect education directly. That would reduce the Lake budget by $350,000.

Then they say, since all three elementary schools, in Bay Port, Penguin and Elkhorn, all the children could attend split-day classes at the junior high center – saving $250,000.

For years my daughter has been looking forward to participating in sports during school and being active in FHA and other extracurricular activities including summer band and driver’s education. If they cut all these “extras,” the savings will be $65,000.

Reducing my student’s class day from six to five hours of instruction saves $230,000 – that means EIGHT FRIEDER classes that my child could take in high school. Things like typing, health careers, advanced art and others that are essential, I think.

And - funny isn’t it – just last year the paper was filled with stories about how six classes in a school day wasn’t enough for all the education a young person needs today.

How would a five-hour day save $230,000? When we talk about dollars that, translates into people. Those cuts will lay off more than 15 people - teachers, bus drivers, janitors, teacher’s aides, secretaries. I know my husband will feel the effects of that in his retirement, with fewer people around to buy the items he sells.

A school is a PEOPLE – and a GOOD school needs GOOD PEOPLE. If you think about it, WE are the school. We determine how good our school is, and I believe we’ve had a very, very good record here in the Lake District. Six of every ten graduating seniors went on to college last year, for example.

Sure, excellence has its price. But the additional dollars I’m going to give the school are an INVESTMENT in our children’s future – and possibly in my husband’s job, too. At least THIS tax money stays right here in our local area.

Our real story is our income is up $50,000 if I can sell it today. If the upcoming mileage passes, our taxes will increase by $350 a year, from the present $450 to about $700 a year.

That’s $40.80 a week than I’ve been paying – about 89 cents more per day. I believe our schools are worth that much additionally... and so much more.

And believe it or not, our school taxes are STILL going to be less than those of residents with the same house almost anywhere else in the state.

Well, I’ve spoken my mind about school support. I believe in it and want to continue it. What are your thoughts and comments? Please write me in care of School Ideas, in care of P.O. Box 145, Elkhorn, 53121. Let me know your questions or comments.

I’ll be back soon with more thoughts and to share some of your ideas. I’m going to the informational meeting next Monday, March 18 at 7:30 p.m. in the High School, to learn more about what I can do to help save OUR schools. I hope you can attend, too.

Thank you for your time. I’ve appreciated it.

The Foods Of Michigan By Linda Hughes

March 17 is the day that honors St. Patrick, who converted Ireland to Christianity during the 5th century. It is a legal holiday in Ireland and is celebrated by Irish— and others — around the world. For the early part of its long history, people from various areas were coming to Ireland. The Dahlia, the most well-known flower, marks the anniversary of the day. And the Irish Republic held the island. From territorial days to the present, the Irish have come to Michigan. Even if you don’t have a family to be Irish, you can celebrate St. Patrick’s Day by wearing green, sporting shamrocks and eating Irish food.

Here are some recipes:

TEA SCONES

Two cups all-purpose flour
One tablespoon baking powder
One cup milk, scalded

Sift the flour, baking powder and salt into a large bowl. Add the sugar and blend in with a pastry blender. Stir in the milk with a fork to make a soft dough. Roll out into a 1 1/2-inch circle. Make 2-inch rounds. Cut out with a 2-inch round cookie cutter.

CREAMED HAMDOCK

One pound ham, cooked and sliced
Two tablespoons brown sugar
Two tablespoons flour

Chop the ham into small pieces. Add the brown sugar and flour to the ham. Heat and stir until melted. Add milk. Heat until the sauce is thick and bubbly. Serve hot.

BOSTON BREAD

One cup brown sugar
One cup flour
One cup milk
One teaspoon baking powder
One teaspoon salt

Mix all ingredients together. Bake in a 9 x 13-inch baking dish at 350 degrees for 30 minutes.

Serve hot.

DEMAR: MR. JOSE, we regaled from a tropical country where we jotted the Cook Islands, each island known as a Cook, and the island of Guam for a good reason. However, I am unable to fish over here because of the cost for a rod and reel. I’d be thankful if you could provide a rod and reel for me to fish and every other for my team. When we return home, we’ll share our stories.

PERCY ROBB: I am a real fisherman. My friends call me a ‘fisher king.’ I have the best fishing equipment in the world. You can trust me to provide the best fishing gear.

DEMAR: MR. ROBB, you’re a real fisherman. I want to try fishing. I want to be able to catch fish for my family. My friends say I’ll never catch anything, but I want to try. I want to be a better person and make a living doing something I love. I promise to take care of the fishing equipment and keep it in good condition.

PERCY ROBB: I love fishing, and I know you can catch a lot of fish. You have the skills and the equipment. Fish are not easy to catch, and it takes a lot of patience and practice.

DEMAR: MR. ROBB, you really know what you’re talking about. If you think you can teach me, I’d love to learn. I promise to practice every day and become a better fisherman.

PERCY ROBB: I’ll teach you how to fish. We’ll go out to the ocean, and I’ll show you how to cast, how to handle the line, and how to read the water. You’ll learn how to read the water, which is the most important part of fishing. You’ll learn how to catch fish, and you’ll enjoy every moment of it.

DEMAR: MR. ROBB, I thank you for teaching me. I promise to practice every day and become a better fisherman. I’ll do anything to learn how to fish. I appreciate your help. Thank you.

P.S. I’ve seen a book which details and explains the secrets of fishing. It’s a good book, and I’d like to read it. I promise to read it and learn as much as I can.

DEMAR: MR. ROBB, you’re a real fisherman. I hope to become a real fisherman. I’m thankful for your help.

Dear Reader,

If you’re like most people, you’re always looking for ways to improve your fishing skills. You want to catch more fish, but you’re not sure how to do it. Well, I’ve found the solution. I’ve read a book which details and explains the secrets of fishing. It’s a good book, and I’d like to read it. I promise to read it and learn as much as I can.

You’re reading this book because you’re a fisherman, and you want to become a better fisherman. You want to catch more fish, and you want to enjoy every moment of it. This book will teach you how to do it.

So, I implore you to read this book and learn as much as you can. It will make you a better fisherman, and it will make your fishing experience more enjoyable. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Eagles scare Port Hope with sharpshooting

By RICH SWARTZWENDER

Crawford basketball coach Randy Buckinghath liked the performance of his team against Port Hope. "They played well, they played hard, and they played smart," he said. "It was a good win for us.

"We held them to below their season average in points, and we out-rebounded them by 15." The Blue Streaks fell to 4-7 overall and 1-1 in the OCEAA final.

"I think we played well defensively," Buckinghath said. "We held them to 34 points, which is below their season average.

"We also played well offensively," he added. "We scored 50 points, which is above our season average.

"Overall, I'm happy with the performance of the team.

OUR FAITH TELLS US TO LEARN THE MEANING OF THE GREEN

In March, the number seventeen
Means old and young and in between
Without a single frizzle gene.
Now only one was the dawn
Of those who lived a life so clean.
That even though the times were lean,
He made all worshippers convenient.
For us, this should become routine,
So learning something unseen
With which God’s love would intervene,
Just clinching the old machine.
And at your House of Worship,
How the truth of what we really mean
By all the seasons of the green.
