Laker vote isn't the end...

Last Monday's defeat of the 10-mill operating request in the Laker School District, in my opinion, is the end of the school district as we know it today. On the other hand, supporters feel frustrated that the school district failed to win another term as they see it as the beginning of a new era. They want to make sure that other proposals will be welcomed, but some people do not want to lose the local control.

Lakers have been circulating about more costs reducing hours, closing some elementary schools, laying off teachers, cutting busing - but there are some decisions that have been made. Assurances, however, have been given that the school district will continue to have a lot of money from the state and federal government.

But as stated previously in this issue, it's off to FLA - a lousy month for local voters to review. However, school officials didn't have much choice. The fact that the Laker school board had reduced millage requests four times in the past seven years, and for this year, but that course of action had not included accumulation of the city's fund balance. We understand - and applaud - that decision. Having $11 million more or less would have likely have resulted in spirited competition by several groups to acquire those monies.

Instead, the Laker School board sought the amount of millage and some big-spending plans. The problem with that approach is that major trouble designates some millages AND - passed - where today we sit. The Laker School District has taken some initial steps toward elimination of the school board and the board will be eliminated effective immediately. However, the district will continue to deal with the same things as it has been doing for years. That's where we are today.

The Laker School District has some initial plans for the upcoming school year, such as the elementary school play and the middle school play. The district will continue to work on the school board's educational reforms, but that is not the district's only concern. The district will also have to address the issue of the district's financial situation.

Rumors are circulating about more cuts - reducing hours, closing some elementary schools, laying off teachers, cutting busing - but there are some decisions that have been made. Assurances, however, have been given that the school district will continue to have a lot of money from the state and federal government.

We're Asking YOU...

This WEEK'S QUESTION, ASKED BY JACKIE PECK
What's your favorite outdoor activity during the spring and why?

PRESCCHOOL STORY "How will be be the House of April 21 St. Patrick's Day. The Easter chick is starting to learn his ABC's with Ms. Jackie's help. The weather is warming up and it's time to get outside and enjoy the outdoors. The children will be learning about the life cycle of the chick and how to care for it. There will be a special story time with the chicks and a sing along with Ms. Jackie. Ms. Jackie will also be making some Easter crafts with the children. It's a great opportunity for the children to learn about the importance of caring for pets and the environment."

OUTDOOR BASKETBALL Because I love the outdoors and playing sports, I love playing basketball outside. It's great to get some exercise and have fun with friends.

After finishing the perfect 16-0 in league play and overall last season, the Lakers want to try to be another outstanding team. Last year the Green and White sent a player to the state tournament, and this year three doubles teams are back along with Ken Jefsen and Kendall Werts, who returns after leading the regional finals in third singles. Dave Bowen is also back after losing in the regional finals of first doubles while the boys advanced to the sectional finals before losing in second doubles.

In running events, Lakers will depend on distance runners Scott Fiehler, Shively and Werner, along with hurdlers Keeschman and sprinters. Due to the inconsistency of weather and the possibility of the game being delayed, the Lakers have a chance to be at the top of the record last year’s 4-6 record.
LAKERS

Softball

Coaches: Jack Tyler and Tim Blankenship. "The Lakers will work together to help the Lakers softball team pick up where it left off at the end of last season.

After a disappointing 1-11 league record, Lakers earned a spot in the district title game before losing 17-1. They finished the season 13-15 overall.

Returning letter winners include pitchers Rhonda Baur and Letha Brown, along with Bethanne Baus, Cathy Wurst, Vicki Winter, Denise Denny and Tammy Powers. The centerfielder must be filled with the graduation of Penny Haag from last year's squad.

Strong pitching by Baur and Wurst and Baus behind the plate provides a strong battery for Lakers. Bench depth is a strong point for the squad this year with most having played two years or more. The coaches say.

Eagles

Coming off a season with only one victory, the Caseville softball team looks to a senior trio to lead them in the direction of improvement.

The Lady Eagles posted a 1-15 league record and were 4-15 overall. Returning senior lettwee winners Erin Hand, Danielle Perlman, and Yvonne Miller provide a wealth of experience along with returning juniors Julia Kny launch and Amanda Welsh.

Sophomore Krista Coghill and Tara Rombach also earned honors on the diamond for the Lady Eagles.

Once again Caseville will only suit up a handful of track members, but four of those athletes are leters in the sport this year.

Bruce Langley, Clint Cuttick, Mike Mote and Mark Motz are all back on the team again this year.

standing individual to watch this season. Last year's graduation from last year's squad are Greg Langley, who qualified for state in the 100m dash, and Beckett who set a league record in the 4x100m relay.

Although few in numbers, the team under Coach Robert Reed, looks to repeat the success of last year.

"Our goal is to place in all our meets, do the best we can and let the league know Caseville was there. We may not have the numbers to win the meet, but we can let them know we exist," Reed says.

Thanks A Million

Dear Mr. Brown:

My children recently spent their summer vacation in your beautiful city. They came home with glowing reports about the wonderful experiences they had. They especially enjoyed visiting the famous attractions and trying the delicious local cuisine. I am writing to express my gratitude for the opportunity they had to create such happy memories.

Sincerely,

Woods and Waters

By Peter Cooney

Modern-day Michigan prides itself on a diverse and resilient portfolio of natural resources, ranging from rich forests and prairies to fragile wetlands and aquatic ecosystems. This diverse landscape supports a wide array of wildlife, from majestic white-tailed deer and pronghorn antelope to the elusive and elusive hog-nosed skunk.

How I Can Contribute to America's Future

By BIANCA RATTI

Carnegie High School

I believe that everyone has the opportunity to contribute something to America's future. However, if you are just sitting on the sidelines, it will not be worth your time. If you do not participate, it will be all for naught. You must have the determination to make matters better.

When I grow up, I want to be a successful leader in America. I want to be someone who will make a difference in America's future. I want to be someone who will be remembered for the good things I have done.

I have made a personal commitment to make the world a better place. I have dedicated myself to being a positive force in America's future.

I will continue to work towards my goals and dreams. I will never give up, no matter what the odds may be. I will always strive to be the best that I can be.

I can make a difference in America's future.

Caseville’s history starts with the Crawford Family
By MARK RUMMEL
Farms are perpetual celebrations. The birth of a child, the harvest, a birthday, and all is joyous. To those who love life, the only fun is in the celebration.

By the time of the Civil War, the Crawford family was already in the thick of things in Caseville. Another grandson, who lived on the farm, was famous for his ability to catch fish. He was known as the “Fish Doctor” and was able to catch more fish than anyone else in the area.

His grandfather and namesake, the first-person Crawford, was a well-known farmer and businessman in Caseville. The town was named in his honor.

His grandfather was a successful businessman, a well-known farmer, and a respected community leader. He was known for his ability to catch fish, and he was able to catch more fish than anyone else in the area. He was also known for his great skill.

Agricultural College (now MSU) was a pioneer in this field of education.

The end of the Civil War was a turning point in the history of Caseville. The town was founded in 1856, and it was named in honor of the Crawford family.

The Crawford family was a significant force in the development of Caseville, and their legacy lives on today. The town is named in their honor, and their contributions to the community are remembered.
